Maynard Hutchinson Re-elected Boy Scout President—Other Officers

Merit Badge Exposition Begins This Evening in Armory At West Newton

The annual meeting of Norumbega Council, Inc., Boy Scouts of America, which is the Newton organization operating the Boy Scout program in this city, was held at the Newton Club, Newtonville, as a dinner-meeting, on Thursday, January 30th.

Mr. Maynard Hutchinson was re-elected as President to serve for the year 1930. The balance of the slate was elected as follows: Vice-Presidents, Mr. G. D. Marcy, 1st, of Newton Highlands; Mr. Frank A. Day of Newton; Henry A. Wentworth of Auburndale; Mr. A. G. Kennnott of Newtonville; and Mr. John M. Bierer of Waban, re-elected as V-P and Scout Commissioner. Mr. James C. Irwin, of Newtonville, carries on as Honorary Commissioner, the honor having been extended to him in view of his services to Boy Scouting by the Council in 1921. Mr. C. H. Cobb, Center, Treasurer. Executive Board members, till January, 1931, Mr. A. D. Colby, of Newton Upper Falls; Mr. Charles Coyne, of Newton; Mr. Howell E. DuPuy of Newtonville. Legion and Service Club representatives for one year: Mr. George W. Young, of Newton Rotary; Mr. Frank M. Grant of Newton Kiwanis; and Mr. R. John Henderson, Commander of the Newton Post of the American Legion.

Executive Board till January, 1932: Mr. F. J. Shepard of West Newton; Mr. William T. Halliday of Newton Highlands; Mr. William V. M. Fawcett of Newton, also Commodore of the Seacoast Division; Mr. Charles B. Floyd of Auburndale; Mr. Donald G. Robbins of Waban; Mr. L. Lee Street of Newton Centre.

Mr. Maynard Hutchinson was named representative to the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Meeting Starts With Commissioner's Dinner

The meeting was started at 6:35 with a turkey dinner, prepared by Scout Commissioner John M. Bierer, assisted by Messrs. F. E. Lichtenhauser of Troop 4A, Highlands; G. Graham Ross of Troop 9, Waban; W. P. Harris of Troop 10, Waban; A. B. Root, Jr., of Waban, of the USCub Council.

The tables in the large hall of the Club were eight in number, set for 14 or 16 each, by Scoutmasters and Council members who turned out to help. The tables were decorated with orange and black, Newton's colors. The head of each table a large 20-pound Council, there was no head table. At turkey, and then all the fixins, were placed and the bird was carved and served, large-family-fashion. Carvers were Messrs. Maynard Hutchinson, G. D. Marcy, Walter R. Amesbury, F. W. Gilcrease, T. W. Callihan, P. A. Day, J. C. Irwin, and J. Ernest Gibson.

Brief Reports Following Dinner

Immediately following dinner, the President reported briefly, stressing the value and accomplishments of Boy Scouting and what Norumbega Council has done during the year 1929. He stressed the position of the Scoutmaster in Scouting as the key-stone of the arch, indicating at the same time that the other stones in the arch are essential—the Troop Committee, Council members, examiners, assistant Scoutmasters, and so on.

Rotarians Hear Tercentenary Plans

Mrs. I. O. Palmer Tells of Coming Celebration

At the weekly luncheon on Monday, February third, of the Newton Rotary Club, held as usual at the Woodland Golf Club, Mrs. Irving O. Palmer of Newtonville addressed the Club and took as her subject, "Our Three-Hundredth Birthday and How We Are To Celebrate."

Mrs. Palmer first raised the question, "Why a three-hundredth birthday in 1930, when a similar one was celebrated only ten years ago?" In answering this she brought out the fact that while the coming of the Pilgrims in 1620, and the coming of the Puritans in 1630, were both part of one movement toward in search of spiritual and civic freedom, and while the names Pilgrim and Puritan are often used interchangeably, there were certain marked differences between them. However, there was also an interdependence and it is no wonder that the Plymouth and the Puritan colonies were soon merged into one, the Province of Massachusetts.

"It is the three-hundredth birthday of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, the Puritan Colony," the speaker said, "which we are celebrating this year and the establishment in the wilderness of a Commonwealth which was to become the foundation of our great nation."

She touched briefly upon the granting of the Charter by Charles I, the arrival of Governor Winthrop in Salem Harbor on June 12, 1630, and the separating of the colonists into small groups, which marked the beginning of the ten cities who are celebrating their own three-hundredth birthday this year, as well as that of the Commonwealth.

Mrs. Palmer pointed out that our Tercentenary celebration promises to be the most significant in our country's history, marking one of its most important events, The Birth of Liberty. Instead of a World's Fair, an entire State will be on exhibition, with its contribution of three hundred years on display.

The State's plans for a "Great Meeting" on the State House grounds about July fifteenth were described. There will be pageants, parades, and exhibits continuously throughout the celebration.

One feature, not spectacular but far-reaching, will be the observance of the Tercentenary in the schools, for which valuable material has been prepared by the State Board of Education. Another nation wide observance of the Tercentenary has also been arranged for churches of all creeds and faiths.

Besides these general features one hundred cities and towns are planning their own celebrations. There will be pageants on all sides of us, tournaments, contests on land and sea, sports and entertainments of all kinds. In discussing the plans for Newton, Mrs. Palmer said that the first week of June has been chosen for its special celebration. Yet there are various general features which are not confined to this time limit, and for these, committees have already been appointed:—Marking the entrance to the city, Publishing a Newton Guide book, Marking the historical spots, Cleaning up the village, Tournament and athletic sports, Prize essay contests in the schools, making a birthday feature of the beginning of any public building or enterprise, such as a Memorial Stadium, a civic and military parade on May thirtieth.

On Sunday, June first, all Clergymen of the city will be asked to conduct Tercentenary services, a historic loan and art exhibit, and also rare colonial homes will be open through the entire week. The annual outdoor concert of the Newton High School on Friday evening of that week will include interesting Tercentenary features.

The one great spectacular event of the week will be the pageant on the Newton Centre playground, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings, under the management of Mr. Ernst Hermann. This is entitled "Newton, The City Beautiful," and was written by Reverend Chester A. Drummond of Newton, who will also direct its production. There will doubtless be one thousand participants, including a great male chorus, orchestra, dancers, and the cast itself. Fifteen committees are already at work on the production. The pageant represents the history of Newton in four episodes: an Indian camping ground, a town meeting, a village green, and the Newton of 1930, "The Garden City." The speaker gave an outline of all, beginning with the dances of the Spirits of the untamed wilderness, interrupted by the call of the Indian and the beginning of civilization. The pageant closes with a dance symbolizing the transforming of the wilderness into a Garden.

Appoint Architects For New Junior High

Local Men Are Named by Mayor Weeks

Mayor Weeks has appointed as architects for the new South Side Junior high school the firm of Henry & Richmond, 12 West street, Boston. Both members of this firm are residents of this city; Ralph C. Henry resides at 86 Nonantum street, Newton, Henry P. Richmond resides at 63 Monadnock road, Newton Centre. Henry & Richmond were the architects of the new Hamilton School at Newton Lower Falls.

The new school will be located at the corner of Rowena and Hereward roads, Newton Centre, on the old Paul estate. It is estimated that the building will cost about $750,000 and work on it will be started about April 1st. On July 1st of last year the firm of Henry & Richmond were appointed by Mayor Childs to make preliminary sketches to determine whether or not both a junior high school and a senior high school could be built on the land bounded by Rowena and Hereward roads, or whether it would be necessary to acquire more land. Sketches were also prepared by the firm of the proposed building. The $1000 received by Messrs. Henry & Richmond for this work will be credited to their fees on the new junior high school building.

MAYOR CONDEMNS "THUMBING"

Last Saturday Mayor Weeks sent a letter to Horace Kidger of the High School expressing his approval of the campaign in charge of Mr. Kidger against the practice of school pupils begging automobile rides. The Mayor's letter said:

"Newton High School students, who launched a campaign against 'auto ride bumming' nearly three years ago, gained high commendation for themselves and their city by this manly action, and I trust that there will not be any relaxation of effort along this line until the deplorable practice is entirely stamped out."

"Continuance of such 'ride bumming' on the part of high school students constitutes a serious annoyance to the public, increases the possibility of dangerous accidents, and tends to lower the self respect and the standards of honor on the part of the young men and women of our city. Its continuance will serve as a splendid example for good among all youths of our city and neighboring communities. Your efforts in this Anti Bumming Ride Campaign have my unqualified approval. I believe you will have the support of all good citizens and I expect it will have the enthusiastic cooperation of every student of the Newton High School."

Dedicate New Fire Alarm Headquarters

Modern Equipment in Building at Newton Centre

Newton's Fire Alarm Signal System and Headquarters Building was dedicated today by Mayor Sinclair Weeks. The building, containing the most modern equipment, is located in Newton Centre, and represents the beginning of a program aimed to furnish Newton with one of the finest systems of its kind in the country. Inspection of the building and all of its elaborate equipment was made by Mayor Weeks, who was accompanied by Chief Clarence W. Randlett of the Newton Fire Department.

The building, which is comparable in lay-out and structure to the Boston Fire Department Signal System, located in the Fenway, was erected at a cost of $72,000 and its electrical equipment, which is the finest known to science, cost nearly $70,000. Outside cable work will be started soon, and for this work the city will expend over $100,000, more so that the total cost of the new system will be approximately $300,000.

The building, two stories high, is of brick with limestone trimming. The operating room occupies practically the entire second floor, with the offices where Chief Randlett makes his headquarters and Batteries, generators, stock, and cable inlets occupy the first floor.

Mutual aid equipment in the main operating room provides for the receipt of fire alarm signals from Boston, Brookline, Watertown, Waltham, Wellesley and Needham, so that every alarm sounded in these cities adjacent to Newton is registered in the new signal headquarters. Only the boxes located on Newton's boundary lines will be responded to by Newton apparatus, although all box alarms are recorded at the signal headquarters. Aid is furnished from Newton to sections not along the boundaries by additional request.

The system was installed by the Gamewell Company whose plant is located in Newton Upper Falls, and was constructed to provide for the growth of Newton so that when completed, provision will have been made for any development which may occur during the next fifty years. For the present the automatic system which has been in vogue for many years will be continued, but will be transferred to 100% manual system when the work is entirely completed. It is expected it will be finished by January 1, 1931. All of the equipment, the operating boards, the recording tapes, the repeaters, and the protector board are mounted on mahogany finished steel bases, and finished in blue Vermont marble. The entire inside of the structure has tiled floors, Craft fin-

Aldermen Consider Matters On Lengthy Docket At Regular Meeting

Hear Kligman Petition Again—Confirm Appointments—Change Ordinance, Draw Jurors, Etc.

The meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night was featured by another appearance of Reuben Kligman of 455 Watertown street, who pleaded that he be granted a permit to conduct a gasoline station at that address and also a permit to erect a 19 car public garage there. For the information of the new members of the Board, Mr. Kligman told of the 30 or 35 petitions which his father had presented to Boards of Aldermen since 1917 for some right to make use of his property; all of these petitions having been denied. He explained that his father had been promised a permit to be removed and the place cleaned up. Kligman asserted that last year the yard was cleared of junk at a loss on the sale of the material amounting to $8000, but no permit was received.

He stated that he had been informed last year that one of the reasons why a permit was refused was because his plans for the garage building did not meet with the approval of the Licenses Committee. He has gone over these plans with Buildings Commissioner Chadwick and that official can find nothing wrong with them. He promised the Aldermen that if granted the permit the yard will be kept clean and the garage building and filling station will be constructed at the same time. A protest against the granting of the permit was received from Percy Ginn, owner of the National Packaging Company which is located opposite Kligman's property on the site of the Silver Lake Cordage Company. Mr. Ginn contends that there are two gasoline stations and garages in the immediate vicinity now and another will cause traffic congestion.

No persons appeared to object to the following petitions:—Edison Electric Company, pole locations: Whitney road, 9 poles; Arnold road, 6 poles; Sheffield road, 11 poles; Harvey Slayton, permit to install a 250 gallon gasoline tank with pump and to store and use gasoline in connection therewith for private use only.

Other hearings scheduled were on taking land for sewers on Oakdale road and Parker avenue, and the laying out and accepting of Homestead road in Waban. On the latter petition, Joseph Brodick, appearing for Arthur Pollan of 61 Homestead road, advocated it. Arthur Nelson of Plainfield road also urged the acceptance of Homestead road. His mother owns land on this street and if it is accepted, new houses valued at $75,000 will be erected on this land. Others who spoke in favor of the petition were—W. H. Chase, 60 Homestead road; H. W. Noyes, 40 Homestead road; L. W. Minchin of 14 Homestead road.

Jurors drawn by Aldermen Chase and Mansfield are:—Louis R. Fuller, 30 Cheswick road; John A. Groves, 97 Parker street; Harry Hartley, 36 Evergreen avenue; Herman Goldberger, 32 Central terrace; Stewart Hill, 89 Lowell avenue. They will serve at the coming session of the Superior Court in Cambridge.

Alderman Grebenstein, reporting for the Claims and Rules Committee recommended leave to withdraw on the claims against the city of Dr. D. E. Baker, Ralph H. Somers, Ferguson Market Company, I. S. Dillingham, Mrs. Benjamin Ward, F. D. Robinson. Dr. Baker's automobile was damaged when it ran into a depression on Grove street, Lower Falls, where a trench had been filled in by the Gas Company. The physician was fortunate in the fact that the Gas Company was liable; he collected. Alderman Grebenstein explained why the other claims were refused and the city not liable. The car of Ralph Somers was damaged when it ran into a depression on Chestnut street, Waban where a trench had been filled in by the Sewer Department and then settled during a rain storm. The city is not liable because it had not been notified of the condition of the street. Even though there is a defect in a highway, unless the city has received notice of such defect, or sufficient time has elapsed so that such defect should have been noticed, the city is not legally liable.

The claim of the Ferguson Market Company resulted from a collision between an automobile delivery truck owned by that concern and the patrol wagon of the Newton Police Department. The collision occurred last spring at the intersection of Washington street and Commonwealth avenue, West Newton. Alderman Grebenstein explained that if Mr. Ferguson wants to collect for the damage done to his truck, he must do so from the driver of the patrol wagon and not from the city. The claim of I. S. Dillingham was caused by his automobile sinking into a hole on Jackson street, Newton Centre, where city employees had filled in a trench; said trench caving in. Again the city is not legally liable because no notice had been given of this defect.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

NEWTON THIRD AT NORTHEASTERN MEET

The Newton High School indoor track team placed third at the Northeastern University interscholastic meet last Saturday with 14 1/2 points. With a little better break the orange and black might easily have retained its title which it won a year ago. Decidedly incompetent judging in the dash and a poor position at the start of the 600-yard run were the outstanding factors in preventing a higher score for Newton. Medford, not figured as a title contender, upset all the predictions by scoring 18 points, sufficient to take home the banner. Malden, which, with Newton, was considered an even choice to win, totalled 15 1/2 points to land second.

The first event was the dash, in which Walter Holmes of Newton was figured as a high point scorer. He won his trial heat easily and in his semi-final defeated Constantine Satchell of Brighton, the favorite to win. Satchell had turned in 5 1/5 seconds in his trial heat for a new meet record. In the final, Holmes, who had been placed fourth by the judges, Allen of Malden, Sprout of Brockton and Dineen of Lawrence were the outstanding entrants. In the opinion of many Holmes was a foot ahead of Satchell when they broke the tape and Dineen was right on Holmes' heels with Allen and Sprout other possible point winners. To the surprise of the spectators it was announced, following a lengthy conference of the judges, that Satchell was awarded first, Holmes second, Allen third and Sprout fourth. Dineen was not even placed. Many believed that Holmes and Dineen had run a dead heat. Had such been the decision of the judge Newton would have added a point to its score.

In the hurdles Captain Charles Hall won his heat only to find himself in a semi-final with Holloway of Lynn English and Lavalee of Lawrence, both hurdlers of merit. Hall was shut out. In the other semi-final Milton Greene was the Newton entry, having gained the right by finishing second to Lavalee in the trials. Green won the semi-final, while Milton Malden with both qualifying for the finals. Green finished third in the final to add two points to Newton's score, four places being awarded points.

The 300-yard trials provided some spectacular running. In the first heat Charles Gow of Brookline nosed out Dineen of Lawrence, who was favored to win the final, and won the latter out of the finals. Sprout of Brockton won the second heat, Miller of Medford the third heat, and Mouser of Newton the fourth heat. In the final Sprout was clocked in 36 2/5 seconds for a new meet record. Mouser and Gow finishing close behind him in that order. Mouser's two points brought Newton's total to seven and put the orange and black in the lead.

The 1000-yard run was run in two heats with points awarded on a time basis. In the first heat, Waban won, Jackson of Medford, who allowed Fallon of Lynn Classical to set a slow pace before winning out on a last lap spurt, followed by Morgan of Malden. Vincent Signore of Newton took the lead from the start and won as he pleased. His time was a full minute better than that of Jackson's, who was awarded second place. Dobson of Brockton took third and Morgan of Malden fourth.

Newton got its toughest break in the 600-yard run, which Hall was a favorite to win. Hall won in three heats with places awarded on times. Brigham of Brookline won the first heat with plenty to spare. The second heat was a thriller, with Bowdren of Medford and Cooperstein of Malden setting a hot pace. Bowdren, who became eligible a few days before the meet, was running his first race of the season. Cooperstein is one of the best 600-yarders around this year and his battle with Bowdren was close all the way, with Bowdren having a yard at the finish. Hall was in the third heat and as luck would have it, drew a position in the second round. Forced well to the rear, he had to expend a great deal of energy in getting into the lead after half the race was run. He and his opponent fought it out to the finish line, with the Newton captain giving all he had. The time in this heat was not fast enough to give Newton a place. Had Hall drawn a front row position and been able to take the lead from the start he could have turned in fast enough time to at least place and swing the meet to Newton.

Newton's entries in the shotput, James Colligan and Walter Holmes, did not qualify for the finals. Colligan had been out of school the first of January and has spent much time in making up his back work, which has undoubtedly handicapped him through lack of practice.

In the high jump the field was too smart for Milton Green. The Newton lad stayed in through his usual height, but when the bar reached five feet eight he was through. Sander of Lowell, Ross of Brockton and Rudman of Malden tied for first position at 5 feet 9 1/2 inches for a new record.

The real races provided some great competition, but none was more thrilling than Newton's victory over Brookline. Coach Donald Enoch selected Donald Irwin, Richard Jarrel, Albert Guzzi and Alfred Mouser as the Newton quartet. Robert Bell, who has been a regular member of the relay team, is out for the season with a sprained ankle. Newton started off against Litman of Brookline, the latter's best runner. Litman handed over a ten-yard lead to Gow, who increased this to fifteen over Jarrel. Guzzi held his own against Brookline's third man, French. Guzzi handed over the baton to Mouser in perfect fashion and Mouser was off like a flash. He simply flew around that track. On his first lap he gained but little on Cohen, Brookline's best dash man, but on the second lap he drew up on even terms, jumped into the lead, and at the tape had a good ten yards' margin to spare. His two laps had a prominent part in making Newton's time of 2 m. 21 4/5s. Six other relays were run off with the times considerably slower. Finally the Malden and

NEWTON MEETS MELROSE TONIGHT

The Newton High hockey team will meet Melrose High tonight at the Arena in one of the two round robin games for the championship of the Greater Boston Interscholastic League. In the other contest Arlington will play Stoneham. Next Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 12th, on the Arena rink Newton will play Arlington, while Melrose is facing Stoneham, and in the final games on Washington's Birthday afternoon Newton and Stoneham and Melrose and Arlington will oppose each other. Melrose, undefeated and unscathed upon in the preliminary round games, is favored to defeat the orange and black. But Dr. Martin's sextet has been coming along nicely of late and will give the Ell Ponders a real battle. Newton must stop Herbert Kedzie, Melrose star, in turn defeat easily. Owing to mild weather Newton did not meet Coach Poole's outfit in the preliminary round games as the contest did not have to be played off to decide the entry of either team in the finals. Should Newton upset Kedzie, Melrose's path to the league title will be comparatively clear as the hardest barrier will be cleared. Arlington defeated Newton in the preliminary round in an early season contest and will find it a different story next Wednesday. Newton has defeated Stoneham and should do so again.

Watertown relay came, and Malden equalled Newton's time to shatter Newton's last hope of victory. Prior to the relays the outcome of the meet was still undecided. Medford had 13 points, Malden 12 1/3, Brockton 12 1/3, Newton 12 and Lynn English 12. Five relay points for any one of these teams would have clinched the victory, as the second best relay time was given 3 points. By turning in the best time in the relay Medford was returned the victor. Malden and Newton divided the points for second and third in the relay to place second and third in the meet.

Newton goes to Brookline tomorrow in the second meeting of the two teams in their annual home and home series. Two weeks ago Newton ran up 57 1/2 points to 19 1/2 for Brookline on the Newton track, and Newton should have little trouble clinching the victory tomorrow although the score for the day should be much closer.

SPORT NOTES

Milton Has Edge
Milton Academy had a 3-2 edge on the Country Day school sextet in their hockey game at Milton on Wednesday. Country Day scored two goals in the first period to take an early lead but the home team came back strong to tie the count in the third period and a few minutes before the game ended scored the winning counter. Angier and Francis Gleason caged the Country Day goals.

Newton League Bowling
The local bowling teams did not fare any too well in Wednesday night's matches of the Newton league. Newton took the first string from Mangus for the only point. Waban won their third string with University Club by one pin for its only point and Hunnewell was blanked by Weston on the Hunnewell alleys. In the fourth match Middlesex shut out Commercial at Arlington. Carter's 128 on his first string saved the Newton Club from a shutout while four Waban rollers scored over a 100 to win the final string.

Spain Scores Four
Exeter Academy had an easy game last Saturday in opposing Cambridge Latin. Captain Frank Spain and his mates shut out the visitors, 9 to 0. Spain tallied four times and Bob Bennett once as the share that local youths played in the point scoring.

Kelly Loses To Italian Boxer
Charles Kelly of Newton was one of the American boxers in the amateur boxing tournament at the Boston Garden Monday night in which a team of United States boxers defended its laurels against invading teams from Germany and Italy. Kelly is state champion in the 147-lb. class. He was defeated in a semi-final round bout by Arcelli of Italy who eventually won the final round from Kugler of Germany, winner of the other semi-final bout against the American entrant, Merlin of Roslindale. The victory of the Italian was the only one scored by the European boxers. The bout with Kelly was a three-round decision affair.

Fletcher Scores For Yale
Allie Fletcher, ex-Newton high star athlete, is playing centre ice for the Yale freshman hockey team this winter. In the game with the Dartmouth yearlings at New Haven on Wednesday Fletcher scored one of the two Eli goals which resulted in a 2 to 0 victory. Fletcher's tally came two minutes after the start of the second period as a result of his left wing and the other tally was made by a substitute in the final session.

Stubb's Scores Two
Frank Stubb's, Jr., scored two of the Harvard tallies in the hockey game with Marquette University of Michigan on Wednesday night in which the Westerners won out 4 to 3. The former Newton High and New Prep school star also figured in the third Crimmon counter on a pass to Putnam, his teammate.

Kollmyer To Hurdle
Hamilton Kollmyer, former Newton and Exeter sprinters, and now of the Harvard freshman track team, is being groomed for the high hurdles.

Big Game Tomorrow
Tomorrow afternoon is the time and the Boston Arena the place of what is expected to be one of the greatest of Prep school hockey games in history of the sport. Exeter, captained by Frank Spain, will oppose Andover. Neither sextet has been beaten this season and both have fine records. Last year Exeter swamped their ancient rivals, 9 to 0, but this year the result will be much closer. Exeter's team is rated about as strong as last year while Andover has a much better team than a year ago. Captain Frank Spain, Bob Bennett and P. Mather are the local youths on the Exeter team. Andover is being coached this season by Austin Eaton, former Newton high and Dartmouth star. Jay Bryant of West Newton is the only local youth on the Andover squad.

OUR LADY FIVE GOES INTO LEAD

By defeating the Mission Church High School team Wednesday afternoon on the Newton floor the Our Lady High basketball team went into the lead in the Greater Boston Catholic High School league rate. Previously to the game Our Lady and Mission were tied for first place. Gallagher led the attack for the winners which resulted in a 27 to 24 victory in an exciting contest. In other games Immaculate Conception High of Revere defeated Cathedral High of the South End, 19 to 16 in an overtime contest to the Mission for the second place while St. Clement's High of Medford won its first league game by topping St. Mary's High of Brookline, 24 to 14. The games completed the first round of the league schedule. Next Wednesday Our Lady High entertains St. Mary's, Cathedral High goes to Mission Church High and Immaculate Conception takes on St. Clement's at Revere.

In turning back the Mission Church High five the Our Lady players showed a strong attack before a capacity crowd. At half time the score was tied at 15 points each. In the final period the lead changed hands several times but in the last three minutes the home team clinched the game. Gallagher caged four goals from the floor and two on free tries for two points to lead the locals' attack. Gram-zow added six points, Cannon five, O'Neil four, and Grella two to provide the winning margin. Kenney of Mission was the high scorer of the game with thirteen points but the Our Lady backs covered their men well enough to prevent high scoring by the other opposing players.

SPORT NOTES

"Y" Mermen Lose
The Newton Y swimming team was defeated by the Providence Y mermen last Saturday night at Providence, 16 to 59. The Rhode Islanders won every first place and all but two second places. Davidson and Kohler were Newton's best performers, Davidson took second in the breaststroke and third in the backstroke while Kohler was second in the 40-yard freestyle and third in the 100-yard freestyle. Gallagher took third in the 200 and Mather third in the dive for other Newton points.

Floring Double Winner
Capt. Bill Floring of the Huntington school track team and a Newton Centennial was the only double winner in the Hub school's dual meet with the Northeastern University freshman last week Friday which the yearlings won by a comfortable margin. Floring won the dash in 5 2/5 seconds and the hurdles in 6 seconds. He also tied for third in the high jump at 5 ft. 6 in.

Ald. Harte Wins Title
Alderman Richard Harte and his partner, Miss Margaret Blake, successfully defended their indoor mixed tennis doubles title and the Longwood covered courts last week Saturday in the final round of that tourney. Harte and Miss Blake lost the first set, 3-6, but came back to win the next two and the match, 6-1, 6-4. The match offered the most spectacular playing of the afternoon with Harte's terrific service an important asset in the victory. Miss Mianne Palfrey and her partner, Richard Murphy, one-time junior title holders, trailed 0-2 in the first set but took three straight games to take the lead. In the second set the title holders forced things their way and lost but one game. In the third set the younger pair again went into the lead from the start. On the eighth game with the set against him 3-4, Harte tied the count with a love game on sorties to the net and smashes to his opponent's feet, earning all four points. The rallies from then on were in the champion's favor and the opposing pair captured but two points in the ten which completed the match.

McCrudden an Alternate
Jimmy McCrudden, former Newton high track captain, will be an alternate on the Northeastern University mile relay team which runs at the Millrose A. C. Games in New York tomorrow night. In time trials early in the week McCrudden was chosen to run second but in final trials yesterday the Newtonville youth was defeated for the starting berth.

Reynolds To Judge
Dick Reynolds, 1929 captain of the Newton high track team, will be one of the judges at the annual indoor track meet of the West End House of Boston on the night of Feb. 14th.

Brown Cages Five
Jimmy Brown, ex-Newton high captain and star hockey player, caged five goals for the Worcester Academy six last Saturday in its 10 to 3 victory over Wakefield High at Worcester.

Andres Scores For Dartmouth
Harold Andres, Newton athletic star at Dartmouth, scored one of Dartmouth's two goals last Saturday in the game with Bishops College of Canada on the new indoor Dartmouth rink. Bishops won 7 to 2, showing a versatile attack.

Newton Jayvees Blanked
The Rivers School of Brookline second team blanked the Newton High junior varsity hockey six yesterday afternoon at Brookline, 1 to 0. The only tally of the game came in the third period after both teams had shown a tight defence.

SPORT NOTES

Squash Racquets
Newton Centre, which led Class A in the Massachusetts Squash Racquets Association team series, for some time earlier in the season dropped to a still lower position last Saturday as the result of its match with Harvard. The locals are now in fourth place. Last Saturday only three matches were played and all were dropped to Harvard.

In Class C matches the Newton Club shaded the University Club, 3 to 2 on the local courts, Arthur LeBaron, Stanley Arend and Bill Hayden, winning while Gutterson and Prunaret lost out after hard struggles. The Country Day school team had a similar margin of victory over the M. I. T. racquetters. In this match Clarke, Smith, and Vose winning while Goodrich and Breck forced their opponents to five games before a decision was reached. At the B. A. A. the Unicorn team turned back Newton Centre, 4 to 1, with Hicks winning a five game match to save a shutout.

In Class D matches the Newton Y team continues to press the leaders closely. In this division the Union Boat Club and the Harvard Business School Faculty are tied for first. The Newton Y, the Harvard Club, and the Quincy Neighborhood Club are locked together but one point behind the leading pair. The Y team meets Quincy tomorrow afternoon and an interesting match is predicted and with it an important change in the league standing. Last Saturday the Newton Y five blanked the Harvard freshman on the latter's courts. Halsey, Sullivan and Mardock won quite comfortably, but Roberts and Baker were forced to five game matches before winning out. The M. I. T. team had a 3 to 2 edge over the Newton Club on the Tech courts with Henderson and Wellman winning for Newton. Country Day, through Thorndike's victory, won but one point from Salem at Salem, its one point kept Country Day even with the Newton Club in a tie for the cellar position.

Rogers On Executive Committee
Leon B. Rogers of West Newton, president of the Brae-Burn Club, has been appointed to a place on the executive committee of the Mass. Golf Association. Other changes have taken place in the various committees of the organization with William B. Hanna of Albemarle being named as chairman of the handicap committee, Frederick J. Corcoran of Albemarle and Orville W. Forte of Charles River are members of the handicap committee. Harry A. Wentworth of Brae Burn is on the tournament committee. Francis Oulmet of Woodland and Fred J. Wright, Jr., of Albemarle are on the younger pair again. Henderson of Weston is chairman of the state team committee.

Gain Quarter Finals
Bill Rice and Ralph Stuart of the Newton Centre Squash Tennis Club both gained the quarterfinal round in the State individual championship tourney by winning their third round matches yesterday. Rice was forced to four games before vanquishing P. D. Sheelings of the University Club while Stuart had little trouble turning back A. M. Sonnabend, also of the University Club.

McCrudden an Alternate
Jimmy McCrudden, former Newton high track captain, will be an alternate on the Northeastern University mile relay team which runs at the Millrose A. C. Games in New York tomorrow night. In time trials early in the week McCrudden was chosen to run second but in final trials yesterday the Newtonville youth was defeated for the starting berth.

Gasoline station attendants are becoming expert in fractions.

The "cracking process" has been applied to the price of gasoline.

Some of the ladies who now favor compulsory jury duty for their sex may be like their male relatives should such a thing become law. It is probable that many capable women, like many capable men, would attempt to avoid serving on juries should they be drawn for such duty. Jury duty tends towards democracy. It compels those who possess the bonds and the coupons thereon to rub elbows with those who possess payment books for articles purchased on the deferred payment plan.

Would you rather be a king or the President of Mexico?

Those who hold either rank are apt to get "crowned"—or perforated.

One of Newton's most popular citizens is leaving this city. Will White for the past 13 years associated with Norumbega Park has departed to take up his new duties with the Westchester (New York) Park Commission. Mr. White came to Norumbega in 1917 as director and manager of the stock company which played at the park that season. He was born in New York City and started his career in the amusement profession as an employee of Barnum's Circus. From there he changed to a dramatic career, becoming an actor and advancing to become a stage director of many well known plays and stock companies, notably Denham Thompson's "The Old Homestead." His last theatrical connection was as manager of "Lombard Limited" starring Leo Carrill. This play with Mr. White as manager toured the country three times from coast to coast. During his theatrical career Mr. White has made twenty-six trips to California, two to Newfoundland, three through the tropics and South America and a tour of the World.

Before managing Norumbega Park, Mr. White had been associated with parks and amusements at Bergen Beach, New York; Dayton, Ohio; Winnetka, Manitoba and Knoxville, Tennessee. Among the many clubs and organizations with which he has been affiliated are Newton Kiwanis of which he was Vice President, Elks, Masons, Showman's League of America, Actor's Fund of America, National Vaudeville Artists, and National Association of Amusement Parks.

For the next year Will White will be connected with "Playland" in Rye, New York. On Long Island Sound. Later he expects to be associated with the development of a huge new amusement resort to be located at Croton Point on the Hudson River above Yonkers.

Mrs. Will White (Dorothy Gallant) also a native of New York, is the daughter of Seymour Gallant, well known as a dramatist. Her aunt, Bessie Gallant, who started under the management of Charles Frohman and David Belasco, will be remembered best for the role of Dorothy Vernon in "Haddon Hall." Mrs. White began her stage career at the age of 17 and after touring with various dramatic successes entered the vaudeville and musical comedy fields. She scored pronounced success as an entertainer in this country, Canada and England. She married Mr. White six years ago and since then made Auburndale her home.

During his years of residence in this city Will White has won a legion of friends by his unfailing courtesy to all and his readiness at all times to assist any worthy cause. They wish him the best of luck in his new field and feel assured that with his ability and personality the big project in the amusement line to be conducted by Westchester County will be highly successful.

Minimum of Waste in Sardine-Canning Plant

In a Down East sardine canning factory the only thing that is wasted is the odor. That may not be a dead loss, for there are persons who assert they like the smell of a sardine factory. The scales are sold to the manufacturers of artificial pearls. The fish meal is in demand in Germany and in this country. The waste oil is collected and utilized in the production of paints and varnishes. Even the tin cuttings from the cans are baled and shipped to England for reprocessing into new sheets of the metal.

Down East sardines are sent to 95 different countries. In Java, when representatives sought a new market, the natives would have nothing to do with the "little fishes boiled in oil." Two hundred free cases were offered if the prospective customers would place a 1,000 case order. At last the deal was made. The sardines were heaped high on trucks, together with a band of native musicians, taken from bazaar to bazaar, and sold. Thus introduced, there was no further difficulty in adding Java to the list of sardine consumers.—New York Times.

Hard to Grasp Facts of the Stellar System

At first the brain reels a little in the attempt to grasp the facts of the stellar system, even explained with the lucidity and exactness of which Sir James Jeans is a master. From the vast extensions of the sky he carries us into the inmost recesses of the atom, where the electron whirls around its perpetual circuit several thousand million times every second. These numbers, says the London Spectator, are but dazzle painting, and it is simpler to say that the electron travels as far in a second as our latest seaplane travels in an hour. Sir James Jeans has a happy fertility in such comparisons, and forcibly strikes the imagination when he tells us that if the carbon atom were magnified to the size of Waterloo station, its electrons would be represented by six wasps flying round in the vast vacuity. All the rest is emptiness; and so in the celestial spaces it is immense odds against any given spot being occupied. "We live in a gossamer universe; pattern, plan and design are there in abundance, but solid substance is rare."

One of Life's Tragedies

They sat gazing into each other's eyes. At last he slipped from the sofa and, kneeling at her feet, gave utterance to the sweeping thoughts that were swelling up his mind.

"Darling," he said, "sometimes I think how lucky I was to be born in the same century as you, to have met you. It seems as if Fate had intended us for each other since the beginning of time, and that at last the great design has been completed in our love. It has been Fate, my dearest, Fate."

"Aye," she replied, a little wistfully, "it was fate all right. Your fate. If I hadn't tripped over your fate jumpin' on the bus . . ."

And they pondered over the tragedy of might have been.—London Tit-Bits.

Paper Barometer

Henley's Twentieth Century Book of Recipes publishes the following method of making a paper barometer: Saturate white blotting paper with the following liquid and then hang up to dry:

Cobalt chloride, 1 ounce; sodium chloride, 1/2 ounce; calcium chloride, 75 grains; anela, 1/4 ounce; water 3 ounces.

Unfortunate Early Savant

Henry, Marquis of Villena, a Castilian savant in the reign of John II, studied astronomy so diligently that he lost all run of his worldly affairs and caused a wit of his day to comment sarcastically: "He knew much of heaven and nothing of earth."

His blind neglect of his financial concerns cost him all his possessions and reduced him to extreme penury in his last years. He was suspected of necromancy, and at his death in 1534 the king's ecclesiastical agent threw more than a hundred of his precious books into the flames.—Detroit News.

Concerning the Law

The true view, as I submit, is that the law is what the judges declare; that statutes, precedents, the opinions of learned experts, customs, and morality are the sources of the law; that back of everything lie the opinions of the ruling spirits of the community; who have the power to close any of these sources; but that as long as they do not interfere, the judges, in establishing law, have recourse to these sources.—John Chipman Gray.

D. Bee Know Beekeeper.

One often hears the statement that bees know their master. This is not true. Dullin, the workman, seasons a bee hive for only about six weeks, two of which are spent in the hive. It is hardly likely that a beekeeper would examine a hive frequently enough to become known. A such short-lived creature even if it had the ability to distinguish between different human beings.

POLICE NEWS

Frank Taylor who had been employed as a butler by James Drury at 1400 Commonwealth avenue, West Newton, was sentenced to six months in jail by Judge Brown of the Newton court on Wednesday. Taylor was found guilty of having taken a new automobile owned by his employer without permission and wrecking it when it crashed again a tree. He had cuts on his face which the police claimed were received in the accident but his wife testified her spouse received these cuts during an argument with her. The police claimed that Taylor had stolen the keys to the automobile from a pocket in a coat owned by Mr. Drury's son and when he brought the keys back put them in a pocket of another coat. Footprints beside the wrecked car fitted Taylor's shoes.

Michael Sirianelli of 45 Harris road, West Newton, was in the Newton court Wednesday charged with going away after an automobile accident without making his identity known. His case was continued until February 19.

Just because some German shepherd dogs were trained to assist police in Der Vaterland this breed of canines have been popularly known in this country as "police dogs" since they became popular in the U. S. A. following the World War. But, Peter Volante, 391 Dedham street, Oak Hill, accuses two German shepherd dogs which have been domiciled on the estate of his neighbor, Timothy W. Murphy, as being anything but police dogs in their conduct.

Mr. Volante was in the Newton court Wednesday as the plaintiff in a suit which he brought against Mr. Murphy for $3000 damages alleged to have been caused by the dogs to Mr. Volante's stock of high grade celery. Mr. Volante specializes in celery growing. He raises some of the best of this succulent vegetable that can be found in the Boston market. He ripens it in long sheds. The two "police dogs" which Mr. Volante alleges Mr. Murphy owned, trespassed into one of the celery storage sheds and made "whoopies." Mr. Volante could not, of course sell the celery after the "police dogs" had damaged it and so he brought suit against Mr. Murphy. The latter gentleman, who is an assessor in Boston, asserts that he is not the owner of the "shafer hunds." He had dog licenses produced to prove that the dogs are owned by Miss Edith Chapple. To refute this contention on the part of Mr. Murphy, John Finelli who is counsel for Mr. Volante argued that the licenses were not obtained until three days after his client had entered suit against Mr. Murphy and that when the dogs messed up Mr. Volante's celery they were not licensed in Newton.

Motorcycle Officer William Dowling of the Newton police testified that he had called at Murphy's residence on a number of occasions and ordered the dogs restrained after Volante had complained. Judge Braley of Canton who sat on the case reserved his decision.

Patrolman John E. Green of the Newton Police who was stationed on a night route at Thompsonville was suspended today for four months without pay. Green was charged with untruthfulness to superior officers.

ished walls, and ceilings with special acoustic treatment to guard against reverberation. The building is especially well lighted by the effective location of large windows.

Alarm signals, under the new system, will be sent from the headquarters to all of the ten stations in Newton, on a three-quarter second schedule for fast time, and two second schedule for slow time, so that the city, as explained by Chief Ramey, will be protected by an even speedier service in the case of fire, day or night, than ever before. The system moreover, is so adapted as to provide a minimum of breakdown, and its wires are protected by fuses and lightning arresters and other devices against interference by electric light and other foreign currents. Mayor Weeks expressed approval of the System and stated that Newton will have, with the completion of this system, the most modern fire alarm signal system in the country.

INSTALL OFFICERS

Mrs. A. E. Cunningham Tent 2, D. of U. V. of C. War, held their installation in G. A. R. hall, Newtonville, on Tuesday evening, January 28, 1930. Miss Agnes McCoy, Past National President, was Installing Officer, and the officers for the coming year were as follows: President, Katherine R. A. Flood; senior vice president, Cora Belle Francis; junior vice president, Mary Barry; chaplain, Gertrude Beck; secretary, Nellie M. Osborne; treasurer, May G. Kidder; patriotic instructor, Leona Kern; press chairman, Matilda G. Cauldwell; guide, Grace Keefe; musician, Ella Curtis; members of council, Elsa Malloy; chairman, Susan Wetherbee, Elizabeth Sheridan, Guard Alice Cunningham, Asst. Guard Agnes Sheridan; Color Bearers: 1, Alice Burns; 2, Margaret Kerrihan; 3, Helen Shaunnassy; 4, Francis Stewart.

President Katherine Flood in behalf of Tent 2 presented to Retiring President Malloy a Past President gold badge. Mrs. Malloy accepted the gift and spoke of the very pleasant time she had enjoyed during her two years' office. President Flood also gave gifts to Miss McCoy and Past National Guide Dorothy Chaplin.

W., and Brothers Robinson and Putnam of Camp 31, S. of V. Refreshments were served.

Fourth Lecture On Religion Given

Dr. Diefenbach Discusses Religion and Science

"A just criticism of our present-day scientists, when they preoccupy themselves with religious interests," said Dr. Albert C. Diefenbach last night in Newton Centre, in the fourth of his public lectures on "What is Happening to Religion?" "Is that they do not tell us they are no longer scientific in making their act of faith, and so they give the impression to the ordinary person that they are uttering a great doctrinal declaration confirmed by science when the fact is they are only telling their naive experience like any other simple believer."

The lecturer quoted the writings of such men as Eddington, Whitehead, and Mather, who are among the popular interpreters of religion, and showed how they "impaired the prestige of science and muddle the mind about religion." The subject last night was "Science, Friend or Foe of Faith?" It was followed by an illuminating hour of questions and answers.

Dr. Diefenbach said science has grown toward religion in its metaphysical theory of the universe. Once it was superficial, crude, and material; but today the doctrine of energy in the field of physics has taken the place of the "pebbly atom" of yesterday, so that there are enthusiasts who declare that this is the real Messiah, and that religion as we use the word has passed away. This is somewhat premature, and leading scientists are first to tell us, with becoming humility, that they, like the latter-day theologians, are cautious with their assertion about "laws."

They know, in the words of Eddington, that "where the science has progressed the farthest, the mind has put regains from nature that which the mind has put into nature." All the so-called laws of science are but the human mind's description in the fewest possible words of what happens. They may be but intuitive guesses. A scientific revolution merely means that some scientist has changed his mind. Darwin is one example, Einstein is another.

"If the scientist has thus become humble, we wish he would also become a little more clear and honest as religion is virtually one. It is the amateur theologian," said Dr. Diefenbach. "This is important, because from the earliest times religion has depended upon science. We must get on together. Everyone knows, for instance, that evolution as science and religion are virtually one. It is remarkable that fifteen hundred years ago Augustine rebuked some early Fundamentalists in the Church who went heresy-hunting after the scientists of that day who gave the world a new theory of the universe. The relation between religion and science is constant through history, and our ideas of God cannot be divorced from the progress in learning."

"For example, when we believed in a God who created the world finished and perfect and set it going and then went away to a cloud in heaven, we were in part but in the making of a living and not a mechanized God. Today we are in the process of getting another idea of God, or Reality, because science acknowledges many difficulties. The belief that a single power is ruling the universe pervades all in all respects is shaken in the church. We see much natural interference, cruelty, and destruction. God in such a world cannot be the transcendent Being of the elder astronomer, nor the unimpeded imminent Process of the evolutionist, but an emergent Power who is creating and failing as well as achieving and triumphing."

"Such is the present tendency in thinking, and the consequences of it are bound to be momentous in your spiritual attitude and mine. Already our college students have showed the way we are moving. At a conference of two thousand of the choicest of them four kinds of religion were clearly marked out. They are called miracle religion, modernist evangelicalism, sentimental mysticism, and ethical creativity. Only the last kind aroused the aim of the student. And why? Because ethical creativity looks not to the past but to the present, and man takes into his own hands the regeneration of his world and his race. It is a religion not of precedents but of creative powers, original and immediate in its determination to make a true spiritual order in all human relations, social, industrial, political, economic, and international."

"What I here report to you fits in precisely with the proposition that the doctrine we come to believe in religion depends in part upon what we learn in science. Religion is something beside this, however. It will always range beyond the farthest frontiers of knowledge, in its unquestionable hunger and thirst for perfection. That is, in order to be creative as well as ethical it must have more than laws and theories. That is why science ought to be telling us, with its present knowledge of man's nature and need."

"Religion is a fact beyond all facts about religion. There is a ground, a condition, which some call mystical, but which is never mazy mystery, out of which all varieties of religious experience proceed. The fundamental thing is not the experience, but the source whence it flows. It is not the expression of the experience of religion, but the inmost reality which haunts one with its unceasing persistence and will not let one go—the first thing and the last thing, common to all men, and the supreme factor in the progress and the unity of the race."

All Newton Music School Concert

Negro Spirituals To Be Sung At Benefit Performance

Many of the more recent residents of the City of Newton may not be aware of the wonderful school of music which has been slowly but surely growing and developing in our midst through the perseverance and vision of Miss Elizabeth Fyffe, director of the All Newton Music School for eighteen years. The purpose and aim of the school are to provide the opportunity for a sound musical education for the children of Newton at rates that all can pay. Due to the cooperation of the Public School Department in giving the use of its buildings for lessons, two distinct centers are now operated, the Pierce School Branch in West Newton and the Claf Branch in Newtonville. Pupils receive individual and group training, and are provided with the use of instruments and carefully supervised instruction. Many of the members of the public school orchestras have had their early training in this school, which they could not have otherwise obtained. The All Newton Music School is recognized by well known patrons of music as being one of the largest and best in the group of fifteen music schools in the country, as well as being a pioneer school in this work. Newton is proud of its achievements and supports loyally its well developed social work.

An opportunity is afforded the citizens of Newton who are interested in music for its children to support this splendidly organized work by purchasing freely of the tickets for the benefit concert of Negro Spirituals to be held on February 12 at 8:15 p. m. in the Auditorium of the New High School.

NEGRO EVANGELIST TO SPEAK HERE

Dr. Simon P. W. Drew of New York City, gifted orator and evangelist, will speak Sunday night, February ninth, in the Myrtle Baptist Church of West Newton at eight o'clock. His subject will be the "Valley of Dry Bones." Dr. Drew is financial secretary of the Boynton Institute of Boynton, Virginia, and is touring the country in behalf of a $500,000 drive for the poor and girls dormitory of that institution.

The Booker T. Washington Jubilee Quartet, one of the best of negro spiritual singers, is touring with Dr. Drew. Dr. Drew is considered one of the most prominent negroes of the country and will run on the National Interracial Party ticket for the Presidency of the United States in 1932. He is the first and only negro ever nominated as a vice-presidential candidate.

JANUARY BUILDING RECORD

Building activity in Newton during January was about half in comparison with the corresponding period of last year. The estimated valuation of the work to be done under the 57 building permits issued is $329,695 as compared with $607,960 for January 1929. Of the 57 permits, 25 were for single dwellings, valued at $260,700; 1 for a two family dwelling, valued at $9000; 11 for garages valued at $8850. The 57 permits distributed by Wards are: Ward 1, 5; Ward 2, 4; Ward 3, 7; Ward 4, 2; Ward 5, 19; Ward 6, 14; Ward 7, 6.

ADDRESS ON SAFETY EDUCATION

The Woman's Association of the Newtonville Methodist Episcopal Church listened to an address on "Safety Education" by Miss Doris Greenwood at the afternoon session of its monthly Church Day Thursday, February 6. Miss Greenwood, who is Director of Home and School Safety of the Massachusetts Safety Council, believes that most accidents are the results of careless habits formed in the home. In one year 5,000,000 people were injured in the American homes.

An investigation of the causes of home accidents among 300 hospital patients showed that 44 were children under five most of whom had swallowed such articles as coins, peanuts, safety pins, and in one case a tonic bottle stopper. There were few cases between the ages of six and sixteen and the largest number were between the ages of seventeen and forty. Falls, caused by loose carpets, hardwood floors and round objects scattered about under foot, were the leading causes of accidents in the older groups. Cuts and rusty nails were responsible for a number of the cases.

The second class of accidents mentioned by the speaker was the industrial type. In the state of Massachusetts 45,522 working people have lost time in the last five years because of accidents.

Statistics were given which showed that a large percentage of highway accidents occur in the day time and a very small number at dusk. About three times as many are on straight roads as at intersections, and nearly fifty per cent are caused by inattention and of course a large number by fast driving.

Miss Greenwood believes that the hope for the control of accidents lies in the training of the child whose habits are not already formed. More children are injured in crossing streets than in playing in them. The schools are doing much in the way of safety education through clubs and also through actual lessons given by traffic officials but the training should begin in the home.

The women of the Association met at 10:00 a. m. to sew for the Hattie B. Cooper Community Centre. Lunch was served at 12:30 with Mrs. George B. Cameron in charge. Mrs. Herbert Blair, the president, conducted the business meeting, which was opened by devotions led by Dr. Laurence W. C. Emig, the pastor. The program was in charge of Mrs. Frank E. Morris, who introduced the speaker.

THE ONE HUNDRED AND FORTY-SECOND ANNIVERSARY

Yesterday was the one hundred and forty-second anniversary of the ratification of the Constitution of the United States of America by the State of Massachusetts. This was in the year 1788. Following several months discussion the previous year by delegates from twelve of the states to the convention at Philadelphia at which the Constitution was finally framed it was voted that it would go into effect when ratified by nine states. Ratification by Massachusetts, the sixth state to do so, was by a narrow margin and with recommendations for several amendments as soon as possible. Nineteen amendments have been made since that time, of which the abolition of slavery, the adoption of prohibition and the adoption of women's suffrage are the outstanding. Each of these was a distinct forward step in the advancement of this Nation as the foremost in the world.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Next week Wednesday, February twelfth, we pause to observe the birthday of one of the country's beloved heroes—Abraham Lincoln. Born amid obscurity, without the pomp and splendor that have aided many a public figure in rising to positions of importance, he applied himself diligently to the task at hand. From splitting rails to the White House is a story that has been repeatedly told but it still holds fascination. Its beauty lies in the human qualities possessed by Lincoln. In this age of science and haste we are apt to forget the rights of others and go blindly on. Celebrating the birthdays of such great men as Washington and Lincoln each year brings us to a realization that "all men are created equal."

SNOW REMOVAL

During the past seven years Newton has spent an annual average sum of approximately $57,000 in removing the snow from streets and sidewalks. Since 1923 there has been but one severe winter, that of 1926, when excessive storms cost the city nearly $110,000. The least sum, $30,000, was spent two years ago. Unless there are heavy storms in the next few weeks it would seem that the cost of snow removal this year will be considerably less than the average. If so the amount of money thus saved could well be used in carrying out other contemplated projects that otherwise would have to be temporarily postponed.

THE GROUNDHOG SAW HIS SHADOW

"If Candlemas Day be fair and bright, winter's yet to take its flight." This year it would seem that there might be some truth in the old belief. The sun shone last Sunday so that the groundhog could see his shadow. Wednesday night the thermometer tumbled down around the zero mark for the coldest night of the winter and Spring is still weeks away.

New Junior High School Authorized

Aldermen Take Steps To Start Construction This Spring

Work on the construction of a junior high school at Newton Centre will start in April as a result of a vote passed by the Board of Aldermen at the meeting on Monday night. On recommendation by the Public Buildings and Finance Committee the Board voted to appropriate $5000 as architects' fees to prepare plans and specifications, and for the purpose of obtaining bids for a new school. The building will be located on land purchased several years ago on the former Paul estate situated near Clark and Centre streets between Newton Centre and Newton Highlands. The structure will cost at least $700,000 and is expected to be ready for occupancy when the school term opens in September 1931.

Alderman Powers of Ward 1 was the only member of the Board to vote against the appropriation. He stated that last year he objected to the practice which has been in effect in this city for a number of years of appointing architects on buildings erected by the city without any competition. He explained that he had learned only a few hours previously that the architects of the new school had already been decided upon. The Ward 1 alderman stated that the men chosen stand high in their profession, possess the requisite ability and experience to assure the city of satisfactory results and that his remarks were not to be considered in the slightest degree as reflecting upon these gentlemen. Neither did he wish it to be inferred that he desired to cause the Mayor any embarrassment. He believes that when the City of Newton builds school structures or any buildings costing huge sums, more than one architect or firm of architects, should be given opportunity to submit plans. Such competition would redound to the benefit of the city and would be fairer to the many competent architects residing in Newton.

eff of the city and would be fairer to the many competent architects residing in Newton.

Alderman Ball, chairman of the Finance Committee, answering Alderman Powers, stated that the appointment for an architect is an executive matter, entirely up to the Mayor. Mr. Ball remarked that the proposed school has been needed for several years and will provide accommodations for 900 pupils.

Alderman Mansfield of Ward 1 said he agreed with his colleague from that Ward. He thought the Board should have thorough knowledge of what it votes on and that contracts should not be handed out on a silver platter. He has confidence in the Finance Committee but believes that any project involving such a large sum should be carefully considered. Alderman Ball replied that the Board was not voting on a matter of $750,000 for the cost of building the school, but merely on the architects' fee and that seven or eight schools have been built in this city in late years under this same method. Nothing has been "put over" on the city during these years by selecting architects in this way. Mr. Ball also stated that architects of standing will not enter into competitions. Alderman Powers, in reply to the Ward 5 member said that he thought he had made it clear that he was not casting any reflections on the architects selected, nor had he said anything that might be considered derogatory to architects selected in the past.

President Collins of the Board explained to Alderman Mansfield that procedure followed in the selection of architects and the latter withdrew his opposition. Alderman Gallagher, chairman of the Public Buildings Committee inquired of Alderman Powers as to the number of architects who would be invited to compete and what compensation would be given the competitors. Alderman Powers answered that several architects residing in Newton should be invited to compete and that they should be compensated to the same amounts as are given under similar conditions in other places.

ANTI-BUMMING RIDE CAMPAIGN FACTS

Mayor Weeks, in a recent letter, says:

"Your efforts in this Anti-Bumming Ride Campaign have my unqualified approval. I believe you will have the support of all good citizens and I expect it will have the enthusiastic co-operation of every student of the Newton High Schools."

Mr. Driver: Have our efforts your unqualified approval? Your co-operation is the most important factor in this campaign. If you give no lifts whatever, you will discourage bummers. Driving will be more of a pleasure and will be safer for you.

THANK YOU!

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Next Monday morning at 11 o'clock the Committee on Public Health will hold a hearing on the petition of Leonard Powers, chairman of the Citizens make vaccination non-compulsory. At Defense Committee, for legislation to the same time a hearing will be given on the petition of Howard B. Green for an amendment to the law relative to the school attendance of unvaccinated children. The committee will also hear the bill on petition of Samuel B. Woodward for legislation to require the vaccination of children attending private schools and the bill on petition of F. Mason Padeford for legislation to prohibit the use of impure virus for purposes of vaccination. There is a movement on foot to have all committee hearings completed during February. This, if accomplished, will prove a record for the General Court. It may be necessary, therefore, in order to bring this about, to set ahead the dates of a number of hearings already scheduled. That announced for March 4 on petition of Mayor Weeks for a change in the system of voting in Newton and the abolition of preferential voting may be given a February date but that matter has not yet been decided, however.

Senator Hollis was the only speaker at the hearing before the Committee on Highways and Motor Vehicles on his bill for the appointment of a special commission (including members of the General Court) to investigate and report on measures to promote safety upon the highways of the commonwealth. The entire question, Senator Hollis told the committee, has not yet been satisfactorily settled. The commission he proposes would study the control of traffic, signal lights and pedestrian traffic. He further declared that the problem of proper protection for pedestrians is one of the most important matters before the Legislature.

There is much interest displayed in the forthcoming report of the special commission created to investigate the activities of the power interests. It is one of the last to report and is not expected to file its report until next week and possibly later.

The Committee on Metropolitan Affairs has reported against the bill to provide for a "Greater Boston" by the consolidation of cities and towns within a 10-mile radius of the State House. The project has received considerable attention of late as is the case every year and although there was a rumor that there were more proponents of this proposal this year, it is likely to be turned down as usual.

The Legislature, through the activity of Boston Democratic members, has been obliged to give up a great deal of time to oral charges against the Boston Police Department. The Ways and Means Committee of the House will begin hearings next Tuesday on a resolve for an investigation by the Attorney General. The committee has announced, through its chairman, that it will confine itself to the financial aspects of the measure. Reference to the Ways and Means Committee was only accomplished by opponents of the whole idea. Friends of the measure, which included the Newton Representatives, excepting Speaker Saltonstall who was not recorded, were for suspending the rules and acting on the matter at once. The opposition insisted on reference to the committee and this was voted. Of course, there is a chance that the resolve will be passed, but inasmuch as the Senate has already rejected a similar resolve introduced by a Boston Republican it is not likely that it will become enthusiastic in support of a similar one offered by an up-State Democrat.

One of the matters that will be followed with much interest by veterans is the proposal recommended by the special commission on State war memorial for an island in the Charles River bays and a beacon on Mt. Greylock in the western part of the State as a war memorial to veterans of all wars. The report of the commission of 21 members was unanimous which means that with united support it has a chance of going through.

INTER-RACIAL PREJUDICE

On Sunday evening, February 9, in the First Baptist Church, Newton Centre, will be held a Union Meeting of Young People from Newton Centre, Newton Corner, and Weston churches. The subject of the meeting will be "Inter-racial Prejudice," with the personal experiences of the speakers as the basis for consideration. Rev. Dwight Bradley, successor to Dr. Edward M. Noyes of the First Church in Newton, is to lead the Devotional part of the meeting. Mr. Charles R. Condon, popular member of the Newton High School Faculty and Coaching Staff, will introduce the four speakers of the evening. Each speaker is a young person of different race and nationality from the other speakers, all of them having suffered at one time or another because of their race or color. The speakers are: Miss Diamise Frasher of Albania, now at Wellesley College; Mr. Adolph Klaupek of Latvia and a scholarship student at present in the Newton Theological Institution; Mr. Henry T. Myers, a Negro who was prominent in his undergraduate days in college activities and athletics and who is now also a student at Newton Theological Institution; and John F. Also of California, an American citizen of Japanese parentage, now an undergraduate of distinction in Brown University.

Mr. W. Hobart Hill, Educational Director of the First Church in Newton, will lead the audience in singing. Piano selections will be played by Miss Marjorie Greene at the beginning of the program. This meeting of young people is being held on Inter-racial Sunday under the auspices of the Young People's Society of the First Baptist Church in Newton, Edward Marshall, President.

Graphic Outlines of History

By BURT M. RICH

Marquette and Joliet

Hoping that the Mississippi was the northwest passage to the Indies, Father Marquette, a French priest, and Joliet, a trapper, were sent in 1673 to follow the river to the sea. Floating below Arkansas, they turned about, convinced that the Great River flowed not to the Pacific, but to the Gulf.

We bring to every ceremony a sympathetic manner that emphasizes that spirit of kindness which pervades our services.

Residence calls by appointment

Rev. E. L. Shaver has consented to be chairman of a new committee recently appointed by the Board of Education of the Norumbega District. This committee is to make an investigation of the present conditions of week day religious instruction. Mr. Shaver is a resident of the District, also Leadership Training Secretary for one of the major denominations, and a member of various committees in the International Council of Religious Education.

The Young People's Council movement in the Norumbega District is assuming larger proportions this year than in the past. Local community Young People's Inter-Church Councils are being organized in Newton Centre, Newtonville, Newton Corner, Abundale, West Newton, Needham, Waltham and Watertown. These Councils are in the nature of executive groups or committees to plan for various activities that young people of a community can do together. Four young people and one adult from each church constitute the membership. Officers of these local councils will be members of the Young People's Cabinet of the Norumbega District.

The Newton Centre Young People's Council has outlined a program of monthly activities as follows:

February—Indoor Athletic Meet.
March—Young People's Vesper Service.
April—Easter Sunrise Service.
May—Mother and Daughter Banquet.
June—Church School Field Day.

Mr. W. Hobart Hill is the guiding genius of this group ably assisted by directors of young people's work and others in all the five churches of that community.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NOTES

Last Sunday afternoon about 150 Christian Endeavorers of Norumbega Union were present at the 49th Birthday Rally held at the Waltham Congregational Church. The three vice-presidents, Ralph Colby, Walter Upham and Mary MacPherson, presided. Rev. John S. Franklin of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton, sang a fine solo "O Saviour, Hear Me," after which Dr. Walter Commons of the entertaining church took charge of the devotional period. The Anniversary Message "Practical Problems of Christian Life" was presented by Rev. Miles Smith of the Massachusetts Baptist Convention. Said Rev. Mr. Smith, "Christianity needs conformity to character and the spirit of Jesus Christ as well as uniformity of Christian purpose." After the meeting the young people adjourned to the chapel where refreshments were served by the entertaining society.

The Newton Centre Baptist Young People's Society will entertain the Endeavor Society of the Weston Baptist Church next Sunday at 7 P. M. The topic of this meeting will be "Race Prejudice" with a Japanese, a Negro and a Russian being the principal speakers.

Last Sunday Robert Jigger was the speaker at the special C. E. Birthday meeting for the Intermediates held at the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton. Following supper, the Intermediates joined the Senior group at 6:30 and were given an illustrated lecture by Mr. Jigger on the progress of Christian Endeavor, after which there was a general question-box, the Endeavorers asking questions of Mr. Jigger. Next Sunday Ralph Colby, vice-president of Norumbega Union, will assist in the installation of the new Senior officers. Corinne Boyd the new secretary, will be in charge of this meeting.

George Blue, a member of the Prayer Meeting Committee of the North Congregational Church will lead the meeting next Sunday at that church. Mr. Blue is a student at Gordon College of Theology and Missions and will undoubtedly have many interesting things to say on the subject "Ways of Studying the Bible."

DRAMATIC RECITAL

A dramatic recital given by Senior pupils of Flora M. Bosson, took place at Miss Bosson's home last Tuesday evening, Feb. 4th.

Miss Ethel Sweet opened the program with the reading of the one act play, "The Wedding Present." The vitality and humor with which Miss Sweet interpreted this piece, held attention to the end.

Miss Helen Morgan followed with a humorous monologue. She imitated a woman telephoning for a bed to be exchanged. The naturalness of this interpretation was much appreciated by the audience.

The next piece on the program was a one act play "Playing with Fire," by Percival Wilde. This piece was most charmingly portrayed by Miss Luella Ryall.

Miss Helen O'Connor followed with the one act play, "Neighbors," by Zona Gale. Although this play has given characters, the reading was so well done, the audience could tell definitely when each new character came on the scene.

Miss Virginia Coombs and Miss Catherine Skelton took part in a one act play, "The Municipal Bench." Miss Coombs took the part of the girl, and Miss Skelton took the part of the boy. They have been together before in scenes, and never fail to please.

Miss Phoebe Coombs closed the program with a reading from "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm." This is the piece that she read when she won the first prize at the Freshman and Sophomore prize speaking contest at Newton High School.

by Scouts and many other things which open the eyes of the observers to the many-sided Scout program and work that Scouts can do and have done.

Troop News
Troop 1, Newtonville, is sending competing teams in various Scout events to a big Rally in the Quincy, Mass. Council on Saturday evening, February 8th, there to meet their old "friendly rivals" of Troop 1, Hingham.
Troop 1B, Highlands, recently invited on one of its regular meeting nights, Troop 15, Abundale, to be its guests. There were games and friendly Scout competitions and Mr. C. B. Floyd of the Council Executive Board gave his interesting illustrated talk on Birds. Troop 15 is to extend a return invitation to 1B some time during the spring.

Y. M. C. A.

A very interesting meeting of the Directors was held on Wednesday evening. Mr. C. V. Moore, reporting for the Physical Department Committee, spoke of the need of new chest-weights and new lockers to take care of the large number of new members who are joining the Association. The new chestweights will be installed immediately, but a special committee was appointed to study the locker situation and report at the next meeting. The 65 lockers installed in the business men's room last summer are all taken. The special committee on lockers consists of Mr. Walter H. Barker and Fred Hawkins from the House Committee, and Mr. C. V. Moore, Chairman of the Physical Department Committee.

Mr. D. V. Anders submitted a report on Advertising and among the things suggested was a monthly publication and special advertising in newspapers and billboards. Mr. Anders was asked to present his recommendations to the members of the Finance Committee who meet on February 19th.

The Directors were very much gratified at the large number of members received during January, the total being 225 in the men's department and 53 in the boys' department.
A study of the membership was presented showing that on the 31st of January there were 500 members in the men's department, 163 from 18 to 21 years of age, 157 from 22-25, 146 from 26-30, 86 from 30-35, 61 from 36-40, over 40, 190. Of these members it was shown that 644 had full privilege tickets, 60 were sustaining members, 47 held swimming privilege tickets, and 49 limited privilege tickets. The largest number of members came from Newton, but a survey of the total membership shows that there are 35 different villages and towns in Greater Boston from which members are drawn. Some of the members come from towns as far distant as Quincy on one side and Framingham on the other.

In the Boys' Department on January 31st there were 394 members between the ages of 10 and 18. These together with the 800 from the men's department makes a total of 1,194.
A Special Committee consisting of Messrs. Blaisdell, Childs, and Bill were appointed to study membership and program and present their findings at the next meeting.

The speaker at the next meeting of the Fellowship Club on Monday evening, February 10th, will be Dr. E. L. Pierce whose subject will be "Health Hints from an Osteopath."

PARAMOUNT THEATRE, NEWTON

Well here comes the screen's master comedians in "Navy Blues" with Wm. Haines and Karl Dane they have been together in several pictures but it is said this is the funniest in their career. Anita Page also carried a strong part in this picture. William Powell and Helen Kane will be seen in "Pointed Heels," a story of night life in the cabarets of New York. Wm. Powell the ever popular star is supported by Skeets Gallagher and Fay Wray—many scenes are in technicolor and a very good picture in all.

For the last half of the week, Lionel Barrymore will be seen in "Mysterious Island" it is a story of romance and a most interesting subject. Most of the scenes are taken at the bottom of the sea and some very gorgeous shots were made. It is a picture in colors and sure to be most entertaining. Ted Lewis in "Is Everybody Happy" will be on the same bill, he is called the "Tragedian of Jazz" because of his unusual method of "Acting Songs." Ann Pennington will also be seen in the picture, a very clever combination.

JUNIOR SONS AND DAUGHTERS OF THE REVOLUTION

The February meeting of the William Daves, Jr. Chapter, was held at the home of Robert Fernald in Newton Saturday evening. The president, Royal Tuthill, presided and the meeting was opened with the usual exercises. The secretary, Virginia Partridge, read the minutes of the last meeting which were approved. During the business meeting it was voted to contribute a substantial sum to the Valley Forge memorial, and to send a year's subscription for a magazine to the War Veterans' Hospital in Bedford and one to the Northampton Hospital. Plans were made and committees appointed to arrange for a play to be given in the spring.

The program for the evening consisted of piano solos by Janet Tuthill and a talk on "Washington and Valley Forge," which was illustrated with stereoscopic pictures. Refreshments were served and a social hour followed.

Straw Not Forbidden to Children of Israel

Whether or not the first brickmaker lived in a past 12,000 years distant, excavations at Ur of the Chaldees, the city of Abraham, have yielded brick tablets inscribed with information concerning a people of 6,000 years ago. If the Old Testament account is accepted the tower of Babel was built of brick, for "they said one to another: Go to, let us make brick and burn them thoroughly." And Holy Writ carries its reminder that brickmaking was known to the early Egyptians. Down through the ages has come allusion to bricks without straw, although the Children of Israel were not, as a matter of fact, required to make bricks without that binding material.

"And Pharaoh commanded the same day the task masters of the people, and their officers, saying:

"Ye shall no more give the people straw to make brick as heretofore; let them go and gather straw for themselves."—Boston Transcript.

Florid Epitaph Common in Revolutionary Days

"Stop, Passenger," begins an epitaph, dated 1781, on a stone in a cemetery in Elizabeth, N. J., "here lie the remains of a woman who exhibited to the world a bright constellation of the female virtues. On that memorable day, never to be forgotten, when a British foe invaded this fair valley and fired even the temple of the Deity, this peaceful daughter of Heaven retired to her hallowed apartment, imploring Heaven for the pardon of her enemies. In that sacred moment she was by the bloody hand of a British ruffian dispatched like her Divine Redeemer through a path of blood to her long wished-for native skies." There were few brief epitaphs in those early days. It was apparently regarded as a lack of reverence to fail to enumerate the virtues of the departed, and as a disregard of opportunity to fail to warn the "passengers" of what was in store for them.

Once Famous Port

Though Cowes is now almost synonymous with pleasure yachting, the little town was famous for its dockyards long before the annual regatta was thought of, says "Looker On" in the London Daily Chronicle. Many a tall ship for war or merchant service came off the slips at Cowes in the old days, including Nelson's famous Vanguard, and during the World War its shipyards were adapted again to contribute worthily to British naval strength, both in regard to new building and repairs. How the town came by its name has some interest. Really the names is plural, and derives from the two "coves" or circular forts, which Henry VIII erected to guard the entrance to Portsmouth harbor. One fort is now the headquarters of the Royal Yacht squadron.

Dog Saved Browning

Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett did not elope alone. Miss Barrett's lap dog went along.

"Not because the lovers wanted it particularly," Dr. Andreas Bard informed the Kansas City Browning society at a luncheon, "but because they were afraid to leave it behind. One bark would have spoiled everything. Miss Barrett's father disapproved of the intended marriage.

"Think of it—the future of Browning poetry resting with a little dog. If that little dog had yapped, very likely there would have been no Browning society and, what is worse, none of those exquisite poems written by Mr. and Mrs. Browning after their marriage."—Kansas City Star.

Wanted to See the Fight

Joseph Van Raalte tells of a New Yorker who went to see the same theater play every night for two weeks. "You seem to be stuck on this show," the ticket seller said to him one evening.

"No," said the man, "it's this way: You know that part in the second act, where the husband goes out and the lover comes in the fire escape window? Well, some one of these nights the husband is going to forget something 'an' come back for it 'an' ketch that bird. An' when he does, I want to be there."—Capper's Weekly.

"Sweeping the Board"

To refer to anyone as having swept the board is to say of him or intimate that he overcame all opposition, triumphed over whatever obstacles confronted him and so achieved a spectacular victory.

Like several other metaphorical expressions that have gained common currency, this one has its origin in the patois of the card table.

For in playing cards, when one of the participants swept the board, he secured everything, that is, won all the stakes on the board or table.

Hoarding Food

The habit of burying food is one that several wild animals possess. It is evidently a trait handed down from the time when England was in a grip of continual ice. At that time the hunter ate all he could, then buried the rest, returning to it when hungry. Nowadays the weasel will kill far more than it can eat, and it still buries the surplus, but, unlike its ancestors, it does not return to the store, as there is plenty of fresh food to be obtained.—London Tit-Bits.

SCHOOL NOTES

LEVI F. WARREN JR. HIGH

The Assembly opened with the regular exercises conducted by Robert Cotton who afterward gave some general announcements.

The thrift report was read by Robert Noone. He told us that all except one pupil banked on January 16th at Warren Junior High.

William Purbin, subscription manager of "The Transmitter," our school magazine, announced that grade eight came in first for the 100% goal, grade nine, second and grade seven was unable to reach the goal. He presented cards to the 100% home rooms and a banner to the room which attained the 100% record first, which was room 112, Miss Cowen's home room. He praised the pupils for their fine school spirit.

A poster contest was announced by Barbara Beach. The posters are to be made to illustrate the coming movie, "The Covered Wagon" to be at our school. Prizes in the form of tickets to coming movies will be given for the best posters.

The main feature came next. Mr. Cronin of the Boston and Newton Public Libraries gave a very interesting and entertaining introduction to the book, "Rolf and the Viking's Bow." Mr. Cronin is a great worker among the pupils for his talks and after an encore gave several miscellaneous talks.

Athletics

The total scores for the girls' basketball teams are: Yellow, 35; Green, 15; Red, 10; and Blue, 5. The Yellow team has been the winner every week so far.

Last week the girls played the alumni. After much excitement and a well played game the score was in favor of the alumni 24 to 22.

We are looking forward to the game with F. A. Day Junior High School. The Girls' Varsity and Second team will play Friday, February seventh, at the Day Junior High School.

Thrift

Last week, the Warren Junior High had 99.3% in thrift, having dropped 6% from January 23. There were twenty 100% home rooms. The rooms not having 100% were, 113, 117, and 205. There were 687 pupils present that day. Out of them, 682 pupils banked.

WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION MEETS

The Woman's Association of Central Church gathered Wednesday for their regular all-day meeting. Handwork began at ten in the morning. On a long table were laid out the work already finished since the first work hours of October. It was a brave showing of pillow cases, layettes, baby blankets, hemstitched curtains and other articles. At one o'clock one hundred and four sat at table for lunch where flowers, candles, valentines and friendly talk made a happy occasion.

The new president, Mrs. Chambers, called the meeting to order and Miss Chute led the devotions. After the usual reports, including the list of new officers and the announcement that the association is two-hundred and forty-two as it was last year. Mrs. E. W. Strang spoke in grateful appreciation of the faithful service of the outgoing president, Mrs. George Ayranssen, and presented flowers in behalf of the association. The speaker of the afternoon was Miss Priscilla Halton, who has been a teacher in China. "The Young Woman of China" was her theme. She showed a very tender and intimate knowledge of the life problems of her pupils and made Janet and Ella and Hazel (with their borrowed English names) seem very real and interesting to us and not unlike our own young women in their ambitions and questionings.

SAVINGS BANK LIFE INSURANCE

A little more than twenty years ago the first policy of Savings Bank Life Insurance ever issued was written by the Whitman (Mass.) Savings Bank. Today there are $3,809 policies in force representing $69,641,000 in insurance. One hundred and twelve banks are now identified with the system. Thirteen of these have established insurance departments and the remainder act as receiving stations for the thirteen insurance banks. Under the limitations imposed by the Savings Bank Insurance Law the banks are not allowed to employ solicitors. The interest of the policyholders are further safeguarded by a number of restrictions. These include a limit of $1,000 on any one life; policyholders must be Mass. residents or regularly employed in the state; the net profit must be distributed annually among policyholders; the mortality experience is unified at the end of each year; the seven trustees appointed by the Governor serve without compensation; policies must be prepared by the State Actuary with the advice of the Attorney General and at rates affixed by the same official over whom the banks have no jurisdiction; the funds must be invested in same class of securities as savings bank deposits required by law; funds held by the insurance department are taxed at same rate, same extent and manner as funds in savings departments; the legal reserve is on the same basis as any legal reserve life insurance company in Mass.; insured persons must be approved by state medical director; the insurance departments are under the joint supervision of the Commissioner of Insurance (one of the seven trustees) and the Commissioner of Banks; all life and endowment policies must guarantee a cash surrender value after six months premiums have been paid.

Because of the last named provision "lapsed" policies are practically unknown. The number of such representing only 1.36 per cent of those issued. The commercial life insurance companies average 25 per cent lapse on their "ordinary" policies and 59 per cent on "weekly premium" policies. The low net cost, as compared with commercial company policies, is a feature of Savings Bank Insurance.

Bath Every Six Months

Sufficient for Monks

Rules for bathing in the Benedictine monasteries of the Fourteenth century have been discovered at London, England, in the regulations of St. Augustine's, Canterbury and St. Peter's, Westminster.

Monks were allowed to take baths twice a year—before Christmas and Pentecost. Previous to the Fourteenth century, four baths were allowed annually, but this number was cut in half because bathing was considered a luxury except when necessary for the sick.

Only four monks could bathe in one day, so it took more than two weeks to accommodate the sixty monks in the monastery. No baths were allowed on Sunday.

The monks had servants to wash them. At Westminster these servants received extra food and beer on "bath days."

The baths were taken sitting in a tub, instead of standing, as was probably the secular custom at the time. Monks were not allowed to stay in the baths to "soak" after they had been washed.

At first, bathing was conducted in complete silence, but "that good custom has been entirely abandoned in these modern times" of the Fourteenth century.

Idea of Broadcasting

Fire Alarm Not Modern

Methods of transmitting news of fire are very old and until about the middle of the Nineteenth century watch towers with alarm bells were maintained in American cities. After the development of the electric telegraph, reliable apparatus was installed. As early as 1845 Dr. W. F. Channing of Boston published an article in the Advertiser outlining a fire-alarm telegraph system. In 1850 Charles Robinson used Morse apparatus for signaling fire alarms from police stations and engine houses in New York city to watchmen at tower bells, who sounded the signal of the appropriate district. A telegraph signal plan was put into operation in Boston, April 29, 1862. New York installed a fire-alarm telegraph system in 1869 and by 1875 it had reached to 75 cities. Although various systems are in use, that devised by Channing and Farmer and improved by Gamewell has been the one most generally employed in America. The keyless door was patented by Tooker in 1875 and the automatic keyless door by N. H. Suren in 1895.

Quick Cure for Obesity

As Falstaff, Sir Herbert Tree wore a rubber suit, which was blown up like a bicycle tire for the enormous size necessary for Falstaff, writes Constance Collier in "Harlequinade: The Story of My Life." It was a continuous duel between Ellen Terry and Herbert Tree as to who should get the better of the other. They would think out elaborate jokes. But one day the joke went too far. Ellen Terry took a hatpin and stuck it into Tree's enormous belly at the beginning of a long scene. Falstaff slowly began to deflate, and when the scene ended he came off with his clothes hanging in festoons around him. Ellen Terry was nowhere to be seen. She had locked herself in her dressing room.

Sophisticated Boyhood

It may be the age in which we are living that is responsible. You can't tell. But in the light of observation the sophistication of the nine-year-old becomes an actuality.

Witness the following:

A window display of a tire house. Toy automobiles scotching around at an amazing speed. Crowd composed almost entirely of adults peering with obvious amusement.

Two urchins approach from the background. One of them elbows his way to the front. The other is not so successful.

"What is it?" yells the one from the back.

Diseases of Goldfish

Fungus diseases often attack the goldfish, sometimes so severely that there is nothing to do but make a fresh start. One remedy for the disease is a salt bath, using a heaping teaspoonful of salt to two quarts of water. The patient should be left for about a week in this solution, which is renewed daily. If no noticeable improvement is shown in four days, increase strength of solution to about double, leaving the fish in this for two days. Then reduce the solution to its original proportions, after which the fish may be returned to the aquarium.

Road Map

The Bible as Mary Anne's house did not have pictures or maps. One day the family was visiting some friends. When Mary Anne picked up their Bible and found a map of Palestine in it she took it to her father, exclaiming:

"Look, daddy, there's a road map in this Bible."

Peanut Problem

Notwithstanding the enjoyment over her first bag of peanuts, Nancy Vera, just past three, was experiencing difficulty in breaking the shells of the monster goober with her tiny fingers.

"Muvver," she asked, holding up a big peanut, "will you unbutter this thing for me?"

ALDERMEN MEET

Mrs. Benjamin Ward of Capitol street, Watertown, fell on the sidewalk alongside the Trust Company building at Centre street, Newton. The city contends there was no appreciable defect at this place. The claim of F. D. Robinson of Newton Centre was occasioned because a hot-water boiler in his house collapsed after employees of the Water Department had shut-off the water supply on the street. No other boilers in the neighborhood were damaged. Alderman Grobenstein explained that notice was given to the claimant's household at 9.30 that the water would be shut off; water was drawn from a faucet in the house after that time this creating a vacuum in the boiler.

The Licenses Committee reported favorably on the following petitions: Franklin Motor Company, license to deal in second-hand motor vehicles at 405 Washington street; Stefano Pitlorino, 42 Langley road, Newton Centre, common victualler license. The petition of B. Arduino for a common victualler license at 391 Langley road, was refused. A hearing was recommended for February 17 on the petition of Ashforth & Barthelme who want a permit to keep 250 gallons of gasoline at 11 West street, Nonantum and to install a tank and pump.

The Licenses Committee reported adversely on the petition of Earle Johnson at 1149 Walnut street, Newton Highlands for the reason that there is no need for another taxi in that section. The petition of John Darcy for a two car garage at 50 Waverley avenue, Newton was refused because the grade of the sidewalk at this place is such that to permit a driveway over it would cause dangerous condition. A permit was granted the Garden City Cafeteria at West Newton to install an automatic musical device.

The Aldermen confirmed the following appointments of Mayor Weeks:—Albert H. McAuliffe as assessor, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Alfred E. Alvord; John W. Murphy assessor for a term of three years, Mr. Murphy to be chairman of the Board of Assessors; Ralph Laflie, James Cox, Frederic L. Smith and William E. Flynn, assistant assessors. On the recommendation of the Finance Committee the following appropriations were made; reimbursement to members of the Police Department for medical expenses incurred as a result of injuries received in the performance of duty, Joseph Charlton $24, William Whelan $6; for construction of sewers and drainage, $41,000 from 1930 revenue, adding same to Sewer Bond Account; $41,000 for street improvements from 1930 revenue, adding same to Street Improvement Bonds; $41,000 from 1930 revenue, adding same to school Bonds; levying Betterment assessments for construction of following streets:—Armadale road, $3,617; Plainfield street, $8,493.67; Washburn street, $4,141; Whittemore road, $5,231; sewer in Oakdale road, $5,412; sewer in Parker avenue, $3,988; for survey of power and heating plant at High School, $1000; $5000 for architects' plans for new junior high school at Newton Centre and obtaining bids thereon; $310.85 Workmen's Compensation for family of late Patrick Mahoney, and to continue payment of $16 thereon from 1930 Revenue; purchase of new City Atlases.

On the recommendation of the Finance and Public Buildings committee it was voted to tear down the old Wade school at Upper Falls during the coming summer. Alderman Temperley remarked that this is but the beginning of much needed improvements and that more land should be purchased to afford proper playground facilities.

The rules were suspended to pass a motion which authorized the Mayor and City Solicitor to seek the passage of a bill by the Legislature which will create a Stadium Commission. The purpose of this commission is to raise funds to enable a memorial stadium to be erected at the High School athletic field at cost of about $50,000. Persons contributing to this fund can be guaranteed repayment of their contributions and the financing will be arranged by diverting some of the proceeds from tickets sold to the contests held in the stadium, provided permission will be granted by the Legislature. Alderman Temperley did not in favor of this proposition but refrained from voting against it.

Appointments received from the Mayor included—Members of Board of Appeal for three year terms, Lewis H. Bacon and Charles R. Cabot; members of Playground Commission, three year terms, Albert P. Carter and Charles F. Johnson; two year terms, Ralph C. Henry and Thomas J. Lyons; Members of Planning Board for three year terms, Albert M. Lyon and James Kingman.

An important change was made in the ordinances of the city on request of Mayor Weeks when Section 21 of Chapter 2 was amended to read as follows:—

Section 21.
Before any contract shall be made by any officer or board where the amount involved is one thousand dollars or more, such officer or board shall, unless the Mayor gives a written authority to do otherwise, invite proposals therefor by advertisement in not less than two newspapers published in said city of Newton, such advertisements to state the time and place for opening the proposals in answer to said advertisements and reserving in said invitation the right to the officer or board to reject any or all proposals.

Whenever, in response to an advertisement by any officer or board of the city, a bid for a contract to do work or furnish material is sent or delivered to said officer or board, a duplicate of the same shall be furnished by the bidder to the Comptroller of Accounts to be kept by him and not opened until after the original bids are opened. After the original bids are opened, the Comptroller of Accounts shall open and examine the bids submitted to him, and shall compare the same with the original bids. In case any of the bids submitted to the Comptroller of Accounts differ from the corresponding original bids those submitted to the Comptroller of Accounts shall be treated as the original bids. The Contract shall not be awarded until after both sets of bids are opened.

Luxury, It Would Seem, Depends on Viewpoint

Recently the Woman passed through one of the poor sections of New York at 3 o'clock, just when hundreds of school children were being released. Directly ahead of her three little girls strolled. One of them, a pale child who looked as if sunlight and vegetables were not part of her daily regime, was conducting a monologue. In a high pitched, excited voice she was describing a bedspread which had been sent as a gift to the child's mother.

"It's so beautiful, like sunshine. All smooth and golden. It's like that. Look here!"

The children with the Woman—just a step away—stopped before a dingy store. Its window displayed a bedspread, cheap, coarse, glaring yellow. "Isn't it lovely?" the little girl asked.

The woman had visions of a poor back apartment into which the sun never peeped. To its occupants that golden bedspread stood for every luxury of life. The woman looked from the happy face of the child to the spread. Perhaps it was not so glaring if you saw it from the right angle.—New York Sun.

Advices Use of Slogan

Slogans are advocated as an aid to a healthy mental outlook by James D. Weinland, who considers their effect and lists a number in an article in Hygeia Magazine.

A good slogan can brighten our whole horizon, fill us with courage and be an emotional stimulus. It directs and holds the attention to a bracing thought. For instance, when a man is down in the dumps it is comforting to think that "the men who try to do something and fail are infinitely better than those who try to do nothing and succeed," or that "there are more chances and opportunities in life than we know."

There are slogans hidden away in the world's literature that fit almost any mood or desire, says Mr. Weinland. Proverbs are rich in them. Poems are jeweled with them. Each person must select the ones that mean most to him. Used at the right time the words can penetrate like a sharp dart into a mood and dissipate it. They act like a bugle call marshaling the forces of our resolution and ordering them into action.

French Enjoy Fishing

No fewer than 10,000 fishermen took part in a competition and congress which was held at Vichy, writes the Paris correspondent of the London Sunday Observer. The number is not only sufficient to show what a placid person the Frenchman really is—at least when he reaches a certain age—but also that he has a natural passion for sport. I do not mean sport as he understands the word, for he does not really care about games, but sport in the sense of shooting and fishing. Game shooting is far more a pursuit of the whole people of France than in England, and there is hardly a middle-aged Frenchman who is not a fisherman.

Handn't Changed

He was a stout man, and his feet were big in proportion. He wore stout boots, too, with broad toes. When he went into the boot shop to buy another pair, he found he had some difficulty in getting what he wanted. A dozen pairs were shown him.

"No, no! Square toes—must have square shoes," he insisted.

"But, sir, everybody is wearing shoes with pointed toes. They are fashionable this season."

"I'm sorry," said the stout man, as he prepared to leave the shop. "I'm sure sorry to have troubled you, I'm sure. But, you see, I'm still wearing my last season's feet!"—London Tit-Bits.

Had the Wrong Girl

Telephone tact is a necessary acquirement in these modern days, but its exercise occasionally leads to unexpected results. A recent example follows: Late at night the telephone in a home called the householder to the receiver. An obviously feminine voice was just as obviously that of a stranger.

After ascertaining that the caller had been connected with a wrong number, the householder remarked: "This is exasperating, isn't it?" To his bewilderment the reply came back: "Oh, no; this is Lillian!"—New York Sun.

Unprofitable Smartness

A farmer's son who had been sometime at the university came home to visit his parents. Two fowls were placed on the table for supper, and the young student said he could prove that there were really three fowls.

"This," said he, "is one, and this is two, and two and one make three."

"Since you have made it out so well," said his father, "your mother shall have the first, I'll have the second, and you may eat the third yourself."

Paper Money

The use of paper money began about 600 years ago in Italy, when the goldsmiths and silversmiths deposited bullion under supervision and the receipts circulated as currency. All the original states issued paper money in Colonial days. The first federal paper money was issued in 1775, under authority of an act of the Continental congress.

Employment of Glaze for Ornamentation Old

Among a race as gifted as the Chinese, neither the spirit of inventiveness, which originates new objects and processes of manufacture, nor the love of adventure which by means of travel imports them from abroad, were ever wholly absent, and it is often difficult to prove to which of these two agencies any particular novelty owes its introduction. However, as regards glaze, importation from abroad does seem the most likely. For one thing it was a very ancient possession of the West.

Even before the Pyramids rose out of the sands of the desert, a lovely turquoise glaze had been discovered by the Egyptian artisans. And twenty centuries later the dream city of the Pharaoh Akhnaton gleamed like a jewel against a cloudless horizon, the lintel of its gates, the walls of its palaces, the pillars of its temples, the cornices of its roofs inlaid with a fairlike mosaic of multi-colored glazes. From Egypt glaze spread over western Asia into the full pride of Babylon, unless invented there independently, which is quite as likely. While the baked clay of China was still innocent of all luster, Assyrian potentates decorated their architecture with lions and griffins, stepping out majestically in friezes of richly colored glazed tiles. This resplendent art was continued by the Persian king of kings, by the Seleucids and the Arsacids and beyond into the days of Islam.—From "Porcelain Pagodas and Palaces of Jade" by A. E. Grantham.

Holstein Cattle Winter in Luxurious Quarters

Speaking of the winter care given the famous Holstein cattle by the dairymen of Friesland, Holland, the National Geographic society says: "Barn and dwelling are under one roof, which rises high into the sky in order to provide loft space for the immense amount of hay needed as cattle feed during the long winter. The whole gives the appearance of a one-story cottage pushed low into the earth by weight of an immense pointed roof, which reaches above the tops of the tall trees lining the roadway."

"A hall separates the living quarters of the farmer's family from space set aside for cows, which as a rule is the larger portion of the house. Visitors testify that these barns are spotless and odorless. Each stall is sanded and has a window of its own, inevitably decorated with a fresh white window curtain. Every cow has a bath daily and many of their tails are tied up with ribbon."

A Fair Cop

For years and years and years—no, let us start again: For weary hours the angler sat watching his float. It never moved, save when a ripple of the river made it tremble and raised false hopes in his heart.

Then, with the snort of an enraged bull and the foot-rod to match, the village constable came to him.

"Fishing ain't allowed in this pond," he snapped. "Beat it!"

The fisherman turned bored eyes to him and jerked the hook out of the water.

"I'm not fishing," he replied, with weary sarcasm in his voice. "I'm teaching this worm to swim."

"A-a-ah!" snorted the policeman triumphantly. "Then come along with me. Bathing ain't allowed in the pond without costumes, and he ain't got one on!"

Wisdom of Antoninus

For a man can lose neither the past nor the future; for how can one take from him that which is not his? So remember these two points: First, that each thing is of like form from everlasting and comes round again in its cycle and that it signifies not whether a man shall look upon the same things for a hundred years or two hundred, or for an infinity of time; second, that the longest lived and the shortest lived man, when they come to die, lose one and the same thing—Marcus Aurelius Antoninus (

CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

The where, why and how of bananas will be told at the Children's Museum of Boston on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock by Miss Donna B. Folant of the Museum staff. Colored lantern slides of "Banana Land" will illustrate the talk. Admission is free.

A series of special exhibits, attractively and fully labeled, is on display in the Reading Room and elsewhere. The exhibits were arranged by Miss Eva R. Taylor of the exhibits department, and include the chambered nautilus shell, fossils and their stories, sea life, Hawaii, and a case of the winter birds of Massachusetts in their natural settings. It is of interest to note in connection with the nautilus shell exhibit that the printed copy of Oliver Wendell Holmes's famous poem "The Chambered Nautilus," which hangs beside it is the work of Vincent Dethier, one of the Museum boys.

Vincent also drew the sea things which decorate the copy. In the shell case on the main floor may be seen the very chambered nautilus which came from Dr. Holmes's study and which furnished inspiration for those immortal lines, "Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul!"

Daily illustrated talks on a variety of subjects, museum games, including special nature games on Thursdays; worthwhile clubs, including Stamp, History of Boston, World Friendship, and "Our Hobbies," Girl Scout nature conferences on Saturdays; special week-end talks on Saturday afternoons and alternate Sundays; and a vacation week patriotic program including daily motion picture talks, are among the February offerings of the Museum to all ages.

GIRL SCOUTS

This week-end, February 7, 8, and 9, the Annual Girls' Conference will be held in Brookline, all meetings being at the Brookline High School. Newton is very proud to have two girls on the Girls' Committee, Miss Mary Stephen, of Troop 14, Waban, and Miss Betty Cudworth, of Troop 21, Newton Highlands. Each troop will also be represented by a delegate. These girls are: Troop 1, Margaret Caswell; Troop 2, Lillian Wright; Troop 3, Anne Kendall; Troop 4, Phyllis Reinhardt; Troop 5, Charlotte Stearns; Troop 6, Mildred Burke; Troop 7, Priscilla Sawyer; Troop 8, Elizabeth Elwell; Troop 9, Ellen Jane Cooley; Troop 11, Alice Gallagher; Troop 13, Allison Thorogood; Troop 14, Elsie Stephen; Troop 15, Mary Alice Eaton; Troop 17, Mary Herlihy; Troop 19, Bertha McPhail; Troop 20, Jeanette Houghton; Troop 21, Mary Pope; Troop 22, Carolyn Somers; Troop 23, Carolyn Ray; Troop 24, Martha Burnham; Troop 25, Julia Harvey; Troop 26, Mary Carrick; Troop 27, Katherine Randall; Troop 28, Frances Carney. The main theme of the Conference this year will be "Scouting Around the World." Friday evening the Conference will be dedicated to Mrs. Juliette Low, the Founder of Girl Scouting; on Saturday morning four discussions will be held on the following subjects: "Friendliness through Camping," "World Guiding and Scouting," "Bringing World Scouting into the Troop," and "World Friendliness." Luncheon will follow this, and then an hour of recreation including coasting, skating, hiking, and folk dancing. For the afternoon session this group of 250 girls will divide into small conferences to discuss "Making Ourselves Worthy of World Scouting Through Courtesy Which Underlies Everything." Saturday night is an open session, which may be attended by parents and friends, as well as leaders; at this time the International Ceremony of Flags will be given, a speech by Deborah Webster, and the moving picture "The Girl Scout Trail." On Sunday afternoon, Scouts' Own will be held, with a very fine speaker, Miss Lillian Pickens, formerly with the Girl Guides of India.

The Newton Girl Scouts are delighted to have a booth at the Boy Scout Merit Badge Exposition at the Armory February 7th and 8th. We appreciate very much the courtesy of the Norumbega Council in extending to us the invitation to participate in the Exposition. Mrs. Raymond R. Collins is Chairman of the Girl Scout activities, while Mrs. Ralph Emory is in charge of the booth, which has

ALL UP FOR "1930!"

A recent edition of the Boston Herald had the above title for an interesting editorial paragraph. It deplored the disheartening apathy and indecision in Tercentenary plans during several months but notes that the apathy is disappearing and general interest is being aroused in what should be a wonderful year for our State. Boston starts in at once to plan its observance and with Mayor Curley's committee of three hundred to furnish "pep" and vigor there will be no doubt of the city's fitting observance. Every citizen hopes the State will give a celebration worthy of her traditions.

Two dates—July 15 for the State and September 17 for Boston will stand out, and will surely attract the attention of the country. Newton has plans already well-defined and well under way. The first Sunday in June will be observed in all the churches with special Tercentenary features. The week thus ushered in will be filled with interesting events. A Pageant called, "Newton, the City Beautiful," written by Rev. Chester A. Drummond and directed by Mr. Ernst Hermann, will be given June 2, 3 and 4 on the Newton Centre Playground which lends itself so well to such a presentation. On Friday evening of that week a large outdoor concert with many Tercentenary groups, taking part, will be given on the High School grounds. All villages are being asked to "polish" all their belongings and if any improvements of a permanent nature are contemplated, it is not too early to begin now to plan for them.

Newton has few historical spots but these will be suitably marked and placed in attractive condition. The Elliot Memorial just off Waverley avenue in Newton commemorates the preaching of John Elliot to the Indians on the spot where Waban's wigwag was placed. Two of Newton's villages took their names from John Elliot, and Waban, the Indian Chief. Norumbega Tower marks the reputed coming of the Norsemen to this coast which they called Vinland and as one writer puts it, "Vinland was somewhere between Nova Scotia and Massachusetts Bay more likely nearer the latter than the former."

Dr. Samuel F. Smith, author of "America" lived for some years in Newton Centre. The house has a tablet. He did not write the words of this song in Newton, but in Andover where he lived at the time. He was a member of the Class of '29 of Harvard and a classmate of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes who wrote of him, "And there's a nice youngster of excellent pith."

Fate tried to conceal him by naming him Smith; But he shouted a song for the brave and the free— Just read on his medal, 'My Country, of thee!'

Newton hopes to have the War Memorial completed for this year's Tercentenary program. It is a matter of deepest regret to all who were privileged to know him that Mr. Walter E. C. Worth, chairman of the War Memorial and chairman of the Aldermanic Committee of the Tercentenary has recently died. He was an inspiration to all who worked with him. His deep interest in the 1930 celebration and his enthusiasm and vision were a constant stimulus to all the members of Newton's Tercentenary group, and will remain with them to animate them to "carry on" for the "City Beautiful."

T. G. M. AUTOMOBILE HITS MAN Clarence D. Fisher of 15 Mount Vernon terrace, Newtonville, was hit at 12:30 Saturday morning by an automobile driven by Leo Conway of 118 Brown street, Waltham. Mr. Fisher had alighted from a Middlesex & Boston bus at Washington street and Brookside avenue, Newtonville, and walked around the front of the bus to cross Washington street when he was struck. He received severe head injuries and was taken by Mr. Conway to the office of Dr. E. B. Burke. He was then taken to the Newton Hospital for X-ray examination.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. Bentley

I hope to have a chance to get some valentines to send next week. I'm not sure that I shall be able to find the very ones I want. I may have to make them myself. On the surface it would seem that I had a variety of interests that demanded sweet thoughts and sweetmeats and that sort of thing about next Friday. That isn't exactly my problem. The valentines I have in mind would go to people I want to say something to and haven't the nerve to write it. You know that valentines are anonymous and although they are supposed to be tender and thoughtful they sometimes are not. No, I don't mean those abominable comic valentines. The Ones I have in mind are deadly serious.

For instance, there's the man who always wants to know "what time it is". Here's one for him:

Each day, each hour, I hear you say, "Hey, there, give me the time." I wish I was a judge, then you'd get six months for your crime.

The man behind you in the train or trolley who keeps hitting the back of your head with the newspaper when he is reading:

If you don't keep your paper down, Some day you'll get your due. For I'll back-up against it folds. And promptly smother you.

And the friend who insists, when you drop in for a call, that you would like to hear the radio and you try to talk against a good, strong jazz band:

The tubes you own do very well. When put to such a strain, But you should take them from your

And put them in your brain.

I can think of a lot more but will close with this one for that busybody who is everywhere this time of year:

Remember, when I have to sneeze, This morning I have told. Your own nose may get sore if you Ask, "Where'd you get that cold?"

Misplaced sympathy can upset your whole day just as misplaced confidence has a way of doing. I am not one of those who goes about freely distributing words of commiseration and yet I trust I have a generous amount of compassion. It must have been some such feeling that inspired me when I encountered a dealer in horses. It had been some time since last we met and I naturally wondered if he had not suffered financially by the presence of so many automobiles. "Nobody buys horses, unless they actually need them where everybody has a car," I said to myself as my friend approached.

We shook hands, remarked that a year or more had passed since our last meeting and allowed each other to look well and all that sort of thing. Then we dropped into reminiscence and finally he wanted to know how I was making-out. My answer was as noncommittal as I could make it, of course, but apparently it was thoroughly satisfactory for he said, "That's good."

That's good. I had heard he had told him a hard luck story for we always like to cheer one another on the way, so to speak.

"Still selling horses?" I asked.

"Yes, indeed," came the reply.

"Not many buying them, are there?"

"Yes, they are," he replied.

"I hadn't noticed many on the streets," I explained, "and I had an idea that your business might have dropped."

"There's where you're wrong," he answered. "I'm selling saddle horses. Evidently you don't go where people ride horseback."

"I didn't know there was a circus in town," I apologized.

"No, no," he went on, "I'm talking about riding saddle horses by everyday folks. You know that there are a lot of car owners and that anybody can own a car, but the thing is to have a car and a horse. When you can do that you're somebody. You see that gives one a sort of social distinction. You use the car to travel where your saddle horse is kept and after you've had a canter you hop into the old boat again and go back to the garage. By the way, can I sell you a horse?"

"But I don't even own a car," I replied.

"Well, of course, that's different. When you get one let me know and I'll sell you a fine horse at a good price."

That seemed a fair offer and I thanked him, warmly.

I don't know whether almanacs are going out of fashion or whether they have just escaped my notice. At any rate I doubt if I should have got to really studying these things if a good friend had not presented me with a book as a Christmas gift to which I could refer questions of astronomy and the like. Under the caption of "The Starry Heavens—February, 1930," I found these words, "Venus is at superior conjunction on Feb. 6, which means that it is on the side of the Sun remote from the Earth and at a point of its orbit, then immediately opposite the latter." That was yesterday and as Thursday, both day and evening, is one of the busiest of the week for me I had no opportunity to check up.

Now nobody regrets more than I my inability to look up this star business. I should like to know if what the almanac further said is true, but I assume that it must be. If it isn't I don't want to hear about it for I cherish this book as a gift as well as fountain of knowledge. Anything that comes to you for the first time you accept as profound and for that reason I hold there is no dispute. However, the astronomer says, "It may happen on such occasion that Venus passes immediately behind the Sun and is occulted, but it will not be so on this occasion, for the planet will pass below the Sun."

Did anybody happen to notice this passing yesterday last night? I was on the back seat of a car between two associates (male) and we were coming from a rehearsal of a play. That explains why I am not prepared to testify for I challenge anybody to sit on a back seat with large persons on each side and think of any such lofty subjects as the starry heavens.

POLICE NEWS

The Newton court was crowded Monday morning with a large number of Wellesley citizens and Newton residents with time to spare who came for the purpose of listening to the trial of Patrolman James Manning, Jr., of the Wellesley police. They were disappointed. On request of James P. Gallagher attorney for Manning, the case was continued for a week. Manning is charged with driving while under the influence of liquor and with assault and battery. In the early morning hours of January 26 a car driven by Manning and a car containing a couple of young men from the Babson Institute at Wellesley collided on Commonwealth avenue near Lowell avenue, Newtonville. The young men were accompanied by two young women. William L. Geddes, a situation and pass remedial legislation. It is not likely that they will be done. Possibly the governing bodies find it an intangible matter—one that is not readily defined as to details. Or it may be that they feel it would be an interference with private business to direct an employer to do this or that. Meanwhile there are those who feel acutely the bitterness of unemployment made even more so by the fact that years count against a man. It is a tragic situation and the only hope is that out of all the discussion and agitation something approaching a solution will be reached.

Incidents that have come under my own observation have shown how great a puzzle it must be to those confronted with the problem. I have seen men forced to retire from public service because they had reached the age of 70. Every one of these men had full possession of his mental and physical powers. Moreover, they had acquired a knowledge of their work such as could be obtained only by years of experience. It seemed so ridiculous to command them to step out of line because they had lived three score years and ten. A punishment in a way, and a most grotesque one for an offence that was no fault of their years.

When men are removed by law that is one thing but when they are forced out of private business just because they are no longer young, well, that is quite another. I heard only the other day of a young factory manager who boldly suggested to the owner that men above forty years of age be dismissed from the advisory board. The owner looked at the go-getter and said, "Would you drive a high-priced car down the street without brakes?"

"Certainly not," came the reply. "Well," the owner went on, "my business is like a great big automobile—the best in the country—and the men I have to advise you are older than you by a number of years. But they are the brakes of my machine and if I didn't have them I don't know where you would run it and what might not happen."

student at the Babson Institute charges Manning with having assaulted him.

James A. Brown, 18, of Edgcliffe road, Watertown, was fined $50 in the Newton court last Friday when found guilty of illegal transportation of liquor. He was also found guilty of keeping and exposing liquor for sale, and fined $50. The first fine was suspended. Young Brown was caught by Serg. Mahoney, Patrolman Maguire and Kelly while delivering the "wet goods."

Three persons were in the Newton court Monday accused of bootlegging. Rouben Dousdamanian of Lowell street, Watertown, was found guilty of making an illegal sale of liquor and fined $50. For keeping and exposing liquor for sale he was given a suspended sentence of three months in jail by Judge Weston. Dousdamanian was caught delivering a jug of alcohol to a boarding house on Mechanic street by Special Officers Burke and Feeley and Patrolman Hamill. Mrs. Stella Welford of 11 Faxon street, Nonantum, was found guilty of making an illegal sale of liquor and given a suspended fine of $50 and a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail. Judge Weston was lenient with the woman when she informed him that her husband is out of work and she has four children to support. Julius Connors of 220 California street, Nonantum, charged with making an illegal sale of liquor, had his case continued until February 12.

Archer Smith of 2133 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale, was fined $100 in the Newton court Monday for driving while under the influence of liquor. He was also ordered to make restitution for damages caused to another car with which he collided. Augustus Wilson, colored, of 80 Middlesex street, Boston, was arrested in that city last Friday charged with larceny of $69 from Mrs. Annie Coleman, colored, of 1229 Washington street, West Newton. Mrs. Coleman fell for an ancient trick which was worked by the wily Wilson and another gentleman. They "found" a pocketbook in West Newton and because Mrs. Coleman was a witness to the "finding" Wilson and his pal magnanimously offered to share the contents of their lucky discovery with the witness. So, on their suggestion, she went to her home, obtained $69 and gave it to the "finders" to hold as evidence of good faith on her part while she retained possession of the pocketbook with its valuable (?) contents. Mr. Wilson was in the Newton court Monday and was given a suspended sentence of six months in jail on condition that he make restitution to Mrs. Coleman. Wilson was caught through the efforts of Inspectors Good and King.

Goldie Blinder of Chelsea reported to the police Monday morning at 9:30 that her automobile had been stolen from where she had parked it about an hour previous in front of 250 Washington street, Newton. Later in the morning the car was brought to Police Station 1 by Jason Fox of Taylor street, Waltham, who stated he had taken it by mistake.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

COMING EVENTS

Editor's Note: Following the Editor's custom of placing the outstanding events of the week for Newton Clubwomen, regardless of sequence of dates, in the place of honor as heading the Column—when there is an especially noteworthy event to give this position—the Mid-Winter Meeting of the Newton Federation, an all-day meeting which promises many informative and entertaining features, is announced first this week.

Newton Federation

The Mid-Winter Meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs is to be held Tuesday, February 11th, at the Congregational Church, Newton Highlands, by invitation of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands. The program is AMERICAN HOME DAY.

At 11:00 a. m. Dr. David Vaughan, Professor of Social Service, Boston University, will speak on "Some Problems of Family Life Today."

Dr. Vaughan is considered a speaker of magnetic personality. He is a graduate of Northwestern University, College of Liberal Arts, and having done graduate work in Sociology at the University of Chicago, and having lived and worked in the congested districts there, Dr. Vaughan is eminently fitted to present the subject chosen for this lecture.

There will be an opportunity for questions afterward. At 12:30, luncheon will be served, for which tickets at 85 cents may be procured, before February 8th, from the members of the American Home committee of the Federation, or from presidents of the affiliated Clubs.

At 2 p. m. a Tercentenary Play, "Nora's Dream," written by Mrs. William O. Hunt, Mrs. Fred H. Daniels, and Mrs. Leslie M. Murray of the Newtonville Woman's Club, will be presented by the following cast: Nora, Mrs. Charles S. Ensign; Grandmother, Butterworth, Mrs. J. W. Andrews; Obadiah (servant of the Lord) her son, Miss Priscilla Ordway; Deborah (a bee), his wife, Mrs. William Burr; Azubah (deserted) his maiden sister, Mrs. Frances Newhall; Sophronia (of sound mind) 14 years, his daughter, Mrs. Wm. C. Ridge; Reuben (behold, a son) 12 years, his son, Mrs. Charles Cunningham, and Ashur, a baby.

Under the direction of Mrs. M. H. Gulesian, old songs, appropriate to the play, will be rendered by the trio, in costume, consisting of Vaneva Milne, Soprano; Laura C. Thompson, Second Soprano; and Jane Kemp Roulston, Contralto.

All Clubwomen of Newton are cordially invited to attend both morning and afternoon meetings. Club membership tickets will admit members, without charge, the only fee being for the luncheon.

C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands

Continuing the presentation of Thomas Hardy's book, "The Dynasts," Mrs. Ernest G. Hapgood will give the program for the C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands on Monday afternoon, the 10th, when the Club meets at the home of Miss Adelaide R. Webster, 10 Chester street.

Monday Club of Newton Highlands

The Monday Club is having a special occasion in its meeting of the afternoon of February 10th, with a program arranged for the pleasure of guests. Madam Elizabeth Gloria Miller, of Los Angeles, will read a play.

and Mrs. Willard H. Eaton, a talented musician of Newton Highlands, will furnish piano numbers. The Club will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Edwin E. S. Birtwell, as hostess, of 59 Lakewood road.

Waban Woman's Club

The Education committee of the Waban Woman's Club is sponsoring a lecture to be given at the Union Church, on Tuesday morning, February 11th, at 10:30 o'clock. Professor Guy Wilson, of Boston University, will speak on "Elementary Education." Professor Wilson is considered to be an authority on this branch of education.

Social Science Club

The Social Science Club will meet Wednesday, February 12th, at 10:00 o'clock at the Hunnewell Club. Mrs. Edmund I. Leeds will read a paper on "The Scandinavian Contribution to American Civilization." Mrs. Percy N. Kenway and Miss Jessie M. Fisher will be hostesses.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

On February 13th, at 10:30 a. m., Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole will give the fourth in a series of Current Events lectures in the Newton Centre Woman's Clubhouse, sponsored by the Newton Centre Woman's Club.

Mrs. George Willard Smith, chairman of the Public Health committee, announces that it is still possible to join the very successful Monday morning Gymnasium Classes.

The Club Chorus, formed by Mrs. Moses H. Gulesian, chairman of the Music committee, has been started, and will meet at the Clubhouse on Wednesdays at 10:30 a. m. A great deal of interest has been evinced, and it is hoped that even more will join.

Mrs. William C. Noetzel, chairman of the Art committee, has invited the Club members and their friends to visit the Business Men's Art Exhibit to be held in the Club parlors on February 23rd through March 1st, from 2 to 5 p. m. except Sunday, February 23rd, when it will be open from 3 until 7 p. m. Tea will be served on the opening day, and there will be music by Miss Mary Clarke, Harpist; Mrs. Olive Bird, Soprano, and Mrs. Margaret Peck, Pianist. The Art committee will act as hostesses, and the pointers will be Miss Lillian Everett, Mrs. Everett M. Varney, Mrs. James Watson, Mrs. John J. Harman. Members of the Junior Woman's Club will also assist in serving. The decorations will be in red, white and blue, in honor of Washington's birthday.

Mrs. William Freethy, Mrs. Norman Pratt, Mrs. Sarah Comer, and Mrs. Charles E. Dennison will receive in the Art Gallery.

Mrs. Charles Allen Riley, chairman of the American Home committee advises that Mrs. P. E. Wheldon, C. N. 825-R, is accepting reservations for the Margaret Weimer Hayward Cooking Classes to be held on three Wednesday mornings in March. It is important that these reservations be made as early as possible. These Classes are open to women outside the Club by arrangements with Mrs. Wheldon.

Newton Community Club

An afternoon of music is to be enjoyed by the Newton Community Club, on Thursday afternoon, February 13th, at 2:30 o'clock in the Underwood School Hall. The Panharmonic Orchestra Club, with Mr. Lloyd A. Stone-street as director, will furnish the program. The six members of this Club are members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and the program will illustrate the development of the use of the Wood-wind Instruments in a modern Symphony Orchestra. All members of the Club are urged to be in the seats promptly at 2:30 o'clock, as the program will start at once, prior to the business meeting, so as to enable the artists to keep another engagement.

Following the meeting, Groups 9 and 22 will hold a Food Sale—Valentine Cakes and pies for sale. On Monday, February 17th, at 10 a. m., a hike will be enjoyed by all who meet at Vernon street side of Underwood School. If there is snow, those going should bring snowshoes or skis. There will also be coasting and tobogganing.

The attention of the members is called to a lecture on Interior Decorating in Grace Church Parish Hall on Wednesday afternoon, February 19th at 2:30 p. m., under the direction of Miss Fuller, of Jordan Marsh & Co. Tickets are fifty cents.

On the same day there will be a visit to the Priscilla Proving Plant. The group is limited to twenty-five and those wishing to go must give their names to the chairman, Miss Margaret S. Ball.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The West Newton Women's Educational Club is planning a Class in Parliamentary Law. It is open to all Newton women, and will be conducted by Dr. Mary T. Maynard on Thursday mornings. Those who are interested may consult the president of the Club, Mrs. Joseph A. Otis, by calling W. N. 2348-W.

Mrs. Malcolm A. Warren will be hostess to the Travel Class on Monday, February 10th, at her home, 28 Oakland avenue, Auburndale.

Mrs. Wilson C. Dort will give a paper on "Bulgaria," and Mrs. Victor D. Ratzburg a paper on "Rumania."

Miss Margaret Slattery will give her address on "The Modern Girl and the Ladder" before the West Newton Women's Educational Club on Friday, February 14th, at the Unitarian Parish House. The program is sponsored by the Juniors. Tea and a social hour follow.

Shakespeare Club

The Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands will meet with Mrs. A. L. Pratt, of 67 Fisher avenue, on February 15th, at 2:30 p. m.

STATE FEDERATION

RADIO. Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, third vice-president, will broadcast a "Greeting" from WNAC, next Wednesday morning, February 12th, at 11:30 o'clock. Miss Bernadine Brooks, Violinist; Miss Virginia Brooks, Cellist; and Miss Helen Lyndon, Pianist, are to entertain at 11:40. This trio is presented by Mrs. Vern Q. Powell, a former member of the Music Department. Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, first vice-president—the radio "Book Lady"—will be on the air at 11:50 with "Bookland's New Bill-of-Fare."

SOCIAL WELFARE CONFERENCE. At each Club meeting there is a salute to the flag and as we end we sometimes unconsciously emphasize the last line "with liberty and justice for all."

Can there be liberty and justice until everyone is equipped mentally, physically, and spiritually, to take his place in the community as a citizen able to care for himself and his family in such a way that none of them will become a public burden?

With this as a keynote "with liberty and justice for all", the Department of Social Welfare has planned a Conference Luncheon for the members of the Federation for a discussion on how the State care for those persons unable to care for themselves.

His Excellency, the Governor, Mr. Frank G. Allen, is the guest of honor for this luncheon, and will discuss personally his welfare program for 1929-1930, with special emphasis upon the needs of children. Other guests will be the members of the Children's Commission; the Commissioner of Probation, Mr. Herbert C. Parsons; Commissioner of Welfare, Mr. Richard K. Conant; Commissioner of Mental Diseases, Dr. George Kline; general secretary of the Mass. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, Mr. Theodore A. Lathrop; executive director of the Catholic Charitable Bureau, Rev. George P. O'Connor, also Senator J. Bradford Davis, chairman of the Recess Committee for Increasing School Requirements; the Commissioner of Finance, Mr. Charles P. Howard; and the Commissioner of Correction, Dr. A. Warren Stearns.

Each of these guests will discuss a particular phase of their own field of activities, philanthropy, mental hygiene, wage earners, correctional institutions, and protective agencies, with special emphasis on "how Clubwomen can be of help in their own community."

The place of the luncheon, the Harry E. Burroughs Newsboy's Foundation, is of unique interest, and especially fitting for a meeting of this purpose. Given to newsboys by a former newsboy, it has become a center of activity for many youngsters who must bear the burden of family support, and through this, their own clubhouse, they can learn other trades, continue their schooling with supplementary courses, and find an outlet in organized activity the best use of leisure time.

Can You Wear the New Styles?

The answer is "Yes" if you wear the right foundation garment. NuBone-NuTrend corsets meet every requirement of today's vogue. Now you can have a flat diaphragm and a natural waistline with style and comfort.

All NuBone-NuTrend corsets are boned with the famous patented woven wire stay, the stay that bends edgewise as freely as flatwise yet always returns to its original position. It is exceedingly light, flexible, hygienic (ventilative) yet ultra strong and supporting.

Call at our shop for Free Consultation and Demonstration. Or, if you prefer, we will gladly send you our trained corsetiere to serve you in the privacy of your own home.

Have openings for two capable women who can devote a few hours daily to increase their income.

Boston, next to the Men's City Club and near the State House, and can be reached from the Park street subway and Scollay square.

Thursday, February 13th, at 12:30 noon, is the day set for the luncheon, tickets for which may be obtained from the chairman, Mrs. Albert Bradley Carter, 43 Mt. Vernon street, Boston (Haymarket 2616), at $1.50 each.

Receiving with the chairman, Mrs. Albert Bradley Carter, will be the president, Mrs. A. A. Packard, Mrs. Frank G. Allen, Mrs. Esther Andrews, Mrs. Charles P. Howard, Miss Mary Elizabeth Driscoll, Miss Ethel Johnson, Mrs. William Morton Wheeler, and the vice-chairman, Mrs. Frank C. Stetson. Other members of the committee in charge of the luncheon are: Mrs. Mary I. Keith, Mrs. Frank S. Elliot, Mrs. John F. Freeto, Mrs. E. H. Mackay, Mrs. Stephen E. Wright, Mrs. Arthur O. Young, Mrs. T. Grafton Abbott, Miss Marion Raymenton.

Each District director will be hostess for the Clubs in her particular District, and will welcome all of those interested in the activities of the Department of Social Welfare, philanthropy, wage-earners, mental hygiene, protective measures and correctional institutions.

The Department of Social Welfare feels a deep obligation in supporting the Governor's Welfare Program, with particular emphasis upon the Children's Commission, and the raising of the school requirements.

"The end of government is the achievement of satisfaction and happiness by our people. No group can prosper in the presence of misery, or suffering or poverty," said Governor Allen in his inaugural address in 1929.

His sixteen important recommendations mark the beginning of a new period of wise and enlightened legislation for the welfare of the citizens of Massachusetts. Some of these recommendations have already been put into effect: a survey of crippled children, a Commission created to study the revision of child welfare laws, and the need of co-ordinating, harmonizing, and improving present laws relative to adoptions, child marriages, illegitimacy, birth certificates, boarding children, dependent children, children of divorced parents, feeble-minded, epileptics, traffic in infants, and detention care of juvenile delinquents.

A consideration of the need of proper care of persons who are sick with chronic diseases, such as arthritis, arteriosclerosis, and heart diseases is a serious problem. Hospitals have no room to care for these patients and many of the homes for the aged will not admit them, and so the Governor has recommended that aged persons should be aided as far as possible in private homes, and for those requiring hospital care, a new hospital unit should be provided.

For many years the State has had to make large appropriations for persons suffering from mental diseases, and again, more beds are being developed, particularly by means of the new Metropolitan Hospital for mentally sick at Waltham.

Massachusetts is the first State to institute a State hospital for cancer patients. The experiment has proven a necessity, and more beds will be added to the already overcrowded hospital at Pondville.

The continuance of the construction of the new State prison at Norfolk, now nearly completed, will give a more humane place for aiding the improvement of character of men sentenced to State prison.

Feeble-mindedness has always been a problem, in that so many persons are in need of institutional care not only as a protection for themselves but also for the community. The three State schools have been overcrowded, but under this new program additional facilities will be had at Belchertown and at Wrentham.

Education of the children of today means sufficiency in the citizen of tomorrow. Therefore, much interest has been aroused in the raising of school standards. A committee appointed has made its recommendations that the compulsory school age be advanced to fifteen years, with more time in continuation schools, already established and working so successfully.

Stabilizing employment is one means of eliminating misery, suffering, and poverty, and many cities and towns in the Commonwealth have pledged their support not only by creating employment, but by keeping as many as possible at work.

Vision is the keynote of the Welfare Program of His Excellency, the Governor, during 1929 and 1930.

National Drama Week

In the celebrating of National Drama Week, which this year is arranged to be held February 9th to 15th, Miss Phoebe Lee Hosmer, State chairman of Literature, while suggesting that Clubs put on a play that week, makes timely mention of three books of value in this enterprise. First, of practical aid in putting on plays, she mentions Emerson Taylor's "Practical Stage Directions for Amateurs"; second, "Acting and Play Production" by Adams and Weirick, of aid from the viewpoint of one taking part in plays; and third, the brochure, "How To Put On Plays", by Mrs. Harlan T. Stetson, former State chairman of Literature, which is being printed for the State Federation, through the courtesy of Walter H. Baker and Co., a copy of which will be sent to all drama chairmen on the Federation list. Interest in putting on plays is increasing; more Clubwomen are taking part in plays, and more and more it is being realized that only standards of the artistic and cultural make putting plays on worthwhile.

Lectures on Psychology of Childhood and Adolescence

Newton Clubwomen, interested in this subject, have had brought to their attention at the Executive Board Meeting of the Newton Federation last week, the following Course of Lectures (the first of which, on February 6th, has taken place):

The Course of eight lectures, at a cost of $4, with another $1 to be paid if credit is desired on college points, will be given in the Technical High School Hall, Newtonville, on the evenings of Thursday each week, at 7:30 o'clock. Dr. J. Mace Andrews, lecturer on Public Health Education, is course leader, and is the lecturer for the first two evenings. On February 13th, Dr. Andrews takes as his subject "The Child"; on February 20th, Dr. F. L. Wells, of the Boston Psychopathic Hospital, will speak on "The Special Hygiene of the Adolescent"; on the 27th, he will continue this topic; on March 6th, Dr. Rose S. Hardwick, head psychologist, Division of Mental Hygiene, of the State Department of Mental Diseases, will speak on "Relation of Intellect to Education"; and on March 13th, the same speaker will have as topic "Relation of Intellect to Social Adjustment"; on March 20th, Miss Sybil Foster, educational secretary of the Massachusetts Society for Mental Hygiene, will speak on "Why Child Management?" and on March 27, the final in the series, Dr. Karl M. Bowman, assistant professor of Psychiatry of Harvard Medical School, will speak on "The Community and the Child".

RECENT EVENTS

Newton Federation

The January Executive Board Meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs was held in the library of the Newton Technical High School building on Tuesday, January 28th.

The president, Mrs. Phister Corion, presided, while reports of officers, and of chairman of committees were read. The secretary called attention to the University Extension Course of lectures to be given during February and March with the general subject The Psychology of Childhood and Adolescence.

The place of meeting will be the Newton Technical High School Hall, and the opening date, Thursday February 6th at 7:30 p. m. Eight lectures will be the course at a charge of $4, with $1 additional for credit.

At the close of the business meeting, the president introduced Mrs. Arthur Desoe, chairman of the Legislative committee.

Mrs. Desoe presented Mrs. Emma E. Brigham, Representative from Springfield, who reported the findings of the Recess Committee on Praising the School Age.

Professor Z. Chaffee, of Harvard Law School, spoke in favor of the bill for abolishing capital punishment; and Hon. Samuel G. Wragg, State Senator, from Needham, spoke in opposition to the bill. Both speakers were very convincing.

Mrs. Arthur Desoe read an interesting report of bills recently before the Legislature, and considered by the Massachusetts State Federation.

The president, Mrs. Cronin, expressed her hope that many Clubwomen would attend the Mid-Winter Meeting of the Federation, which promises to be of unusual interest, both morning and afternoon.

Shakespeare Club

The Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club was entertained at the home of Miss Mary Sweeney, on Saturday last, with an unusual number of members present.

Acts IV and V of the play Henry V was the reading, for the afternoon; this included the night scene before the battle of Agincourt. Henry V, in this "time of danger and responsibility, fell on his knees, prayed to God to give his soldiers courage, and not punish him for his father's usurpation of the crown"; when summoned to prepare for battle he became "the hero in action" and gave utterance in those marvelous words of valor, humorous realism and comradeship which have been called "the highest example of heroic oratory in the whole literature of the world." The battle of Agincourt was won by Englishmen, with the patriotism of the best Englishmen of all ages.

It has been difficult to imagine the King as a wooer, yet Shakespeare ended this play with a typical love scene; by this artistic gesture, the view of Henry which the poet wished to emphasize, saved the dramatic way in play. The audience went away with their thoughts not on the lover but on the winner of Agincourt, Henry the Fifth.

Katherine, daughter of the French King, Charles VI, and Isabel, was married to Henry V in 1420.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

A very interesting meeting was held by the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Friday, January 31st. Mrs. William H. Raye, chairman of the Membership committee, reported that during the Club year, eighty-nine new members had been received into the Club, making the total membership very nearly seven hundred. She emphasized the fact that at present the Club has no waiting list and that membership is unlimited.

Mrs. Frank N. Nathan, chairman of the Motion Picture committee spoke upon that subject, and upon a recommendation being presented by the president to the Club, it was voted to discontinue Moving Pictures in the Clubhouse after February 15th.

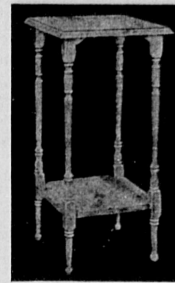

The speaker of the afternoon was Rollo Walter Brown, an eminent educator, author, and publicist. His subject, "Do We Want Creative Minds in America?" was most original in its presentation, as well as interesting and inspiring. He says that "the 'creative spirit' is taking what we have, dividing it up, and making something new out of it, that had not existed before." Several incidents of his own discovery of creative genius were delightfully introduced into the lecture. Following the talk, tea and sandwiches were served by the Refreshment committee.

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

The Club rooms, well filled with members of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club and their guests, listened with pleasure and interest to Miss A. Gertrude Osborne give reminiscences and descriptions of her trip to Jasper Park. The colored slides were thrown on the screen by Mr. C. W. Holt, of the Canadian National Railway, who also gave a movie of Jasper Park and one of Alaska. Mrs. Justin Starkie was chairman of the evening.

A report was given of the very successful food sale held at the Roadside Shop on Saturday afternoon, January 25th, which netted the Club a fine sum, of which $15.00 was voted to be applied on the Foundation Fund for the General Federation.

Notice was given of the Card Party to be given under the direction of Mrs. Thomas L. Aiken, in the Club rooms on the evening of February 13th at 8.

Newtonville Woman's Club

"Bab," a four-act comedy was presented to a large and enthusiastic audience at the High School Auditorium, on Tuesday evening, under the direction of the Drama committee, of the Newtonville Woman's Club. This play is full of clever lines and amusing situations and "Bab" the sub-debutante, just home from boarding school, was portrayed remarkably well by Mari-ada Comer, a senior at high school. Her support was equally good, and the whole performance went off with a great deal of spirit. The cast included, beside Miss Comer, Winthrop Clark, Pianist. The dance music during the third act was by the Andrews Trio, and the Serenade sung in the same act was by Mrs. William Fish, accompanied by Mrs. Raymond Scribner.

person to show cause why the same should not be granted. The petitioner is hereby directed to show cause therefor, by publishing in the New York Times, within two weeks, in the New York edition, a notice published in New-York City, New York, on the day of February, A.D. 1926, in the forenoon, to the effect, to wit: That the same be granted. And the petitioner is to give public notice of the same in three successive weeks in the Graphic, a newspaper published on the last publication day of each of the three weeks.

SAVINGS BANK LIFE INSURANCE

ONLY $1 WEEKLY

$1,000 LIFE INSURANCE NOW

Save $1.00 a week for 20 years and let the earnings on your investment pay for $1,000 life insurance.

At the end of twenty years you can get back more than you have saved. For age 29 or younger at entry this will amount to $1,500 cash.

Example: If age 25 at entry you save in 20 years $1,044.00 you can get back 1,504.83 your cash gain 460.83 and you have had life insurance protection for 20 years.

Insurance dividends applied to purchase paid-up additional insurance.

If you do not live, your estate will receive the $1,000 insurance, PLUS the net amount then in your savings account, PLUS the paid-up insurance purchased with dividends.

Example: (age 25 at entry) If you die just at the end of the 20th year the total payable will be $2,607.77

If you live you can withdraw $1,048.89 cash and have $1,000 of fully paid-up life insurance (for age 25 at entry).

K. OF C.

With Railroad Night, held Tuesday at Elks Hall, Centre street, Newton Council, K. of C. checked off another capacity-house night at their bi-monthly meetings. From the time Railroad Night was instituted six years ago, Tuesday night's program was the most attractive, varied and representative of the best talent ever appearing before the Knights and their railroad guests. "Up and down the line," on the Boston and Albany, Boston & Maine, New York, New Haven and Hartford, head officials to newsmen, engineers to trainmen, from Worcester, Framingham, Boston, Lowell, Milford, Waltham, Quincy came railroad men because of the "rep" of Newton Council's Railroad Night.

General Supt. J. L. Truden of the Boston & Albany, Hon. Thomas C. O'Brien, former railroad man and District Attorney, W. S. Trowbridge, Auditor of the Boston and Maine were the guest speakers. Each stressed the value of developing the get-together spirit through such organizations as the Knights and in turn paid high tribute to the character and ability of railroad men in general.

Grand Knight Charles E. Coyne welcomed the 400 attending, among the railroad men being members of the Masonic fraternity, Odd Fellows, Bnai B'rith, Sons of Italy and Knights of Columbus. He then introduced Lecturer Edwin C. Heiselein who conducted the program.

The Pullman Porter's band opened with selections followed by Frank O'Connor of Worcester in vocal selections. Frank Boldin was a whole night's show unto himself with his pianologue, whistling and dancing specialties, baton swinging, acrobatic dances, dramatic readings. Bill and Katherine Walsh appeared in a tap dancing specialty accompanied on the piano by David Walsh. Lecturers Grasseau of Worcester entertained with accordion and violin selections. Fred Cook entertained with his imitable impersonations. Frank J. Fitzpatrick sang. The Boston Singing Minstrels staged their one act minstrel show. Shadow Bowdin and partner closed the program with a side splitting comedy boxing bout.

Following the entertainment a buffet lunch was served. And when 400 men left Elks Hall at 11:30 o'clock they departed in keeping with Father's and Son's Night, Clergyman's Night, Football Night, Mayor's Night, Mother's and Daughter's Night—Railroad Night made history—another success in attendance, enthusiasm, joyous response.

"Resolved: That it would be for the best interests of the people of Massachusetts to repeal the state prohibition law" will be the subject for debate at the meeting of Newton Council, K. of C. Tuesday night, Feb. 13 at Elks Hall. It is the first move of Newton Council toward the organizing of debating teams to compete with other Council teams throughout the state as a member of the State Council league, competing for the state silver trophy.

Neil McDonald, a graduate of Boston College and Joseph Callahan will uphold the negative while Chancellor Atty. James Akins, also a graduate of B. C. and James Flynn will debate the affirmative. Following the debate there will be general discussion to bring out the debating material. Lecturer Heiselein is also arranging a program of entertainment.

The judges will be District Deputy Francis DeCelles, Chairman of the state Council debating league, Frank Freizer and Dr. Stephen Carriere.

Because of the timeliness of the subject, the keen interest of the entire state in it, one of the largest attendances is expected.

The major degree of Newton Council, K. of C. was held at Waltham Monday night with District Deputy Thomas Quirk of Milford presiding. One of the largest membership classes of Newton Council were admitted with 24 new members participating. District Deputies Hon. Philip Gallagher, Mayor of Woburn and Charles E. Coyne, also Grand Knight of Newton Council assisted.

Another class of 15 candidates has been organized and plans are being made for the conferring of degrees on these candidates before Lent.

Thomas Waters, Chairman, William Meehan, Neil McDonald, Walter J. Connors, Deputy Grand Knight, Thomas Foley and Atty. James P. Gallagher were the committee in charge. Joining with John J. Williams Council of Roslindale, Newton Council, K. of C. will participate in the week-end winter carnival at Shattuck Inn, Jaffrey, N. H., Feb. 15 and 16. Members of Newton Council, their relatives or friends wishing to make reservations should communicate with Grand Knight Coyne or Lecturer Edwin C. Heiselein on or before Wednesday night.

Plans call for leaving Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock via Boston and Maine busses for Jaffrey. Following booking-in, supper will be served and a dance will be held Saturday night. The carnival attendants will attend mass in Jaffrey Sunday morning at 8 o'clock. Then will come a program of winter sports, snowshoeing, tobogganing, skating, skiing. Dinner and supper will be served at Shattuck Inn. The entire trip will cost $12 per person.

The willingness of John J. Williams Council of Roslindale in having Newton Council combine with them is commendable. The two day week-end will be a most enjoyable one and will be an excellent outing for Knights, their relatives and friends who enjoy winter sports.

Rev. Michael Ahearn, S.J., Weston College, director of the Catholic Truth Hour over radio station WNAC each Sunday afternoon, one of the foremost scientists in the Jesuit order, an orator of national fame and whose ability as organizer of one of the most popular features on the air, will be the speaker at the communion service to be held by Newton Council, K. of C. on Sunday, May 11. Newton Council is particularly fortunate in securing the acceptance of Fr. Ahearn because of the tremendous demands being made upon his time by organizations throughout the East.

Chancellor James P. Akins heads the committee in charge.

Newton Council have an opportunity to participate in the annual charity ball of Boston Chapter, K. of C. at the Copley Plaza, Thursday night, Feb. 27. The entire proceeds go toward providing outings for the Italian home, the German home, St. Vincent's Orphanage, Home for Destitute Catholic Children, St. Joseph's Industrial Home and the Little Flower (Polish) Home. Many of these outings have been held at Norumbega Park, Auburndale in the past years. Tickets may be secured from John J. Hickey, P.G.K., William Higgins, and Grand Knight Charles E. Coyne.

At the meeting of the Supreme Board of Directors of the K. of C. held at St. Louis permission was granted Newton Council to christen their semi-monthly publication, "The Compass." The current issue of Newton Council's newspaper is the first to appear under the new name.

The current issue of "The Compass" pays high tribute to the Newton Graphic for their many courtesies in giving publicity to the activities of Newton Council, K. of C.

LASELL SEMINARY

The faculty of Lasell will be entertained at tea this afternoon, by Mrs. G. M. Winslow.

Lasell is joining the Brotherhood of the Congregational Church in presenting Dean Charles R. Brown of Yale University who will lecture on "The Greatest Man of the Nineteenth Century" this evening. The lecture will be in the Auburndale Congregational Church.

The second Tea Dance of the year will be held at Braxton Hall on Saturday afternoon, February 8. The dance is given under the auspices of the Student Council.

The students will be addressed at the Sunday vesper service by Dr. John Marshall of Boston University. Dr. Marshall will illustrate his talk by selections on the piano and pipe organ.

POLICE NEWS

The home of David Cummings at 557 Washington street, Newtonville was entered by burglars Saturday and jewelry stolen. The loot included a gold watch, rings and a pearl handled knife. Entrance was effected by forcing a rear door.

John Farina of Adams street, Newton, captured several weeks ago by Patrolman Murphy after he had been passed about a mile by Murphy and Special Officer Feeley from Dolphin road to near the Country Day School on Nonantum Hill was in the Newton court last Friday charged with attempted breaking and entering and with assault to kill. Feeley detected Farina snooping about the residence of Charles Kiley on Dolphin road and when he went to accost Farina, the latter ran away. Feeley testified that Farina and himself engaged in a pistol duel but when the prisoner was caught he had no gun in his possession. Murphy testified that Farina stated, after being caught, that he had thrown the pistol away during the chase. No pistol was found in the territory over which the pursuit took place. Attorney Thomas O'Brien, who defended Farina, had the breaking and entering charge dismissed by Judge Brown and the charge of assault with intent to murder was changed to assault with a dangerous weapon. Farina was bound over to the Grand Jury in $10,000 bonds.

MIDDLESEX COURT, M. C. O. F.

Middlesex Court, M. C. O. F., will observe its 44th anniversary on Tuesday evening, February 11, by holding a banquet at Elks Hall, 429 Centre street, Newton. Invited guests will include members of the High Standing Committee of the Foresters and clergy from the parish of Our Lady at Newton. The banquet is scheduled to start at 6.30. It will be followed by a short entertainment and dancing.

The committee in charge includes Vice Chief Ranger James McDonald, chairman; Katherine Higgins, secretary; Eleanor Mulcahy, Mary Mulligan, Thomas Bryson, Thomas Fitzgerald, Maise Shea, Marion Goode, Mary Buckley, Philip Murphy, Elizabeth Dunne, Charles Fagan, Thomas Hickey, Gladys Quinan and Ruth Vahey.

NATHAN FULLER CHAPTER, D. R.

The following members of the Nathan Fuller Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution of Newton, gave an afternoon's entertainment on Tuesday, February fourth, at the John A. Andrew Government Home for Aged G. A. R. couples in Newtonville.

The program was in charge of the Regent, Mrs. G. Raymond Lehrer, who introduced the various numbers. Duets by Mrs. John Merrill, soprano; and Miss Beatrice Eastman, contralto; accompanied by Mrs. Philip Horne. Readings by Mrs. Walter Steinhauer. Contralto solos by Miss Beatrice Eastman, accompanied by Mrs. John Merrill; piano solos by Mrs. Philip Horne; soprano solos by Mrs. John Merrill, accompanied by Mrs. Philip Horne. Piano solos by Miss Elizabeth Jack.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

During the week ending February 1, 1930 there were 174 patients in the hospital. This is the largest number to be in the hospital at any one time since the influenza epidemic in 1918. Of this number 68 paid less than cost of care, and 68 more than cost of care. Thirty-eight, including babies, were treated free of charge. Fifteen babies were born during the week, 7 boys, and 8 girls. Eight patients visited the out-patient department, eye clinic 9. Five patients were transported by the special service car, and 5 visits were made by the social worker.

During the month of January 483 patients were admitted to the hospital, 337 to the regular wards, and 146 as outpatients and for x-ray. 286 patients were discharged. The daily average of patients for the month was 139.94. The largest number for any one twenty-four hours was 174, and the smallest 120. Only 2 patients were admitted to the contagious department. Forty-seven babies were born, 24 boys, and 23 girls. 137 operations were performed, and 51 accident cases admitted to the accident ward. 276 entries were made to the x-ray department.

On Monday evening, February 3, at the regular bi-weekly meeting of the Know More Kokki, Dr. E. D. Leonard, and Dr. G. Elliott May discussed the papers presented.

On Monday afternoon, February 3, at 4:15, the School of Nursing Committee met at the hospital for their regular monthly meeting.

On Wednesday afternoon, February 5, the Newton Nurses' Alumnae held their regular meeting at the Hospital. The speaker was Miss Sally Johnson, R.N., Principal of the School of Nursing, and Superintendent of Nurses at the Mass. General Hospital. Her subject was "Organization." The meeting was very well attended.

Eighteen accident cases were admitted during the past week. Of these only two were automobile accidents, both of these patients being boys: one with a fractured skull, and the other with concussion. Seven boys were admitted for other accidents. Three of these were the results of coasting accidents: one with lacerations of his face and nose, one with a lacerated scalp, and one with a laceration over his right eye. One boy was admitted suffering from a sprained elbow received while playing, one for a fractured arm received while skating, one for a sprained hand caused when a heavy log fell on it, and one for a fractured wrist caused when he fell down some cellar steps. Four women were admitted, all of them suffering from injuries received as the result of falls: one with a fractured wrist, one with a fractured leg, one with a fractured arm, and one with a fractured upper leg. Four men were admitted suffering from various injuries: one with a foreign body under his finger-nail, one with a lacerated chin caused when he fell on the ice, one with a lacerated hand caused by a piece of glass, and one with a fractured thumb caused by its being crushed.

The Mather Class

"The Collapse of Supernaturalism" was the subject of a lecture by Doctor Charles N. Arbuckle before the Mather Class at its regular weekly meeting last Sunday morning in the Newton Centre Woman's Club House. This was the fifth in the series on "Biblical Scholarship."

Dr. Arbuckle said that this was really a constructive subject, not destructive, as might be inferred from the word "collapse." By supernatural we refer to the pre-scientific view of the natural world, before the arrival of our present large body of orderly knowledge, known as science.

The first form of religion was animism. Everything and everybody were under the dominion of spirits. Every tree, mountain, and stone possessed its anima or spirit, and that spirit lived there all the time. You had to keep on friendly terms with all these spirits or the consequences would be unfortunate. The idea of one God did not exist at first.

Even to-day some trace of animism remains. When you see a great tree, gorgeous and grand and all alone in a pasture, you square to all the worlds of Heaven, it certainly looks like a good place for a spirit to inhabit.

Dr. Arbuckle referred to Genesis, chapter 28, where Jacob set up a pillar at Bethel, and said, "This stone, which I have set for a pillar, shall be God's house." This is verse 22. It shows a form of animism. The Bible is a cross section of the spiritual aspiration of the human race. Every religious idea that man has had can be found in the Bible.

The idea in early times was that all things were under the control of God. He could do as He liked. When He did not like the people, the Flood wiped out the inhabitants. When the city of Sodom offended Him, He destroyed it. He liked Elijah, and therefore the ravens looked out for the prophet when he had no food in a desolate land. Everything was under superior control. It was important to keep on God's side and propitiate Him. If He were good-natured and you did things to please Him, He might do things to please you. This was merely a case of appeasing a superior and capricious Power.

From that we come to our own day of law and order and cause and effect, where nothing happens by accident and everything has a cause. No favors are shown. Beans grow as well for the just man as for the unjust one. The earthquake shakes down the house of the good man as quickly as it demolishes the bad man's house. It is better to have the administration of the universe impartial and dependable. You are reasonably sure of your harvest if you sow and cultivate properly, and you do not have to intercede with God in addition.

Due to our imperfect knowledge, there are wide margins of ignorance, when we think that God intervenes, simply because we do not understand how things happen. A miracle is something which cannot be explained by known causes and is therefore often referred to as a special intervention of God or as a special Providence.

The stock illustration is the case of the person who buys a ticket for a railroad journey and then misses the train. The person is disappointed and perhaps angry, until he learns that the train was wrecked and many people killed. Then he calls it a special Providence that saved him. He overlooks the tragedy to those on board. There was no special Providence for them. One drowning man may get help when he most needs it, and another may get no help. The coincidence when things happen fortunately at the opportune moment is apt to be called a miracle.

One conclusion is that God and nature are opposed. If you can understand a thing, God had nothing to do with it. If you cannot understand it, then God did it. The more you learn, the more you eliminate God, so theoretically you can imagine the time when you would know practically everything and have God completely exiled from His own world. This reduces the whole thing to absurdity.

The other conclusion, which is Dr. Arbuckle's, is that God is in everything, whether or not we can understand it. There is intelligence back of the universe and man cannot create it. He can merely discover the intelligence already there. A bird has no intelligence of its own. It is a reflection of God's intelligence. The intelligence of the bird is the intelligence of its Creator. Natural law is a transcript of God's intelligence. As we move through life, we find mystery everywhere, and as we do so, we come up to the threshold of religion. That is where science leaves us.

God does not interfere with our free will. He does not intervene, because He is always here and working out His purposes either with or without our cooperation. Man does not break God's law. The law breaks him when he violates it. God's law in the universe cannot be proved any more than the atomic theory. A student was once advised to act as though the atomic theory were true or he would blow up the laboratory. It was good advice. The first thing you do when you study geometry is to work with axioms, which are definitions of assumptions. They are taken for granted and they work well.

Both science and religion grew up out of magic and superstition, so there is no slightest justification for their being so unduly censorious of the other.

One great fact is God's friendliness. That cannot be changed.

Dr. Arbuckle made special mention of the Flood, which is founded on fact, as there are plenty of marks of its existence. Its great lesson is the survival of the morally fit.

MORE POWER!

The Dynamic New ERSKINE

In the Dynamic New Erskine, seventy eager horsepower is unleashed to the limit by a new full-power muffler, pioneered by Studebaker. Rubber-cushioned in a long, low-slung chassis, a great Studebaker-built engine provides more power per pound than any other car under $1000.

It is a BIG—and beautiful—car! It is impressive in style as in spirit. It is replete with fine

HI-Y BOYS TO LEAD SERVICE

The Watertown Hi-Y Gospel Team, led by Mr. Martin A. Campbell, advisor of the Watertown High School Y. M. C. A. group, will carry out the evening service of worship at the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton, on Sunday, Feb. 9th.

The subject is "Following the Gleam of Progress in New Standards, Good Citizenship, Education, World Brotherhood, World Peace, and Religion" and will be developed by the following young men: Ralph Field, President of Hi-Y, Howard Michelson, Alfred Dixon, Edward Fleming, Richard Davis, and Allen W. Sherman. Daniel Draper will read the Scripture Lesson, William van Keuran will sing "Follow the Gleam" and Demeter Kollias will lead in prayer. Mr. Campbell, who is connected with the American Motor Equipment Co. of Boston, gives his major interest to Y. M. C. A. work among High School boys. He states that there are seventy thousand Hi-Y boys in the United States. Last year the Watertown Gospel Team served seven churches. This year their schedule calls for fourteen services, of which the Lincoln Park engagement is the third. The boys receive no reward for their work save the knowledge of having helped others.

At the morning hour, the Rev. John Shade Franklin, pastor of the church, will preach on the subject, "Christ and Color" or Christianity's Part with America's Tenth Man.

LINCOLN PARK CHURCH TO IMPROVE PROPERTY

Dr. George E. Merrill, secretary of the Department of Architecture of the Northern Baptist Home Mission Society, was the speaker at the Thursday evening service of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church last week. He showed pictures of modern churches and their equipment, especially in regard to the work of Religious Education. He paid a high compliment to the West Newton church for its excellent location and substantial church plant which he valued at $100,000 as it stands.

After a conference with Dr. Merrill the combined Prudential, Executive and Finance Committees of the church voted to engage the services of the Society in making preliminary studies and drawings with a view to the rehabilitation of the present church auditorium, the erection of a special building for Beginners and Primary students in the church school and the completing of the upstairs in the present parish house for the use of the Junior and Intermediate Departments.

Dr. Merrill is a graduate of M. I. T. and lived in Newton Centre for seven years. He was the contractor for the Hills Library of the Newton Theological Institution which building was dedicated in 1895. Later he spent ten years as architect at the U. S. Naval Academy in Annapolis. During the past ten years he has served fifteen hundred Baptist churches in building projects.

Existence Of God Is The Most Momentous Question Of The Day

Dr. Dieffenbach's Fifth Lecture on "What Is Happening to Religion"

"Can We Have Religion Without God?" was the subject last night of the fifth in a series of six public lectures which Dr. Albert C. Dieffenbach is giving in Newton Center on "What Is Happening to Religion?" Using for his text the findings of the First Parish Church in Hingham, which recently sent a questionnaire on their beliefs to the people of that church, the speaker developed the fact that the existence of God in the familiar Christian sense was the most momentous issue of the present day.

In Hingham, he said, according to the analysis of Rev. J. Harry Hooper, the minister, one half of those who replied believe in a personal God, with whom there is possibility of personal relations, such as worship and trust, whom men may love, to whom men may pray, who takes sides, who has preferences. That is, one half of them have other, lesser views of God, including disbelief in a personal God.

"Yet nearly all of these people answered that they believe in prayer," said Dr. Dieffenbach. "How can we account for this fervent expression of the highest evidence of religion, yet without belief in God?" The answer is already made for many persons by the recent article by Rev. John Haynes Holmes who says: "The essence of prayer is psychological and not theological. Prayer is an experience has nothing necessarily to do with any idea of God, or any belief in God. When I say 'God,' it is poetry and not theology."

"In prayer we have the touchstone to this whole problem of the existence and nature of God," continued the lecturer, "and as we answer that question we decide what our faith in Reality is. The present tendency in advanced religious thinking is unquestionably away from God as a person who consciously responds to prayer. Perhaps the best known spokesman for a great many believers of the new order is Prof. Henry N. Wieman, who calls himself a theist and yet comes to conclusions greatly in accordance with those of the ordinary Christian."

"He says: 'Prayer is not merely subjective. Prayer modifies the thought, feeling, and conduct of man and thus introduces a new and golden thread into the cosmic web of social process. Prayer actually changes the way of the working of the cosmos, the reality involved in all the rest of nature by reason of the weaving of the social process. Hence God responds to prayer and operates differently when men pray. You cannot bring rain by prayer, and you cannot delay the course of the sun. But you can change the course of human life and that means to change the ways of God in nature. Yet God is vastly more than man.'"

"Here, plainly, God does not consciously respond to prayer; on the contrary, the changes that occur are definitely wrought by man's action in praying. For Dr. Wieman, God is not a person in the usual sense but a process. Into this process man introduces his contribution and affects the whole course of the world."

"There are still great voices among modern preachers who believe that God does hear prayer and consciously responds, as a person to persons, and one of the most notable among them is Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick. Yet Dr. Fosdick has recently declared that nothing is so much needed today as a complete rebuilding of the whole God-system. Many of our common ideas about God are absurd and immoral, he says, because they belong to a pre-scientific age and express a dependence upon a Supreme Being for works that man ought to do himself, especially in the vast social order crying for redemption from its sins and its injustice. In fact he, like many of us, is so much impressed with the lazy reliance of men upon God, especially in the churches, that the deity is hardly more than a chore man."

"It is natural for those who believe like this to say, as they do say, that a belief in God is unnecessary either for one's inner religious satisfaction or for one's motive power in doing works of righteousness and mercy in the world. Such a man as Julian S. Huxley, and more recently, Walter Lippmann, convince great numbers of the most thoughtful and devout people that religion depends primarily not upon acceptance of a God whose being is uncertain in the best minds of our time, nor upon a universe which is in part so indifferent and cruel, but upon man himself, what he is and what he is able to do in his spiritual struggle upward through the ages.

"It is at this point," said Dr. Dieffenbach, "that the whole issue about God is now focussed. The people in Hingham are like the people all over the country, in their confusion and doubt; and they know they must believe something or spiritually they perish. Man without positive faith is dead."

"In my judgment increasing numbers of them are finding the origin of their religion not in a concept of Life called God, but in a feeling of reverence for a primitive man in his desire for self-preservation. As he grew up in intelligence and goodness, his life became increasingly sacred to him, and it is this sense of the sacred which is the source of his comfort and the mainspring of his conduct. Through the centuries, he found certain things and ideas to which this quality of sacredness seems necessary to adhere, and of this root belief of man he developed his religious ritual, his intellectual ideas, and his moral values."

"My conviction is that the word God will not be abandoned, but that it will be invested with new meanings that amount to nothing less than a complete reformation of religion, the greatest in the history of Christianity. Already we have a score of new ideas of Reality, or God, from men of our day like Whitehead, Wieman, Haydon, Otto, Eddington, and others. Surely no one needs to be an atheist among all the gods of the religious philosophers. But, as someone has remarked, 'How they differ from the God of the Christian past!'"

Dr. Dieffenbach's last lecture will be given next Tuesday night. The subject is "The Coming Religion: What Will It Be?"

LECTURE OF UNUSUAL INTEREST

On February 24, in the Eliot Church Chapel Mr. Dan McCowan of Banff, Field Naturalist, photographer and author, will give an illustrated lecture, the subject being "A Naturalist in the Canadian Rockies."

With a selection of 200 lantern slides in color chosen from his files of over ten thousand negatives, Mr. McCowan provides an entertainment that is unique both in the charm of its presentation and in the great fund of knowledge that is conveyed so simply to his hearers. His subject is dealt with in a popular way—appearing alike to the casual nature observer and to the scientist. The variety of material introduced, the bird and animal and plant life of this great mountain playground together with a selection of unusually beautiful scenic slides, leaves an impression of wonder and pleasure that is not soon forgotten by his listeners.

The nature lovers of this city are assured of a rare treat in hearing Dan McCowan, the Naturalist of the Canadian Rockies, and in seeing his marvelous pictures of this region so justly famed for its great scenic beauty.

1929 BOARD OF ALDERMEN HOLD DINNER

The 1929 Board of Aldermen assembled Tuesday evening at the Longwood Cricket Club, Chestnut Hill, where the members were photographed, enjoyed a dinner and an informal social hour. In addition to the members of the 1929 Board, Ex-Mayor Childs, City Solicitor Bartlett and City Clerk Grant were present as guests.

Remarks were made by Mayor Weeks, Ex-Mayor Childs, former Aldermen Earle and Holladay, President Collins and Vice President Gallagher of the Board, Alderman Bail and Alderman Gordon. All the speakers paid tribute to the memory of the late Walter E. C. Worth, former alderman from Ward 6.

An enjoyable sketch was presented by members of the Stone & Webster Dramatic Club. The committee in charge of the affair comprised Aldermen Charles B. Floyd, Richard Harte and Edward H. Powers.

Foresters Observe 44th Anniversary

Middlesex Court Has Banquet And Entertainment

Middlesex Court, M. C. O. F. of Newton observed its 44th anniversary on Tuesday night at Elks Hall by holding a banquet and entertainment. The court was organized in 1886 on February 12 and held its first meeting in Cole's Hall one week later. Of the 39 charter members 10 are living. These include John F. Mulligan of Adams street, the first Vice Chief Ranger; Street Commissioner Stuart, the first treasurer; Michael Hartford of Cambridge the first conductor; Dr. Francis M. O'Donnell who has been the physician of the Court during all the 44 years; James Diviny, Boy street, Newton; John P. Horgan, Church street, Newton; Michael McDermott, Clarendon street, Newtonville; Patrick O'Brien, Union street, Watertown; Thomas Waters, Court street, Newtonville; Patrick Waters, Clinton place, Newton Centre.

The court, thanks to the efforts of an active board of officers, assisted by enthusiastic members, has regained the position it held for many years as being the largest unit in the M. C. O. F. It had 1048 members on January 1st, 1930.

The entertainment on Tuesday night included excellent dancing and musical numbers. Among those contributing were Chief Boudroff, well known vaudeville star, whose tap and acrobatic dancing scored a hit.

The committee in charge of the anniversary observance included the following:—Vice Chief Ranger, Mr. James McDonald, Chairman; Senior Conductor, Miss Kathryn C. Hannan; Secretary, Chief Ranger, Miss Eleanor G. Mulcahy; Recording Secretary, Miss May M. Mulligan; Financial Secretary, Mr. Thomas F. Bryson; Treasurer, Mr. Thomas F. Fitzgerald; Junior Conductor, Miss Maizie Shea; Inside Sentinel, Miss Marion Goode; Outside Sentinel, Mr. Philip Murphy; Marshal, Miss Mary Buckley; Past Chief Ranger, Miss Elizabeth R. Dunne; Past Chief Ranger, Mr. Thomas F. Hickey; Miss Gladys Quinnan, Miss Ruth Vahey, Mr. Charles Fagan.

The guests at the affair included James Donovan of Springfield, High Chief Ranger; Joseph McCabe of Wollaston, Judge Sheshan, John H. Higgins, Past James Donovan of Boston, all of whom are members of the high standing committee, and Wm. McMahon of Atlantic, Deputy H. C. R. Addresses were given by all these gentlemen and by Rev. Walter Roche, chaplain of the Court. Following the speeches and entertainment dancing was enjoyed, music being furnished by Hanlon's Orchestra.

"SEVENTH HEAVEN"

The concluding number of the Reading Course, offered by the Woman's Association of the Newtonville Methodist Episcopal Church this season, was given last Friday evening by Mrs. Hortense Creede Rallsback, who presented a dramatic recital of Austin Mountray's play, "Seventh Heaven." Mrs. Rallsback, who lives at 174 Mt. Vernon street, Newtonville, is a former member of the faculty of the Leland Powers School, Boston, and is an artist in her work.

A combined sense of humor and pathos enabled the reader to portray in a beautiful manner the love of Chico and Diane, characters from that part of Paris known as "The Hole in the Sock," who moved to a seventh floor room, their "Seventh Heaven," when Chico was promoted from his job in the sewer to street washing.

These simple characters from the slums had their own philosophy of life. They believed that it's never too late to act if one is in earnest, that honest work in the sunshine is a good medicine and that courage comes through a determination to possess it. They summed up this philosophy in the belief that "These big thoughts are God."

In the interpretation of her characters, Mrs. Rallsback showed a keen understanding of human nature.

The other readers on the course have been Mr. Phidela Rice, Mrs. Elizabeth Pooler Rice, Mrs. Adele Hoes Lee, and Mr. C. Edmund Neil. Each number has been received with enthusiasm and the committee in charge is to be congratulated. The members of the committee are Mrs. Ernest P. Rallsback, Mrs. Herbert Blair, Mrs. Frank E. Morris and Mrs. W. T. Taylor.

HURT IN AUTO COLLISION

A car driven by Arthur Ashenden of 37 Fisher avenue, Newton Highlands, another car driven by Sam Deutsch of Framingham, and a bus operated by Fred Ray of Bourne street, Auburndale, figured in a triple collision at Walnut and Beacon streets, Newton Highlands, Sunday afternoon. Ashenden received severe lacerations of the head and face and was taken to the Newton Hospital.

WEST NEWTON W. C. T. U.

The next regular meeting of the West Newton W. C. T. U. will be held next Monday evening, Feb. 17 at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Ashenden, 319 Cabot street, Newtonville. The speaker will be Mrs. W. M. Leonard of the Sailors' Haven.

Newtonville Man Is Elected League Head

Long Interested in Animal Rescue League

Mr. William E. Brigham of 442 Walnut street, Newtonville, was elected chairman of the board and managing director of the Animal Rescue League of Boston this week. He succeeds Julian Codman of Boston who has held the position since the death about a year ago of Mrs. Huntington Smith, founder and president of the league. Mr. Codman retires because of the pressure of other duties.

Mr. Brigham, who is an editorial writer of the Boston Evening Transcript, was prominently identified with the Animal Rescue League of Washington, D. C., during part of his seventeen years service in the national capital as correspondent of the Transcript. He returned to Massachusetts in 1925 and took up his residence in Newtonville at that time. He was elected a director of the Boston league and became a close friend and confidant of Mrs. Smith during the last few years of her life.

He is thoroughly familiar with the wise policies initiated by Mrs. Smith during her thirty years of presidency of the league which began its worthy career in 1899 in one room on Carver street, Boston. It has grown tremendously, now occupying spacious quarters on the same street, and has nine branches, a house of rest for horses and a cemetery where the bodies of almost 1000 pets are buried. The league annually cares for more than 80,000 animals of which about 16,000 are dogs. It is maintained wholly, except for a small sum received for functioning as pound-keeper for the city of Boston, by contributions and bequests. Although Mr. Brigham's new duties will take a great deal of his attention he will continue his work with the Transcript.

NEWTON FAMILY ADOPTS FIVE ORPHANS

Five little orphans, children of the late Alfred and Beatrice Butler of Lincoln, New Hampshire, arrived in this city Monday night with their foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Waman Hassett and Mr. and Mrs. Allison Goodsell of 33 Washington street, Newton. Mrs. Hassett and Mrs. Goodsell are the daughters of Charles A. Clarke of 33 Washington street, Newton, at which address they reside. The parents of the Butler children lost their lives last December 11th while saving the little ones from a fire which destroyed their home at Lincoln. The Newton folks read of the tragedy in a Boston paper on December 22 and the following day both couples journeyed to Lincoln, saw the little orphans and determined to adopt them. Legal formalities having been concluded, Mr. and Mrs. Hassett and Mr. and Mrs. Goodsell journeyed to New Hampshire last Monday and returned with the five children.

Mr. and Mrs. Hassett, who have one little girl of their own, adopted Elmer Butler, 4, and Marion, aged 2. Mr. and Mrs. Goodsell adopted Louise, 8; Alfred, 6, and the baby who was named Arthur. Little Georgianna Hassett is delighted over her new brother and sister.

Carmen's Union Accepts Agreement For Calendar Year

Members of the Middlesex & Boston Carmen's Union met last Friday night and voted to accept an agreement with the company which will continue in force until January 1, 1933. The old agreement terminated on January 1 of this year and the new agreement will be retroactive to that date. The terms of the agreement include the following provisions:

All employees of the company who are members of the association and have been continuously in the employ of the company through all of the previous calendar year shall be granted one week's vacation with pay each year during the period of this agreement starting on January 1, 1930 to January 1, 1933.

Blue uniform men on vacation shall be rated at 62 hours per week at 65 cents per hour.

Men in the shops and in miscellaneous departments where the regular work is seven days per week shall be paid for vacation at the rate of 62 hour per week at their regular hourly rate.

Other men in these departments shall be paid for the number of hours which they work in six days at their regular hourly rate.

All men who do not work regularly seven days per week shall be classified as six day men for vacation.

Vacations shall be arranged at the discretion of the company at such times in the year as can in its judgment be best arranged without detriment to the service and shall be arranged in accord with seniority.

Employees who have not worked in the preceding calendar year at least 280 days or who have left the service of the company previous to their time for taking vacations shall not be entitled to vacation.

In computing the 280 days above mentioned the following absence shall not be counted:

Absence for jury service or attendance at court.

Absence from part of day's work if excused.

Absence on account of legislative service.

Absence of more than six days on account of sickness.

It is understood that the men not in the employ of the company on January 1, 1930, but who may be called back from time to time as seasonable men shall be entitled to vacation allowance.

The rate for blue uniform men shall be the same rate as if they were operating a bus; that is—men in the employ of the company three months shall receive 56 cents per hour; nine months 60 cents per hour and thereafter 65 cents per hour.

ALL NEWTON MUSIC SCHOOL CONCERT

The Annual Mid-year Concert of the All Newton Music School will be held at the Central Congregational Church, Walnut street, Newtonville, on Sunday evening the 16th of February at 7:30 o'clock. Friends of the school need only to present themselves to be warmly welcomed.

Each of the school's departments will be represented. There will, in the first half, be piano, violin and cello numbers by the Junior pupils, and Ensembles. The second half of the program will present the older pupils and the Senior Ensembles.

Teachers Tell Of "High School's Contribution To Its Youth"

At Monthly Meeting of Newton Central Council Conference of Welfare Problems

The Conference on Welfare Problems held its monthly meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 12, at the Newton High School where a luncheon was served to twenty-seven guests by pupils of the high school, under the direction of Miss Kendrick. Mrs. Marshall, Chairman of the Luncheon Conference, turned the meeting over to Mr. Palmer as presiding officer. The subject of the Conference was "Newton High School's Contribution To Its Youth."

Mr. Palmer, before introducing the speakers, stressed the fact that the simple teaching of the ordinary academic subjects is not by any means the only contribution which the Newton High School is making to its pupils. There are many activities outside of the classroom which are very definitely connected with the school and which are an important part in the development of the child. To begin with, he spoke of the financial and economic factors which determine how far a child can go in school. In this connection he asked Miss Riley, visiting teacher, to explain how this is a very definite part of the school's activity.

Miss Riley stressed the fact that the Newton High School is an absolute cross section of life and that the twenty-five hundred children who are its pupils, come from all walks of life, and are not, as is commonly supposed, children of the wealthy. She said that she could best illustrate this point by telling the stories of several girls who had come to her attention recently. This winter she called at the home of one girl who had been absent from school for two weeks to find the cause of her absence. She found that the family were living in a cellar, that the girl had a bad case of bronchitis, and that she had no warm clothes to wear when she did come to school.

Through one of the teachers the proper clothes were provided for her and the school is trying to see that her general home conditions are improved. She also told of a girl in her junior year in high school who was going to be forced to leave school because she had no parents nor anyone else to provide for her. Money was raised to pay her board, a job was found for her, outside of school hours, and she has been able to keep on because of this help. At this time the student aid fund was started. This fund, amounting to about three hundred dollars, was raised by the faculty of the high school, the women's clubs, and various individuals. It can be used to help a deserving student in many ways.

Mr. Palmer next introduced Miss Sturges, school psychologist. Miss Sturges said that every boy and girl coming to the high school really wishes to succeed, and her duty is to find out the content of the child's mind with all the past and present factors which contribute to his development. She gave examples of three boys and one girl who had failed to adjust themselves in school for different reasons. One boy had repeated three grades and was always giving the excuse of sickness for his failures. In examining him he proved to have great ability for numbers and by developing this gift and his sense of responsibility he is becoming adjusted. The next boy was found to have great mechanical ability and the third, who was failing in the scientific course, was persuaded to take business training, in which he has succeeded. Sometimes the problem is with the parents, as with the girl who was a behavior problem, and was found to have low mentality. The keynote of the situation was the mother, who was of low grade herself, and who refused to follow any advice from anyone. After a visit to the home and a long talk with the mother, Miss Sturges succeeded in making her understand that the school wished to help her daughter, and the girl is now very happy and doing well in a special class.

Mr. Wilson, Director of Health and Physical Education, spoke next of what the high school is doing from this angle. A complete health history of the child's life is kept through the grades, because of the educational program which Miss Bragg is carrying on in the Newton schools. The high school starts with a physical examination stressing posture from the social point of view as well as that of health, and not allowing any child to be more strenuous than his health will permit. The method of exercise is brought about through competitive sports rather than by the old method of gymnastics. This competition is not harmful in any sense of the word. Parents should remember before trying to have a child excused from gym that teachers will not allow him to do more than is good for him.

Miss Simone spoke of her work which is in co-operation with the Department of Health Education. When a pupil enters from some other city so that there is no physical record from the grades, a special examination in addition to the routine one is given, and this is also true of students needing special attention. In addition to this a record of every absence is kept with the reasons, and a record of the use of the rest-rooms. Sometimes these records are instrumental in discovering some real physical ailment in the child which can be corrected. Teachers often send their students for advice if they do not seem well or if they are failing in their studies; for it is often proved that poor health is cause of the failure. Every year Miss Simone has an individual conference with each girl during the course of the year which often brings out many important facts. There are lessons in hygiene for Freshmen, classes in home hygiene, care of the sick, and child care. The physical record card is shown to the children so that they may understand the situation and be able to help themselves. In addition there is a great deal of community co-operation from all the agencies of the city.

Mr. Mergendahl, head of the mathematics department, and of the Department of Educational Guidance, said that there had been 1,042 conferences in his department up to January of (Continued on Page 3)

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Edited by WARREN K. RHIMBLECOM

WINS BY ONE POINT FROM BROOKLINE

The Newton high school track team won the second half of its annual dual track meet with Brookline high last Saturday, 39 to 38, on the Brookline track. Combined with the first half score of 57½ to 19½ on the Newton track two weeks previously the final score stood Newton 96½, Brookline 57½. There were some good races at Brookline although the runners were somewhat handicapped by ice on the corners of the outdoor oval.

The closeness of the day's score in contrast to that at Newton gives a true picture of the advantage the home team has on its own track. Brookline picked up three points in the dash by Cohen's second place. Holmes and Green taking first and at Newton the orange and black swept the event. In the hurdles Green, Hall, and Fine each won their heats and, as no Brookline runner qualified, split the points. This same trio cornered the vent at Newton.

Larkin and Litman of Brookline tied for first in the 300-yard run with Albert Guzzi of Newton taking third. Mouser won the event for Newton on the Newton track in the previous meet.

The 600-yard run was one of the best races of the afternoon. Capt. Chas. Hall of Newton and Lindsay Brigham of Brookline setting the pace. On the final lap the starter delayed firing his gun and when it did go off Brigham thought the race was over. This cost him whatever chance he might have had for first place but he pulled into third behind his teammate, Gow. In the 1000-yard run the two Signore brothers of Newton had things all their own way. They went into the lead on the second lap and ran abreast until the finish when Vincent, who had won all his races this year, allowed his brother Augustine to win.

Brookline captured the first two places in the 400-yard dash. James Colligan, Newton's best weight man, did not compete. Kenswill of Brookline won the broad jump as he did two weeks previously and the rest of the points went to Newton. Offut and Whitney getting second and third. Green won the high jump again handily when all his opponents failed to clear five feet four inches. Brookline took the other places. Brookline also won the relay.

ANOTHER STEP TOWARD TITLE

The basketball team of Our Lady High school of Newton moved a step nearer the championship of the Greater Boston Catholic High School league by defeating St. Mary's high of Brookline Wednesday afternoon on the Newton floor, 72 to 15. It was the undefeated local team's sixth straight victory in league competition. The Newton players took the lead right from the start and scored almost at will. O'Neill at centre led the scoring with twenty points. Gramzow scored eighteen and Gallagher eleven. Every man on the Our Lady team scored at least two points. In addition to those mentioned above McLean and Cannon scored six, Moran five, Zitti four and Grella two. For St. Mary's, Sheehan was the highest scorer with nine points.

In the other league game played, Immaculate Conception of Revere won handsily from St. Clement's of Medford, 32 to 7.

Games scheduled for next Wednesday are as follows: Our Lady High and Cathedral High at South End; Immaculate Conception and St. Mary's High at Brookline; Mission Church High and St. Clement's High at Medford.

SOMERVILLE WINS IN LEAGUE GAME

Somerville high defeated Newton high for the second time this season in a Suburban league basketball game by a 34 to 17 score on the Newton floor Wednesday afternoon. Lundquist and Capt. Vitek started for the visitors scoring 15 and 12 points respectively. Bailey led for Newton with six points, followed by Captain McCarthy and Chipman with four each and Elrod with three points. The Newton seconds won from the Somerville seconds, 38 to 28.

SPORT NOTES

Newton Youths Score Often
 The Dartmouth hockey team scored an easy 11 to 1 win over the Amherst college six at Hanover Wednesday afternoon. The Newton youths on the Green team made the majority of the goals. Henry Johnson led with four goals. Harold Andres followed with three and Dick Fisher with two. Amherst's only score came in the second period when Wentworth, Dartmouth substitute player and an Amherst resident, accidentally deflected a shot by an Amherst player into his own net.

Loses In Golf Final
 Miss Elsie LaBonte of Newton Centre was defeated in the final round of the golf tournament for the women's championship of Bermuda on Monday by Mrs. Edward Stevens of New York. Mrs. Stevens won, 5 and 3, in a 36-hole match. Miss LaBonte was one up at the end of the morning round but in the afternoon Mrs. Stevens carded 42 going out and took the lead, five up. Miss LaBonte rallied again late in the day but could not overtake her opponent. In gaining the final round the Newton Centre golfer defeated Mrs. F. G. Barker of Cleveland, 1 up, by sinking a 10-foot putt for a birdie three on the home green.

Elect Exeter Captain
 The election of the Exeter Academy hockey captain for 1931 took place Monday. The honor was again tendered to Frank Spain of Newtonville who led the team this season. As Spain is a non-returning member of the upper middle class he declined and George K. Willis of East Haven, Conn., was chosen. Spain is also captain-elect of the baseball team for this coming spring.

Yale Yearlings Lose
 Despite the valiant efforts of Allie Fletcher former Newton star and now wing on the Yale freshman hockey team, the Blue yearlings could not stave off defeat at the hands of St. Paul's school of Concord on Wednesday afternoon. The game was played at Concord and after the Eli cubs had obtained a 2 to 0 lead at the beginning of the final period a fast finish by the home team made the game 3 to 2. Fletcher tallied one of the Yale freshman goals.

Stubbs Scores Winning Goal
 Harvard dedicated the new Dartmouth hockey rink in customary style last Saturday by defeating the Green sextet, 2 to 1. Dartmouth scored first when Jeremiah took a pass from Harold Andres, Newtonville youth, for the Green's only score. Dartmouth, playing inspired hockey, gave the Crimson a great fight. In the second period the Wood scored brilliant goal to tie up the game and a short while later Frank Stubbs, a teammate of Andres when the pair were at Newton high, took a pass from Putnam for another pretty goal which turned out to mean the game. Henry Johnson and Dick Fisher, Waban youths and Wentworth of Amherst, were spares on the Green team while Ben Crosby of West Newton substituted at a defence position for Harvard to make the sixth Newton lad in the game.

Led Exeter Scorers
 Frank Spain not only led the Exeter academy hockey team as captain but led his mates at scoring. In seven games the New Hampshire team totaled twenty-nine goals to their opponents' four. Of the Exeter tallies Spain's play contained that he is playing even better than in his high school days when he was named "all-scholastic" centre for several consecutive years.

Country Day Blanketed
 The Country Day school hockey team was blanketed Wednesday afternoon in a game with Jamaica Plain high at the Country Club rink in Winchester, 1 to 0.

OVERTIME PERIOD BEATS ARLINGTON

The second set of hockey games in the round-robin tourney of the Greater Boston Interscholastic League were played Wednesday afternoon at the Arena with Newton beating Arlington, 4 to 3, in an overtime session, and Melrose, without its star, Herbie Keough, shutting out Stoneham, 4 to 0. The final games of the series will be played next week Saturday afternoon at the Arena when Newton opposes Stoneham and Melrose battles Arlington. Melrose is the favorite to win as it has neither been beaten or scored upon in scholastic competition. Keough, who was suspended from the team for a week as the result of fighting at the Melrose-Harvard freshman game last week, will be back to help the Poole coached outfit to another title. Arlington must win to tie for the championship and in case they should do so and Newton win from Stoneham, as is expected, the outcome will be a triple tie between Newton, Melrose and Arlington. This is hardly probable as Melrose seems to carry too many guns for the Downes coached sextet.

In Newton's victory over Arlington Captain Fred Schipper and Bill Donnelly, who is also a star golfer and holder of the state junior golf title, were the outstanding players. Donnelly scored the first goal of the game and in the overtime period poked home Schipper's rebound for the winning counter. Schipper accounted for Newton's other two goals by following up fast to cage the rebound of his own and Billings' shots.

The first period was nearly over when Donnelly started the scoring with a rolling shot from the blue line that took a hop over the Arlington goalie's stick into the strings. In the second period Arlington tied it up after a minute or two of play but not for long as Schipper scored his first goal a minute later to put the orange and black in front again. Two minutes later it was all even again when Thomas of Arlington counted. Halfway through the session Billings' shot was saved by the goalie but Schipper was on hand to score. In the third period Banks of Arlington took the puck out of a scrimmage near the Newton net and beat Edgar Moore, sending the game into overtime. The minutes and a half after the extra period opened Schipper shot and goalie Patch saved. Donnelly was in close to tuck the puck home for the victory as Patch could not reach the disc in time to cover it.

The Newton High school hockey team failed to stop little Herbie Keough of Melrose high last week Friday night and consequently lost to the Eli ponderers in the first of the round robin games at the Arena for the championship of the Greater Boston Interscholastic league. Melrose drubbed the orange and black to the tune of 5 to 0 with Keough tallying twice unassisted. The scoring was confined to the first and second periods with two points coming in the opening session and the three others in the second.

Captain Fred Schipper and Walter Billings were the outstanding Newton players. Statistics of the game showed that Newton players took sixteen shots for the goal during the game while Kinney, Melrose goalie, had but seven stops. Melrose on the other hand had thirty-one shots with eighteen of them directly at the cage. Schipper and Billings made ten of the sixteen Newton shots.

St. John's Prep Beaten
 The Newton high team defeated the St. John's prep school sextet on the Bulbough's Pond rink Saturday afternoon, 4 to 2. Walter Billings was the outstanding player of the game, scoring two of the Newton goals. The others were made by Bill Donnelly, right wing and his substitute, Warren Colby. Bill Reilly, ex-Newton high three sport athlete, played right wing for St. John's Prep and counted one of his team's two goals.

Beat Victors Over Melrose
 The orange and black sextet showed greatly improved teamwork Tuesday afternoon in defeating the New Prep School team of Cambridge at Bulbough's Pond, 3 to 1. New Prep is one of the few teams holding a victory over Melrose High which is unbeaten in interscholastic competition. Captain Schippe scored two of the goals and teamed with Hildreth for the other.

After seven minutes of play in the first period Schipper and Hildreth had the rubber in front of the New Prep net. Schipper shot and the goalie saved but Hildreth came in fast to cage the rebound. Early in the second period Capt. Martin of the Cambridge team dashed through the entire Newton team to score unassisted and tie the count. Eleven minutes after the opening of the second session Schipper made a solo dash the length of the ice, broke through the defence, and beat the goalie to put Newton in front again. In the first minute of the third period he clinched the game by another long dash followed by a shot from the blue line.

SPORT NOTES

Adams Scores Twice
 Warren Adams of Newton, captain of the Princeton hockey team, led his mates to a 5 to 2 victory over the Williams sextet, captained by Franklin Hoyt of West Newton, last Saturday at Princeton. Adams scored two of the Tiger goals and figured in another while Hoyt caged on for the Purple.

Entered In N. E. 600
 Jimmie McCrudden of Newtonville has entered in the N. E. A. U. championship 600-yard run at the B. A. A. track meet Saturday night. The former Newton high captain and star 1000-yard runner may also run in the mile relay race with Bates and New Hampshire.

Spain Star In Exeter Win

The combination of Spain to Lane and vice versa was too much for Andover academy's hockey team last Saturday at the Arena rink and the Exeter Academy team blanked its ancient rival, 4 to 0. A curious coincidence of the game found Frank Spain, former Newton high luminary and captain of the New Hampshire prep school six, and Arthur Lane, former Arlington high star, the only two players figuring in the scoring. Lane tallied the first goal on an unassisted dash in the second period. Spain counted in the first period in similar fashion. A minute after the Newtonville youth counted again by pushing home the rebound of Lane's shot. Another minute later Lane returned the compliment by caging a rebound of Spain's attempt. Spain and Lane dominated the offensive play while the defensive highlight was furnished by Capt. Neill of Andover in the net. He made 36 stops as against 15 for the Exeter goalie. Several other local youths were in the line-ups. Bob Bennett and John Muther started at left defence and left wing, respectively, for Exeter while Joe Bryant of West Newton was at right wing for Andover, which has been coached this season by Austin Eaton, former Newton and Dartmouth star.

Harvard Beats University

The Harvard hockey team defeated the University Club Wednesday night in an overtime game, 4 to 3. Frank Stubbs, Jr., was not in the Harvard lineup being given a rest for the Dartmouth game tomorrow night. Guy Holbrook and Crosby got in as spares for the Crimson while Johnny Garrison started at centre ice. Clark Hodder and Ted Leannard were the ex-Newton high athletes who started for the graduates with the former at left wing and the latter in the net. Bill Blaney, Waban, was used as a spare.

SPORT NOTES

Newton League Bowling

In the Newton League Bowling matches on Wednesday night the Hunnewell Club took three out of four from the Newton Club on the Hunnewell alleys and Commercial won a similar number from the Waban Neighborhood Club at Brockton while Weston and University at University and Middlesex and Mangus at Arlington were splitting even. Carter's 137 on his first string brought the Newton Club's only point and Colby clinched the third string and total for Hunnewell with a 134. Haskell of Newton rolled 128, 120, 122 for 370 the high total of the match. Colby had 353. Waban took the first string from Commercial by one point to save a shutout.

Our Lady Five Wins Again

The basketball team of Our Lady High school pinned a 28 to 10 defeat on St. John's high Tuesday afternoon on the local floor. Gallagher was the high scorer with eighteen points, Gramzow and O'Neill added four points each and Grella two.

Sutcliffe Scores For Bridgton

Hebron Academy pinned a 5 to 1 defeat in hockey on the Bridgton Academy hockey team last Saturday. Hebron had previously clinched the state title and the game had no bearing on the result. (The sole Bridgton goal was made by Bill Sutcliffe, former Newton high athlete. Everett Scheinfain, also an Ex-Newton athlete, was at a defence position for Bridgton.)

Reilly Scores for St. John's

St. John's school hockey team ran up a count of six goals against the Tilton school team of Tilton, N. H. Wednesday afternoon and held them scoreless. Bill Reilly scored once for St. John's.

Y. M. C. A.

Dr. E. L. Pierce's talk on, "Health Hints from an Osteopath," proved to be one of the most interesting at the Fellowship Club this year. The speaker next week will be Mr. Munroe of The Edison Electric Illuminating Company who will speak on the work of the outside men who keep light and power lines going in all sorts of weather. He will illustrate his lecture with two reels of motion pictures.

The Round Table Club will meet on Monday evening, February 17th, at the Hotel Somerset in Boston. Each member of the Club will take some famous American as the subject of a seven minute talk.

At the Camp Committee meeting held Wednesday evening, February 12th, the chief item of interest was the new water equipment to be installed at Camp Frank A. Day. Mr. Clyde G. Hess, Camp Director, reported that there were 48 applications for the 1930 season already received and that it looked like a big season for Camp Frank A. Day.

Newton Church League

The Newton Church League ended its second round last night when Auburndale M. E. played St. John's M. E. and the Y. M. C. A. Junior team played Elliot Congregational.

The start of the third and last round was also begun with Needham Congregational meeting at Newton Methodist. The league has been divided into two groups with five teams each.

League Standing

Group 1.	W.	L.	P.C.
Y. M. C. A.	7	0	1.000
Watertown Baptist	4	4	.500
Elliot Congregational	3	4	.428

Newton Y. M. C. A. Juniors win 46-19
Newton Y. M. C. A. Junior Basketball team defeated Malden Y. M. C. A. Juniors, at Newton Saturday 46-19. The first half was close with both teams taking the lead at times but in the second half the Newton team outscored the Malden boys 3 to 1.

Earle, Captain and right forward for Newton scored 19 of Newton's points. Patterson was next with 15, and Benson scored 13. Kasper, Dunbrack, and Plenty, played great defensive games for Newton. Bruce and Madison were Malden's stars scoring all of Malden's points.

The Newton Y. M. C. A. Junior team enters the preliminaries of the Two-State Y. M. C. A. Junior Basketball Championships at Lynn Saturday, February 15th. Prospects of winning are very good.

Physical Department Notes

The Newton Y. M. C. A. wrestling team under the direction of coach Dr. Fred E. Simm had one of the most spectacular meets of the season when it met the Salem Y. M. C. A. Monday night at Salem and defeated it twenty-four to thirteen. Nine bouts were held with Newton winning six of them and losing but three. In the 118 lb. class J. Santillo of Newton defeated R. Hayes of Salem by a fall, 126 lb. class, J. Brosque, Salem, won by a fall from J. Santillo, Newton, 135 lb. class, L. Cassidy, Salem won by decision from W. Palmieri, Newton, 135 lb. class, K. Bazarian, Newton won by decision from S. Muzzi, of Salem, 147 lb. class, Captain Henry Vachon of Newton won by decision from W. Dansereau of Salem, 160 lb. class, J. Arseneault, Newton defeated F. Welch of Salem by a fall, 160 lb. class, L. Morrison, Newton won by a fall from F. Muzzi, Salem and L. Moynahan of Salem, won by a fall from A. Scott of Newton. Newton Y. M. C. A. is entering a team in the open meet which is being held by the Lynn Y. M. C. A. next Saturday evening.

The Senior Basketball team of the Newton Y. M. C. A. came through with a well earned victory last Saturday evening when it defeated Malden Y. M. C. A. 32 to 30 at Newton. "Don" Marschner with fifteen points to his credit, and Captain Joe Purcell with eleven more points accounted for most of the scoring of Newton. The scoring for Malden was quite evenly divided among its team with Frank leading with eight points, Newton has won six and lost four in its ten games.

The Gymnastic team of The Newton Y. M. C. A. competed in the Two-State Annual Gymnastic Meet held Saturday evening at Providence Y. M. C. A. Six associations were represented by teams in the meet—Cambridge, Lynn, Boston, Malden, Providence, and Newton. Although four men were allowed to compete on each piece of apparatus, Newton was forced by absence of several members of its team to compete with fewer men than allowed, making its team total of points lower than it might have been otherwise. Providence won the meet and Newton finished in fifth place. For Newton Eberhard Soelch performed on the horizontal bar, George DeGrasse on the flying rings, and Leo Frazier, Eberhard Soelch, and George DeGrasse on the parallel bars.

Next Saturday Newton "Y" meets the Union Boat Club team at the Boat Club in the Squash Racquet series.

NEWTON SPORTS

Squash Racquets

The Country Day school squash racquets team in Class C of the state association team series took four points from Newton Centre last week Saturday and stepped up a notch or two in the standing. Only four matches were played with Clarke and Breck winning in three games and Goodrich and Vose winning after four game matches. In another Class C match of local interest the B. A. A. Newton High School does in finding employment for its graduates. There were one hundred children in last year's class, all of them with the exception of one are now at work.

One girl has been in six positions since last May and has been placed by the school on each one. The children have very few business contacts, and their families can seldom help them. The high school does not wish its pupils to have to depend on employment agencies. The high school has a follow up system each year which continues for three years, and as old graduates come back for help when they are out of a job, the need of employment guidance is evident.

Gains Semifinals

Bill Rice of the Newton Centre Tennis Club gained the semifinal round in the State individual squash racquets championship tourney on Tuesday by defeating Thomas G. Thacher, Jr., of the Harvard club in his fourth round match at the Union Boat Club courts. Thacher forced Rice to five games before accepting defeat. The match was a close one with all matches going to four games and the other to five before the winner was decided.

this year. If the child fails in one subject he confers with his teacher, supervisor, if in three subjects with Mr. Mergendahl. He co-operates with Miss Sturgis and Miss Simone who are often able to solve a problem for him. He gave the instance of several boys who had been helped to adjust themselves because of these individual conferences and had been induced by him to go to college when they might otherwise have fallen by the way.

Mr. Maxim, head of the Placement Division, spoke of the work which the Newton High School does in finding employment for its graduates. There were one hundred children in last year's class, all of them with the exception of one are now at work. One girl has been in six positions since last May and has been placed by the school on each one. The children have very few business contacts, and their families can seldom help them. The high school does not wish its pupils to have to depend on employment agencies. The high school has a follow up system each year which continues for three years, and as old graduates come back for help when they are out of a job, the need of employment guidance is evident.

Mr. Wheeler, Superintendent of Schools summed up the meeting by saying that he hoped the members of the conference would stress the idea of the general public that the work of the high school does not end with the teaching of traditional subjects and that a great deal of time and money must be spent to carry on all these activities which have been discussed. They study the boy from every angle to help him to conform, to find the best course for him, and to find the reason for his failures. This is the reason why Newton's schools have such a fine reputation. We must make sure that the people of this city understand the situation.

THE MISSES ALLEN SCHOOL

The officers of the Student Government of the Misses Allen School appointed this month are President, Mary Ballard of West Newton; Vice-president, Eugenia Brownell of Taunton; Secretary, Janet King of Wellesley Hills; Treasurer, Sheila Dana of Brookline; and Post Graduate assistant, Louise Maynard of Newtonville. Virginia Hanson of Waban was elected president of the Friendly Relations and the assistants are Polly Ballard of Newtonville, Cary Mackay of Newton Highlands, Barbara Gates of Waban and Patricia Buckley of Newton.

KIWANIS CLUB

The regular weekly luncheon meeting of Kiwanis Club of Newton was held Tuesday noon at Newton Centre Woman's Club Building with President Clement Hernandez presiding and an attendance of 50. Fifteen visiting Kiwanians from Boston, Cambridge and Wellesley Clubs were entertained. The guest speaker was William H. Shumway of William H. Shumway, Inc., of Boston, Personnel and Vocational Counselors. Mr. Shumway delivered a very instructive and entertaining address on the problems connected with the rehabilitation of misfits in business. He described the process of making over personalities to fit the job engaged in and the frequent necessity of taking up an entirely different line of work in order to find success and satisfaction in life. Mr. Shumway is Chairman of the Committee on Vocational Guidance and Placement for New England District of Kiwanis International.

The guest speaker at next Tuesday's luncheon will be William H. O'Brien, Chairman, Telephone and Telegraph Division of Public Utilities Department of the State of Massachusetts.

AUBURNDALE POSTOFFICE TO MOVE

On March 1st the Auburndale post-office will move from the quarters it has occupied for many years at 307 Auburn street to a new location at 277 Auburn street. The Postoffice Department has taken a 10 years' lease of the new location from Jacob Marks the owner of the building. The change of location of the Auburndale office makes the fifth postoffice change within a few years in this city. Other villages where the postoffices have changed sites are Newton, Newtonville, West Newton and Newton Centre.

CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

"Brer Rabbit and his Pals" is the subject of the motion picture talk on Saturday, February 15, at 3:00 at the Children's Museum of Boston, by Miss Madalene B. Sawyer of the Museum Staff. A jolly and instructive talk. Don't miss it. Admission is free.

"Little Things and Big Things," by John C. Packard, head of the Science Department of the Brookline High School, is the subject of the free illustrated talk on Sunday, February 16, at 3:30.

For the week of February 17th, which is vacation week for the schools, a special patriotic motion picture program has been announced by Miss Mildred E. Manter, Director of the Museum, as follows:

Monday, February 17, at 3:00 "The Land of Opportunity." Tuesday, February 18, at 3:00 "The Heart of a Hero. Life of Nathan Hale, Part I." Wednesday, February 19, at 3:00, "The Heart of a Hero, Life of Nathan Hale, Part II." Thursday, February 20, at 3:00, "The Making of an American." Friday, February 21, at 3:00, "Cradles of American Liberty." Saturday, February 22, at 3:00 "The Making of Our Flag." Admission is free.

A splendid opportunity for children interested in drawing is offered by the Woodbury Training School in Applied Observation of Brookline in cooperation with the Children's Museum. A course of free lessons in observation and memory of nature recorded through drawing is to be given at the Museum on Saturday mornings at 10:30, beginning February 22, and continuing through the spring months.

A new loan collection just made available for schools, libraries and other organizations free of charge is called "Rocks of New England." The collection includes igneous, sedimentary and metamorphic rocks, with fine examples of each.

Recent Engagements

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKay of 146 Beaumont avenue of the engagement of their daughter, Catherine Mary to Mr. Kenneth Alden Bartlett, son of Mrs. William G. Bartlett of Dorchester. Miss McKay graduated from the Newton High School in 1925 and from the Massachusetts Agricultural College in 1929. She is at present doing technical work in the museum of comparative zoology at Harvard College. Mr. Bartlett since his graduation from the Agricultural College in 1928, has been studying at Harvard where he received the degree of M.S. in June of 1929. No date has been set for the wedding.

The engagement of Miss Hazel Elizabeth Crane to Clyde Edward of Church street, Newton, was recently announced at a tea given by Miss Doris Carroll in Medford. Miss Crane, who is the daughter of Mrs. Blanche Crane of 95 Audubon road, Boston, is an alumna of Boston University. Mr. Jones, who is a graduate of the Bliss Engineering College at Washington, D.C., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jones of Waltham, Vermont.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Cranston of Waban announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Priscilla Bach to Charles Gouverneur Hoffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Hoffman of Tuxedo Park, New York.

Miss Bach is a graduate of Smith College and has completed two years of graduate work at Bryn Mawr.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

A group of ladies with intense if mistaken zeal recently invaded Washington to present a petition. They were attired in costumes supposed to symbolize the patriotic fervor which motivated the wearers. The petition presented by these ladies contains several millions of names; which proves signatures can be obtained on almost any petition. This petition seeks to have a law enacted making "The Star Spangled Banner" the national anthem. For generations this melody has been accorded this honor, officially, if not legally. Anyhow, the ladies want to make "The Star Spangled Banner" compulsory. To prove (?) it is a good time to sing, a couple of coloratura sopranos were brought into action to give a demonstration as to how the air should be warbled. In the interest of the general public it would have been fairer to have had a couple of baritones or ordinary "mezzanine" sopranos attempt to try for altitude in "The Star Spangled Banner." The opponents of this most famous of American patriotic anthems claim the melody is unfitted for the inspired verses of Francis Scott Key because it was originally a Bacchanalian air. This contention can well be imagined. Ordinarily, no sober man would attempt to sing a song which soars to the heights of the melody used for "The Star Spangled Banner." If we are going to have a "made by law" national anthem, whether it be composed of the verses written by Francis Scott Key or some other patriot, let it be set to a melody which can be sung by persons whose vocal talents are ordinary, not extraordinary.

Those millionaire tobacco magnates who control perhaps the largest corporation in that business in the United States, and who are responsible for the kind of advertising which, according to their claims, has largely increased the sales of their products the past couple of years, may be "riding to a fall" if they persist in flooding the country with the kind of "free" they have been so busy disseminating. Effusive testimonials from persons of note, or supposed note; testimonials that are obviously unbecomingly; propaganda to induce (or seduce) the fair sex to become cigarette addicts; propaganda to accomplish such a result by attempting to discourage women and girls from eating candy; disgusting attacks on alleged unsanitary methods used in the making of competing products. The tobacco magnates using these methods of advertising are incurring the ill-favor of millions of persons in this country. They may realize too late, as did the liquor interests, that if they go too far in pushing their wares, if they allow avarice and arrogance to rule their actions, that restriction, if not prohibition of tobacco products may result.

Many residents of this city were in attendance Wednesday night at the annual dinner and meeting of the Middlesex Club in the Hotel Statler, Boston. Newtonians seated at the head table included Mayor Weeks, Leverett Saltonstall, Speaker of the House of Representatives; Robert T. Bushnell, District Attorney of Middlesex County; William F. Garcelon, a past president of the club. This city was lauded as the "Banner Republican city of Massachusetts" by Robert Lincoln O'Brien, president of the club. Mr. O'Brien, as toastmaster, was in fine form. He displayed true Celtic wit and fluency in introducing the different speakers.

One of the speakers was District Attorney Bushnell who has been mentioned frequently in the press as a probable opponent against Lieut. Governor Youngman for the Republican nomination to that office. Mr. Youngman was not invited to the Middlesex Club dinner and some Boston papers had stated that Mr. Bushnell's candidacy would probably be announced at the affair. At the start of his speech the District Attorney stated: "I do not come before you as a candidate for office in spite of the newspaper reports to the contrary." Later in his speech, however, Mr. Bushnell made references to some high official of the Commonwealth. References that were about as sweet as vinegar. The recipient of Mr. Bushnell's affections was referred to by him as a "political gate crasher who has crashed more gates than 'One Eye Connolly'; a political robot—mechanically shaking hands, kissing babies, dodging issues." He left little doubt as to whom the object of his attack is when he alluded to an incident in which the person referred to indulged in "Frantic waving of the State flag at a bewildered traffic cop trying to do his duty." Perhaps the very able young District Attorney is not going to be a candidate for a certain office, as has been predicted. But, it is a safe bet that he will not be found campaigning for a certain official who will be a candidate for a certain high office.

President Gaspar Bacon of the Massachusetts Senate made an able speech during which he asserted that prohibition is a vital issue and cannot be avoided in the coming campaign. He urged his listeners not to stress this issue to the exclusion of other vital issues and not to become divided because of difference of opinions on this issue when Republicans agree on the other important issues.

The principal speaker of the night was Congressman Charles A. Eaton of New Jersey who delivered an eloquent and brilliant address. Mr. Eaton stressed the matter of unemployment as the paramount question before the American people. He argued that the vital problem is to eliminate economic poverty and contended that if the Republican party is to succeed it must protect American workers against the low wages of foreign competition.

Recent Weddings

LYNCH—BARRY

Miss Margaret Elizabeth Barry, daughter of P. O. Superintendent and Mrs. John Barry of 29 Irving street, Newton Centre was married to Donald Francis Lynch of 71 Tuxedo street, Brookline on Wednesday morning, February twelfth at nine o'clock at the Church of the Sacred Heart, Newton Centre. Rev. Robert P. Barry, an uncle of the bride, and assistant director of the Catholic Charitable Bureau of Boston, performed the ceremony.

Miss Catherine T. Barry, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor and James J. Lynch, Jr., Brown '33, a brother of the groom, was the best man. The ushers were Henry William Lynch, brother of the groom and Charles Carroll Barry, brother of the bride.

The bride wore a gown of white satin and duchess lace. Her veil was of tulle with a cap of duchess lace caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and valley lilies. The maid of honor wore green and orange flowered taffeta with a large beige hat and green shoes. She carried Talisman roses.

The wedding music was played by Francis J. Cronin, organist. Mr. Albert R. Casey and Miss Eleanor Francis of Beachmont were the soloists.

A reception was held at Longwood Towers, Brookline, from ten until noon. The couple were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. John Barry and Mr. and Mrs. James J. Lynch.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynch sailed Thursday from New York on the "Arcadian" for Bermuda. After April 15 they will be at home at 24 Derby street, West Newton.

The groom is a member of the B. A. A. He is associated with a Boston insurance company.

BAKER—O'NEILL

Miss Gwendolen Woods O'Neill, daughter of Mrs. Gwendolen A. O'Neill of 77 Davis avenue, West Newton, was married to Roswell Hayes Baker, of 222 Gray street, Arlington, on Thursday, February sixth, at three-thirty in the afternoon at the Second Church, West Newton. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Lawrence O'Neill. Rev. Dr. Merrill performed the ceremony.

Miss Isabelle Gibson of Salem, Mass., a classmate of the bride, was the maid of honor, and Richard Baker, a brother of the groom, of Arlington, was the best man.

The bride wore a gown of beige lace and chiffon and carried Talisman roses. Her attendant wore green crepe and carried pink roses.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's mother at which the couple were assisted in receiving by members of their families.

After a wedding trip to New York, Mr. and Mrs. Baker will reside at 64 Warwick road, West Newton where they will be at home after March 15.

The bride is a graduate of the N. E. Conservatory of Music and of the Newton Hospital. The groom is a graduate of Tufts College and M. I. T.

GOOD NEWS FOR BATHERS

Many residents of this city and especially the boys and girls are looking forward to the coming summer with added interest. The reason is because architects have been authorized to prepare plans for a modern bathhouse at Crystal Lake, Newton Highlands with prospects of the structure being ready for use this year. For many years agitation for this project has been before the city fathers and the increasing use of the lake by bathers has at last brought the matter to a head. In recent years conditions have not been altogether satisfactory at the lake because of the lack of bathhouse facilities. On hot summer days the number of bathers has gone well into four figures with many coming from other cities and nearby towns. When the new bathhouse is completed there will probably be an even greater number of resident and non-resident bathers and, no doubt, the latter will and should expect to pay a slightly higher fee for the use of these facilities.

A LAW THAT SHOULD BE ENFORCED

One of the existing automobile laws that could well be enforced more strictly than at present is that relating to legibility of number plates. There are many cars on the road today with number plates so bespattered with mud that the plate itself is hardly visible to say nothing of the number on it. In the majority of these cases the drivers belong to the class termed "reckless." A little effort on the part of police in stopping the offending automobilist and warning him of his offence would help to reduce the number of drivers of this type.

"FLOATING LIBRARIES"

The appeal of the American Merchant Marine Library Association for books is worthy of the attention of everyone. Literature of all kinds is eagerly read by those whom the association serves. When a "floating library" is placed on a ship it may travel around the world before returning to its home port, as they can be exchanged for other books at any of the twelve dispatch offices maintained by the organization. If you have any books or magazines for which you no longer have any use take them to the nearest library or notify the local chairman of the A. M. M. L. A. They will help to pass away the monotonous days of more than one seaman who has nothing but his own thoughts to occupy his leisure hours.

SARAH HULL CHAPTER, D. R.

The annual meeting of the Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., was held Wednesday, Feb. 12th, at the home of Mrs. Franklin E. Smith, 56 Fairmont avenue, Newton. The meeting was called to order at 10:30 o'clock by the Regent, Mrs. Daniel M. Goodridge, and was opened with the pledge to the flag. Reports of the January meetings were read and approved and these were followed by the annual reports which showed that the chapter had been active during the past year in both social and patriotic work. The treasurer's report showed a very substantial balance in the treasury and more than four hundred dollars given during the year for aid at the John A. Andrew Home, Newtonville, the Pine Mountain School in Kentucky, the Veterans' Hospitals, at Bedford, Rutland, West Roxbury, and Chelsea, also prizes for patriotic essays in the Newton Schools. Chapter members will be busy in May as The National Society, Daughters of the Revolution, will be entertained by the Massachusetts

ANTI-BUMMING RIDE CAMPAIGN FACTS

Drivers:

By giving lifts you are aiding bummers to expect rides as a right. You are encouraging laziness and you are causing an increase in the causes for accidents on the roads. A bumper cannot often see, in fast moving traffic, cars coming in the opposite direction. Only sudden swerving and reduced speed have saved many a bumper from injury.

With increasing traffic, driving should not be made more dangerous by thoughtlessness.

Persistent refusal to give lifts will discourage bumming and add to the safety of all.

THANK YOU!

Anti-Bumming Campaign.

POLICE NEWS

The business of "passing the buck," was exemplified in the Newton court last Saturday when Abraham Segal of Floyd street, Dorchester, and Isaac Kaufman of Hilltop street, Newton, each claimed that the other was responsible for the hiring of six men whose wages had not been paid. Segal is president of the Prime Construction Company and Kaufman was superintendent for that corporation. The State Department of labor was prosecuting in behalf of the workmen who had not received their wages. Segal claimed that Kaufman engaged the men and the latter claimed that he was only an employee and not a member of the company. Segal stated that while Kaufman was not listed as a member of the corporation, the latter's daughter was listed as treasurer and owned shares. The daughter testified that she had been hired as bookkeeper of the corporation and although made treasurer had invested no money in the company. The case was continued by Judge Bacon until Monday when both Kaufman and Segal were found guilty and sentenced each to 60 days in jail. The pair announced that they would appeal. Wednesday they informed the court of a change of heart and agreed to pay $100 of the $500 owed to their employees; the balance they agreed to pay as soon as possible. Judge Bacon suspended the sentences contingent upon payment of the wages due.

Leon Houston of 97 Court street, Newtonville, was fined $10 in the Newton court on Saturday for speeding. Patrolman Walter Jenkins was the complainant.

Julius Cotton of 220 California street, Nonantum, failed to appear in the Newton court Wednesday to answer charges of having violated liquor laws. A default warrant was issued for his arrest. He was arrested on February 1st after his home had been raided. Cotton was arrested yesterday, much to his surprise, as he understood his trial had been continued to March 1. In court yesterday the trial was again continued to February 20. John DiCarlo of Beecher place, Newton Centre, was in court Wednesday morning charged with taking an automobile without authority. His case was continued.

Early Wednesday morning Daniel Valente, driver of a Watertown taxi, was arrested by Boston police, occupants of an automobile, and asked to carry a young woman who was with them to an address which Valente thought was on Boylston street, Newton Highlands. The men told him that the girl is a professional entertainer and had performed Tuesday night at a stag-party in Lexington. As the taxi reached Erie avenue and Hartford street, Newton Highlands, it was observed by Patrolman J. J. Green who noticed that the young woman passenger in it was unconscious. He summoned the police ambulance and the girl removed to the Newton Hospital. Serg. Bannan questioned Valente and got in touch with the Watertown police. At the hospital the girl was found to be suffering from alcoholism. She recovered some hours later and was allowed to depart. Serg. Bannan and Serg. Donnelly of the Watertown police interviewed the men who had engaged Valente's taxi, but no charges were placed against them.

Early yesterday morning a car skidded opposite 106 Walnut street, Newtonville, overturned and was badly damaged. The occupants of the car apparently escaped serious injuries because they were unharmed. Late yesterday morning Arthur Donnelly of 232 Deer street, West Newton, called to police headquarters and gave the information that the wrecked automobile was his property. He stated it had been stolen the previous night and, naturally, he does not know who the thieves are.

Two Newton junk dealers were vindicated before the Superior Court at Cambridge on Wednesday on the charge of buying stolen property. The two, Philip Shriberg of West street and Harry Yanco of Cook street were among a number of junk dealers in this and other cities nearby who bought some copper wire recently from some Waltham young men. The wire had been stolen several weeks ago from the Belmont Electric Light Company but Asst. District Attorney Bishop told the court that the evidence showed the Newton men did not know the wire had been stolen and had purchased it in good faith.

BUSINESS MEN MEET

The regular February meeting and dinner of the Newton Business Association was held on Thursday evening, February 13, at the Hunnewell Club.

Mr. Richard J. Davis, manager of five exchanges of the N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. including Newton North, was one of the speakers. Mr. John F. Scott, also of the telephone company, told of Bell inventing the telephone and his difficulties in finding anyone to back him to put it on the market for public use. Mr. Scott also told of the reasons for unsatisfactory telephone service. He said sometimes the persons using the telephone are to blame and at other times the telephone operators are at fault, despite the efforts of the company to prevent mistakes. A number of interesting reels illustrating various phases of telephone activities were shown.

A bouquet of flowers was presented to Past President Thomas Burns for Mrs. Burns. Mr. and Mrs. Burns are the parents of a baby daughter born recently.

Conrad of Park Street Church, Dr. Clifford of the First Presbyterian Church and Dr. Nathan Wood, President of Gordon College of Theology and Missions. Mr. N. W. Dennett of Auburndale, who was associated with Mr. Davidson in the work with the Gideons, offered prayer.

INDIAN OFFICIAL WAS HUSBAND OF AMERICAN WOMAN

News has been received here by Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Allen of the Perkins Institution for the Blind of the death of their son-in-law, Charles Huntingford Malan, O.B.E., which occurred at Trichinopoly, India, Jan. 13. He was forty-six years old.

Mr. Malan's wife, who survives him with a son, David H. Malan, eight years of age, was Miss Isabel Allen, who married him in Bombay, March 16, 1921.

Mr. Malan was in the Indian Civil Service and was postmaster general, Madras Presidency. He was educated at Winchester and Lincoln College, Oxford, where he took classical honors. He passed the Indian Service examination of 1907, and went out at the end of the following year to the Punjab. Showing aptitude for work among the tribesmen of Beluchistan, he was made a political assistant, and commanded a section of the Border Military Police from April, 1913, to July, 1915.

He was then recalled to the Punjab on special duty in the Secretariat connected with the purchase of food for war purposes. When the Punjab disturbances of the spring of 1919 broke out, he was made postal censor at Lahore, and his services were rewarded by his being made O.B.E. (Order of the British Empire). Nine years ago, he was selected to be postmaster general of the United Provinces, and later went to Madras in the same capacity, but returned to the United Provinces in 1924, going back to Madras two years ago.

NEWTON EMBLEM CLUB

One of the largest and most enthusiastic affairs that has ever been held by Newton Emblem Club No. 8 was a reception and dinner on Monday evening, Feb. 10, 1930. At this time the Supreme President of Emblem Clubs in the United States, Mrs. John H. Gordon, and her suite were fittingly honored.

At seven-thirty the many guests assembled in Elks' Hall for the reception to the Supreme officers. This was followed by a delightful dinner and singing by everyone. There were solos by Miss Harden and Mr. Walter Kern. The presiding officer, Mrs. Alice K. Burns, President of Newton Emblem Club, then introduced many distinguished persons who honored the occasion by their presence. His Honor, Mayor Sinclair Weeks spoke on the good work that was being done by such an organization as this.

Exalted Ruler William H. Noone of Newton Lodge, 1327 B. P. O. E., Mr. John H. Gordon, Past Exalted Ruler of the above lodge and husband of the Supreme President, and Mr. Frank Twitchell, District Deputy represented the Elks.

In behalf of the members of the Newton Lodge, Mrs. Alice K. Burns presented Mrs. Gordon with a coffee table to show in a small way the place she holds in our hearts.

Because she is never tired working for the interests of our club, Mrs. Alice K. Burns, president, was presented with a beautiful book end table by Mrs. Christine Bryson. Our Past President, Mrs. Fannie Asbell was given a bouquet of flowers by the Newton Club.

Many prominent guests from neighboring clubs were present including Mrs. Myles Sweeney, First Supreme President of Providence, Mr. N. W. Farrell of Providence, Mrs. William Thomas of Newport and other important members of this large organization.

It was a huge success and a splendid testimonial to the woman for whom it was given, Mrs. John H. Gordon, Supreme President.

Music Here and in Europe

The European regards music as a pleasure. The American looks upon it as a course in education. Go to a symphony in Europe and you'll see the house listening. Go to one here and you'll see half the house making notes and the other half waiting to explain something or other in the composition to its companion in the next seat.—George Jean Nathan.

MORTGAGE MONEY

In borrowing from an institution the borrower has much greater assurance of permanency of his loan than in borrowing from an individual or even from a trustee.

In borrowing from a local institution the added factor of friendly personal interest is present.

This Bank has funds to loan on mortgage of Newton real estate or on pledge of securities.

SCHOOL NOTES

LEVI F. WARREN JUNIOR HIGH

After the regular opening exercises conducted by Robert Cotton, Mr. Scarborough, gave some general announcements.

Miss Cobb gave a valuable talk on morals for our life in the future. She stressed good health, self control and good habits, giving interesting examples for each.

Current events were shown in Pathe news. This feature provided education and enjoyment in an unusual way.

Movies

On Thursday, February 6, "The Covered Wagon" was shown in the auditorium of our school. The picture was very interesting and was enjoyed by all. Instead of movies this week our annual play entitled "The Automatic Butler," will be presented. The play will also be given Friday evening at eight o'clock.

Thrift

On February 6, the Warren Junior High school had 99.9% in thrift having gone up 6% from January 30. All of the home rooms had 100% except 117. $126.91 was banked. There were 679 pupils present that day. 669 of them banked.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

During the week ending February 8 there were 190 patients in the hospital. Last week we reported 174 as the highest number since the influenza epidemic in 1918, but during the past week the admission has climbed steadily until the peak of 190 was reached on Saturday night. Of this number 75 paid as much as cost of care, or more, 66 paid less than cost of care, and 49, including babies were treated free of charge. Fourteen babies were born. 132 patients were treated in the out-patient department and 3 in the eye clinic. Eleven patients were admitted to the accident department. Three calls were made by the social worker, and 7 patients were transferred by the social service car.

On Monday evening, February 10th, at 8:30 p. m. the Newton Medical Club met at the Hospital. The speaker was Dr. DeWitt G. Wilcox, a member of the Newton Medical Club and the Newton Hospital Staff. His subject was "Some Adventures in Surgery."

On Tuesday, February 11th, the new Spring class was admitted to the School of Nursing. Two classes are admitted each year, one in September, and one in February.

On Wednesday, February 12th, the Executive Committee of the Staff met at the home of Dr. George L. West, in Newton Centre.

A most remarkable case was admitted to the Newton Hospital one morning last week. This unusual patient was a big toy dog suffering from a severed head, cause of the injury unrecorded. He was brought to the hospital for treatment by his little master, scarcely five years old, who had walked alone all the way from Waban to the hospital firm in the belief that if he could only find a doctor his beloved doggy could be made whole again. The hostess at the front played the role of surgeon, and with the aid of glue and string affected at least a temporary cure, and then notified the little boy's mother that he and the patient were ready to be discharged from the hospital.

Only two of the eleven accident cases admitted during the past week were automobile accidents. These patients were both men: one with slight concussion, and one with a lacerated scalp. Three men were admitted for other injuries: one with a sprained ankle received while wrestling, one with severed tendons in his hand caused when he fell downstairs cutting his hand on a broken pane of glass, and one whose eyes had been affected by gas from a furnace. Three women were also admitted: one suffering from a fractured right arm caused by a fall on the ice, one with an abrasion of her knee caused when she fell, and one with a puncture wound on the left hand caused by a can opener. Two boys were treated, one for extensive lacerations of his scalp caused when he was struck by an automobile while coasting, and one for a splinter of wood in his finger. One girl was treated for a fractured arm received while skiing.

TROUBLE OVER WEST NEWTON DRUGSTORES

George H. Everett, Jr., of Waltham, administrator of the estate of the late Charles F. Watters of West Newton has brought a bill in equity in the Middlesex Superior Court against George J. Watters of West Newton, brother of the deceased. The bill alleges that George Watters has wrongfully taken possession of two drug stores at West Newton alleged to have been owned by the late Charles Watters and that the brother has unlawfully interfered with the stores taken possession of the stocks and removed certain records.

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

The Assembly speaker at the Newtonville School of Religious Education last Tuesday evening was Rev. Charles Otto of the Newton Methodist Church. At the Waltham branch, the members of the class on Church School Worship were in charge, using as a theme a hymn interpretation. There are 80 registrations at Waltham, the largest number in any one of the branches of the Norumbega District School this year.

The Young People's Cabinet of the District, comprising officers of Y. P. community Councils within the District, will meet on Sunday, February 16, at 3:30 p. m., at the Watertown Baptist Church. Lawrence Littlefield of West Newton is president of the cabinet, and Ethel Sweet is secretary. There are eight Y. P. Councils organized in this District, with officers already elected: Needham, Waltham, Watertown, Newton Centre, Newton Corner, Newtonville, West Newton, and Abundant. The officers of these local groups are automatically members of the Cabinet. The meeting next Sunday will be opened with a devotional service, in charge of Scott Whitcomb, of Watertown, who is Vice President of the Cabinet.

Rev. Erwin L. Shaver of our District Board of Education is in Chicago attending the annual meetings of the International Council of Religious Education. His name appears for several addresses before various sectional meetings of the Council.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NEWS

Last Sunday the Junior Christian Endeavorers of Norumbega Union held a rally at the Waverley Congregational Church with 105 Juniors attending. The meeting was in charge of the Union Junior Superintendents, Rose DeLorey and Dorothy Colby, with the president, the Waverley Congregational Society, Mabel Barnes, presiding. Mrs. Charles Cotton of Newton, former State Junior Superintendent, gave a short talk on "World Friendship."

Last Tuesday evening nearly 100 Senior Christian Endeavorers of Norumbega Union attended the monthly meeting at the Waverley Congregational Church. Rev. John S. Franklin of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton, started the first in a series of lessons on "Progressive Endeavor." The Fellowship Cup was awarded to the Waverley Baptist Society, the Attending Shield given to the Lincoln Park Baptist Society. The Waverley Baptist Society also received the banner for the next largest delegation present.

Last Sunday Ralph Colby, vice-president of Norumbega Union, installed the officers at the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton. The new officers are: Newton, president; Helen Nickerson, vice-president; Corine Boyd, secretary; Clayton Foster, treasurer.

Next Sunday the officers of Norumbega Union will be in charge of the meeting at the Newton North Congregational Church. An interesting new program has been planned by the Union president, Edward Simpson.

INTERRACIAL SERVICE

Representatives of four nationalities gave interesting talks at the inter-racial service last Sunday evening sponsored by the Young Peoples' group of the First Baptist Church at Newton Centre. The Christian Endeavor Society of Weston attended.

Miss Djanfisse Frasher, a sophomore at Wellesley College, is preparing to be a doctor in her native country, Albania. She is a Mohammedan and told many interesting personal experiences.

Mr. Adolph Klapik, who attended schools in Russia for a time, was thrown into prison because of his desire to preach the Christian faith. Later he made his escape and went to Latvia where he attended the Baptist Seminary. At present he is studying for the ministry at the Newton Theological Seminary.

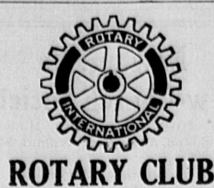

Mr. Henry T. Myers of Norfolk, Va., speaking for the negro race, gave the audience much to think about. His struggle for an education made an interesting story. He has completed a medical course at McGill University and is now in his third year at the Newton Seminary.

Mr. John F. Aiso of California is an American citizen of Japanese parentage and at present a Junior at Brown University. His path has been no more easy. In Hollywood he was chosen by 900 of the 1200 students as president of the Student government and when parents heard of it his resignation was demanded. Believing himself in the right he refused to do so and eventually, when the faculty and school heads were threatened the student government was abolished.

Rev. Dwight Bradley, pastor of the church, who spoke "for all of us" impressed the audience with the great duty toward establishing world peace by Christlike living with all, whether Russian, Jap, Negro, Irish, Chinese or Jew. Mr. Bradley closed the meeting with a prayer for understanding and benediction.

MRS. HATTIE W. SHERMAN

Mrs. Hattie W. Sherman, widow of J. P. R. Sherman died on Tuesday, February 11th at her home 124 Vernon street, Newton. She was born in this city 71 years ago, the daughter of John C. Chaffin and Mary Cole Chaffin. Her funeral service was held yesterday afternoon at her late home, Rev. Ray Eusden of Eliot Church officiating. Burial was in Mount Auburn Cemetery.

ROTARY CLUB

The regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club of Newton was held on Monday, February 10th, at the Woodland Golf Club at 12:15. President Charles D. Ansley presiding. Four new members: Malon Whipple, red Warren Teale, Walter J. Murphy, and William Toppin, were taken into the Club and introduced by the President.

Harry H. Hanson, Chairman of the Program Committee, presented as the speaker Arthur Travers of the Goodrich Rubber Company. Mr. Travers talked on, "The Story of Rubber", and told us many interesting facts on the history of this valuable product.

Rubber trees, which yield the milk from which rubber is made, grow in the tropical jungles and are tapped daily for as long as thirty years. Three pounds per year is the average flow per tree. It would take two rubber trees one year to produce enough rubber to make one 29x40x40 tire.

Rubber was discovered about four hundred years ago. In 1803 the first rubber shoe was made. In 1833 the first factory was erected. In 1888 the first pneumatic tire was manufactured.

At the present time there are 35,000 different rubber articles being manufactured. In Akron, Ohio, which is now the largest rubber city in the west, 60,000 men and women are employed in the rubber industry, using one million pounds of rubber per day with a yearly market value of $700,000,000.

Donald B. Hyde is the proud father of a daughter born February 9, 1930. Archie W. Osgood and John C. Brimble are still enjoying a vacation in Florida.

Dr. Arthur M. Ellis of Newtonville, and Karl W. Switzer of Newton Centre, are still confined to their homes by sickness but are gradually improving.

PETER R. MULLEN

Mr. Peter Richard Mullen died at the Holy Ghost hospital in Cambridge on February 9, after an illness of eight months' duration.

Mr. Mullen, who was in his 63rd year, was born at Oak Hill, Newton, on the estate now occupied by the Peabody Home for Crippled Children. He was one of the older letter carriers of Newton having served the government for 22 years in the Newton Corner District, making his home on Waban street, Newton. He was forced to retire from active service about 15 years ago on account of ill health. He was a member of the Needham Council, K. of C. He is survived by one child, Mrs. Sarah Cronin of Upper Falls, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were held from the home of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Cronin of 59 Cottage street, Upper Falls, at 8 o'clock on Wednesday followed by a high mass of requiem at Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church at 9 o'clock celebrated by Fr. Richard Burke. Burial was in the family lot at Calvary cemetery, Waltham.

MRS. SARAH MACDONALD

Mrs. Sarah MacDonald of 58 Highland avenue, Newtonville, died on Sunday, February 10th, at her home. She was born in London, England, 88 years ago and had resided in Newtonville for 38 years. She was the oldest member of the Newtonville Methodist Episcopal Church. She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Donalena Hopkins and Mrs. Alfred Moxley of Newtonville, Mrs. John Ballard of California and Mrs. L. H. Kunhardt of Melrose. Her funeral service was held Wednesday at her late home, Rev. Lawrence W. Emig officiating, assisted by Rev. John W. Spliers. Harp selections were played by Miss Smith.

Washington's Headquarters at Newburg, N. Y.

While negotiations for peace were being made in 1783, during the Revolutionary War, Washington had his headquarters in this building, the Hasbrouck House, at Newburg, New York. His army was stationed in huts nearby.

The dignity and charm of our service is the result of the experience and helpful attitude of each member of our organization.

—Dr. Edward O'Brien of Hunnewell Hill was one of the principal speakers at the Smoker, held by the Holy Name Society of Our Lady of the Presentation Church, at Oak Square Bungalow on Tuesday evening.
—Everett Scheinfeld of Bridgton Academy, Bridgton, Maine, was able to visit his home on Washington street for a few days this week, as the hockey team of which he is a member, played a few local teams in this vicinity.

—A bridge party of unusual interest was given the 10th of February at the home of Mrs. Wm. R. Dewey of Franklin street, Newton. There were 14 tables of players and the prizes were silver spoons made by the Hostess. A very unique idea.

—Miss Frances Thompson of 273 Waverley avenue has been enrolled at the Bryant & Stratton Commercial School of Boston where she will train for business. Miss Thompson formerly attended the Baldwin School, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

—The young women of the M. E. Church invite the people of Newton to be present at their annual public meeting on Thursday, Feb. 20th, at eight o'clock. Rev. Richard C. Raines, formerly acting pastor of the Eliot Church, will deliver the address of the evening.

—Mr. and Mrs. Job Gaskin of Shorecliffe road accompanied by their daughter Mrs. Gay Gleason and their granddaughter, Miss Noel Gleason will leave Saturday for Florida where they will be guests at the Vinoy Park Hotel, St. Petersburg, until the latter part of March.

—Nature's Wise Provision
It is claimed that a cod weighing 21 pounds will produce 2,700,000 eggs in one spawning period; these are so small that it takes 337,000 to fill a quart pail. As for the reason why most fish produce eggs rather than living young, it may be suggested that this is a wise provision of nature in view of the great loss involved. For each egg destined to become a mature fish there must be thousands sacrificed to be food for other marine life.

—Historic Cathedral
The cathedral of Reims was completed in 1231. It was celebrated for its wonderful rose window as well as for other architectural details of great beauty. The cathedral has undergone many changes. Its facade is said to be one of the most perfect masterpieces of the world. The building suffered almost beyond description during the World war.

EASILY EXPLAINED

Dear Old Lady—You say you were the only survivor of all the twelve ship-wrecked sailors?
Old Salt—Yessum.
Dear Old Lady—How was it you lived when all the rest died?
Old Salt—Well, you see all we had to eat was our shoes.
Dear Old Lady—Yes, but how did you—
Old Salt—Oh, I wore bigger shoes.

WIDOW'S WEEDS

Miss Perch—How nice of you to trim your hat with widow's weeds in memory of your dear husband.
Mrs. Trout (a widow)—And so inexpensive, too. It's seaweed!

Waiting for a Ride
The gangster's time slips on its way. With care he must employ it. He grabs a fortune in a day. But can't live to enjoy it.

No Quarrel Possible
"Do you ever quarrel with your wife?"
"Never," answered Mr. Meekton, "My parents thoroughly impressed me with the impropriety of interrupting a lady when she is talking."—Washington Star.

Issue Undecided
"Why didn't you go to the help of the defendant?" asked the examining counsel, "You saw that the two men were fighting."
"Yes," said the witness, "but I had no means then of telling which one was going to be the defendant."

Holding Them in Line
"However do you manage to hold your constituents in line?"
"By means of the social instinct," answered Senator Sorghum, "For some mysterious reason everybody likes to shake hands."—Washington Star.

"The great athlete died because he was overtrained?"
"Yes; fell under the cars and was cut in half."

Learning to Shoot
There, little boy king,
Don't you cry;
You'll be a gunman
Bye and bye!

Just as Reasonable
"Six feet in his boots!" exclaimed Mrs. Platt.
"Yes," said Mr. Platt.
"Nonsense! Why, they might as well tell me that the man had six heads in his hat!"

Rather Worse
"I understand your wife locked you out of the house the other night."
"No such luck," answered Mr. Meekton, "She locked me in."—Washington Star.

Wonderful!
Sherlock—Aha! This letter was written by a radical communist.
Watson—How do you deduce that?
Sherlock—He scrupulously avoids the use of capital letters.

Ingenious Idea
Hat-Shop Assistant—What size of hat does your husband take, madam?
Customer—I'm not sure of the size, but try them on this mule. His hats fit it exactly.—Humorist.

Logical Solution
Professor—So the ship hugged the shore? And where was the shore?
Student—I suppose it was in the hold of the vessel.

Would Come in Handy
"I just heard an awful story about your husband."
"Tell me. I need a new dress."

Over 300% Increase! WELSH ANTHRACITE Consumption

RECENT figures reveal that for the year 1929 Welsh coal consumption increased over 400% over the year 1927 when this coal first became popular.

The reasons for this tremendous increase in popularity are:

- (1) Welsh gives you the most heat for your dollar.
- (2) Welsh gives you the least ashes per ton.
- (3) Welsh is the purest coal you can buy—it contains no slate—rock—or bone.

POLICE NEWS

The district court at West Newton was crowded Friday with residents of this city and Wellesley to listen to the trial of Patrolman James J. Manning, Jr., of the Wellesley police who was charged with driving while under the influence of liquor and with committing assault and battery. In the early morning hours of December 26 a car operated by Manning collided with a car driven by William Goddes of Montclair, New Jersey, a student at the Babson Institute, Wellesley. The collision occurred on Commonwealth avenue, Newtonville, near Lowell avenue. With Geddes was another Babson student, J. S. Riordan of Chicago, Miss Hilda Baker of Wellesley and another girl. According to the testimony of these three, during a quarrel that followed the accident, Manning shouted that he had a revolver. They also testified that he dropped a pint bottle containing liquor. C. J. Mehanigan of Commonwealth avenue testified that he found a revolver and flashlight on the street and Chief Fleming of the Wellesley police identified these as having been issued to Manning.

Dr. Thomas M. Gallagher testified that he had examined Manning two days following the fracas and found the defendant had received injuries to an ear and around one of his eyes which appeared to have been caused by some blunt instrument. He was the only witness for the defence and then Judge Weston stated that he would find Manning guilty on both charges. Attorney James P. Gallagher who appeared for the defendant asked that he be allowed to offer his arguments and contended that none of the witnesses had testified that they detected any odor of liquor from Manning. Judge Weston imposed sentences of five months in jail on Manning. An appeal was taken and he was held in $1000 for the Grand Jury. As a result of this trial Manning has been suspended from the Wellesley police force.

There're Many Like Him

It was a sad day for the neighbors when they had Peter Tumbledown take a share in a threshing. They had a terrible time collecting the money to begin with. And now whenever Peter has a chance at the machine he takes the bolts out of it to fix up some of his own implements. If Peter repaired all his machines at once, the threshing would fall into a hundred pieces.—The Farm Journal.

Hawaii Healthful

The temperature of Hawaii is very equable. The average in the lowlands is 70 degrees for January, 78 degrees for July. The extremes are 89 degrees and 54 degrees Fahrenheit. At Honolulu the rainfall averages only about 32 inches per year, but the humidity is considerable. On the whole, the climate is considered healthful and equable.

Keeping the Breaks

It is hard to get the average man to admit that the breaks are in his favor. He is more apt to recall that he is having an up-hill fight. When there is a little turn he will give credit to his own indomitable courage and tireless activity.—Los Angeles Times.

Ancient Folk Songs

What country has the oldest folk songs cannot be stated definitely, but the songs of Piedmont, Lombardy and Tuscany, northern provinces in Italy, are probably the oldest folk songs in the world.

Whale Pulled Post

A ride on a whale was taken by two brothers. While they were fishing from a flat-bottomed boat off the Donegal (Ireland) coast their craft began to move swiftly along. After going fifty yards the boat's headlong career was checked and soon it lay rocking gently on the calm water. The brothers declare that when they looked over the side they saw the bulk of a huge whale vanishing into the depths, directly underneath their tiny vessel.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE

Pursuant to and in execution of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage of real estate given by Elmer J. Sorland and Ethel E. Greater Beauty - Finer Performance Never has a Chevrolet car won greater praise for its appearance than the new Chevrolet Six. Its new Fisher bodies reveal in every detail the artistry that has made the Fisher name famous throughout the motor car world. In beauty of line and color, in balance and harmony of design, they represent one of the greatest style triumphs in Fisher history. Upholsteries are richer and more durable. The instrument panel carries a new and more attractive grouping of the control instruments. Seats are wider and deeper. In fact, not a single feature has been overlooked that would add to the comfort and convenience of both driver and passengers.

INVESTING

Investing is a means of securing an income for a man's family or of providing against the decrease of his own earning power. Too few investors consider the fluctuating value of many popular investments, or realize that their holdings may be at a low peak just when they are most needed. But you can invest in safety in life insurance. A policy in a sound company at once provides an estate and is an investment which is sure to increase steadily in value.

You will be interested in the advertisement of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company appearing in another column of this paper. It offers an interesting comparison between life insurance and other forms of investment.

LASELL SEMINARY

Lassell girls left today for the annual White Mountain trip. They will spend the week-end at Intervale, New Hampshire, returning Monday night.

On Sunday afternoon, February 16, Lassell students will visit the Swedenborgian Church in Newtonville to hear Dr. Edwin Markham.

The Lassell Mid-winter luncheon will be held on Monday, February 17, at the University Club in Boston, at 12:30 P. M. This is the annual meeting of the New England Alumnae Association and Dr. Winslow will be the guest of honor.

The Senior Class Dramatic Club will give their annual play in the Auburndale Club House on March 2 and 3. They will present "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall."

SINGING USHERS AT PARAMOUNT

One of the most pleasant features of the program at the Paramount Theatre in Newton the first half of this week was the Singing Bee, a medley of old and new songs in which the audience joined in and sang. The six regular ushers of the theatre staff were on the stage and led the singing. Mr. Philip DePetro, assistant to Mr. Snider, has been working with the boys for some time and has several good prospects for good singers. The boys went over big and will soon be given another chance to try out their voices. The audience enjoyed the novelty very much.

HOME HYGIENE CLASSES

The continued success of the classes in Home Hygiene and care of the sick and in First Aid, conducted by Miss H. Margaret Norcross, instructor for Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross, has recently been emphasized by increasing interest shown throughout the city.

At the parochial school of St. John the Evangelist Parish Rev. Fr. Robichaud and Miss Norcross presented Junior First Aid certificates to Bernadette Boudreau, Cecelia Boudreau, Florence Champagne, Dorothy Fournere, Irene Fichette, Gertrude Kennedy, Dorothy Landry, Mary Jean Martel, Rita Masse and Clarina Mitchell. The presentation took place last Saturday.

At the Earnshaw factory, California street, the following received, last Monday, Standard Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick certificates, presented by Miss Norcross: Miss Gertrude Altimis, Miss Alice DeWolf, Miss Alice Doucette, Miss Florence Doucette, Miss Florence Ford, Miss Katherine Matheson, Miss Mildred Morris, Miss Katherine MacDonald and Miss Elsie Stubbart.

Ten girls, 12 to 13 years old, at the Bowen School, Thompsonville, are taking the modified course in home hygiene and care of the sick under Miss Norcross' instruction, while a group of younger girls is working with a Girl Scout, under Miss Norcross' supervision, in preliminary work.

Five other courses in First Aid and in Home Hygiene are being conducted by Miss Norcross and three new ones are soon to begin.

PARAMOUNT—NEWTON

The Paramount Theatre, Newton, will present a varied program of pictures next week, including musical, dramatic and comedy. "No, No, Nanette" will be presented on Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The musical comedy stage production of the same name was a tremendous hit a few years ago. Bernice Claire and Alexander Gray play the leading roles. The musical hits are "Tea for Two" and "I Want to be Happy." The revue scenes are in natural color. On the same bill will be "The Sacred Flame," a murder mystery, starring Pauline Frederick, Conrad Nagel, Wm. Courtenay and Lila Lee.

The last half of the week Jack Mulhall and Patsy Ruth Miller will be seen in "Twin Beds" in the feature picture. This popular farce comedy increases in popularity with every run. On the same program is "Tiger Rose," a romance of the great north woods and the Royal Mounted police. Monte Blue and Lupe Velez are the leading players.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. Bentley

I should like to make a motion, if it is in order, that the anti ride-bumping campaign be extended to other forms of bumping and made to apply, not only to high school pupils but to all classes and ages. This desire has come to me as a result of the action of those who, I found by reading last week's Graphic, have appealed to automobile drivers to discourage students who seek a lift in somebody's, or rather anybody's, car. Isn't the easiest thing to refuse a ride and for that reason I feel sure that the taking-up of the problem by school pupils themselves is certain to bring about satisfactory results. Therefore, I should like to record my endorsement.

When I suggested that the anti-bumping idea might be spread over a wider area I thought of several things. For instance, there's the person who asks, "Anybody got a cigarette?" Cigarette smoking is no longer a man's job. Woman's assertion of independence, or whatever it may be called, has brought about a condition where she may smoke in public or private without being whispered about behind her back. It is harder to refuse a woman a cigarette than a man. When the latter seeks to "bum" a smoke it is a simple matter to say, "Why don't you buy your own?"

However, a woman is a woman and a cigarette is a smoke and if you give one you are expected to and usually comply with a smile and an apology such as, "Certainly, excuse me for not offering you one." In order to further any campaign in which you are expected to refuse cigarettes to a lady it will be necessary in my opinion to offer prizes. Any man who has nerve enough to say, "No, girlie, you know where they sell 'em, go spend your own money," is entitled to a substantial reward for bravery. I don't expect to see many medals of this kind worn and yet I insist there should be a reform along these lines.

Bumping postage stamps is another nuisance that might well be discouraged. To be approached with, "Will you sell me a stamp, I want to mail a letter?" is as bad as any of these things. The implication is that you are a dealer in postage stamps and carry a supply of ones, twos and fives, together with special deliveries and some postcards and stamped envelopes.

If you say you haven't got any and at the time possess a few stamps, you then are guilty of falsehood and your friend or acquaintance has compounded a felony. Yet if you promptly come through with one or more stamps you may be pretty certain of another call from the same individual at a later date. I think we should add this to bad habits that ought to be discouraged. I'll wager that I can get the druggists to support me. How often is their business held by postage stamp customers? Ask them.

Maybe I'd better not enumerate other subjects that should be brought into this anti-bumping discussion. If we get one thing accomplished at a time we'll be doing pretty well. So, please don't think I'm joking about this bumping business, and stand by the high school students who are earnestly trying to arrive at a solution of a most annoying situation.

It seems strange that some months of the year should be less congenial, let us say, than others. Frankly, I never warmed up to February as much as I have the other eleven. Possibly it is my own fault but I've a notion that I am not entirely to blame. Apart from the filing of income tax blanks, which painful duty we are called to perform this month, there are other things that sort of go against the grain. There is a holiday, of course, and coming this year "of a Saturday" it furnishes a week-end opportunity. What goodly a holiday! Without the place, for the best week-end spot at this season is down where the orange blossoms bloom and I don't mean anything but Florida and stations beyond. And how can one make it in a week-end?

No, February is a short month but a snappy one. With the weather we already have had and may confidently expect. Do you know of a time when the best laid plans can be more frequently knocked aside by a snow storm or a cold wave or the fact that somebody "has a bad cold and can't come"? All these complications gather thick and fast in February and the worst of it is there doesn't seem to be any help for it.

This month I have spent more time putting on and taking off overshoes than anything else. Please don't get the idea that I refer to those owned by other people. I have confined my labors exclusively to my own foot-wear and that has been quite enough. The other day I read of a woman whose husband was portly, a significant fact it appears, but with whom she never allowed herself to quarrel. Not that his size aroused her temper, for it had nothing to do with it. This couple was merely boasting that they never exchanged harsh words. She had a simpler and more effective plan of punishing him. Instead of criticizing him orally and shying a biscuit at him she would throw his shoes under the bed. That to me is cruel and having struggled myself with a pair of four-clasp overshoes I know what he must have suffered especially a man of weight. Put yourself in his position. Compared with crawling under a bed, bending over and working with overshoes is a cinch. At the same time I don't like it and I'm all for overshoesless February, which will never come.

It struck me as somewhat incongruous that in these dark and cold days of February with the thermometer hovering around the zero mark that there should develop so much red hot enthusiasm over the mosquito control problem, as was manifested at a recent hearing at the State House on bills before the committee on Agriculture. As I listened to the arguments, however, I was impressed with the necessity for making plans on mosquito control well in advance of the months of warm weather.

Under the legislation passed last year the State Reclamation Board makes surveys and recommendations to such towns and cities of the Commonwealth as petitioned for same. Proposed legislation would require county commissioners to force all towns of the country into line as soon as two-thirds of the towns in that county have petitioned for the eradication of the mosquito.

Among the many proponents of this new mosquito legislation, the outstanding figure was Charles S. Forbes, chairman of the Bergen County Mosquito Extermination Commission, who, for fifteen years has been identified with the campaign to eradicate the pests from his own state. This man was no theoretician, no long-haired dreamer; he gave the impression of a hard-headed business man, occupied with the practical solution of a business problem.

Two statements he made were of particular interest to me: "New Jersey has made tremendous strides in the elimination of the mosquito." "No public projects pay greater dividends than expenditures for mosquito control, for we have found that the communities in this State where tax values have increased the most are those which are in the area from which the mosquito has been eliminated."

"Make hay while the sun shines" might well be paraphrased into "Prepare to swat the mosquito while the ice is on the ground."

Many of us find satisfaction these days in tossing out crumbs to the birds. My experience has been that the longer one keeps at it the more interesting it becomes. From a beginning, which was humble indeed because it meant no effort or thought, I found myself taking the matter seriously and making it part of my daily routine. The birds seemed to expect it. When I was slow getting them their breakfast they raised a protest. It proved that I must attend to business and that's what it has become. I now find myself a meat-tickler for a collection of starlings, chickadees, sparrows and bluejays. They have me working for them to the extent that I spend money for a prepared feed, including sunflower seeds and other seeds. They tell me that this feed meets the wants of big and little birds and judging from the rapid disappearance I feel that it must have made a hit. It is called "wild bird food" and I think it is well named since it is evident the birds are wild for it.

Now we are on the subject of birds I hope you are a possessor of the three volumes on birds published by State of Massachusetts and sold at cost, which is a remarkably low price. If you haven't Volumes I and II you should certainly get the third volume, which was recently made available through the Secretary of State's office. It deals with "land birds from sparrows to thrushes" and puts us in close touch with the birds most commonly seen in our lawns.

By the way, Newton has more than an ordinary interest in this publication for Dr. John B. May, formerly of this city, and who as a boy lived on Centre street at the Corner of Jefferson, has completed the work begun by the late Edward Howe Forbush. It was fortunate indeed that Dr. May was chosen to succeed Mr. Forbush as State Ornithologist. Dr. May was fully qualified to complete the third volume which had not been finished at Mr. Forbush's death.

Another former resident of Newton, John A. Farley, who lived on Washington street between Hovey and Jewett streets, is described by Dr. May in the third volume as "chief among Mr. Forbush's assistants, a life-long friend and an ornithologist of note, whose assistance in planning the scope of the work and in working out the details of the plan, was only equaled by the value of his editorial labors."

It is easy to write about this bird book for which there is a great demand, not only in the United States but in foreign countries, but I refer the reader to the volume itself and the marvelous illustrations from drawings by Louis Agassiz Fuertes and Allan Brooks. Ownership of one of these books makes one proud to be a resident of Massachusetts.

Here's another of those "It Happened in Newton" incidents. Don't hold me responsible for anything more than repeating it and believe me I pass it along in the hope that it will get as big a laugh out of you as it did out of me.

A resident, with considerable of an income tax blank to make out, found himself at home because of a slight indisposition. It occurred to him that it would be a good time to get some personal matters cleaned up and among them his income tax returns. It was arranged that the attorney who did such work for him should visit the house and an appointment was fixed for an early evening hour convenient to both.

The lawyer arrived shortly before 7 o'clock. His client was all set. As they were about the tackle the job, the lawyer coughed, studied his watch and shifted in his chair.

"In a hurry?" asked the client. "No," came the reply, "are you?" "I had an idea that you wanted to get started promptly. . . ."

"So I do," the lawyer replied, "but it's almost 7 o'clock and would you mind turning on the radio so we could hear Amos and Andy?"

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

FLOATING LIBRARY

The attention of all Clubwomen—and their generous husbands—is called to the appeal for "literature" for the sailors. This avenue of kindness toward men who spend monotonous days far at sea, with nothing to occupy leisure hours, but possibly homesick, or brooding thoughts, should win eager response from understanding readers.

Mrs. George W. Wyman, of 154 Washington street, Newton, has been appointed to act as chairman for the Newton Community Club in the Book Collection Campaign for the American Merchant Marine Library Association. Mrs. Wyman will be assisted by several members of the Club.

As the Association is now serving not only the men on ships but those in lighthouses, on lightships, and in the coast guard, as well, intensive plans are being made to secure an even larger number of good books than in previous successful collections, the last of which was held in 1927. The latest novels, biography, history, travel, science, textbooks, and good magazines are eagerly read by the seamen. Often a "floating library" travels entirely around the world. It consists of 75 to 80 books, and may be exchanged at any of the 12 dispatch offices maintained in the United States. His excellency, Governor Allen, has signified his endorsement of, and interest in, the service rendered by the Association by presenting a copy of the "Biography of Franklin" by Bernard Fay. Those who wish to contribute to this splendid cause should send all the books they can to the nearest public library, or get in touch with Mrs. Wyman, and she will arrange to collect them.

The slogan is: "You give the books—the A. M. M. L. A. will float them!"

Shakespeare Club

The Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands will meet on Saturday afternoon, February 15th, at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. A. L. Pratt, of 67 Fisher avenue.

Waban Woman's Club

Captain Noel E. Odell will give an illustrated lecture "Climbing Mt. Everest," at the next regular meeting of the Waban Woman's Club, on February 17th. Captain Odell, who is at present connected with the Department of Geology and Geography at Harvard University, succeeded in reaching an altitude of 25,000 feet in his climb of Mt. Everest, thus reaching nearer the summit than anyone else in the party. Members' sons, of High School age, are invited to this meeting. Mrs. Vernon Durbin, chairman, and members of the Social committee will serve tea at the close of the program. The hostesses at the tea table will be Mrs. Edward E. Landers and Mrs. Frederick E. Steglich.

Newtonville Woman's Club

The fourth in the series of "afternoons with books" for members of the Newtonville Woman's Club, will be held at the home of Mrs. C. A. Richardson of 17 Clafin place on Monday, February 17th, at 2:30 p. m. The works of Sigrid Undset will be discussed.

On Tuesday, February 18th, at 8 o'clock, the Club will celebrate its guest night when Alton Hall Blackington will give in story and picture "The Romance of News Gathering." Mr. Blackington, who has been Staff Photographer on the Boston Herald for a number of years, will tell of his numerous and thrilling experiences as press correspondent. The Newton Club Ensemble, with Mrs. P. M. Robey, Soloist, will give a program before the address. Grace Morrison Poole will give the second of her current Event Lectures on Thursday, February 20th at 10:15 a. m., fifteen minutes earlier than the previous lecture. Members are admitted on presentation of Club tickets. Guest tickets may be obtained for fifty cents.

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

Club members usually look forward to President's night when they know something of special interest is on the program for the pleasure of their honored guests. The meeting of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club on Monday evening, February 17th, will be no exception to this rule. Mrs. Isabelle Taylor will give a dramatic reading; "The Romance and Drama of the Puritans"; at which presidents of neighboring Clubs will be special guests. Miss Ethel W. Sabin, president, is making plans to have the evening instructive as well as interesting. This meeting will be held in Emerson school Kindergarten room, on Pette street, where the Club holds its meetings. The program is to be the Club's appropriate contribution toward celebrating Massachusetts Bay Ter-Centenary.

Newton Community Club

The next hike will occur on Monday, February 17th. All who intend to go, are to meet at the Vernon street side of Underwood School, at 10 a. m. sharp. If there is sufficient snow they should bring snow shoes or skis. There will be coasting and tobogganing, also.

On Wednesday, February 19th, at 2:30 o'clock, group 11, under the leadership of Mrs. D. C. White has arranged for a lecture on "Interior Decorating" to be given at Grace Church Parish Hall, under the auspices of the Jordan Marsh Co. Miss Fuller will be the speaker. After many valuable hints and suggestions as to the possibilities for spring redecorating she will be prepared to answer personal questions. The tickets are fifty cents, and anyone will be welcome.

On Wednesday, February 19th at 2:30 p. m., a group of 25 will visit the Priscilla Proving Plant. This is planned by the American Home committee, Miss Margaret S. Ball, chairman.

An urgent request has come for books for the American Merchant Marine. Those who have books of any description, or have The National Geographic Magazine, which they can spare are asked to call Mrs. George Wyman, N. N. 5823-W, and the books will be collected. These may be left, also, at any Public Library to be forwarded, if plainly marked for the Marines. Let all see if Newton cannot add a considerable number to this worthy Library.

Community Service Club of West Newton

Mrs. Claude H. Gilson's Current Events Lectures will continue on February 14th and 28th, for fortunate members of the Community Service Club.

The second talk on contemporary books by Professor Sophie Hart of Wellesley will be given on Monday, February 24th. In this she will take up the first of the two scheduled fiction groups, using the following books: "Good Companions", by J. B. Priestly; "Borgia", by Zona Gale; "The Loves", by Naomi Royde-Smythe; and "All Our Yesterdays" by Tomlinson.

The regular February meeting of the Club, on the 19th, will be given over to a discussion of "Book Censorship", as presented by the two groups who are working for the revision of the present law. This meeting is in charge of the Legislative committee of the Club, under the chairmanship of Mrs. George P. Hatch, who is unable now to announce the leaders of the two sides, but they will be able, and representative of their groups.

Social Science Club

Mrs. Alden H. Clark will tell of the "Contribution the East Indian Has Made to American Civilization", on Wednesday morning, February 19th, at 10 o'clock at the Hunnewell Club, for the Social Science Club program. Miss Maud B. Henry and Mrs. Howard R. Mason will be hostesses.

Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

Mrs. Harris P. Gray, chairman of the Conservation and Garden Unit, with her committee, have in store for members and their friends of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club a rare treat for garden enthusiasts. On February 19, at 2:30 o'clock, at the Workshop, Mrs. Walter Brady, of Braintree, who has had marked success in growing roses, and who is well able to impart her knowledge to others in a very charming manner, will talk on "The Culture of Roses." Members are invited to bring their friends, as the meeting is free to all. On the 26th of February, at 10 a. m., at the Workshop, there is to be another valuable morning for the homemaker. At that time Miss Carolyn Webber Bixby will give a cooking demonstration on "Supper in Less Than an Hour." "Attractive Luncheon in Color," and "A Dozen Good Recipes." Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Albion Brown or from any member of the American Home committee.

The Art Museum Trip which was set for February 20th, is to be postponed until the 27th of February.

This, the annual trip to the Museum of Fine Arts, will have for the subject "Tapestries." The recent acquisition of a remarkable and rare one, to the already large and beautiful collection on exhibition, adds greater interest to the trip. Mrs. Ernest Weaver will arrange transportation for all those desiring it if they will call her at Centre Newton 1999. Cars will leave the bulletin board promptly at 9:45 a. m.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

The fourth in a series of "Informal Talks" under the direction of the Education committee of the Newton Centre Woman's Club will be given Friday, February 21st at 10:15 a. m., in the parlor of the Newton Centre Woman's Clubhouse. Current information on "Art" will be given by Mrs. Everett W. Varney; on "Drama", by Mrs. Montague Ford; on "Literature", by Mrs. E. Ray Speare, and on "Music", by Mrs. Moses H. Gulesian. These "Informal Talks" are free to all Club members and those who have attended know what a worthwhile opportunity is offered.

The Social Service committee of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, with Mrs. Charles H. Cobb as chairman, is doing a most noteworthy piece of work with the following members as her assistants: Mrs. Charles Bond, Mrs. A. G. Davis, Mrs. J. M. Densmore, Mrs. H. R. Jaques, Mrs. W. H. Macurda, Mrs. John Metz, Mrs. Henry E. Ohler, Mrs. C. W. Randlett, Mrs. Eric Courtney, Mrs. Archer Davidson, Mrs. R. F. Hayden, Mrs. H. J. Ide, Mrs. J. H. E. Kirk, Mrs. H. O. Marvin, Mrs. R. H. Norton, Mrs. Samuel B. Paul, Mrs. W. H. Raye, and Mrs. F. D. Robinson; also, Miss F. E. Grandon, Miss A. D. Hills and Miss M. H. Denison. Every Tuesday and Friday, workers go to the Peabody Home for Crippled Children, which provides a school for those who are physically able to attend. The little ones are taught, as in kindergarten, with pegs, beads and color work and the older ones have an opportunity to learn to read and write. Advanced subjects such as English, History, Arithmetic and Geography are also given. In addition to this, the Americanization work in Thompsonville is continuing with a most earnest group of Italian women, who are learning the language and also are being taught some of the responsibilities that citizenship in this country requires.

Great interest is being shown in the forthcoming Art Exhibition, to be held in the art gallery of the Newton Centre Woman's Clubhouse, of work done by business men of Boston. These paintings were shown at the Boston Art Club recently. There will be an opening tea on Sunday afternoon, February 23rd, in the Club parlors, from 3 to 7, given by the Art Committee, of which Mrs. William C. Noetzel is chairman. The community is invited to attend the Exhibition and to enjoy the musical which will be given during the afternoon. The exhibition will be open from February 23rd to March 1st, inclusive, from 2 to 5 p. m.

3,000 VISIT NORUMBEGA COUNCIL'S EXPOSITION

The first Merit Badge Exposition of Norumbega Council, Inc., Boy Scouts of America, held last Friday and Saturday in the State Armory, West Newton, was enthusiastically declared an unqualified success by Girl and Boy Scouts, their officers and the hundreds and hundreds of visitors who attended.

The Armory itself was a mass of color, having been decorated to the bottom for the affair. Starting Wednesday evening and continuing until the time of opening, the Armory was a scene of tremendous activity, hammering, building, arranging exhibits.

About 85% of Work by Scouts Outside of the decorations, lighting and laying out the floor plans, about 85% of the work of building and fixing up exhibits was actually done by the Scouts themselves! Many Troops and Patrols report actual participation of from 90 to 100% of their members—a most satisfactory and encouraging record.

Doors Officially Open Friday Evening
The doors to the Exposition were officially opened at 7:30 on Friday evening last, but before that hour, the Armory was already well filled with Scouts, officers and visitors. At eight o'clock, the DeMolay Band of the Newton Chapter of DeMolay struck up and gave over an hour's splendid program. The band gave its services to the Exposition, as did the Girl Scout Corps and the Newton High School Band on Saturday evening.

Many Merit Badges Displayed
The purpose of the Exposition was to provide a great feature of true constructive worth for the Scouts to work on in their spare time during the preceding week, to exercise their own ingenuity and work out their own ideas and to show to Newton just what it is possible for Scouts to do.

Merit Badges are special awards given for work in specialized fields and the following account will indicate the nature of many of them.

In the hall, were booths as follows: Troop 1, Newtonville, Conservation, Safety, Insect Life and Aviation. A special word in connection with the Aviation display of this Troop is merited; the boys of the Gold Division of that Troop designed and made a hangar with trusses of the latest type, which was erected in the center of the hall, and also a full-sized man-carrying glider, which the Scout will try out under safe conditions when weather and wind permit, right here in Newton.

Troop 2, Auburndale, displayed Photography and one of their Scouts, Edmund Hawes, took a half-hour exposure of the Exposition Hall from the balcony on Friday night. This was developed and printed by him and displayed on Saturday; the job was worthy of a commercial photographer and a print is now on display at the Council Headquarters.

Troop 3, Nonantum, displayed Poultry Keeping, with a hen-yard and hens, incubators and literature; and Camping. Troop 4A, Highlands, had Printing, the Scouts setting up type, and printing, and distributing literature about the Exposition to the people as they entered the hall; Electricity, Carpentry and Wood Carving. Troop 4B, Highlands, displayed the 2nd Class requirements, worked out in novel and original and striking ways by the Scouts of that Troop.

Relief Map of Nobscot
Troop 5, Center, had as one of its displays, a relief map of the Nobscot Reservation, actually made by following a contour map of the Reservation; a very difficult job, showing great skill and real understanding of a contour map. Troop 5 also had Conservation and Aviation.

Troop 7, West Newton, had each patrol represented: showing Printing, Cycling, Woodworking and Photography. In the Photography, they actually showed the process of taking and developing and printing and in a few seconds, from prints on hand, gave to observers a finished print.

Troop 9, Waban, had an Adirondack Log Shelter, with a terrain laid out in miniature inside the shelter, with cabins, towers, derricks and so on, in model fashion. About 75% of the log shelter itself, which was about 14 feet long and nine feet deep, was actually notched and laid right in the Armory itself and to the credit of the Scout-axemen, be it said that there was not a single axe mark on the hardwood floor of the Armory, nor was a shoe even touched by an axe.

Troop 10, Waban, displayed downstairs, the Cooking Merit Badge, with models and so on and then sold "hot dogs", pop and ice cream, a tribute to the business acumen of the coming generation!

In the hall upstairs, they displayed Camping, Safety and Bird Study. Troop 11, Newton, in their booth, showed most effectively a multiplicity of Badges, including, Botany, Aviation, Signaling, Reading, Taxidermy and Basketry, with all sorts of models, original drawings and so on.

Ship 13, Seascouts, had, in the center of the floor, one of their Cape Cod dories, painted and varnished by them to the last degree of finish; its sail was rigged and the dory was "full dressed", in addition, Seascouts worked on seabags, did rope work, struck bells and so on.

Troop 14, Upper Falls, displayed Forestry, showing leaf-casting and then painting them; Electricity, with many original features.

Troop 15, Auburndale, showed Photography, Conservation, with samples of wood found at Nobscot, live pheasants and so on. One group of this Troop showed Chemistry, doing

THE LUCY JACKSON CHAPTER, D. A. R.

The monthly meeting was held in the chapter house at half past two Monday afternoon. As the regent, Mrs. L. H. Howe, was called to Cleveland, the first vice-regent, Mrs. H. W. Newhall, presided. Reports of officers and committees were given and among them there was a very interesting account of the Naval Conference by Mrs. W. S. Smyth, setting forth in a lucid and colorful manner the objectives of that body and the problem of the ratios. Mrs. John W. Byers enumerated some of the recent films and recommended highly the "Romance of Rio Grande." Mrs. Bakeman and Mrs. Sherman asked for material to be used in handwork by the World War service men, and the foreigners at Ellis Island. Mrs. E. B. Parker reminded the chapter that there were three more stars eventually to be placed on our flag, Hawaii, Porto Rico and Alaska. The new librarian, Mrs. Clark Macomber, reported members to report to her any contributions they may have for the library. An invitation to attend the governor's reception, February 22nd, was read and it was announced that John Howe, son of the regent, will be one of the color bearers.

Mrs. Mary H. McDowell, state director of the Children of the American Revolution, gave an account of plans being made for the tercentenary celebration. Mrs. Larz Anderson has placed the grounds of "Weld" at the disposal of the committee and a pageant is being arranged for June 26th in which the children's chapters throughout the state will participate. This promises to be a very brilliant affair and an appropriate historical celebration.

Mrs. F. J. Flagg, representative of the American Association of University Women, spoke on "The Motion Picture as an Ally to Patriotism." "Though not a member of the D. A. R., I feel that I am entitled to be here," "I am a Flagg," she said humorously. Mrs. Flagg held the attention of her audience closely as she described the vast influence of the moving pictures and the efforts of producers to improve the industry. She told of the appointment of Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, prominent club woman, representative in Hollywood of the women to interpret to the makers of motion pictures the feeling of womanhood in regard to that medium's development to its highest usefulness. Mrs. Flagg had attended the Conference on Motion Pictures held in New York and is active among those who are working for the right sort of pictures.

The "Star Spangled Banner" was sung by Master Arthur Hiscoe, also "Lullaby" and the "Lilac Tree," Mrs. A. S. Tucker accompanying.

experiments and showing motion pictures of chemical processes.

Troop 16, Upper Falls, showed Plumbing, actually cutting and threading pipe and fitting joints. Their booth was made of pipe, most of which was cut and fitted by the Scouts. They also showed Cycling, taking apart, cleaning and putting together the coaster brake and so on.

Troop 18, Center, showed Painting and Cycling, Surveying, Camping and Pioneering, and, like Troop 7, had one of the old type cycles with the great wheels and the latest model of bicycle—the contrast was remarkable. Troop 19, Center, showed Printing and Firemanship. They had the old and new types of fire alarm boxes and showed how to operate both, with a constant clanging of the fire bell, just as it registers in the central station and branches. Their Printing and Mimeographing department issued Bulletins and Notices for the Exposition.

Girl Scouts Have Attractive Booth
The Newton Girl Scout Council also had a booth and it was most attractive in design and coloring, and its display of Girl Scout work most effective. There the Girl Scouts and officers made cookies and horehound candy and Patrols from various Troops gave demonstrations of dancing, camping and so on.

The official outfit for Norumbega Council, Barron's of West Newton, had a display of official Girl and Boy Scout equipment in the outer room.

Indian Long House Like That Used in England
Another great feature was the Indian Long House, occupying much space in the center of the hall. This was an exact replica of that Long House used by the Newton Jamboree Troop in England. It was partly thatched, looking some uncovered to show the method of construction. Inside were displayed the Jamboree Indian Costumes, photographs of the Jamboree and European Trip, badges from many foreign countries, with Jamboree Scouts, in the official Jamboree costume, on hand to answer questions of all sorts.

Will There Be Another Exposition Next Year?

When the Exposition was over, this incident occurred, which will show how the Scouts felt about the Exposition. One of the Patrols was tearing down its booth and throwing away some of its work when the Scoutmaster came along. "Hold on, Scouts," he called. "Don't you want that for next year?" Still ripping and tearing, the Scouts answered: "No, sir, we'll throw it all away—next year we'll do a thousand times better with everything new!"

At their meeting on February 19th, the Leaders will discuss the idea of an Exposition next year and what the Scouts themselves, who will doubtless do an even greater percentage of the work next year, if it be held, think of it.

Troop News

On Saturday evening, Scouts from Troop 1, Newtonville, by invitation, went to a big rally and demonstration at the Quincy Council and there competed with Troop 1, Hingham, their old friendly rivals. Nip and tuck went the competition, for out of three times, Troop 1, Newtonville, have won, till at the end the score was tied. This was a big affair and Troop 1, Newtonville and Troop 1, Hingham, attended as a "Good Turn" to the Quincy Council, to help Scouting in that city and Council.

ANNUAL REPORT, WEST NEWTON COMMUNITY CEN.

If the West Newton Community Centre, Inc., were a business concern dealing in some commodity, January first would be the logical time to take an inventory of the past year's business. Just so in our form of organization it is well for us to look back over our past year's record to discover what has been accomplished, what plans have fallen by the way, so that we may have something tangible on which to base our future efforts.

First, let us glimpse at our memberships and registrations for the last three years. This is what we find.

On January 1, 1928, we recorded on our files one hundred and thirty-seven paid up members, and fifty-one registrations, making a total of one hundred and eighty-eight.

January 1, 1929, told a different story. We then had one hundred and seventy-six paid up memberships and one hundred and seventeen registrations.

January 1, 1930 shows a still greater increase. We now have one hundred and ninety-eight paid up members, and one hundred and four registrations on our files.

While statistics prove very little of the real work that is accomplished, it is sometimes well to know whether there has been an increase or a decrease in attendance. For that reason alone, I am quoting our approximate yearly attendance for the last three seasons.

An increase in attendance from 7300 in 1927, and 7900 in 1928 to 9300 in 1929 is very gratifying, for it represents a steady interest in the routine activities, and not a fluctuating interest in special events. The attendance at the Spring and Fall Rummage Sales, and the Community Carol Service would send the 1929 attendance well over the ten thousand mark.

Regular Activities

Our twenty-six regular activities are housed in four centres; the Club House on the Eden avenue playground, the Recreation Rooms in the Davis School, the Community Room in the West Newton Memorial Library; and the Cooking Room in the Peirce School.

We are tremendously proud of the work done in the Pre-School Kindergarten. In the fall of 1927 we considered our enrollment of nine satisfactory. We now have a registration of thirty. More and more, parents are realizing how much first group contacts mean to the small child. As this realization comes into being, we find the personnel of our group changing. No longer is this activity conducted along day nursery lines. It is a nursery school, teaching the fundamentals of health, work and play to the white, colored and foreign-born children who come to us from both privileged and underprivileged homes. Perhaps one of the greatest lessons the Pre-School teaches is the art of democratic living.

At any rate, it is a joy to see these tiny tots expand and develop under group influence.

The increase in interest in a club program of handicrafts and social activities has made it necessary for several new clubs to be formed this past year. As much as possible these groups are self-supporting, the club dues being used to finance club parties and handwork supplies. Instruction in clay-modelling, leather work, metal-crafts and cooking has been added to our former jig saw and sewing programs.

Special classes in Folk Dancing, Tap and Clog Dancing, Games, Basketball and Dramatics have been scheduled to attract those children not especially interested in a club group.

A great many new children's books have been added to our collection this year, and for the first time we are conducting a library period for their distribution.

Saturday morning game room also has its attractions. Here we see groups of eager-eyed youngsters occupying their time over checkers, dominoes and other club table games. Another group watches an amateur boxing contest. Plenty of noise and excitement? Yes! But what an opportunity for the development of fair play!

Adult Activities

Our two women's clubs are in splendid condition. While there has been little change in their club programs, one can sense a decided development in the interest in worthwhile things, and a fine spirit of cooperation in boosting club, inter-club and center activities. Both of these groups have made substantial gifts to promote the work of the Centre.

The interest in special classes which have been scheduled this year has been very satisfying. These classes, started as an experiment, included gymnasium, Red Cross First Aid and Home Nursing, and Dressmaking. Each has drawn its own group and has shown us the changing demands in our community life.

Thirteen of our women received Red Cross certificates for the completion of a fifteen-hour course in First Aid and Home Nursing. A donation of $10.00 was made by this group to the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross.

A trip a day during July constituted the summer program of the Centre. Fourteen club picnics and twelve swimming parties! Need one say more?

During the summer months the Community Room of the Library was opened on Monday and Thursday mornings to receive fruit, flowers and vegetables to be distributed among sick members of the Centre and various local institutions. While the beginning has been very small, the Mission was worth while and an activity which should develop greatly another year.

Special Features

The Quill, our Community Centre paper, published monthly by the members of the Clubs, came into being in March, 1929. It has now passed its experimental stage and has a very unique place in the Centre life. It started through an effort to unify our activities and to develop a Community Centre spirit. That it is accomplishing its purpose is indicated by a remark made by one of the mothers. She said, "The Quill has made me realize the scope of your work—and that we are not only members of the Wenocemo Club, but members of a large community movement." More recently another member said, "I was worried when the December Quill was so late. I thought you had discontinued it. I look forward each month to reading every word about what each club is doing." Just the other day one of the teachers said, "The Community Centre is to be congratulated on the growth of your paper."

The Rummage Sales held each spring and fall by the Board of Directors serve a double purpose. They provide a means of raising money for the Centre, and at the same time are a definite form of community service by offering articles of good quality at prices within the reach of all.

Open week held in May proved very successful. During the time set aside more visitors came to the Centre to view regular activities than came throughout the entire previous year. That alone proves the value of the experiment. No emphasis was placed on special programs, except for Play Day which ended the week. On that day a varied program of folk dancing, games, dramatics, races and parades was carried out. Motion pictures were taken and these are now available for publicity purpose and for entertainment.

The Out-of-Door Carnival, held for the first time on Friday, October 4, to raise money for a club loan fund, handicraft supplies and new equipment was carried through by the cooperation of the Board, the Playground Department and the excellent help of the children in the club groups. We hope that this activity may become a yearly event.

Christmas Activities

A three-fold Christmas Program was instituted this year beginning with an entertainment on Friday, December 20, for the parents and friends of our members.

Saturday afternoon, December 21, the Annual Christmas Party for club members was held, and as usual it was most successful. This party is always a cooperative affair, and would not be possible except by the generosity of various candy concerns and the public-spirited friends of the Centre. The Community Christmas Carol Service is always a fitting close to the festivities of the Centre. The tree was enjoyed by hundreds of persons passing through West Newton daily, as well as by those living in the community. Perhaps more than anything else in the year, it typifies our desire to be of real community service—a friendly beacon in the busy life of today.

Cooperation

All this year we have felt our work advancing, and much of the growth may be traced to the interest and cooperation of the Board Members, other social organizations, the various civic departments with which we work, the school authorities and teachers, the newspapers, the parents of our children, the staff, and finally, the club members themselves. It has been a good year.

Of course, mistakes have occurred, but these mistakes are serving as guide posts along the way to another even more successful season.

GERTRUDE MacCALLUM,
Director of Activities.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

Newton Camp Fire Girls will hold a public Council Fire and Camp Fire Demonstration in the Universalist Church, Washington Park, Newtonville, Friday evening, February 21, at 7:45 for the purpose of demonstrating and explaining to the public the work of that organization.

Miss Lotta Clark, president of the Camp Fire Girls of Greater Boston, will speak on the activities and ideals of the Camp Fire Girls which lay the foundations for right and successful living.

Miss Zillah Wells and Miss Doris Foster from Boston Camp Fire Headquarters will also be guests of the evening.

FAMOUS DOG WAS STOWAWAY ON "ZEP"

Captain Von Schiller of the Graf
Zeppelin, when talking recently to Mr.
Turner of the Dimock & Turner Radio Company, and learning that this organization was featuring the Victor
Radio, recalled the following incident.

One of the world's most famous dogs was a stowaway on board the Graf Zeppelin when she started on her epochal trip around the world it was learned. It was a little paper-mache Victor pup seized with a touch of wanderlust. Just before the great dirigible cleared from Lakehurst before encircling the globe the pup hopped aboard and hid himself in one of the cabins.

Many hours later, far out over the Atlantic, the stowaway was discovered.
No one could account for his presence.
None of the passengers claimed him.
He might have been put in trunks and sent home in disgrace, but he was not. He had several attributes that the officers aboard the Graf regarded as qualifying him as an ideal passenger for a long distance flight. He weighed only a few ounces and he needed nothing to eat or drink. The result was that instead of sharing the fate that most stowaways find, this little Victor pup was adopted.

Kurt Schonherr, one of the Zeppelin's stewards asked Captain Von Schiller for permission to take the dog home with him. Captain Von Schiller consented and the round-the-world aspirations of the pup were cut short at Frederickshavn. Having completed the first leg of the famous Lakehurst-to-Lakehurst flight he took up his home with the Schonherr family in Germany.

Upon the return of the Zeppelin to Lakehurst, two brothers of the Victor pup met the big airship. They learned what had become of the reckless stowaway and asked Kurt Schon-herr to send him back home. One of them was autographed by Captain Von Schiller and Kurt Schonherr and has returned to his kennel in Camden, N. J. The other has been permanently adopted as the mascot of the Zeppelin. The little dog in Camden is lonely now, but he won't be for very long. The Victor pup who so ambi-tiously started round the world will presently be sent home on one of the big German liners. It has even been whispered that Mayor Walker and Police Commissioner Whalen may meet the dog when he arrives since he has been placed and seen things on board the Zeppelin.

Club, and guests, fortunate enough to secure tickets were, in thought, transported to London, as Miss En-nice Avery told of the Naval Parley, and of the event which have pre-saged its convening, before an audience which filled the Club Workshop to overflowing.

Statistics of the naval strength of the various countries, together with their needs or fancied needs, threw a new light on what, to many, had been a confused issue, while the figures which showed the tremendous cost to the United States of upkeep of Army and Navy were a powerful plea for peace.

Not only were the main issues thoroughly discussed, but many bits of by-play, characteristics of the various participants, and vivid descriptions of the setting.

The enthusiastic applause which was given Miss Avery at the close of her lecture, and the many commendatory remarks were evidence of the esteem in which the Newton Highlands Woman's Club hold her, and explains the reasons for tickets being at a premium when she appears.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

"The Color Box," a musical extravaganza presented by the Newton Centre Woman's Club, to capacity houses on both Friday and Saturday evenings, February 7th and 8th, was one of the most successful performances ever given in Newton Centre. To Mr.
C. Hassler Capron belongs unlimited credit for the originating, staging, and production of the entire Revue.

Special musical numbers were written by Miss Sarah Callagher and the dances were originated and directed by Lucille Perry Hall. Ranny Weeks' Colonial Orchestra provided the music for both the Revue and the dancing which followed. Ranny Weeks himself moved through the entire performance with the ease and poise of a master of ceremonies, having the lead in several scenes, and in the Finale introducing the entire cast.

The Prologue showed a huge artist's Palette. Splashes of color were carried out by eight girls of the chorus, dressed in gowns of bright colors. Mr.
Carl Matheson sang the "Palette Waltz."

The first act opened with a scene entitled "Military Love," with Ranny Weeks as the Commander, and a large chorus of girls in bright red costumes carrying out a very clever military dance.

In a Garden" was a very delightful scene with Ranny Weeks and Carolyn McClellan in the leads. Eight small children as "Flower Girls" and "Gardeners" added much to the effect. A chorus of girls costumed to represent roses, pansies, iris and tulips, danced.

Dorothy Barton as "The Queen of Hearts" appeared in a clever little Valentine dance. "The Dance of the Gnomes" was excellently carried out and the dance of the Indian maids was most realistic.

Act II opened with a scene entitled "Silver." The curtains and setting in black and silver were gorgeous. Ranny Weeks, as the lead, sang in his usual winning way, and Dorothy Barton appeared in a solo dance. "The Silver Waltz" was danced by Ann Marsters and Paul Anderson, professional dancers. Unexpected talent was exhibited by girls in the chorus in their wonderful execution of a typical stage jazz dance to the tune of "Turn-on the Heat." Harriet Dane, Barbara Murphy, and Olive Riley were featured in a special dance as Rainbow Girls.

In a scene called "Vain and Versatile," Narcissa and Frances Varney did a beautiful and graceful bit of dancing, dressed in Spanish costume.
The last scene, "Au Revoir but not Goodbye," was an introduction by Ran-ny Weeks of each group of actors, who repeated a bit of their particular act as they appeared.

The whole performance was received with great enthusiasm and was loudly applauded by the audience. The general chairman, Mrs. John F. Capron and Mrs. Ellen Speer, Jr., together with their assisting committee, are to be congratulated upon their work and its results.

Newtonville Woman's Club

On Friday afternoon the Civics committee of the Newtonville Woman's Club, Mrs. J. Mace Andrews, chairman, assisted by the Legislative Committee, gave a very successful party at the home of Mrs. Harold Billings, to raise money for Community Service.

Cards were played until 4 o'clock, when seven daughters of Club members, the Misses Judith Andress, Ruth Andress, Charlotte Andress, Marion Hillman, Marion Hinkle, Betty Marshall, and Betty Hall served refreshments.

It was a very lovely party and the Club appreciates Mrs. Billings' generosity in opening her delightful home for it.

Monday Club

On Monday afternoon, the Monday Club of Newton Highlands shares with a number of guests one of their red letter days, the program being presented by Elizabeth Cloud Miller, Dramatic Artist and Lecturer of Los Angeles, California, and Elsie S. Eaton, Pianist, of Newton Highlands.

The charming atmosphere of the home of Mrs. E. S. Birtwell provided a delightful setting and background for the two artists.

Mrs. J. H. McCready, president of the Club, briefly but graciously welcomed guests and friends of Club members, and presented Mrs. Charlotte D. Miller who had arranged the program. Mrs. Miller, in introducing the two artists, stressed her pleasure in presenting them as having an unusual personal interest to the Monday Club; the reader, Elizabeth Cloud-Miller, she referred to as a visiting artist, and Mrs. Eaton as a resident artist—both personal friends.

In a finished and delightful manner
Mrs. Eaton gave two groups of piano solos opening the program with a group from Chopin. The reader then presented, in a most captivating portrayal, St. John Ervine's comedy:

"Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary," proving herself a master of style, and a keen delineator of character; depicting with great naturalness and vividness, by skill of voice and facial expression, each personality as it appears in the play. Her differentiation in character portrayal was clear and remarkable and her audience was held in delighted attention as each situation and scene moved with smoothness and grace to the end.

Graciously acknowledging sustained, spontaneous applause, the reader impressed her audience with the sincerity and charm of her own personality.

Sharing honors with the reader, and greeted by enthusiastic applause, Mrs.
Eaton then closed the program with a second group of piano solos from Schubert and McDowell, playing with sympathetic understanding, beautifully expressing each mood of the composer; and she graciously responded to an encore.

The audience expressed its pleasure in a rising vote of thanks to the two artists, and a reception followed, giving those present an opportunity to greet, in person, the honorary president and founder of the Club, Mrs.
G. G. Phipps, Mrs. G. H. McCready, president, and the two artists who had so charmingly entertained them.
Mrs. F. A. Campbell acted as usher.
Delicious refreshments were served by the Social committee, Mrs. G. W.
Barker, chairman.

Newton Federation

The Mid-Winter Meeting—American Home Day—of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs proved to be of unusual interest. The meeting was held in the Congregational Church, Newton Highlands, on Tuesday, the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands acting as hostess Club.

Mrs. Phister Cowin, president of the Newton Federation, presided at the opening of the morning session. She expressed the hope that the meeting would be one of "pure delight," and spoke in recognition of the gracious hospitality of the hostess Club. Mrs. Cowin then introduced Mrs. Horace B. Gale, director of the Twelfth District. Mrs.
Gale spoke briefly of the fact that this is Drama Week; and of the hope that all Women's Clubs would give serious consideration to the Foundation Fund, for the General Federation.

Mrs. Edwin Smith, vice-president of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club was presented, and she brought greetings and welcome from her Clubs to the assembled guests.

Mrs. Irving O. Palmer gave a most interesting sketch of the Pageant, entitled "The Spirit of Newton," which is to be an outstanding feature of Newton's Tercentenary celebration.
The pageant was written by Reverend Chester A. Drummond, of Newton, and describes the birth and growth of "Newton, The City Beautiful."

The president then presented Mrs.
Arthur H. Alger, chairman of the American Home committee as presiding officer for the remainder of the day.

The speaker introduced was Dr. David Vaughan of the Department of Social Ethics at Boston University. Dr.
Vaughan gave a brilliant and comprehensive resume of human progress, thought and action, from the time of the "cave-born" baby of primitive life of the wilderness, to "this freedom" of today as related to man—woman, and family life.

Luncheon was served to a large group of Club women, with Professor Vaughan, Mrs. Gale, and Mr. and Mrs.
M. H. Gulesian as guests.

The afternoon program opened with music, under the direction of Mrs. M.
H. Gulesian. A trio, Vanessa Milne coprano; Laura C. Thompson, second soprano; Jan Kemp Roulston, contralto; sang "A Heap of Lovin'" and "Summer Night." The music of both songs was written by Mrs. Gulesian.

A charming play was given which brought to mind the contrast of a modern, electrically-equipped home, and the simple life of an early American country home.

The play, "Nora's Dream" was written by Mrs. W. O. Hunt, Mrs. Fred Daniels, and Mrs. Leslie M. Murray.
The setting was: Prologue, Kitchenette of a Modern House; Act One, Kitchen in Butterworth House; Epilogue, Sam's Prologue, time—about 1800; and Pine, Village near Boston of today. The cast included: Nora, the maid,
Mrs. Charles S. Ensign; Grandmother
Butterworth, Mrs. J. M. Andress; Obadiah (servant of the Lord), her son, Miss Priscilla Ordway; Deborah (a bee), his wife, Mrs. William Burr; Azazel (a devil), his maiden sister; Mrs. Frances Newhall; Sophronia (a sound mind), 14 years, his daughter; Mrs. William C. Ridge; Reuben (behold, a son!) 12 years, his son, Mrs.
Charles Cunningham; and Ashur, the baby.

The afternoon closed with singing the Tercentenary "Hymn to America," the words of the hymn having been written by Clara Endicott Sears, and the music by Mrs. M. H. Gulesian.

GIRL SCOUTS

On Friday evening, February 7, and Saturday, February 8, the Girl Scouts were very proud to be sharing in the Norumbega Council Merit Badge Exposition which took place at the West Newton Armory. Our booth there was very attractive, thanks to Mr.
Lamphere of Newton Highlands who was good enough to construct it for us. Against a background of greens, the Trefoil which Mr. William J. Freethy made for us was shown to its best advantage. The exhibits themselves were most interesting; they were under the direction of Mrs. W. W.
Bigelow, and included camping, a miniature camp attracting much attention, laundry work, sewing, handicraft, community service, and health work. Some very fine maps, nature charts, and flag history charts done by Scouts were also on exhibition.

The process of making horehound candy from the herb grown at Camp
Mary Day was demonstrated. Besides the exhibits which were always well patronized, the Girl Scouts put on at intervals demonstrations of some of their work: Girls Scout cookies were made under the direction of Mrs.
George Rechei of Newtonville; Mrs.
Widger's girls, from Troop 27, Newton Centre demonstrated Hostess very attractively. Outdoor fire building, and rolling packs, as done by the girls of Troop 14 under the direction of Captain Warren, aroused much interest. Miss Adelaide Ball was in charge of the Community Service, which her girls showed by visiting a shut-in, and the fascinating Sword Dance done by the girls of Troop 15, West Newton, was coached by Miss Molly Longley.

Saturday evening The Bugle and Drum Corps, led by Miss Alice Thompson, and directed by Captain Redfield, gave a very good performance.

A Leaders' Get-Together for all officers of Metropolitan Division will be held Saturday, February 15th, at the Hotel Statler, from 11:45 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. Major Maw, a friend of Sir Robert Baden-Powell, will speak, and a very interesting program is planned. All officers should make every effort to attend.

The Girls' Conference held in Brookline last week-end was very successful; about 300 Scouts from Metropolitan Division attended, and all were vitaly interested in the talks and discussions on "World Scouting and Guiding." Miss Betty Cudworth, of Troop 21, Newton Highlands led a group discussion on Courtesy, Saturday afternoon. Newton had 25 delegates, and many other Scouts and officers were present at the open meeting, Saturday night.

One Home Hygiene Course of 15 lessons has just been brought to a close, and the following Scouts successfully passed the examination and will be recommended for the Red Cross Certificate.—Betty Bierer, Mildred Keever, Phyllis Wood, Elizabeth Miner, Margaret Howatt, Carolyn
Whitaker, Martha Burnham, Rosalind

Not Gliders; Airships Wanted. Why Shaw Eats Cake. For Gold Star Mothers. Alas, a Fallen Dove.

COLONEL LINDBERGH continues work with air gliders. Traveling without engines, they seem to fascinate the great pilot. He has tried flying gliders before daylight, to experiment with early morning winds, and recently flew fifteen miles in a plane with no engine. Reporters say he means to try for the glider long distance and endurance record.

That is all interesting and courageous, but has little to do with the important part of flying, still in its infancy. Ships that will not crash, pilots trained to think only of passengers' safety, not so much about proving that they are not "yellow," are needed. The pilot that will "go through in any kind of weather" needs to be replaced by the man who will take passengers only in perfectly safe weather. After that will come planes and flying methods to which no weather will make any difference.

The glider, interesting toy, goes with air currents, teaching, perhaps, a little about flying. But it has as little to do with great airships of the future as the Hawaiian surf board has to do with improved ocean steamships.

Lindbergh commands the attention and respect of capital and industry. What he recommends will be tried. Even the Government might wake up and cease leaving the flying future to chance, if Lindbergh urged it. His mind should be on weather defying airships for 1,000 passengers, not on a cunning little board that will swim on the air with a man sitting on it.

If you say that a man who knows nothing about flying should not presume to advise one who knows all about flying, please remember that the inventor of the sewing machine did not know how to sew.

At Lady Astor's, George Bernard Shaw gave Dwight Morrow and other American Naval Conference delegates, his views on the conference. He said the next naval battle would be a fight between America and England and "your conference is called to decide that you will fight twelve instead of fifteen miles apart, with smaller boats and smaller guns."

Delegates were surprised at the amount of chocolate cake eaten by Shaw, a large cake, all for him. That comes of a vegetable diet. Unable to get his supply of calories and protein food, condensed in meat, Shaw must absorb great quantities of substitutes. Not good for him.

Charles Evans Hughes returns to the Supreme Court as Chief Justice, at President Hoover's request. In him the people have a brilliantly able man, worthy to take Mr. Taft's place.

And from Mr. Hughes's acceptance of the position you learn that honor and opportunity to be useful are more important than financial profit.

Mr. Hughes gives up a private law practice worth more than $500,000 a year for the small salary and great opportunity of the supreme bench.

Other cities will want to know of Detroit's plan for catching criminals by radio. As soon as reported, each burglary, hold-up, etc., is broadcast. Policemen in fast automobiles, equipped with receiving apparatus, dash to the scene of the crime, and often capture the criminals fleeing with their plunder.

Congress votes more than five million dollars that "gold star" mothers may visit their sons' graves in France. Of 11,000 mothers entitled to go 6,000 have expressed a desire to go. Many cannot go, because of duties at home. Others, perhaps, dread the sorrowful shock. To those that do not go Congress should pay in cash the pro rata amount that it would cost to send them, about one thousand dollars. No other course would be fair.

Doves played at the feet of Venus, fluttered about her head. Doves coo on the roof tree of the rustic bridge. The dove appears in beautiful religious pictures and in Chaucer "She sang full loud and cleere."

"Dove" as a rhyme for "love" represents first aid to young poets. And now the gentle creature, and to say, appears as assistant to the bootlegger. Captain Benton, head of the Los Angeles Sheriff's liquor squad, found on the beach an exhausted carrier pigeon, and tied to its leg a message, obviously intended for some bootlegger: "Be ready to receive cargo at appointed place off Topanga at 2 a. m."

Dr. Levinstein, president of the Society of British Chemical Industries, warns Britain not to be caught napping in knowledge of chemical warfare. Poison gas, he says, will be the main weapon in the next war, regardless of treaties.

The British chemist warns wisely. Poison gas in the last war shared the honors with airplanes and submarines. In the next war it would make life in cities impossible and fill the streets with thousands of dead bodies, the moment hostile planes began operations overhead.

The Mather Class

Owing to a variety of other activities the Sunday morning meeting of the Mather Class last Sunday was omitted.

In the evening the Class gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gardner C. Walworth, 855 Centre street, for a Round Table discussion of "Sin." led by Prof. Kirtley F. Mather, who has returned to the Class after an absence of several weeks.

This question of "Sin" is a short word but a weighty subject.

In opening the discussion, Prof. Mather outlined the various phases of sin and its accompanying attributes which he desired to treat.

What is sin?

What is repentance?

Some sort of definition of sin is necessary in order to distinguish right from wrong. Next we want to find out how it is possible to be saved from sinful thoughts and acts. People talk of salvation from sin when what they really want is to be saved from the consequences of sin and not from sin itself. On the subject of repentance we want to know what it means, how we are to be saved, and what is the virtue of being repentant.

Through the ages there has been much change in the attitude of religious folks toward all three subjects. There are fashions and styles of sinfulness. Our ancestors regarded, as very bad, many things which we consider quite innocent.

We live in a world in which we recognize the importance of relativeity. We cannot lay our hands on any absolute standard by which we can distinguish sin from righteousness. Even if our standards are only relative, they are much better than none at all.

We claim to be followers of Jesus and therefore call ourselves Christians. We assume that the highest and finest and best standard is one modeled after Jesus. We justify our assumption by observation. We see how it works. Any thought or act which is un-Christ-like we consider sinful. Some thoughts and acts are un-Christ-like because they are unfavorable to other people. They are anti-social. They are destructive of Christ-likeness in others; and make it hard for them to live like Christ. Such acts may be economic acts, legal enough, but damaging to the Christianity of somebody else. There are other things of a more personal nature than business affairs, such as intellectual or spiritual matters which affect the souls of other people. These things are bad because they hinder the growth of a Christ-like spirit in the hearts and souls of others.

As to salvation from sin, the question arises: From what and to what are we saved? What does salvation mean? We try to do our best to save others as well as ourselves from what is not like Christ to what is like Christ. We try to subjugate ideas that are antagonistic to Jesus and nurture and cultivate other ideals and intentions which are in accord with Him.

As to repentance, that comes after an event. When the event has happened, it has happened and that is all there is to it. The consequences will go on through subsequent events by means of cause and effect. No amount of repentance will stop those consequences, but repentance is another event. It will have its effects on down through the sequence of time. It has its effect on ourselves and on others. It will not nullify the effect of sin, but it projects in another tendency which may change more or less the consequences of the original event from sin to righteousness. The essential thing is to be sorry and then do something about it. Salvation and repentance are of much more significance than ministers have of late been giving to these subjects. Perhaps they fear that people may get hold of the old idea that somehow there is a magical introduction into the world of a guiding hand.

In directing the discussion, Prof. Mather carefully refrained from referring to the laws of God and man as well as the violations of the laws of nature and of the State.

Considerable discussion arose over the question as to the one who should be the judge of what is or is not like Christ. In the last analysis we have to decide most things according to our own best ideals and highest aspirations. We have a higher standard because Jesus lived and taught us the better way. Accordingly we are justified in passing judgment on the conduct and thoughts of people before the Christian era as well as those who may have been outside of any contact with Jesus. However, that is a lot different from passing judgment on the people themselves. Their acts may not square with the present standard, but there may be extenuating circumstances to help out the people.

Then again there is some excuse for defective intelligence when the intentions are good. If a man is able to live unerringly according to the highest ideals and ideas that are available to him, he is righteous even if he does make some mistakes. A wild departure from the good life is sinful. A man should not violate what he himself believes is a high moral standard. To do so is sinful. Another thing that we may overlook is that it is possible to associate with a lack of high ideals certain acts not important in themselves.

We should have ideals and try to live up to them. Of course we ridicule some acts which people long ago thought very righteous. No doubt the people many years hence will think the same about us. We hope to discover a goal one step in advance of where we now are. We are trying for that goal and endeavoring to live up to it. We may, of course, be mistaken. What we think is sinful may turn out to be righteous, and vice versa. The individual must be considered in his time and place, with all his inherited prejudices and with the customs of his time. In considering him, we must separate him from the act itself.

Jesus was positively committed to living God's life. That was an ideal condition. Mankind must do its best to decide for itself what is right and wrong. History justifies us in trusting the judgment of fallible human beings on the subjects of good and evil and right and wrong. Man is better off than he was 5,000 years ago. There has been progress. Somewhere people have found standards. They have heard voices. They may not have found the absolute right, but things are relatively better anyway. We can have faith in humanity to discover the good life. Sin is the failure to live that life. That is why we are Christians. Christianity is good for the race. It has proved its value. We cannot always be sure what Jesus would do in every case, but we'll be better for it if we consider our problems from that point of view. There may be some excuse because of ignorance, but that will not save us from the consequences. We need knowledge, desire, good intentions, and intellect. We should learn all we can about the Christ-like society and nurture our desire to bring that society down out of the sky of our dreams to the world of reality. We want to lead righteous lives. To that end we should set up ideals and high standards that are better than codes and blue laws. We should aspire to the highest standard we can obtain.

An Investment that does not fluctuate in value— Life Insurance OWNERS of life insurance have had occasion recently to compare the stability of this form of investment with that of even the highest grade securities.

A chart of the market price averages of leading stocks for twenty years shows an irregular line that rises and dips, sometimes vertically, with "peaks and valleys".

There are no "depressions" in the investment values of life insurance policies. They do not fluctuate with business cycles. From year to year, the 44 million Metropolitan Life Insurance policies show a steady increase in values to policy-holders.

The man who regularly invests part of his earnings in life insurance can go to sleep each night with the knowledge that he is building an estate of the greatest security and with a sure investment return for every dollar paid in.

Life insurance is an investment whose value constantly increases the longer it is kept in force.

$307,000 Educational Fund From Chaffin Estate For Newton Students

Becomes Available Through Recent Death of Only Surviving Heir, Mrs. J. P. R. Sherman

The death on February 11 of Mrs. Hattie W. Sherman, widow of J. P. R. Sherman of 124 Vernon street, Newton, makes available as an educational fund for Newton girls and boys a sum estimated at $307,000. Mrs. Sherman was the only survivor of John C. Chaffin who died in 1904. Mr. Chaffin, in his will, bequeathed about $20,000 to various philanthropies in Boston and Newton. The residue of his estate he left in trust for his widow and daughter. The will provided that after the death of the widow, the daughter, Mrs. Sherman, should be the beneficiary of the income from the residue of the estate, together with her children, if any. Upon Mrs. Sherman's death, one-third of the residue of the estate was to go to her children, if any; the remaining two-thirds were to be used to create an educational fund as mentioned above. Mrs. Sherman had no children, so the entire estate is to be devoted for the educational fund referred to in Mr. Chaffin's will in the following paragraphs.

The income from this fund "shall be applied for the benefit of graduates of the Newton High School or any school of a higher grade that may be established in Newton—it being my desire that thereby young men and young women who have a thirst for knowledge and are anxious to obtain the benefits of an education at a college or at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, but are financially unable to do so may be aided in the accomplishment of their desires."

"And I would recommend that the immediate care and administration of said fund and the distribution of its income should be placed by said city in the hands of a board of five or seven trustees, who should be men who enjoy the fullest confidence of the people of Newton as having unquestioned reputations for ability and for integrity, and they should be appointed to hold office for life, unless they resign or are removed for disability or other sufficient cause."

The Chaffin estate on Vernon street is bounded on the east by Farlow Park, on the south by the property of the Eliot Church, on the west by a small park which was presented to the city several years ago by persons associated with the Eliot Church. Mr. Chaffin's hobby was the cultivation of roses and his exhibits of these beautiful blooms attracted many persons to his garden. The assessed value of this real estate is estimated at $22,600. Should the city take it over for park purposes, as has been predicted because of its location between Farlow Park and the park corner of Centre and Vernon streets, Librarian Lucht advocates that the Chaffin house be converted into a library for children.

John C. Chaffin, the donor of the fund, was born in Princeton, Massachusetts in 1823, the son of Leonard Chaffin. He died at Newton, April 12, 1904. His father and mother died when he was a child. He, together with his little sisters and brothers were brought up by their uncle, John Parker Rice of Princeton. In 1837 Mr. Chaffin entered the employ of his brother, Darwin Chaffin, who was the first man to open a haberdashery in Boston. The store was located at 80 Washington street. Upon the death of his brother in 1846, Mr. Chaffin started in business for himself at the corner of Washington and State streets. Later he purchased the building at the corner of Washington and Franklin street where he conducted his business until he retired in 1896. For some years, his brother, Edwin Chaffin, was associated with him. Among his customers were such famous personages as Daniel Webster, Edward Everett, Charles Sumner, Harrison Gray Otis, Josiah Quincy, Oliver Wendell Holmes, James Russell Lowell, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Henry W. Longfellow, Robert C. Winthrop, Rufus Choate, Joseph Jefferson, Thomas N. Hart and Richard Olney. He was a member of Eliot Church and a member of the building committee which had charge of the erection of the present church structure after the old church was destroyed by fire in 1887. With George H. Jones and others he started the Newton Free Library, "Chaffin Hall", the children's reading room being named for him. He and his brother, Edwin Chaffin, came to Newton in 1847 and bought adjoining lots which they owned until their deaths.

Older residents of Newton will remember Mr. Chaffin as a friendly little man who dispensed kindness and charity and whose unselfish spirit will be perpetuated through the medium of his educational fund and his donations to the Newton Free Library.

GRIGGS LECTURES

The Forty-Sixth Series of lectures under the Read Fund Trustees will be held in the Underwood School Auditorium, Vernon street, Newton, beginning Friday, February 28, and continuing on Friday evenings weekly thereafter until and including March 28.

For the fifth consecutive season the entire course of five lectures will be given by Dr. E. Howard Griggs. The subject of this year's course is "Present Problems of American Life." The dates and titles of the lectures in this series are as follows:

February 28. A Survey and Diagnosis of the Present Age.
March 7. The Good and Evil in the Present Economic Order.
March 14. Literature and American Culture.
March 21. Present Problems of Our International Relations.
March 28. A Philosophy of Life for the Present Age.

The aim of the course is to survey current American civilization in its economic, political, cultural and spiritual aspects, characterizing its faults and estimating its promise, that we may help to eliminate the one and foster the other.

This course was given by Dr. Griggs in Tremont Temple last year with notable success.

Dr. Griggs requires no introduction to Newton audiences. His versatility as a scholar of history, literature and philosophy has given him a rare quality of idealism and sympathetic insight. Contemporary problems are illuminated by him against a background of the finest thought of mankind.

NO RELIEF FROM NOISE OF GUNS

A bill introduced before the Legislature seeking to prohibit the nuisance caused by the present vogue of "sketch" clubs was reported on adversely by the Committee on Public Safety last week. The bill was fostered by residents of Auburndale who have been disturbed by the shooting at the Waltham Gun Club range located on the boundary of Newton and Waltham. Persons residing over a half mile distant from the range state that the incessant shooting on Saturday afternoons and at other times, is nerve wracking. Last year the head of this club was fined in the Newton court, took an appeal and was found not guilty of maintaining a nuisance by a jury in the Superior Court at Cambridge. The only redress that Auburndale residents have against the shooting racket now is—to again make complaint to the Newton police that the activities of the Gun Club constitute a nuisance.

CITY EMPLOYEE BREAKS LEG

Joseph DiCesaro of 274 Langley road, Newton Centre, while driving a horse plow of the Newton Street Department on Beacon street, near Acacia road, Chestnut Hill, on Sunday morning, was hit by an automobile driven by Webb Sherman of Oakvale road, Waban. DiCesaro received a fractured leg and was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance.

Camp F. A. Day Plans For Coming Season

Enrollment More Active Than In Previous Years

The Newton Y. M. C. A. for the fifteenth year gives to the parents of the Newtons and vicinity, a camp of high ideals, fine traditions and a program of activities where the boys are busy from the time they get up in the morning until they retire at night. Great care is taken that the boys do not get overtired and that the program is well balanced with activities which are body building and character developing.

The Camp Committee realizes that gone are the days when a summer camp is just an outdoor parking place for boys, where they are placed so they will get away from the hot city for a long vacation.

Today the camp is an institution which specializes in the growth and the development of boys into manhood. At Camp Frank A. Day a boy is not just one of a large number but he is an individual. He has his different ways of looking on life and his growth is largely due to his environments. These are all studied by men who have had training in this line.

A large number of men from seven different colleges and five high and preparatory schools have applied for positions as counselors. At the last meeting of the Camp Committee, special committees were appointed, one in particular to go over very carefully the qualifications of these men and select the best men for the positions offered at camp. The committee is composed of Dr. H. E. Giddings, Frank J. Perry, and Camp Director Clyde G. Hess.

Enrollment has also been more active than before. The applications are referred to another special committee composed of Mr. G. Clement Colburn and Mr. Frank A. Day. The following have enrolled for the 1930 season:

Everett A. Mullen, John E. Upham Jr., Henry Blood, John C. Wells, Melvin Lane, Alan C. Smith, Roy L. Hill, Richard O. Johnson, Robert M. Stevenson, Warren D. Knapp, Norman McCutcheon, Thomas McCutcheon, Robert H. Clapp, Richard C. Clapp, Kenneth McCutcheon, John L. Lehearts, Burleigh Fernald, Winslow Collins, Robert H. Brown, Harold E. CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE

Attention is called to the announcement in another column of a Lecture by Frank Bell, C.S.B., on the subject of Christian Science. The purpose of these lectures is to make perfectly clear the actual teachings of Christian Science, and thus lessening misconceptions regarding it. It will be given on two successive evenings.

CARL SANDBURG

Will give a lecture on Abraham Lincoln, Saturday evening, March 1st, at 8 o'clock at the Angier School in Waban. His life of Lincoln was the outstanding biography of 1926. This will be the only appearance of the famous poet and author in Greater Boston this season and therefore offers an unusual opportunity to hear one of America's leading men of letters. Proceeds will go to the Waban Library Fund.

Tickets are $1.00 and may be obtained from Mrs. Frederick G. March, 584 Chestnut street, Waban. Telephone Cen. New. 1736-W.

Open Competition For Pageant Cast

Trials For Tercentenary Affair Are To Be Held Next Week

Open competition for places in the cast of Newton's Tercentenary pageant, "Newton—The City Beautiful," which is planned to be the outstanding event of this city's celebration of the 300th anniversary of its founding, will begin next week. Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., of Newton Centre, chairman of the cast committee announced that trials will be held in the High School auditorium at 7:30 o'clock in the evening on Monday, Feb. 24, and Friday, Feb. 28.

The Pageant-Drama, which is the work of Chester Arthur Drummond, will take place on the first three evenings in June, the 2nd, 3rd, and 4th, on the Newton Centre playground, which will be specially prepared to stage the great event. Anyone desirous of having a part in the spectacle is invited by Mrs. Spear to attend the trials of next week. There are hundreds of group parts, many individual parts and boys and girls, men and women of nearly every age can be used.

Persons possessing period costumes are particularly urged by Mrs. Spear and the members of her committee to bring them to the high school on Monday or Friday of next week. Costumes of Revolutionary days and those of Civil War time as well as Indian garb are wanted. Efforts will be made during the trials to select some man with a good baritone voice, who will be capable of enacting the role of Chief Waban, and a woman of contralto voice to play the part of "Indian Mother."

AUTOMOBILE BURNED

Patrolman Brosnahan discovered a fire at 1:39 Tuesday morning in a car at the garage of Jeremiah Donovan, 779 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre. He pulled Box 716 and the crew from Engine 3 extinguished the flames before the garage caught fire. The automobile was wrecked. A short circuit is supposed to have started the blaze.

POLICE NEWS

In the Newton court yesterday Earl Gainsley of Natick and Robert Adams of Waltham each was fined $5 for driving with improper lights. William Martin of Roxbury and John Hall of Dover also drew $5 fines for like offenses. Vito DiMila of Cambridge was fined $10 for speeding.

Albert Brown of 56 Dalby street, Nonantum was arrested Wednesday night charged with having made an illegal sale of liquor. After the arrest Brown's house was raided by a squad of police and 14 pints of alleged alcohol in pint bottles seized as well as some liquor in glass jugs. Brown was in court yesterday and his case continued for a week.

N. F. Pratt Is Wd. 6 Alderman Again

Elected to Vacancy—Routine Business Conducted

Norman F. Pratt of 223 Grant avenue, Newton Centre, is again a member of the Board of Aldermen from Ward 6. Mr. Pratt declined to be a candidate for re-election last December after having served seven years. Following the death of Alderman Walter E. C. Worth, because of the fact that citizens of Ward 6 desired an experienced representative at City Hall, Mr. Pratt was prevailed upon to serve again.

His name was presented to the Board Monday night by Alderman Holden of Ward 6 who lauded the ability of Mr. Pratt and expressed the appreciation of his constituents in Ward 6 for the sacrifice made by Mr. Pratt in consenting to serve again. Alderman Jamieson of Ward 7 seconded the nomination. No other name was presented and the Board unanimously elected Mr. Pratt who then took the oath of office.

Hearings were announced on the petitions of the Edison Company for pole locations on Waltham street at Kensington avenue and on Thornton street near the Lincoln school. James Walton of Waltham street opposed another pole being placed near his property as one is there already. The pole on Thornton street is to provide for one of the five electric lights to be installed on that street.

Frank Wilcox of Wilcox & McLean asked for a permit to conduct a gasoline filling station at 58 Crafts street, Newtonville, 2000 gallons of gasoline to be stored and four pumps to be erected. Mr. Wilcox explained that the back part of the property is used for lumber storage and it is proposed to use the front part of the lot for the gasoline station. The petition was opposed by Charles Robertson of 64 Crafts street and James Maguire of 10 Maguire court who object because of fire hazard and danger to children.

Hearings were announced on laying out and improving the following streets: Arlington, Cambria, Dana and Falmouth roads, Ward 3; Clarendon street, Ward 2; Converse avenue and Lewis street, Ward 1.

Russell Parks, advocated the improving of Falmouth road and told of the impassable condition of this street. There is a real estate value of $200,000 on this street. William McGrath objected to any betterment assessment being levied on his property on Converse avenue as he claims to have paid money for such improvement to the real estate promoter from whom he bought his land there.

On the recommendation of the License Committee the Board granted second-class taxi permits to Albert McDowell, 12 Centre avenue; Edward Burke, 1643 Centre street; permit for 280 gallons gasoline tank and pump for private use to Hovey Clayton, 1429 (Continued on Page 6)

Mayor Cuts Quarter Of Million Dollars Off 1930 Budget Figures

Recommends Total of $4,454,432.28—Nearly $240,000 Less Than 1929 Appropriations

Mayor Weeks' budget recommendations for the ensuing year were submitted to the Board of Aldermen on Monday night. The budget total as recommended by the Mayor is $4,454,432.28 or $253,028 less than the amounts asked for by department heads. Last year the budget totals, as appropriated by the Board of Aldermen were $4,692,729.98, and of this sum $4,409,970.60 were expended.

The Mayor grants no salary increases to department heads and increases to clerks are for the most part small amounts to the lower paid employees. In his own, the Executive Department, the Mayor ignores the $2000 increase voted last year by the Board of Aldermen in the Mayor's salary. He stated at that time he would not accept this increase if elected Mayor and he has kept his word. He recommends that the salary of the Mayor's secretary be increased from $1600 to $2000.

In the Accounting Department the recommendations made by Comptroller White are practically accepted in toto by the Mayor: the only changes are cuts of $100 in the amount asked for clerical assistance and $200 in office expenses.

In the Treasury Department the Mayor refused to approve of a salary increase of $1000 asked for by the Treasurer and also increases in salaries asked for some of the clerks in this department. The latter item was cut from $12,050 to $11,150.

In the estimates of the Assessing Department the Mayor lopped off $300 asked for increases in clerks' salaries and $300 from office expenses. In the City Clerk's Department the principal cuts effected by the Mayor from the Department recommendations are — Workmen's Compensation, $1000; Election Expenses, $1000; Soldiers' Relief, $2000.

The Mayor refuses a $300 salary increase asked for by City Messenger Lucien Davis and cuts the incidentals appropriation for the City Messenger Department from $700 to $500. In the Engineering Department the Mayor cuts the amount asked for by about $3000. The lesser sum is obtained by refusing a number of increases asked in salaries to the assistants, $400 in office expense and $200 in supplies.

In the Public Buildings Department Mayor Weeks slashed $18,000 off the recommendations. An additional inspector employed full time last year will be employed but four months this year. Power house expenses are cut $700; about $500 is lopped off the amount asked for new automobiles; $5000 is taken from the sum asked for maintenance of school buildings and $6000 from the amount asked for maintenance of other city buildings. The Mayor does not approve of an aerial map of the city and refused $2500 asked for such a purpose.

In the Police Department the Mayor refuses to recommend several additional patrolmen asked for by Chief Burke, refuses appreciable salary increases asked for two clerks, cuts $300 off office expense, reduces the cost of maintenance of automobiles $700 and lops $400 off the sum asked for incidentals.

In the Fire Department the Mayor refuses a $400 increase asked for by Chief Randlett, granted a $50 increase to Assistant Chief Boothbay, disapproved a request for five additional firemen and cut $1300 off the amount asked for maintenance of lines and equipment.

A $200 salary increase asked for by the Sealer of Weights and Measures is refused by the Mayor, as is a $900 salary increase asked for by Chairman Curtis of the Board of Health. The Agent of the Health Department is recommended for a $200 salary increase by the Mayor and the Inspector an increase of $100. The Mayor chopped $2000 from the $15,000 asked for prevention and care of disease and $1250 from the sum asked for protection of child life.

In the Public Welfare Department the Mayor made cuts of $1000 in the amounts asked for City Infirmary expense, poor out of City Infirmary and Mothers' Aid. In the Library Department a salary increase of $500 asked for by the Librarian was refused. The recommendations made by the School Department were practically unchanged by the Mayor. The only appreciable cut was one of $1350 in the item "other expenses."

In the Playground Department the largest cuts made by Mayor Weeks were $1400 asked for new equipment, $3500 from the construction expense, and $4000 from the amount asked for maintenance of elementary school grounds.

In the Street Department items reduced by the Mayor included $10,000 for maintenance of streets, $12,000 for traffic beacons and signs, $7500 for maintenance of sidewalks, $7000 for removal of snow. Street Commissioner Stuart asked for $70,908 for new equipment; the Mayor reduced this amount to $34,111. The largest item in the Street Department budget is $250,000 for resurfacing of streets. It is proposed to spend most of this sum resurfacing a couple of the principal highways in the city. The street most in need of repair is Washington (Continued on page 12)

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

HALL'S FINAL LAP WINS FOR NEWTON

At the B. A. A. schoolboy games last Saturday the competition in the individual events was much too fast for the ordinary schoolboy athlete and Coach Donald Enoch of the Newton outfit withheld two of his best runners from the 300 and 600-yard events in order to save them for the relay race with Brookline. This race was one of the highlights of the afternoon. Coach Tom Hines of Brookline ran his fastest man, Charles Gow, son of Postmaster Gow, on the first leg of a four-man mile relay. Quinlan was the Newton hope. The Brookline lad, being one of the best 600-yard runners in schoolboy circles this season, had little difficulty in turning over to the next Brookline runner, Charles French, a substantial lead over Quinlan, who is a better dash man than a quarter-mile. When French took the baton from Gow he had nearly thirty yards lead over Albert Cuzz, the only Newton runner. Gutz tried his best but failed to cut down the margin materially. Alfred Mouser of Newton ran the third leg against Chester Litman of Brookline and there was little to choose between the pair. Consequently when Litman handed his baton to Lindsay Brigham, a good high jumper, Roger Cuzz of Country Day School and William Floring, Newton Centre youth and captain of the Huntington School team. Greene won the second trial heat and Floring the third with Holmes placing second to Satchell, Brighton flash, in the fourth heat and Irwin placing second to Askenas, the Newark Prep School star, in the fifth heat. Floring was the only one of this quartet to survive the quarter-final heats. He took second to Joe Dineen of Lawrence in the second semi-final heat. Failure to properly warm up cost Holmes his chance in the quarter-finals while the competition was too fast for the other local entries. In the final heat Floring failed to place.

In the hurdles Floring was expected to be one of the prominent contenders while Newton high jumper, James Holmes, was pinned to the back of the pack. Holmes, a member of the Newton team, was unaccustomed to the high barriers as in most schoolboy meets only the low hurdles are used. The Huntington captain won the second trial heat over Green of Newton and Hall won the fifth heat over Law of Lawrence. In the final semi-final heat Floring led Green to the tape again and in the second heat Hall was shut out. The number of entries necessitated a heat for second men which was won by Barrett of Worcester Academy and keeping Green out of the final. Barrett won the final with Floring placing second. Floring might well have placed first or second had he confined his efforts to the hurdles but four heats in the dash had taken their toll.

Mouser was entered in the 300-yard run but was withdrawn by Coach Enoch. Hall was entered in the 600-yard run but gave way to William Young in order to save himself for the relay. Had Holmes placed well in the dash and Green won points in the hurdles the Newton mentor might have allowed both Mouser and Hall to run their favorite events with hopes of winning the meet. Vincent Signore was the Newton entry in the 1000-yard run and was expected to place. He took the lead early in the race but the pace was too fast and on the final laps did not have enough left to shake off three Prep school athletes, Russell of La Salle Academy, Kingsbury of Moses Brown, and Beasley of Huntington, all of them older and stronger runners.

The high jump was a free-for-all scramble with ten men clearing five feet seven inches, among them Milton Green. Eight of these failed to clear the next height and the contest for first place was between Healey of Worcester Academy and Ross of Brookton. Healey won at 5 feet 9 in. with Ross taking second and the other eight athletes splitting the odd point.

In addition to the interest in the Newton-Brookline relay race there were several other relays in which local athletes participated. In the New-ark-Huntington race which was won by Newark in a record time of 3m. 35 1/5s. Gilbert Adams, Newton high runner in 1929, ran the third leg for Huntington. In the two-lap relays between Tabor Academy, Country Day school and Browne & Nichols Donald MacIntyre, who played football and ran the dash at Newton high a few years ago, was the Tabor lead-off man. He turned over a comfortable lead to his other opponents and Tabor had little difficulty in winning. The Country Day order was Martin Brown, Jean La Bouchere, J. Edward Downes and Roger Greene.

McCruden Wins 600
There were four N. E. A. A. U. championship events staged during the school boy races, the dash, 600-yard run, 1000-yard run, and two-mile run. Jimmie McCruden, 1928 Newton high captain and star 1000-yard runner who is now running for Northeastern University where he is a sophomore, was entered in the 600. He won the first heat in 1m. 20 2/5 seconds,

OUR LADY FIVE LOSES FIRST GAME

The basketball team of Our Lady High School dropped its first game of the season Wednesday in a Catholic High School league game with Cathedral high at the latter's court in the South End. The 22 to 20 victory was one of the surprises of the season and as Mission High of Roxbury which defeated St. Clement's high of Medford on Tuesday is now in a first place tie with Our Lady with three more games to go it is anybody's race. In another league game Immaculate Conception of Revere kept on the heels of the two leaders by defeating St. Mary's high of Brookline at Brookline, 18 to 14.

Gallagher, Our Lady right forward, and high scorer of the team, was the high scorer in the game with Cathedral with nine points. O'Neill at forward scored six and Lansard at left forward five for the other Our Lady points. Fortunately for Cathedral with seven points, followed by Morrin with six.

Next Wednesday Our Lady plays Immaculate Conception High and will have to get back on the victory path to hold its first place tie as Mission High entertains St. Mary's which has yet to win a league game. St. Clement's and Cathedral oppose each other in the third league game that afternoon.

The league standing to date is:

	W.	L.	P.C.
OUR LADY (Newton)	6	1	.857
Mission (Roxbury)	6	1	.857
Conception (Revere)	5	2	.714
Cathedral (Roxbury)	3	4	.428
St. Clement's (Medford)	1	6	.143
St. Mary's (Brookline)	0	7	.000

SPORT NOTES

Lincoln and Osborne Place
Hamilton Lincoln and Lloyd Osborne scored points for the Yale swimming team Wednesday night in its 45 to 17 victory over Columbia. Lincoln, a former Country Day school athlete, took second in the 50-yard swim and Osborne, well-known locally, was third in the 440-yard event.

To Play At Bermuda
Virginia Rice, former Newton Centre girl, sailed for Bermuda yesterday where she will take part in a tennis tournament.

slowing down at the finish. One of the qualifiers in the other trial heat was Dana Smith, ex-Brookline star, with whom McCruden has had many exciting races in the past few years and another one loomed. McCruden drew the last position in the front row, next to the boxes and on the first corner was back in the ruck. Running a pretty race he passed several of his opponents but starting the bell lap was still in fourth place. The three leaders, Higgins of B. A. A. Smith, and another of the Boston Y. M. C. A. were closely bunched and McCruden had to run on the outside of the track. He showed a burst of speed that carried him past the trio on the back stretch and final corner to win the championship in the excellent time of 1m. 18 2/5 seconds. Anderson took second and Smith third.

Augustus Signore started in the two-mile run as each school was limited to one runner in the schoolboy 1000. Not having had much long distance work he found the going difficult and dropped out at the mile.

Local Athletes in Later Events
There were many local athletes in the various events during the B. A. A. games in the evening at the same track. The one-mile walk, carrying with the N. E. A. A. U. championship developed into a battle between A. W. Bell and E. G. Wilson, both well-known local residents who represent the B.A.A. Bell won with about ten yards to spare over Wilson who had a similar margin over Laurino of Dorchester, the third place winner.

Tom Clausen ran the first leg for the B. A. A. team in its race with the New York A. C. and turned over a few yards to his second man who increased the lead to twenty yards and clinched the race for the Unicorn. In the college freshman relay nine teams were entered but the withdrawal of the Harvard yearlings sent eight to the pole. Hamilton Kollmyer was to have run the third leg. He is a former Newton and Exeter star and at present one of the outstanding runners on the Crimson cub team. Arriving in the morning, former Newton high athlete now at Boston University, ran the second leg for the Terrier first-year men.

Bill, "Crummy" Cronin, former Newton high and all-scholastic catcher, leaves for Florida tomorrow with the advance guard of the Boston Braves baseball squad. It will be Cronin's third trip south with the team and he hopes to win a berth on the squad. In 1928 he played with the Providence Club of the Eastern league, the Braves farm, and last year was with the Baltimore Orioles where he became a popular player.

CONTENDER IN ANDOVER MEET

The Newton high school track team will be one of the foremost contenders at the Andover Academy interscholastic meet tomorrow at Andover, Medford High, by virtue of its unexpected triumph in the Northeastern meet, is favored to win but with Brockton, Malden and Newton fighting for a share of the points the outcome will be by no means certain. The breaks of the day will probably decide the winner. Newton hopes for a better share of breaks than they received at the Northeastern meet when poor positions were drawn in some of the events.

Newton has drawn the pole in the fourth heat of the 300-yard run in which heat winners and the two fastest second men will qualify for the final. Mouser, Newton's foremost 300-yard runner, should figure in the point division. In the dash Newton has Holmes, the hurdles Green and Hall, in the 600 Canby Hall, in the 1000 Vincent and Gus Signore, in the high jump Green, and in the broad jump Green, Offutt, Whitney and Mariner as potential point scorers. A total of eighteen points should win the meet and Newton can score this number with a share of the breaks. In the relay Newton will meet Medford in the tenth race of the afternoon and it should be one of the best. Medford and Brockton have turned in some fast times this season and if Newton can stay out in front in the race with Medford the quartet will come close to making the fastest time of the day. Next week Saturday, March 1st, Newton will enter the annual state meet at the East Armory with its strongest team.

SPORT NOTES

Albemarle Elects
The annual meeting of the Albemarle Golf Club was held last Saturday night. H. H. Hanson, W. S. Trowbridge, O. A. Wyman and F. N. Young were elected to the board of directors. William S. Osborne was re-elected treasurer and Kenneth P. Kempton was re-elected secretary. After the business meeting Bill Hanna talked on handicaps. A membership drive is to be started.

Harvard Blanks Dartmouth

The Harvard varsity hockey team shut out the Dartmouth sextet 4 to 0 last Saturday night at the Garden rink in the return game between the two. Frank Stubbs, Jr., scored the opening goal of the game in the first period about twelve minutes after the opening whistle.

Squash Raquets

In the Massachusetts Squash Raquets Association team series matches last Saturday the final round in Class A was played. Newton Centre ended in fourth place with a record of 17 won and 18 lost for .486. In Class C the Harvard Club blanked the Newton Centre team in all five matches while Country Day took the four matches that were played against the Newton Club. In Class D the M. I. T. outfit took the three matches that were played with Country Day on the engineers' courts while Union Boat was taking four out of five from the Newton Y and Lincoln's Inn was shutting out Newton Centre, 5 to 0.

Rice Wins Title

Bill Rice of Newton Centre won the individual state squash raquets championship Wednesday by defeating Bill Howe of the Union Boat Club in the final round match of the tourney which has been in progress the past several weeks. The match went four games with Rice winning out, 15-9, 15-6, 6-15, 17-15. Although there was some excellent playing at times both made many errors and did not live up to their usual standard. Rice took the lead at the start and his superior back and forehand drives to the corner told the story. With Rice taking the first two games it looked dark for Howe but he flashed a spurt that won the third game. The fourth was the closest of the match with Howe taking the lead and Rice finally evening it up at 7 all. Rice took the next point and then the lead sea-sawed from one to the other. Reaching 14-11 Rice gathered in the necessary three points, while Howe could sandwich in but one, to win at 17-15.

Seek National Honors

The Boston team of squash raquets players left yesterday for Chicago to participate in the national team and individual championships beginning today and continuing through Sunday. Rice, through his win of the state title, will represent Boston in the individual matches and Ralph Stuart, another member of the Newton Centre Tennis Club, will play in the third position on the Boston team.

Hill Elected Treasurer

Donald M. Hill of Waban was elected treasurer of the United States Lawn Tennis Association last Saturday at the annual meeting of that organization in New York.

Vale Beats Princeton

Despite the efforts of Captain Warren Adams and his Princeton mates the Yale hockey team pinned a 4 to 2 victory on the Tiger six at New Haven last Saturday. Adams, who is a Newton lad, plays right defence. Princeton held the score down to 2-1 until the final minutes of the game when Yale's stars, Palmer and Luce got into action.

Off For Baseball Camp

Bill, "Crummy" Cronin, former Newton high and all-scholastic catcher, leaves for Florida tomorrow with the advance guard of the Boston Braves baseball squad. It will be Cronin's third trip south with the team and he hopes to win a berth on the squad. In 1928 he played with the Providence Club of the Eastern league, the Braves farm, and last year was with the Baltimore Orioles where he became a popular player.

CRIMSON CUB SIX BLANKS NEWTON

The Harvard freshman hockey team shut out the Newton high six at the Garden rink Wednesday, 3 to 0, in one game of a double-header. The other teams were the Harvard 2nds and the New Hampshire varsity which was won by the Crimson, 5 to 2.

In the Newton game the Harvard Cubs were led by Captain Bob Saltonstall who was playing his first game in several weeks. The Crimson leader broke an ankle in one of the early season games which kept him out of competition until this week. Although Newton put up a good battle and showed excellent team play the Harvard defence was too clever for the Newton offence and the Harvard goal was seldom threatened.

The Boston English high school hockey team defeated Newton high, 1 to 0, Monday afternoon at Bulloah's Pond rink. Newton was the aggressor all the way but could not get the puck past Woods, the English goalie. The visitors only had one shot at the Newton net but made good on it. In the first period the English centre and right wing came down the ice to the Newton defence. The wing worked around and caged the rubber on a slow rolling shot.

Floring Stars Again
Captain Bill Floring of the Huntington school track team was the star of the Huntington dual meet victory over Worcester Academy on Wednesday at the Boston Y track, 44 to 24. Floring won the dash and low hurdles to keep his record for the season clear in the latter event, and placed third in the high jump with a leap of five feet seven inches.

Williams to Play B. U.

The Williams college hockey team, captained by Franklin Hoyt of West Newton, meets the Boston University team tomorrow night at the arena. Holmes Whitmore, a former star Newton high athlete, is playing a spare wing on the Terrier team. Williams has a strong team despite its defeats from Amherst and Princeton.

Andres Cages Three

Dartmouth defeated Brown in a return game between the two hockey teams at Hanover, Wednesday, 6 to 0, with Harold Andres tallying three times unassisted. He also passed to Henry Johnson, another local youth on the squad for another goal.

Newton League Bowling

In the Newton league bowling matches on Wednesday night Hunnewell took four points from Waban at Waban, Newton took three out of four from Commercial on the Newton alleys, University took three from Middlesex at the University Club and Weston kept out in front with three points out of four from Mangus on the Weston alleys. Greene with 341 and Dexter with 336 played a big part in turning back Waban and Colby with 122 and Greene with 124 on the final string clinched the final two points. Jones and Bloomfield of Waban with 123 and 120, respectively, on their third strings kept Waban in the fight for a point to the end. The Newton Club dropped the first string by 31 pins but came back strong in the next two to take both and the total pinfall, Smith with 135 and Haskell with 121 were largely responsible.

Gilligan Honored

Tommy Gilligan of Newtonville won the Wingate Trophy given annually for the best all-around baseball player at Harvard it was announced last night at the baseball banquet held at the Harvard Varsity Club. Gilligan played in the outfield and caught a few games last year. Eddie McGrath of Brookline won the Wendell bat for having the highest average. Both are juniors this year and are expected to add a good punch to the 1930 nine. The awarding of these honors to the two players who won them as sophomores is unusual as the awards are generally made to players who were juniors or seniors.

Dartmouth Wins

The Dartmouth hockey team nosed out the Brown six Monday night at Providence, 3 to 2 in an overtime game with Captain Booma of the Green scoring all three of his team's goals. Two of these were on passes from Hal Andres, one of the several local youths on the Hanover squad.

On Simmons Team

Edith Stevens of Newtonville is a member of the junior class basketball team at Simmons college.

Jumping For Cornell

Edward Ebelhare, former Newton high athlete, is a high jumper on the Cornell University track team which meets Harvard and Dartmouth next Monday night at the Garden. The Ithacans have several sophomores, among them Ebelhare, upon whom they pin their hopes of victory. Hamilton Kollmyer, Newtonville youth, is expected to show well for Harvard in the freshman events.

Ebelhare, whose home address is now Bloomington, Ill., was state schoolboy champion while at Newton high.

Several of the old marks are expected to go Monday night. The pole vault in which Sutermeister, the first Harvard athlete to vault 13 feet, is the probable winner, the 300-yard run in which Tommy Mason, winner for Harvard last year, is running better than ever, the broad jump in which Donner of Dartmouth may efface Ned Gourdin's 23 foot mark and the relay in which Harvard has beaten the time it made last year consistently this season are the events in which new marks may be established.

Watertown Girls Win

The Watertown high school girls won their fourth straight basketball victory yesterday afternoon, defeating Newton high at Newton, 52 to 5. Miss O'Neill was the visitors' star, scoring 32 points. Miss Barrows of Newton scored four of the locals' points with Miss Fletcher adding the other on a free try. Watertown also won the two preliminary games, the Middlers taking the game 37 to 15 and the juniors, 18 to 12.

Country Day Wins

Country Day defeated the Browne & Nichols school hockey team on the Brae Burn Club rink Monday afternoon, 3 to 1. All of the goals came in the final period with Bottomley, D. Gleason and Muther scoring for the Newton private school team.

Off Day For Kollmyer

The annual inter-dormitory track meet of the Harvard freshmen was held Tuesday afternoon with Smith Hall winning. Standish second, McKilloch third and Gore fourth. Hamilton Kollmyer scored eight of Smith's thirty-four points but had an off day at that. He had to be content with third in the dash, second in the 300-yard run and a tie for first in the 45-yard hurdles.

Played For Vermont

Phil Perry, who has played goal for the University of Vermont hockey team for the past few years received a severe banging up in the game with St. Lawrence a few weeks ago. He was forced to quit with both ankles sprained and a finger broken after one of the most rugged games in Vermont history.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. Bentley

Let us be thankful that patriotism still lives. If you want a demonstration that will thrill you, go to the State House at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning and take part in the Governor's annual public reception. As one who has witnessed not a few I am prepared to say they still inspire me with pride for my native State and country.

Of course, if you have other plans for the day I suppose it isn't much use to urge, but I am sure that you won't regret making it a part of your holiday. I have never met anybody who has. Not only do you meet the Governor and his wife but the beautiful building is open for your inspection.

The reception itself always gets me. I am not ashamed to say that my eyes fill every year at the sight of fast-fading ranks of Grand Army men. Their sons and daughters, too, who never fail to turn out, make me want to applaud their spirit. The veterans of the Spanish and World Wars send a glow of admiration through every fibre.

No less appealing are the young and old, the rich and poor who make up the procession of the general public in our magnificent Hall of Flags. To them it is a great day, and to me as well. I'm glad I'm not so hard-boiled that I can't look at that picture each year without something tugging at the heart strings.

There is a ritual to every trade, even the barber's. He goes through the same motions as his white-coated colleague at the next chair and, although no two barbers ever cut your hair alike, they all do it nearly the same way. First, fusing around with clippers and sprinkling your neck and nostrils with malodorous talc, then scissors and razor and the never-failing tonic, which, while it may not grow anything, at least proves that you have fifteen cents more than the price of the haircut.

But these things are mere incidents; preliminary maneuvers to the barber's grand coup, which comes at the very end, when he walks over to the wall and unhooks the most terrible, image-distorting mirror that ever brought a man seven years bad luck. He holds it behind your head so you can see just how far dandruff has progressed in its battle with the Facist.

It occurs to me that I never have seen anyone do other than nod a vigorous affirmative when asked by the barber if the job is satisfactory and I think that even Mussolini will admit that there have been some terrible haircuts. Why the customer agrees so readily, I do not know. It may be, as charged, that we are truly a nation of "yes-men" but among those I have seen give immediate and unquestioning acquiescence have been doughty Germans, exacting Swedes and thrice-thrifty Scots. So it can't be a matter of nationality.

Other theories include fear of what the barber might do with so many loose razors hanging around or that people are generally too polite or too embarrassed to so quickly pass judgment on what might look pleasing a short time after. My own judgment in the matter is that the average man who has his hair cut by anyone except his wife is really just as lacking in spunk as the one who is afraid to let anyone else cut it. He goes to the barber shop sometimes as a mere gesture of domestic defiance but, if the barber does a poor, or even an atrocious job on his thatch, he dares do nothing but applaud by that ridiculous nodding of his head.

As for the nodding itself, I have it on the best of authority that most barbers will stand for nothing else and my own experience bears this out. On two separate occasions, just for experiment's sake, I failed to nod when my barber held up the mirror to the side of my scalp. The first time I just said, "That's great," even though it was a very ordinary cut, and the second time I said, "Very sir. Perfectly satisfactory. Very good indeed," but both times the barber remained impassive and did not take away the mirror until I began rocking back and forth in the chair till my chin hit my wishbone.

I think most of the customers would feel freer to express themselves on this subject if the barbers used safety razors instead of the antique "cut-throat-slasher" type. Every time I go into a shop, I think of two things that destroy whatever resolution I may have felt beforehand to tell the barber just what I thought of his work. One is a crazy rhyme that goes:

Silly Billy the barber,
Went to shave his father,
The razor slipped and cut his lip,
Silly Billy the barber.

The other thing is a group, sculptured in wax, a la Madame Tussaud, which I once saw in the Eden Musee at Coney Island, depicting the way in which one barber got even with his customer—perhaps for not nodding his head vigorously enough. And it may be that there is more to be said in favor of the barber's method than at first appears, for, as I remember it, when the latter finished with him, the customer no longer had any head to nod.

I don't know who manufactures the water meters installed by the city in our homes but whoever the company may be they are entitled to a testimonial written on city stationery. Certainly they are worth every penny the city has expended for them. Judging from the size of water bills received by friends of mine, as well as myself, these devices must have paid for themselves many times over. "Good to the last drop" should be the motto of the makers. I think it might be "good to the last atom" or whatever the smallest standard of water measurement may be. Nothing escapes.

Each time I receive a statement of the amount of water used I am convinced that there must have been a flood in my home and all without the knowledge of the occupants. In the past I have registered a protest and have been most courteously informed that an inspection would be made. Never has that inspection revealed anything wrong about the meter. The water must have passed through it in order to have the figures as indicated on the dials. "The mill will never grind with the water that has passed" is still true but one doesn't need to run a mill in order to get a good fat water bill.

If I should tell you the name of the man who has presented this column with a mystery he would like to have solved you would agree with me that he himself probably answers, as well as asks, more perplexing questions in the course of a day that I ever dreamed of doing. In fact he implies that he is something of a Sherlock Holmes, for in submitting his query, he writes, "What do you make of this, Watson?"

It is a clipping from a Boston newspaper and contains the heading of an article. Just four words—"New Conductor Does 'Carmen'." I wish I could explain just how the new conductor operated but I cannot for the life of me see how any carmen or "Carmen" could be "done" by a conductor. If it had stated that "New Conductor Does Company" that would be more easily explained, or had it set forth that "New Conductor Does Passengers" I might be able to offer some suggestions tending to clear up the situation. Possibly the conductor referred to was operating a one-man car. If my friend will send further details I shall gladly visit him in his study, enjoy a pipe with him and listen to his deductions.

Not all are interested in politics. To those who are this may seem an unusual statement. Nevertheless, it is true. I can prove it and very easily. Furthermore, I think I can show that it doesn't pay to become absorbed in a subject and at the same time assume that everybody else must be as deeply concerned over the matter as you are.

The other night it was my good fortune to be a member of a group that found itself in a chatty frame of mind at the conclusion of a well-cooked and exquisitely served dinner. The man with politics on the brain launched into his favorite theme. He had barely started when one of the young women observed, "O, he's talking politics!" Plainly the idea was out of place.

"Yes, he's quite a student of politics," remarked the man at her side, who seemed equally bored by the speaker.

"Pardon me," broke in another woman in the party, "you don't mean to say that we're going to have another election this year?"

"Indeed we are," replied the man who was leading the conversation,

"and it is most important. Don't you folks read the newspapers?"
"I read the newspapers," another of the men replied, "but this political situation is so mixed up I haven't time to figure it out. My business is all I can attend to."

"Who's running for Governor—Mr. Fuller?" a debutante inquired.
"No, indeed, Mr. Allen is Governor. Mr. Fuller used to be," several informed her.

"Isn't that interesting," the pretty girl observed in a tone which showed that she didn't mean what she said. Meanwhile the politician was giving names of candidates and possible candidates and telling of their good and bad qualities and the prospects of this party's success and that party's failure.
But he didn't get a comeback. Finally another young woman asked, "Why do we have to worry about these things now? Nothing can happen until next Fall, can it?"

"No, elections always take place in the Fall—somewhere around November," a gallant youth vouchsafed.
"Thank goodness we don't have to vote for Governor more than once in four years," another fair one sighed, showing her lack of knowledge.

I could see that the politician was getting upset. He was not making a hit with this stuff. Gradually, he eased-off and became silent. I think he had learned—and I know I had—that you cannot trot out your hobby horse any old time and find your friends eager to see it gallop as you are.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Community Night, An Event Planned by the Auburndale Woman's Club

and Lasell Seminary, jointly, for the entertaining of their many friends, is the outstanding meeting of the week, not only in the Club world, but in the community. Each year these two splendid organizations of Auburndale, and, in fact, of the city, plan an evening of enjoyment and value, and this year the program offered holds even more than usual appeal. Arthur C. Pillsbury, photographer-botanist, has been secured to give his wonderful moving pictures of the development of plant life, under the truly indicative title "The Wonderland of Plants and Flowers." He is the originator of a camera with which he is able to portray the lives of flowers, which like people, have their struggles, tragedies, happiness, success, and beauties. Guests of these two hostess organizations are sure to be attracted by the very unusualness of the lecture provided.

Of appeal, too, and a most wise selection, is the place of meeting, which gives ample space for the many who desire to accept this open invitation; is centrally located; and at the same time utilizes a building which in itself will be of interest to visitors who have not seen it—the Levi Warren Junior High School, at West Newton. Wednesday evening, February 26th, at 8 o'clock, is the date of Community Night, to which the Auburndale Woman's Club and Lasell Seminary cordially invite their friends, and all who wish to attend. Mrs. Charles C. Willson, president of the Club, will open the meeting, welcoming the audience, after which she will turn the meeting over to Dr. Guy Winslow, principal of Lasell.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

Sunday, the 23rd, is the opening gala day for an event looked forward to by residents of Newton Centre—the Art Exhibit of works of business men.

Mrs. William C. Noetzel, chairman of the Art Committee of the Woman's Club, announces that she has secured further talent for the musicale to be given in connection with the opening of the week's Art Exhibition and Tea on Sunday, February 23rd. Mr. Chalmers Murray, a versatile artist, will play old Scotch airs, and will be accompanied by Miss Mary Clarke on the harp. Mr. Murray spent the earlier years of his career with Andrew Carnegie, for whom he played old Scotch ballads for his diversion. Mrs. Olive Bird, Soloist, will sing a group of Spring songs and Mrs. Montague

Ford will render selections on the piano. This exhibit is by business men of greater Boston, interested in Art as a hobby. It is open to the public on Sunday, February 23rd from 3 until 7 and throughout the following week from 2 until 5.

On February 28th, Friday, at 2.30 p. m., the Newton Centre Woman's Club will hold its monthly meeting. Following this, the remainder of the afternoon will be in the hands of the Public Health committee, of which Mrs. George Willard Smith is chairman. This committee has chosen for its speaker Dr. M. Luise Diez, director in the Division of Child Hygiene, State Department of Public Health of Massachusetts. Dr. Diez is a graduate of the Women's Medical College, of Philadelphia, Penn. She practiced medicine in Philadelphia for sixteen years; was Assistant in Surgery, Medicine and Obstetrics in the West Philadelphia Hospital for five years. She was also Assistant Physician at the Philadelphia General Hospital and Obstetrician in the New York State Health Department for four years. She will speak first on "Health of the Children," and following this, upon "Health Hazards of Middle Age." This meeting is, of course, open to all Club members, and guest tickets may be purchased at the door. Tea will be served.

Monday Club

On Monday, February 24th, the Monday Club of Newton Highlands will meet at the home of Mrs. George M. Hayden, 44 Harrison street. The program will be papers on two American writers: "Walt Whitman," by Mrs. C. T. Bartlett, and "Henry Van Dyke," by Mrs. Edwin E. S. Birtwell.

C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands

Miss F. Mabelle Hurd, of 1574 Centre street, opens her home for the meeting of the C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands on the afternoon of the 24th, when the program will be presentation and discussion of Stephen V. Benet's book "John Brown's Body," by three Club members: Mrs. C. P. Clark, Mrs. Andrew B. Wright, and Mrs. Isaac Goddard.

Community Service Club of West Newton

Members of the Community Service Club are looking forward to the second lecture by Professor Sophie Hart, of Wellesley College, on Monday, the 24th, in the Unitarian Parish House, at 2.30 o'clock. Prof. Hart has a most attractive method of presenting a topic; her keenness of perception and her sense of humor add immeasurably to the information she imparts. She is given ample opportunity for these gifts in a discussion of new books, in a literature course. The books she is scheduled to discuss next Monday are: "Good Companions," by J. B. Priestly; "Borgia," by Zona Gale; "The Loves," by Naomi Royde-Smythe; and "All Our Yesterdays," by Tomlinson.

Others than Club members who would enjoy these reviews will be glad to learn that the series of lectures is open to them, upon purchase of tickets at the door.

Mrs. Claude U. Gilman gives the next of her always interesting Current Events lectures on the 28th, at 10.30 a. m., in the same Parish House.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

Presidents' Day of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will be celebrated on Friday, February 28th, at the Unitarian Parish House.

Guests of honor will be Mrs. Azel A. Packard, president of the State Federation; Mrs. Phister Cowin, president of the Newton Federation; Mrs. Horace B. Gale, Twelfth District director; and presidents from a few of the Clubs that are more than fifty years of age. Rev. John Nichol Mark will give his address on "The Touchstone of Success." Ruth Austen, violinist; Eileen Doherty, pianist; and Naomi Hewitt, cellist, of the Naomi Hewitt Concert Trio, will entertain. Tea and a social hour, will follow.

The Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will meet with Mrs. Justin D. Starkie at her home, 125 Woodward street, Newton Highlands, on Monday, February 24th. Mrs. Gilbert R. Jones will read a paper on "Constantinople," and Mrs. Ernest P. Robinson a paper on "The Mythical Age of Greece and Its Heroes."

Newtonville Woman's Club

The Legislative committee has arranged a visit to the State House and to sessions of the Legislature, for Newtonville Woman's Club members, for Tuesday, February 25th. Those wishing to do so, may go in a special bus leaving the Congregational Church promptly at 1 o'clock, or they may join the party in the Hall of Flags, at the State House, at 1.45. Those who desire to go are requested to telephone to Mrs. H. P. Patey, N. N. 5493W before Saturday, February 22nd.

The next meeting of the Newtonville Garden Club will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Walter Allen, 488 Watertown street, on Thursday, February 27th at 10 a. m. "Landscape Gardening" will be the subject of discussion.

Social Science Club

Wednesday, February 26th, at 10.30 o'clock the Social Science Club will enjoy a morning of music at the home of Mrs. Freelan O. Stanley, of 363 Waverley avenue.

Mrs. Henry I. Harriman, president of the Club, will assist Mrs. Stanley in receiving the members and their guests.

State Federation

RADIO. Mrs. Lewis R. Hovey, Tenth District director, will broadcast from WNAC next Wednesday morning, February 26th, at 11.30 o'clock: "Milestones and Clubwomen." A twenty-minute musicale has been arranged for 11.40, by Amy Young Burns, chairman of Music, and Mrs. A. Julian Rohan, of the Chromatic Club. They will present as guest artists Mae Taylor, Soprano, State winner of this year's Atwater Kent contest, who is from Sydney, N. S., and who is studying at the New England Conservatory of Music. Mildred Abbott, Pianist, from Hartsville, S. C., and formerly of Coker college, will be on the air at 11.50 with piano selections.

STYLE CONFERENCE. Wednesday, March 5th, should be a red letter day for all Club women interested in beautiful things. "Making Style Worth While" is the title of a Conference to be held during Art Week in Boston at the Copley Plaza Hotel, Wednesday morning, March 5th, arranged by Mrs. Elsie K. Chamberlain, Art chairman.

The morning session will open at 10.30 a. m., and last until 12.30 p. m., after which will follow the Luncheon session, which will be over at 2 p. m.

There will be an afternoon session directly following the luncheon which will be over at 4 p. m.

The subjects to be discussed are: "Style and Fashion in Furniture"; "Are Pictures in Fashion"; "The Fashion Trend in Silk Design"; "The Decorative Possibilities of Cotton"; and last, but by no means least in interest to women, "What Has the New Mode in Dress to Offer You". The names of the speakers will be announced later.

Tickets may be secured from Mrs. Chester Aldrich, 207 Newbury street. Luncheon reservations must be made by March 2nd. Check for $1.75 should accompany order for luncheon ticket.

Newton Community Club

At the regular meeting of the Newton Community Club, on Thursday afternoon February 27th, at 2.30 o'clock, in Underwood School Hall, Mr. Vesper George will give an illustrated lecture on "Appreciation of Art." Mr. George, who is director of the Vesper George

Y. M. C. A.

Ten men from the Calumet Club of Winchester bowled the same number from the Newton Y. M. C. A. last Saturday evening. The Calumet Club's first and second teams were the victors in this contest. Newton hopes to do better in a return match.

Under the auspices of The Newton Y. M. C. A. a group of young men from the High School orchestra put on a concert at the Detention Station at East Boston last Sunday afternoon. Those who played in this group were: Dean Handy, Walter Abbott, Jack McEneaney, Blake Wright, and Charles Lindsey. Mr. George Young of Newton Centre and Mr. William Lawrence of Newton very kindly loaned their autos for the occasion. There were 41 immigrants present and by the applause given they surely enjoyed the music.

Mr. R. E. Munroe of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company gave an illustrated talk on the work of the linemen of the Company at the Fellowship Club last Monday evening.

The Round Table Club which is composed of former students of the Public Speaking Classes in the Y. M. C. A., met at the Hotel Somerset Monday evening, February 17th. Each member took part in the after dinner speaking choosing some prominent American as a topic for their talk. Those present were: Dr. George N. Abbott, John S. Chant, Roy S. Edwards, J. Ernest Gibson, A. C. Zinck, Dr. Horace L. Howe, Dr. Alfred E. King, R. M. Patterson, O. W. Caseley, Edward M. Rowe, instructor, Max Swigert, Guest Speaker, and W. S. Bruton, Educational Director. Prominent Americans chosen as subjects were: Roosevelt, Taft, Bok, Norman Thomas, Baden Powell, Booker T. Washington, L. T. Butler, Coolidge, Cleveland, Houdini, Weeks, and House. Max Swigert, the Guest Speaker, gave a very interesting address on Manchuria.

Boys' Division

Friday evening will mark the start of a program which will continue through the week which is school vacation. At six P. M. the members of the Boys' Division will sit down to a banquet which is to start the program and incidentally fire the opening gun of State Boys' Day. At this supper, the Junior Clubs will decorate their tables as a prize is awarded for this event each month.

Saturday, Feb. 22nd, marks the first Treasure Hunt of this season. Two prizes are offered for this contest and it is promised to be the most unique hunt ever held here. If the snow stays, the group will go on a sliding party on Monday the 24th. This will be followed by a trip through the Weston Biscuit Company on Tuesday. On Wednesday the 26th the boys are to go on a hike, returning in time for a swim before going home. Thursday is set aside for the second educational trip and Friday is reserved for a skating party.

Physical Department

The Physical Directors' Society of the Y. M. C. A. of Massachusetts and Rhode Island held its regular monthly meeting this month at the Newton Y. M. C. A. on Thursday. Mr. M. F. Furey, Physical Director of the Springfield Y. M. C. A., and President of the Society presided. The opening devotional period was led by Mr. H. W. Bascom, General Secretary of the local Y. A talk was given by Dr. O. J. Roeder, Chief of the Out Patient Department of the Boston Psychopathic Hospital and Instructor in Psychiatry at Harvard Medical School on "Conduct Problems of the Average Young Man." Dr. R. D. Leonard of Boston gave an illustrated talk on "The X-Ray." Following the luncheon, Rev. R. A. Eusden of the Eliot Church gave an address, and then there was a business meeting at which committees on different activities made reports.

Athletics

The Newton Y. M. C. A. Senior Swimming Team defeated the Cambridge Y. M. C. A. team 34 to 28 in a dual meet Monday night in the Newton "Y" pool. Arthur Kohler of the winners was the individual star, with two firsts, besides swimming anchor man on the relay team.

160 yard relay race—Won by Newton—Kimball, Hazen, Davidson, and Kohler. Time—1 min. 29 3/5 sec.

40 Yard Free Style—Won by Kohler (N) second Kimball (N) third Cohen (C). Time 22 2/5 sec.

40 Yard Breast Stroke—Won by MacKillop (C) second Bobrich (C) third Davidson (N). Time—26 sec.

40 Yard Back Stroke—Won by Davidson (N) second Lynch (C) third Cohen (C) Time 27 4/5 sec.

100 Yard Free Style—Won by Kohler (N) second McKenzie (C) third McKinley (C). Time 1 min. 7 4/5 sec.

200 Yard Free Style—Won by Hamilton (C) second Gallagher (N) third Welch (N). Time—2 min. 43 2/5 sec.

Diving—Won by Polporak (C) second McGrath (N) third Elms (C).

Next Monday evening Newton "Y" meets Boston "Y" in the Newton "Y" pool.

The volleyball team of the Newton Y. M. C. A. playing a match in the Y. M. C. A. Suburban Volley Ball League defeated Everett Y. M. C. A. Saturday afternoon at Newton "Y" three to one. The game scores were 15-8, 15-11, 14-16, and 15-6. For Newton the line up was C. W. Benedict (captain), J. B. Rockwell, and R. M. Patterson forwards, and W. F. Baker, Jr., R. M. Keeney, and C. B. Floyd, backs.

This Saturday evening the Newton Y. M. C. A. Senior Basketball Team which has won six games so far this season and lost four, will play the Watertown A. A. team. The Junior team will also play but its opponent has not yet been announced. Newton Seniors will be represented by Captain Joe Purcell, Don Marschner, and Watson Slabough, forwards, Arthur Kohler, center, and Walter Arnold, Ed Gray, and A. D. Marshall, guards.

Two of the members of The Newton Y. M. C. A. wrestling team won places in the open meet which was held Saturday night at Lynn Y. M. C. A. In the 147 lb. class Joe Arsenal won the feature bout of the evening by defeating Joe Streadwick of the Boston Union in an overtime period. In the 126 lb. class Sarkis Bazarian won second place, losing to Neponan of Quincy, runner-up last year in that class in the Nationals. It was felt that this bout should have been awarded to Bazarian as it was awarded to his opponent through a misinterpretation of rules. Saturday night Newton "Y" meets Providence "Y" in a dual meet at Providence.

"CAT O' NINE TAILS"

Members of the Newton Catholic Club Players have been rehearsing "Cat o' Nine Tails," a three act mystery-comedy play for the past two months in preparation for the pre-Lenten presentations at the Club Hall, Washington street, West Newton, on the nights of March 3 and 4.

The 1930 production of the Players has fair to even better the success given last fall when the farce "Tumble Inn," met with such approval at the Catholic Club. Several members of that cast, with four other players form one of the best groups ever to perform in club theatricals.

J. Neale McDonald, Boston College graduate, prominent as a coach of amateur productions, is coaching the players again this year. Mr. McDonald is also working on shows in Beverly and Auburndale at the present time. The manager of "Cat o' Nine Tails," is Harry R. Walsh.

A new set of scenery has been made and set up at the club to insure further success for the show that every member is determined to make the "show of shows" at the West Newton institution. Jack Tischer is supervising technician and property manager, with Carleton McVarish, in charge of the elaborate lighting effects.

The clever cast is comprised of Miss Gladys M. Sullivan, of West Newton; Miss Marie M. McGrath, of West Newton; William J. Robblee, Jr., Joseph J. Ryan, Kenneth E. Prior, Richard T. Leahy, Jr., Lawrence P. Brophy, Harry R. Walsh, all club members.

The committee working on the 1930 offering at the Catholic Club consists of George P. Brophy, Kenneth E. Prior, Henry T. Fusi, and Harry R. Walsh, the last-named being the chairman. Joseph A. Edwards is financial secretary, and the Rev. William T. A. O'Brien, spiritual director of the club, is treasurer.

Final Lecture In Series On "Religion"

Dr. Dieffenbach's Addresses Were Well Attended

"A state without God is not a new thing in the world," said Dr. Albert C. Dieffenbach last Tuesday night in Newton Center, in his lecture on "The Coming Religion—What Will It Be?" "Most religions announce today is but a repetition in history of the religious issue in other political experiments, the most notable of which was the foundation of our own government.

"If one thing is clear in the work of Jefferson, Franklin, Adams, and their colleagues, it is this," said Dr. Dieffenbach: "They would not have in their nascent State the concepts of God that prevailed in the Mother Country and its established church nor those other rigid, Calvinistic ideas that were dominant among the orthodox in the colonies. They were called atheists, as all men are who depart an inch from the ideas held by the populace. But soon the wisdom of their philosophy prevailed in council, and America became, because it threw overboard the older God beliefs, a democracy.

"If it had permitted the churches' theories of ultimate reality to influence the principles of the Constitution of the United States, we should never have had a republic, but a continuance of monarchy instead, as Alexander Hamilton knew so well.

"The fact is, in Russia the Soviet is not renouncing religion, even though it mistakenly says it is doing just that. What it extirpates is the last vestige, if it may, of the Church whose doctrines and practices were in large part so abominable in their effect upon the masses of Russian people. Religion so interpreted and practiced was 'an opiate of the people.' The idea of God as an overruling, arbitrary, wilful, and interfering Person before whom and his Czar men must prostrate themselves in fear as miserable sinners and abject subjects, the Soviet leaders and our own Fathers found a vicious, cursed doctrine; for they knew that if worshippers got in that supine state of mind before their God they could not be upstanding freemen fit to work out their destiny in their new State.

"Someone has said that theology is politics transcendentized. Most of current belief in God as it is preached and taught in our churches is monarchic in its effect; and that is why we are constantly warring in our democracy between freedom and authority. We are divided.

"The demand is always for such a belief in God as will suit the needs of men. Today institutions are increasingly democratic. A religion must prove itself by the way it serves the people. By its fruits we shall know whether it is good or not. We decide! The coming religion, which some people call humanism, but I do not, will make man the master of values. The profound difference between the religion we are casting off and the religion with which we are adorning the 'hidden man of the heart' is that the former is monarchic and imposed from above without our consent; the latter is our own free choice and proceeds from our religious experience and our spiritual necessities. The process goes on slowly, but it goes on.

"Yesterday we heard Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, an orthodox Christian, say so boldly it startles us, that one may be genuinely religious without believing in God in the accepted sense; and today, in Harper's Magazine, a layman, Elmer Davis, goes another step and declares that God as today conceived by the leading minds is the author of 'an immense and ordered creation working out its destiny under the Law', but he asks, 'where is the God who pitieth his children?'

"In other words, we have both sides of the amazing condition today, first, that we may have religion without God, and that secondly, that the best scientific minds can tell us, from Spinoza to Einstein to our own Shapley, we may have God without religion. It is a great moment in the history of religion in which we live.

"I see the day dawning, and let us be prepared for it, when we must find a place for faith in that which we can know beyond all the chances of the world and the changes of thought. If we find that the best of us are still, vain at last, about a universe of which we can never know the height and depth, but rather in the facts that we do know and can avail ourselves of for social advancement, as we see them in the hallowed travel and upward march of man through aeons.

"Our first task in making a satisfactory and serviceable religion for ourselves is to realize that everyone of us is still held in bondage by the superstitions of our training. All these generations are ingrained in our lives so that the best of us are credulous creatures still believing what the Church through the ages says is God's own word. It may be, and again it may be nothing of the sort. Whether it be God or not, it is man's own thought and expression of what he believes God is like. Not a creed, not a scripture, not a so-called law but man made them everyone. He may have done a perfect work in a given case, but who knows, and who is to judge? What man made, man also judges. Today is a day of judgment.

"When we get to this place of self-determination in religion, we are prepared to go on with our doctrines and remake our religion. It may be we shall rebuild from the foundation. Every stone that enters into the new house of our faith we examine, rejecting this one and accepting that one. We are the builders.

"If I should make one distinction between false and true religion it would be this: In the former, we asked, 'Whence?' and we never have got an answer that satisfied. In the latter we ask, 'Whither?' and while we do not pretend to have a better than experimental method on working out our lives, we do assume the obligation with a spiritual thrill, and the

By Edw. H. Powers

The thousands of employees of the City of Chicago who have not received any pay for some weeks may be able now to realize to some degree the plight of men and women in the textile centres in New England who have been out of employment and without any income for many months.

With many thousands out of work in Greater Boston and their families in distress, the teachers in the Boston elementary schools are picking a rather peculiar time to evince such a militant attitude in their demand for $2500 minimum salaries.

Hundreds of residents and property owners of this city have been invading City Hall with fire in their eyes to protest against the water bills received recently. A large percentage of these bills showed appreciable increases over the bills for the preceding years. In October 1928 the Board of Aldermen voted to increase the water rates. The minimum charge was raised from $9 to $10. The price for water was increased from 20 cents per 100 cubic feet to 25 cents. These increases went into effect January 1, 1929. They account largely for the increased figures in the water bills. According to the Water Commissioner, the long drought of last summer caused much more water to be used in watering lawns.

The warm weather yesterday gave indications of what may be expected May, June and July on Washington and other streets in the city. The hundreds of patches on Washington street where hot tar has been used the past several weeks in repair work commenced to ooze. Until some binding material with a higher melting point is substituted for the tar which is used on Newton's streets, residents of this city will continue to be put to the annoyance and expense of having their cars, clothes and rugs smeared with the sticky material.

NEW BOSTON OFFICE

It will be of interest to Newton people to learn that G. Clement Colburn, well-known local insurance agent and broker, has associated his Boston office with that of Jordan, Read & Co., at 145 Milk street. Mr. Colburn spent several years in manufacturing lines and starting as a special agent of the Royal Indemnity in 1912 developed casualty business among the power plants of New England for seven years. He resigned from field work to engage in brokerage activities and in 1923 established the agency at Newton which has been developed along progressive lines.

In 1926 Dwight Colburn, a son, was admitted to partnership following valuable experience in schedule work for the New England Insurance Exchange and in 1927 Robert S. Newell, who had made a creditable record in fire lines, became a partner. The companies represented in the Colburn agency are the Maryland Casualty, Fireman's Fund and, for auto and theft, the Occidental.

Mr. Colburn has built up a successful service office here and the arrangement by which he makes his Boston office with Jordan, Read & Co., promises to be advantageous for all concerned. The Colburn agency, unlike many others, confines its entire business to insurance with a resultant personal attention to all claims and to the increased advantage of the insured.

CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

Tomorrow, Saturday, the Children's Museum of Boston will be open all day, as is its custom on holidays, and the program includes a motion picture, "The Making of Our Flag," to be shown at 3:00. Museum games may be played all day.

"Wild Birds Now Wear Bracelets" is the subject of the motion picture to be shown on Sunday at 3:30. Admission is free. The film deals with bird banding and the work of a bird laboratory in Ohio. Bird banding has solved many mysteries and shattered not a few myths concerning bird life.

Mrs. Robert W. Sayles of Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, has presented the Reading Room of the Museum with five new books, ranging in interest from the geology of Boston through the ages to poems by Tagore. The new Museum games include one on the Latin American collection, a miniature case game, a game on native birds and their nests and on the winter birds of Massachusetts, a game on bananas, and a book game based on the geology book presented by Mrs. Sayles. These may be played at any time during the day for points toward Museum League membership.

A unique body of Museum children whose knowledge of the Museum and its exhibits is sufficient to permit them to act as unofficial guides and otherwise to assume certain responsibilities for the welfare of the institution.

An interesting new exhibit which will be completed this week is to be called a "Winter Bouquet," and is to be a collection of all the things one can find outdoors in the winter time.

very effort, with its trial and error, its gain and loss, gives us a high religious quality because we make the adventure. The old religion looked back, our religion looks forward. We march on to the city of the God of our Perfection!

"And the beauty of the coming religion is that it calls no names, like atheist, because we recognize that men have a right to their own distinctive views. We understand, thanks to psychology, that one type of man may see spiritual values in a personal idea, which he calls God; another sees the same values in impersonal principles and social institutions. But if both see them, and act upon them, that is the important thing, because we all agree that religion must stand the test of the Scripture, and its followers meet what is also a scientific requirement.—By their fruits shall ye know them."

SCHOOL NOTES

LEVI F. WARREN JR. HIGH

On Monday morning the pupils of Warren were greeted with the surprise of a short assembly conducted by visitors from Kaney Creek Community Center, Kentucky. There were about twelve boys and girls "crusaders" with two leaders, Miss Buchanan and Mr. Hall. One boy acted as chairman and introduced all the boys and girls as they gave their talks. They told of their life in the mountains and the hardships of a group of people seeking an education under great difficulties.

These boys and girls represent mountaineers of four states, Kentucky, West Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee.

They told of four hindrances which they must overcome to become a more civilized group of people. They are "physical, mental, spiritual and social barriers."

The ambitions of these boys and girls are to have a college education, become a lawyer, doctor or teacher perhaps and go back to be leaders of the mountaineers.

Athletics

On February 14 the Girls' Varsity Basketball team played the Girls of the F. A. Day Junior High. The following are the scores of the first team. F. A. Day defeated Warren by a score of 32 to 8. The score of the Second Team was F. A. Day 22, Warren 16.

On Monday February 17 the girls' varsity was more successful beating the High School Freshmen with a score of 34-14.

Thrift

The Warren Junior High School had 92.2% last week in thrift. There were twenty 100% home rooms. Those not having 100% were 117, 201, and 205. $163.61 was banked. 722 pupils were present, and 716 of them banked.

The Automatic Butler

The annual school play a rollicking comedy in three-acts was given on Thursday and Friday. The cast included—William Cusumano, Benjamin Brown, Helen Shepard, John Emerson, Betty Biser, Pearl Daniels, Katharine Whalen, Hugh Latimer, Roswell Davis, Philip Murphy, Mary Jane Hunter and Virginia Woodruff.

The play is the story of a dictator woman who entertains her one time sweetheart now a millionaire, and a crook, who poses as a friend and his "moll" who has robbed the jewelry store where the woman's husband works. A detective, after capturing the wrong person, finally, with the aid of Jenny, captures the two crooks. Mr. Bailey, who poses as the automatic butler finally straightens the difficulty with his friend Connie, which he got into by taking another girl to a cabaret.

The proceeds of the play are to go into the school fund which is used for extra equipment and to meet special needs.

LASELL SEMINARY

Harriet Cole of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, was elected Queen of the Carnival at the White Mountains last week-end.

The annual Winter Carnival will begin with winter sports on the Athletic Field at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. A costume dinner at 6 o'clock will follow, and a masked dancing party will be given at 7:45 at Bragdon Hall. The crowning of the Carnival Queen will take place early in the evening.

Cumberland Mountain Crusaders from Caney Creek Community Center, Kentucky, will speak at 3 o'clock in the Lasell chapel at Bragdon Hall, Sunday afternoon.

On Wednesday evening, February 26, at 8 o'clock, Arthur C. Pillsbury will lecture on "The Wonderland of Plants and Flowers." This lecture will be given at the Levi Warren Junior High School under the auspices of Lasell Seminary and the Auburndale Woman's Club.

GOODYEAR AWAY AHEAD

The tremendous strides made in improving GOODYEAR Tires and the appreciation of automobile owners in recognizing the superiority of GOODYEAR balloon tires is shown by the fact that last year GOODYEAR sales equalled the combined sales of the three leading competitors. For the lowest prices on GOODYEAR BALLOON TIRES go to the Evans Tire Company, 52 Mount Auburn street, Watertown, near the postoffice.

Letters To The Editor

MISUSE OF OUR FLAG

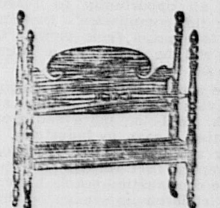

Dear Sir:
I wonder if anyone besides myself has noticed the position of the flag on the building at the corner of Commonwealth avenue and Walnut street. It is nailed to the building upside down. Why do people stopping there continue to ignore it? I have seen it many mornings as I go by on the bus. It seems to me that the policemen who frequent that store should do something. Isn't it their duty to see that no dishonor is done to the flag of the United States?
Yours truly,
MISS IRENE EVANS.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

One of the most important hearings of the year was that held Tuesday by the Committee on Education which had before it the report of the special commission on educational matters. For years there have been before the General Court bills providing for increasing the compulsory school attendance age. Last year the matter was referred to a special commission and that commission made a survey and reported. The committee on Education's hearing this week gave an opportunity to those who favor the commission's recommendation to express their views. Opponents will be heard at a later date to be set by the committee.

The special commission emphasizes the value of continuation schools which are being more and more appreciated, it says, by industries. These latter are beginning to realize, says the report, that through the medium of the continuation schools better qualified children are engaged by employers. The commission believes that the compulsory attendance age should be advanced from 14 to 15 years with authority for the school superintendents to transfer pupils to specialized schools and to allow superintendents to certify to industry children of 14 years in case of "economic necessity." Prominent educators are not sure that the "economic necessity" clause is proper and they feel that there should be an amendment in this regard. The Legislature will hear more of the subject this session and may arrive at a decision.

Senator Arthur W. Hollis got into the Senate debate over the resolve for an investigation by the Attorney General of the pensioning of Oliver B. Garrett as a member of the Boston police force. Senator Hollis said he originally voted against the resolve and had changed his position only for the reason that such an investigation by the Attorney General should have the force of legislative authority. Without such the Attorney General could not summons witness and put them under oath.

Passage seems assured of the bill to authorize police officers to arrest without a warrant persons charged with driving under the influence of liquor. It has had opposition in both branches and in previous years has been rejected. This year there has been a stronger influence for such a bill. Proponents have pointed out that it is not a liquor but a safety measure and one that is needed. In this connection there is another bill that seems likely to become law and which would give a person charged with driving while under the influence of liquor the right to summons immediately a physician to examine him and certify as to his condition.

The Joint Ways and Means Committee seems to be in accord with Governor Allen as to the details of the general appropriation bill, popularly called the State budget. There is likely to be some opposition on the part of those who would like to see certain sums made larger but the spirit of economy apparently has carried the day. Incidentally and without suggestion of politics, it may be noted that Governor Allen has made a splendid showing in reducing the amount of the State tax while still providing for the outstanding necessities. The general appropriation bill will come up for consideration in the House next Monday.

The Governor is closely watching the unemployment situation and has directed the various State departments who can employ extra labor to do so at once in completing State projects. The departments are making every effort to take on workers in various branches at an early date.

Secretary John D. Wright of the Governor's office says that an unusually large number of patriotic, fraternal and other organizations have signified their intention to attend the Governor's reception tomorrow and that with favorable weather there should be a large attendance.

On the roll call Messrs. Baker, Luitwieler and Thompson voted against memorializing Congress to amend the naturalization law so that fees for naturalizing immigrants might be reduced. Opposition was based on the propriety of the Massachusetts Legislature presuming to suggest that Congress act thus and so on any subject. The memorial was adopted, however.

The three Newton Representatives, on roll call, were recorded against increasing the salaries of elevator men in the State House.

ANTI-BUMMING RIDE CAMPAIGN FACTS

Drivers:

Bummers, whom you pick up, have no recommendation for good character. More than one motorist can relate how he missed some article in his car after a youthful hitch-hiker had departed.

Why not discourage the unnecessary nuisance of bummers, by always refusing rides to street beggars?

THANK YOU!

REBEKAH ASSEMBLY OFFICERS VISIT HIGHLAND REBEKAHS

On Wednesday night Highland Rebekah Lodge, No. 32, entertained the officers of the Mass. Rebekah Assembly in Odd Fellows Hall, Newton Highlands. A collation was enjoyed at 6:30 p. m. following which a reception was given to the officers. The president, Edith M. Spooner, was unable to be present on account of illness and was represented by the vice-president, Jennie Richardson.

While the guests were in the receiving line the following members of the Lodge presented bouquets to the officers with welcoming messages: Frances Alger, Noble Grand, presented to Vice-President Jennie Richardson; Frances Blakemore to Warden Harriet Reeves; Vice-Grand Elinor McCullough to the District Deputy President, Alice Gardiner to Dorothy Dolloff Marshall of the Rebekah Assembly and Annie Blakemore to the Deputy Marshal.

At the close of a short meeting the following entertainment was enjoyed by the members and guests.

Fancy dancing by a group of children, solos by Miss Annie Blakemore, P. N. G. readings by Martha Silveria, and a reading by Miss Luella Ryall of a one act play.

The following members closed the program with an amusing comedy called "The Bargain Counter," Ethel St. Bonfield, Elsie Harris, changing District Zoning Boundaries, land at 250-282-284 Melrose street, Ward 4, from General Residence to Business District.

Mrs. Harriet Reeves, warden of the Rebekah Assembly, and a member of the Lodge, was presented a handsome silk coat by the officers of the Rebekah Assembly in appreciation of her loyalty to the assembly.

Commonwealth avenue. Leave to which was granted to Arthur McHugh who petitioned for two first-class taxi licenses at 1355 Washington street and to Charles Mitchell for a common victualler's license at 2101 Commonwealth avenue.

Hearings were assigned at the March 3rd meeting of the Board on these petitions:—Benjamin Sands for a gasoline filling station at Walnut and Floral streets, Newton Highlands; Newton Cemetery Corporation for a gasoline filling station permit at Beacon and Walnut streets; Newton Turner, permit to add another story to his building at 320-322 Washington street.

The Aldermen confirmed the appointments of Lewis Bacon and Charles R. Cabot as members of the Board of Appeal; Albert F. Carter, Charles F. Johnson, Ralph C. Henry and Thomas J. Lyons as members of the Planning Board.

The following appropriations were passed:—land damages for three parcels of land on Cedar road taken for school house purposes, $1200; Fire Department, signal system, $50,000; Joseph Crowell, additional land damages at new City Hall site, $219.62; Joseph Lane, Walnut street, additional land damages $3500; Thomas Cummings, Walnut street, additional land damages, $2800; Tercentenary Celebration, $5000 in lieu of a similar amount appropriated last year and returned to Excess and Deficiency Account.

The rules were suspended to permit the confirmation of the appointments of Harry W. Fitts and Charles W. Coyne as trustees of the Read Fund and Eliot Memorial Fund.

The Board voted to accept the report of the Legislative Committee approving of Senate Bill 68 introduced by President Moriarty of the City Employees Local. This bill seeks to have the minimum amount paid under the contributory pension system of Newton increased from $300 to $500 per annum to anyone reaching the age of 60 and who has worked 15 years for the city. The opposition to this increase is based on the fact that none of the employees of the Street or Water Departments who were in the employ of the city prior to last year will be affected, the contributory system provides more liberal pay for pensions to city employees than heretofore had been provided and to make such an increase would saddle more expense on the city than had been provided for when the contributory pension system was formulated.

The Licenses Committee reported favorably on the petition of the Newton & Watertown Realty Trust for a filling station permit at the corner of Washington and Chestnut streets, West Newton. Alderman Temperley was the only dissenter from the report. He read a list of the gasoline station permits granted in this city in recent years—54 drive-in stations, 26 garage stations, besides 21 sidewalk pumps and two wholesale stations. While he does not oppose this additional new station, he objected to the fact that three driveways are allowed into it. Heretofore but two driveways have been allowed into stations. Chairman Hawkins of the Licenses Committee explained that different locations require different approaches and this location with frontage on both Washington and Chestnut streets should have approaches from both streets.

Aldermen Bowen of Ward 3 favored the granting of the permit. It is preferable to have an attractive filling station on this corner in place of the existing building with its unsightly empty stores. Mr. Bowen called attention to the fact that there is little pedestrian traffic along Washington street at this point.

NEWTON COUPLE MARRIED 50 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Soules of 72 Charlesbank road, Newton, received many congratulations and visits from friends on February 17th, the 50th anniversary of their wedding. Mr. Soules, a native of Dibley, Nova Scotia, and Mrs. Soules, who was Marjorie Fayer of Newton, were married February 17th, 1880, by Rev. Thomas B. Sampson of the Newton Baptist Church. They have two daughters, Mrs. Maude McCullough of New York and Mrs. Bella Carter of Allston, and a granddaughter, Miss Irma Peterson of Allston. Mr. Soules has been Chaplain of Newton Lodge of Elks since its organization. He is a carpenter by occupation.

Jr., and Howard H. Pierce.

Cuckoo's Prophecy

In some parts of Germany and northern Europe one of the popular beliefs among the peasantry is that when you first hear the cuckoo in the morning the bird will, if asked in a respectful manner, immediately repeat its note just as many times as you have years to live.

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

Mr. H. L. Hardy, superintendent of the Abundant Congregational Church School, was the leader at the Assembly period of the Newtonville School of Religious Education last Tuesday using as his theme "Christian Patriotism." During the illness of Mr. Maurice R. Hodder of Newtonville, Miss Eva J. Viles of the Newton Methodist Church is acting as registrar of this school. The Assembly Period at Waltham was led by Miss Lulona Barker, who gave an interesting relation of the familiar picture, "Christ among the Doctors," by Hofman.

Dr. Theodore G. Soares, of Chicago, whose name is nationally known in religious education circles, has been secured as speaker for the District Council Convention, which will be on Tuesday, March 25th. His subject will be "Sunday School Teaching and Human Experience."

The Young People's Cabinet of the District is sponsoring and promoting attendance at the Margaret Slattery Vesper Service, on Sunday, March 2, at 3:30 P. M. This project was initiated by the Greater Boston Federation of Churches, who is taking place in this District, at Second Church, West Newton, and the Y. P. Cabinet is acting as publicity committee for this part of Greater Boston.

Mr. W. Hobart Hill, Director of Religious Education in Newton Centre, and active in all District affairs, is now teaching a course on Young People's Work at Natick, Monday evenings.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NEWS

Last Sunday three Union officers, Edward Simpson, Ralph Conby and Mildred Isakson, took charge of the meeting at the Newton North Congregational Church. A "Sealed Order" meeting was the feature. Next Sunday Mrs. Robert Ray will lead the Endeavorers in the subject "The Value of the Bible for Non-Christian Nations." Last Tuesday the young people from this church attended the "Youth Crusade" meeting at Park Street Church, Boston, the speaker being Dr. Daniel Poling, president of the International Society of Christian Endeavor.

Newton Jones, president of the Lincoln Park C. E. society, West Newton, led the young people in their meeting last Sunday, his subject being "The Christian Endeavor Pledge." Next Sunday Helen Nickerson will be in charge of the meeting.

DRAMATIC CONTEST

The teachers of the Stearns School and the Mothers' Club of the Stearns School Centre met together for a most enjoyable evening on Monday, Feb. 17th. The entertainment included music and solo dancing followed by games and refreshments.

The teachers entertaining were Miss Ida Broughton, Contralto; Miss Mary Broughton, violinist, accompanied by their sister, Mrs. George T. Winchester. Miss Lillian Peirce played for Miss Kay Lawrence who danced.

On Monday and Tuesday, March 2d, and 4th, at 8 p. m., the four evening groups of the Stearns School Centre will hold a Dramatic Contest. The Colonna Girls will present "The Veil Lifts," coached by Mrs. Bonney Dunbar. The Mothers' Club is being coached by Mrs. Derby Brown, their play being entitled "How the Story Grew." Miss Jane Briggs is the coach for the Supper Club, who are preparing a Muscular Revue. "A Nephew in the House" will be the Senior Girls' play which Mrs. A. C. Cummings is coaching.

The members are all working hard for this contest and they hope their interested friends will be present on those evenings.

A small admission fee is charged.

GIRL SCOUTS

Valentine Parties were a feature of several Troop meetings last week, and skating parties have been popular recently. Troop 25, of West Newton, is "rushing the season" a bit, and will have a Swimming Party at the Walnut Park Pool on Friday afternoon, February 21st.

On Wednesday morning, February 19, Miss Georgia Emery of Newton, spoke to the leaders about putting nature work across in the troops, particularly the Nature badges. As this is a difficult subject to handle in the troop meeting, the talk was very helpful.

At the meeting of the Newton Officers' Association held Wednesday evening, February 19th, at the Unitarian Church, West Newton, supper was under the direction of Mrs. H. H. Ballant of Newtonville. The speaker of the evening was Mrs. Ernest Cobb, who talked on "Story Telling"; all officers found her talk very illuminating, and most useful.

Newton had 13 officers present at the Leaders' Conference held at the Stadler in Boston, on February 15th. This was a most inspiring meeting; among the speakers were Mrs. E. Lawrence Shaw on "Courtesy," Miss Ruth Stevens, State Director; Mrs. Moseley, Editor of "The Trailmaker"; and, in the afternoon, Major Mawe, who gave some theory and also some practical work for Scout meetings.

The office will be closed all day Saturday, February 22nd. Newton Girl Scouts are invited to attend the Governor's Reception at the State House, if the officers plan to take their troops to this ceremony.

Troop 14, of Waban, has eight First Class Scouts who are going to Washington, D. C., leaving February 21st. Their Captain, Mrs. James R. Warren, will accompany them, and also, Mrs. A. L. Stephen, Chairman of the Waban Troop Committee. The girls will go in uniform, and expect to call of Mrs. Hoover, National President of the Girl Scouts.

PARAMOUNT THEATRE

The Paramount Theatre Newton will run a continuous show tomorrow from 1:30 until 11:00 with the regular matinee for children from 1:30 to 3 p. m. Holiday prices will prevail after 3 p. m. for all children. Beginning Sunday the feature will be "The Kibitzer," starring Harry Green, Mary Brian, and Neil Hamilton. It is one of the funniest comedies ever written. On the same program will be Billie Dove in "The Painted Angel" from the book by Fannie Hurst, "Give the Little Girl a Hand." Miss Dove is supported by Edmund Lowe.

The latter half of the week Cecil DeMille's great picture, "Dynamite," is the main feature. It is a great story, full of pathos and heartaches. The heroine, Cynthia Crothers, marries a convict, who receives a pardon just prior to the time set for his execution. In order to receive a fortune though she is in love with a married man who is obtaining a divorce. Ann Pennington is on the same bill in "Tanned Legs," a story of gay beach parties.

The children's matinee on Saturday afternoon is a proven success as they have packed the house soon after the doors are opened at 1:30.

JANUARY HEALTH REPORT

The report of the Newton Board of Health for the month of January shows that there were 56 deaths in the city during that period, a rate of 11.45 per thousand. For the corresponding month last year there were 82 deaths. Nine of the 56 deaths were caused by cerebral hemorrhages; seven of these nine were women. Cancer caused 4 deaths, heart ailments 8, broncho pneumonia 8, lobar pneumonia 5. Nephritis was the cause of 5 deaths.

Communicable diseases reported during the month included 7 cases of scarlet fever, 28 of mumps, whooping cough 11, chicken pox 39.

The Health Department investigated 5 complaints during the month, abated 29 nuisances, tested 35 milk samples, inspected 15 dairies, 155 markets and provision stores, 12 bakeries.

The Mather Class

Prof. Kirtley F. Mather lectured on "Religion and Health" last Sunday morning before the Mather Class at its regular weekly meeting in the Newton Centre Woman's Club House. This was the fifth lecture in the series on "The Reconstruction of Religion."

All sorts of sects have been and still are interested in religious healing. Health is important to everyone. People are vitally concerned with the relationship between religion and bodily health.

In this scientific age the world is more credulous than ever before. We readily believe something that our ancestors would have said was impossible. We are accustomed to mystery. We push a button and the light comes on. We do not understand fully the relation between the act and the event. We drive an automobile, but about all that we know about the process is how to start and stop and steer. We turn the dial of the radio, and we do not understand what happens inside. Things are accomplished in mysterious ways in this world of ours.

Prof. Mather said that he was constantly being asked if he could take a forked stick and go witching for oil. Some folks still seem to think that there are magical powers in the relation between the antics of a peach twig and the oil 3,000 feet below the surface of the ground. It seems to need only the authority of some man in a position of importance with a plausible incident to sweep the country with any foolish idea imaginable. For this reason all sorts of movements of a semi-religious nature are very successful just now.

Healing of disease has been a tradition of most religions. In the case of Christianity there are three reasons for this. First, The tradition of the Christian Church vouches for the healing done by Jesus and others. Whether or not you accept the record in the Bible, there is no question about the belief of the people at the time of Jesus and immediately afterward. They believed that Jesus accomplished miracles of healing.

Second, We have reached the conclusion that man is not a dual creature, but is a unit. There is no chasm between the body and the soul. What affects one part affects all parts. What is good for the soul is good for the body, and what is bad for the body is bad for the soul. Religion is good for the soul, and therefore we expect a beneficial relation between religion and bodily welfare.

Third, The laws of psychotherapy (including the glands and the secretions) show that the mind and spirit influence personality. We actually know some of the principles of this relationship. Fits of rage and chronic bad temper make a visible impression on the face. The fact that personality influences our features leads us to suppose that it also stamps itself on all the cells of the body, because they are all interconnected.

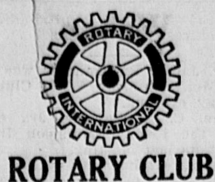

Fourth, The three considerations lead up to an important conclusion. Just think what Jesus did. The method He used was in keeping with modern knowledge of psychotherapy. He healed, for the most part, functional and not organic diseases. We have no record of healing a severed arm or restoring diseased tissues. He healed the sort of functional disorders in which the mind has some if not complete control. The other cases of Jesus' healing were not discussed by Prof. Mather. He let those alone.

The technique involved doing something to fix the attention of the individual. The person healed had complete confidence in Jesus. Jesus had such an insight into the nature and personality of man that He healed over the centuries to the final conclusion and hit the mark. He did His work in a way modern science would approve. When the person possessed a demon, Jesus did not disagree with him and argue that he could not have a demon because demons did not exist. Jesus accepted the current explanation of what was wrong and drove out the demon. Just so the modern doctor accepts the patient's discovery of what is wrong and builds on that. He doesn't start in by antagonizing the patient by telling him that he guessed all wrong. He needs the patient's cooperative confidence and good will.

Jesus had unique power because He was a unique personality. There is a psychological significance about places and deeds in auto-suggestion. At a famous shrine it is found that healing is not universal. Only 2% of the applicants are reported cured. Everybody has a confident belief, but the great majority, 98%, do not cure. There is no doubt that crutches, but the much larger number of crutches, which were not left, is overlooked. Of the 2% reported cured, many have relapses. In 20 years it was found that 2-3 of the 2% reported cured actually died of the disease of which they had been supposedly cured, and, what's more, death occurred within two years after they were reported cured. Occasionally somebody is permanently and completely cured. The mind has a profound influence on the body. Mental health is necessary for bodily health. Rip Van Winkle's wife is supposed to have burst a blood vessel in a fit of rage because a peddler cheated her. Despair and happiness have their effects on our bodily health. We should take a sane view of the relationship between religion and health.

It is wrong to say that religion alone can make you healthy. It is equally wrong to say that religion is for the soul and has nothing to do with the body. Material things are real. Ill health is a reality. Evil is no delusion. If ill health were unreal, then good health also would be unreal. We must accept the verities of our senses as to what is real. A toothache shows that something is physically wrong. Typhoid fever and a temperature of 103 are not imaginary but stern realities and we have to deal with them as such.

Occasionally we imagine that something is wrong, and ill health is the result of our imagined fears. Root out the imaginary trouble and health returns.

ROTARY CLUB

The regular weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club of Newton was held on Monday, February 17th, at the Woodland Golf Club at 12:15. President Charles D. Ausley presiding.

The meeting was an exceptionally large one as there were visiting Rotarians present from Stoneham, Waverly, Quincy and Boston Clubs. Harry H. Hanson, Chairman of the Program Committee, introduced as the speaker, Reverend Frank D. Taylor, past President of the Rotary Club of Watertown. Mr. Taylor spoke on a very timely subject, "The Life of George Washington."

It was quite evident that Mr. Taylor had made quite a study of the subject as he told us many interesting stories, in both his public and private life, which were entirely new to a great many in the audience.

On February 26th Rotary International is celebrating its Silver Anniversary at the Hotel Statler, under the auspices of the Rotary Club of Boston. A sizable delegation of the Rotary Club of Newton is planning to be present.

Walter H. Gregg and Howard G. Frost have just returned from their winter vacation in Bermuda.

George J. Martin is still enjoying his golf in the warm climate of Florida.

It is a God-given achievement when men discover the right medicine to use for a particular trouble. The function of the church is a matter of expediency for the time and place. Three things are possible as follows:

- 1.—Minister to bodily welfare by means of hospitals and medical assistance.
- 2.—Minister to social relations and the economic situation, like labor strikes.
- 3.—Deal with the soul's salvation only.

Everything depends on the time and place. It is quite correct for the Baptist Church to send medical missionaries to foreign lands, where such help is sorely needed.

Health is a relative term. We are all infected by inheritance and past environment. Our lives are crystallized mentally, morally, and physically. There are limits within which we must live and beyond which we cannot go. Even the finest religion of the most ardent believer cannot obtain perfect health. There is no absolute standard of perfection. Only a relative standard. Within limits, religion may make us healthy. It helps us travel the long road to health, but we cannot leap suddenly from ill health to health.

Dr. George B. Cressy will speak next Sunday on "America."

GEORGE DEXTER FROST.

Recent Deaths

MRS. ANNA W. HARDON

Mrs. Anna W. Hardon, widow of the late Henry C. Hardon, died at her home on Copley street, Sunday morning of this week about nine o'clock. She had been subject for some months to occasional attacks of angina. On Saturday she appeared to be unusually well. Saturday evening she listened to the opera over the radio and enjoyed it greatly. Sunday morning about 8:30 she had a severe attack of angina. Dr. Stubbs was called at once and administered the usual remedy but she failed to respond and died within half an hour.

Mrs. Hardon was born at Lowell, Mass., January 2, 1836, eldest daughter of Nathaniel and Ruth (Seward) Wilson. She was one of the early students at the State Normal School at Framingham, then the only school in New England for the higher education of girls. She married, November 29, 1859, Henry C. Hardon, then assistant of the Blyden School in Boston. In 1864 they moved to Longwood and the following year to Newton where she has since lived.

After her three sons and only daughter had left home for college Mrs. Hardon found time to take up various social interests in Newton. She was one of the founders of the alliance formed by members of the Channing Church. In the Channing Chapel she created a memorial for her son Richard, who died in his teens. She was an early member of the Social Service Club. Back in the early seventies she and Mr. Hardon were members of the Shakespeare Club which for some years met at the houses of the various members for study of the Shakespeares plays. She was the last survivor of that group of intellectuals. She had a keen interest in family history, traced her line to William Wilson, a Puritan settler in Boston, and was a member of the New England Historic-Geological Society.

Mrs. Hardon's only daughter and three of her four sons are still living. The daughter, Margaret, is wife of James Hayden Wright, the well-known architect. Mrs. Wright, S. B. (Wellesley, 1892), is widely known for her work as an etcher and more recently for her lectures on the etchers, engravers and mezzotintists. Their only child, James Hardon Wright, A.B. (Harvard, 1929), is now in the Harvard Engineering School.

Of Mrs. Hardon's sons, Henry W. Hardon, the eldest, A.B. (Harvard, 1882), A.M. and LL.B. (Harvard, 1885), sometime professor of law at Cornell and late professor of law at Columbia, lives in New York City, where he is in active practice and one of the officers of the Association of the Bar. Robert W. Hardon, M.E. (Mass. Inst. Tech., 1883), M.D. (Harvard, 1893), professor of Pediatrics, 1899-1901, at the Post Graduate Medical School in Chicago, is a surgeon. James H. Hardon, a general manager for the central and southern sections in the U. S. for the Geo. H. Morrill Co., manufacturers of printing ink, is living in retirement at Bellerose, New York.

Mrs. Hardon left, besides the members of her family already mentioned, two grandchildren, Henry Knox Hardon, A.B. (Harvard, 1912), who during the World War served first as a volunteer ambulance driver and later as U. S. Intelligence Officer in charge of the Aix-les-Bains station, and Anne Frances Hardon, A.B. (Bryn Mawr, 1915), now Mrs. Basil C. Pearce of Palatka, Florida, who served during the war for two years in various capacities in France and is the author of the Collected Letters of a V. A. D., recounting her various war experiences. Henry Knox Hardon, who is manager of the investment department of one of the New York City banking houses, has three children and Mrs. Pearce two.

Services for Mrs. Hardon were held in the Unitarian Church on Tuesday at two p. m. Her ashes will be deposited in the family lot in the Newton Cemetery.

DR. LINCOLN R. STONE

Dr. Lincoln Ripley Stone of 131 Vernon street, Newton, died on Monday. He was in his 95th year, having been born in Bridgton, Maine, in 1836. His father, Rev. Thomas Stone, a Unitarian minister, was prominently known as an abolitionist. Dr. Stone graduated from Harvard Medical School in 1854. He started practice in Salem and when the Civil War started he enlisted as a surgeon in the 2nd Massachusetts Infantry. Later he assisted Robert Gould Shaw to organize the 54th Massachusetts Infantry and was near Col. Shaw when the latter was killed in the assault on Fort Wagner. After the war Dr. Stone was in charge of hospitals at Gallipoli, Ohio, and Harper's Ferry, Virginia. He came to Newton in 1868 and practiced here until his retirement about twenty years ago.

His funeral service was held yesterday at his late home, Rev. Chester Drummond of Channing Church officiating. The remains were cremated at Forest Hills. Dr. Stone is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Charles Batchelder of Peabody, New Hampshire. His wife died about a year ago and his son, Dr. James S. Stone of Framingham, died last September.

MARTIN CONNELLY

Funeral services for Martin Connelly of 11 Adams avenue, West Newton, were held last Friday in St. Bernard's Church. Mr. Connelly died on February 12th in his 56th year. He was a native of Galway, Ireland and had resided in West Newton for 66 years, having been employed as a gardener until he retired several years ago. He is survived by one son, Stephen Connelly of West Newton. Mr. Connelly was a man of high character and his genial personality won for him many friends. He was a devoted member of St. Bernard's Church, attending mass every morning until stricken with a shock a few days before his death.

WILLIAM G. SNOW

William G. Snow of 11 Devon road, Newton Centre died suddenly on Friday, February 14 while telephoning. He was born in Watertown 65 years ago and graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1888. Since graduation he had served as permanent secretary to the class. He was treasurer of the Middlesex Products Company. Mr. Snow was a vestryman of Trinity Church, Newton Centre and a member of the Brae Burn Country Club, University Club and Duxbury Yacht Club.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Eleanor Beal Snow, a son William B. Snow, and two daughters, Mrs. H. L. Chandler of Concord, New Hampshire and Mrs. John L. Gray, Jr., of Cambridge. His funeral service was held Monday afternoon at Trinity Church, Rev. E. T. Sullivan officiating. The pallbearers were: Winthrop Coffin, George P. Fogg, Allan Hubbard, Charles P. Kelsey, Charles A. Sawin, Alfred K. Sawyer, E. Ray Speare and William H. Young. Burial was in Mount Auburn.

JOHN M. LANE

John M. Lane, a life-long resident of Newton, died on February 15, at St. Elizabeth's Hospital. He had been employed in the grocery business. His funeral was held on Tuesday from the home of his uncle, Michael Hayes, at Boston Road, Billerica. He is survived by two brothers, Leo Lane of Newton and Raymond Lane of Billerica.

JAMES M. PILLION

James M. Pillion of 290 Newtonville avenue, Newtonville, son of Henry P. and Rose Murray Pillion, died on February 18, from complications caused by bronchial pneumonia. He was 34 years of age and employed by the Metropolitan Commission. He is survived by his parents and two brothers. His funeral service was held yesterday morning at the Church of Our Lady. He was a member of Middlesex Court, M. C. O. F., and Waltham Lodge of Moose.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

During the week ending February 15 there were 164 patients in the hospital. Of this number 66 paid as much as cost of care, or more, 57 paid less than cost of care, and 41, including babies, were treated free of charge. 17 babies were born, 7 girls and 10 boys. 153 patients were admitted to the outpatient department. 10 accident cases were admitted to the emergency ward. 6 calls were made by the social worker, and 7 patients were transferred by the social service car.

On Monday evening, February 17, at six o'clock, a group of thirty trustees and their wives met at the hospital for dinner. This group included the newly appointed Wellesley trustees, and the officers of the Board. The purpose of this meeting was to become acquainted with the new Wellesley trustees, and to acquaint them with the hospital and their new duties. After dinner the group inspected the various departments of the hospital.

On Monday evening, February 17, at eight-thirty, the Know More Kokki met at the hospital. The doctors who presented the papers for discussion were Dr. A. C. Cummings, of Newton, and Dr. Dwight O'Hara, of Waltham.

The Executive Committee of the Trustees held their regular monthly meeting at the Hospital on Wednesday evening, February 19, at eight o'clock.

On Wednesday evening the student nurses met for their first chorus practice in rehearsal for their graduation music. This is under the direction of Mr. D. Ralph Maclean.

On Friday evening, February 21st, the student nurses held a dance in the Nurses' Home. The decorations were in red, white, and blue in honor of Washington's Birthday.

Miss Elizabeth F. Wheeler, social worker at the hospital, has been elected chairman of the Banquet Committee of the American Association of Hospital Social Workers Conference.

which is to be held in Boston June 7-15, 1930. The Banquet is to be held at Hotel Somerset on Thursday, June 12.

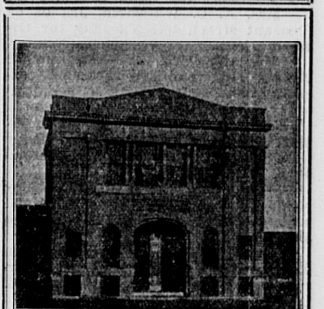

Of the ten accident cases admitted during the week only three were the results of automobile accidents. Two of these were men, one with abrasion of the face and a question of a fractured nose, the other with a compound fracture of the tibia and fibula of the left leg. The third was a woman suffering from abrasions of the knees, and fractured toes, also, an injury to her spine. Five men were admitted suffering from various injuries: one for a crushed finger caused when a heavy cake of ice fell on it, the other four all suffering from the effects of foreign bodies of one kind or another, one a needle in his arm, one a foreign body in his arm, and one for a silver in his hand, and one for something in his eye. One boy was admitted for treatment of a broken arm received while coasting. One woman was admitted suffering from poisoning.

Graphic Outlines of History
By BURT M. RICHConvention Hall, Chicago, Ill.

It was in this Convention Hall in Chicago that Lincoln was nominated for the presidency by the Republican party. The Democratic candidate was Stephen Douglas, Lincoln's rival in the famous debates. Lincoln won the election, and was inaugurated March 4, 1861.

A ceremony under our skilled direction is charming for its very simplicity, and reverent respect.

Henry Ford's New Plan.
A Battleship, Hardly.
If Russia Got Really Mad.
Ogden L. Mills' Figures.

HENRY FORD may spend 100 million dollars establishing schools that will enable students to "fit into life" when they come out at eighteen years of age. He says:

"The reason we have so much crime and racketeering is because schools do not teach our young men how to fit in the world. Racketeering is nothing but a revolt against the present improper ineffectual system of teaching."

Schools at present are better than they were fifty years ago before racketeering became a science. Students should all learn to use their hands, particularly those not well adapted to using their heads. It would be waste of time for men of the type of Voltaire, Milton, Moliere, Beethoven, to learn a trade, but they are scarce.

Mr. Ford should modify his resolution to "devote the rest of his life to educational undertaking." Part of his effort should produce tractors of the caterpillar type. Plenty of power with the traction "track." Fully enclosed. Protected from dust.

He ought especially to push ahead the aviation work in which he has already rendered great service. Until he has built his plane to carry 500 passengers, and his pursuit plane to go 500 miles an hour, Mr. Ford's most important work will remain undone. Many can teach trades, few can build machinery for hundreds of millions of people.

The British possess the greatest fighting ship in the world, the Rodney, built and paid for.

Innocent Senator Borah and Representative Britten suggested that the British should scrap that ship in the interest of lovely world peace. At that British statesmen smile politely and say they really can't quite do it.

This guileless nation, after the Washington Conference, destroyed and threw on the junk pile splendid new battleships, including some not completed.

And the British destroyed some pretty blueprints. They probably would oblige us by preparing and destroying some more blueprints. But when it comes to destroying a finished battleship costing millions of pounds—that is something else

POLICE NEWS

Harry Dangel, Jr., of Brookline, age 13, was in the Newton Court last Friday charged with driving an automobile without a license. He was placed on probation until June 28. Another juvenile culprit in court that day was a nine year old boy residing on Centre street, Newton Highlands who was found guilty of turning in a false alarm from a fire alarm box. He was adjudged a delinquent and placed on probation until January 3, 1931.

Albert Goulet, Jr., of Somerville, was fined $10 for speeding when tried in the Newton court last Friday. Six persons were fined $5 each for not STOPPING before entering Washington street. In court the same day Judge Bailey of Canton ruled that Timothy Murphy of Dedham street, Newton Centre, will not have to pay Peter Volante for damages which were done to Volante's crop of celery by two police dogs which Volante claimed were owned by Murphy, but which the latter claimed belonged to Miss Eveleth Chapelle who resides at the Murphy domicile. Volante estimated the damage to his celery at $3000.

Joseph Roberts of 117 Edinboro street, Newtonville, was in the Newton court Monday morning charged with ten counts of forging and passing ten spurious checks, and one count of larceny. He was held for the Grand Jury by Judge Bacon in $4500 bonds. In default of bail he was taken to jail. Roberts is also charged by the Waltham police with passing forged checks in that city. The forged checks were alleged to have been signed by Newton residents, were drawn on Newton and Watertown banks and were passed in stores in this city.

Patrick Shanahan of Waterbury, Connecticut, was arrested at 1:30 Sunday morning by Patrolmen Hamill and Howley after the car he was driving had collided with another car. He was charged with drunken driving and with driving without a registration. In the Newton court on Monday he was fined $185 and in default of payment was sent to jail. A car found in Waltham on Sunday is alleged to have been stolen a week ago by Shanahan in Waterbury. After serving his jail sentence he will be seized by the Waterbury police.

Frank Smith of Middle street, Newton, was found not guilty in the Newton court on Wednesday on the charge of attempted criminal assault on Mrs. Nora O'Brien of West street. According to witnesses the pair had been visiting at a house and were being taken to their homes in an automobile when the alleged assault occurred. In court Wednesday Robert Mahoney of Framingham was fined $10 for not stopping before entering a through way.

John Farina of Adams street, Nonantum, was found not guilty in the Superior Court at Cambridge on Monday by Judge Sisk who ordered such a verdict by the jury. Farina was arrested several weeks ago after he had been chased across the links of the Commonwealth Country Club with a golf club. Farina was charged with a point near the Country Day School gymnasium on Nonantum Hill. Farina had been observed by Special Officer Frank Feeley loitering near a house on Dolphin road and when Feeley alighted from his car and approached Farina the latter fled. According to Feeley, Farina fired several shots from a pistol at the policeman and the latter returned the fire. Later Feeley and Motorcycle Officer Murphy pursued Farina across the golf course and the latter caught him. Farina was charged with carrying a dangerous weapon. The gun alleged to have been used by Farina was not found. He was bound over to the Grand Jury. Judge Sisk criticised the police officer for not identifying himself when he approached Farina inasmuch as he was not in uniform.

John Farina of Adams street, Nonantum, was found not guilty in the Superior Court at Cambridge on Monday by Judge Sisk who ordered such a verdict by the jury. Farina was arrested several weeks ago after he had been chased across the links of the Commonwealth Country Club with a golf club. Farina was charged with a point near the Country Day School gymnasium on Nonantum Hill. Farina had been observed by Special Officer Frank Feeley loitering near a house on Dolphin road and when Feeley alighted from his car and approached Farina the latter fled. According to Feeley, Farina fired several shots from a pistol at the policeman and the latter returned the fire. Later Feeley and Motorcycle Officer Murphy pursued Farina across the golf course and the latter caught him. Farina was charged with carrying a dangerous weapon. The gun alleged to have been used by Farina was not found. He was bound over to the Grand Jury. Central Council Announces Classes

Lectures On Important Subjects By Authorities

Do you know your city, and all that is being done for the social welfare of its citizens? This is Newton's Tercentenary. If a visitor from another city should ask you about the work of any of the organizations listed below, could you answer him intelligently? Here is your opportunity to obtain a complete picture of Newton's social service agencies, and to learn how you may help if you will. There is not likely to be another gathering of so many remarkably fine speakers as have been assembled here. They are giving their valuable time for you.

The Art of Helping, a class for volunteers and those interested in social service is to be held under the auspices of the Newton Central Council at 10 o'clock on four Friday mornings beginning March 7th at 12 Austin street, Newtonville, telephone Newton North 7394. Please register in advance by sending your name and address to the Council office; or if this is not possible, register at the first meeting. Those interested in a special subject are welcome to come to single lectures.

March 7th, Health Group: Miss Mabel C. Bragg, Asst. Supt. of Schools; Dr. Francis G. Curtis, Chairman, Board of Health; Mrs. M. Alice Paige, Supt. Newton District Nursing Ass'n; Miss Elizabeth Wheeler, Newton Hospital Social Service. March 14th, Character Building Group: Mr. H. W. Bascom, General Secretary Newton Y. M. C. A.; Mr. Lyscom A. A CORRECTION

In last week's issue in the advertisement of G. Clement Colburn announcing his new Boston office with that of Jordan, Read & Co. the address was incorrectly given as at 145 Main street, instead of at 145 Milk street, Boston.

To Preach Series On Twenty-Third Psalm

At Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton

This Sunday evening at 7:45 o'clock the Rev. John Shade Franklin will preach the first of a series of sermons on the Twenty-third Psalm at the Lincoln Park Baptist Church of West Newton.

An especial effort will be made to produce a helpful ministry of song and worship in connection with the series. The Chorus Choir, violin soloists and organist are planning appropriate programs of music.

The subjects and dates on which they will be used are as follows:

March 2nd, "The Great Shepherd," or the Shepherd's nurture of his flock

March 16th, "Ways of Plenty," or the Shepherd's guidance

March 23rd, "The Right Path," or the Shepherd's guidance

March 31st, "Through the Valley," or the Shepherd's comfort

April 7th, "More Than Enough," or the Shepherd's abundant care

April 14th, "Enduring Lovingkindness," or the Shepherd's abiding love

On March 9th the evening service will be given to the Service Club and the sermon will be preached by Mrs. Barbara Franklin.

Mr. Franklin's subject at the morning hour this Sunday is "But Courage." Communion will be observed.

JOHN V. REAGAN

John V. Reagan of 2038 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale, died on February 22. He was born 38 years ago in Dorchester and had resided in this city for seven years. He was in business in Boston as a tea broker. Mr. Reagan had been prominently identified with Shawmut Council, Knights of Columbus. His funeral service was held Tuesday morning at Corpus Christi Church. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery. He is survived by his widow, Mary Wallace Reagan, his mother, a sister and a brother.

FOUND DEAD AT WEST NEWTON

Waldo Mason of 302 Derby street, West Newton, was found dead sitting in a chair at his home on Friday last. Death was due to natural causes. He was born in Roxbury 54 years ago and had resided in this city for six years, conducting a gasoline station on River street, West Newton. His funeral was held Monday from his late home.

DOG BITES BOY

A dog owned by Harriet Breck of 1185a Walnut street, Newton Highlands, was complained of to the police as having bitten Leo O'Connor, 3, of 2 Mullen court, Newton Highlands, on Monday. The dog was ordered restrained and Dr. Boutelle notified to examine it.

Prof. Mary W. Calkins Passes Away Here

Taught At Wellesley For Over Forty Years

On February 26 Professor Mary Whiton Calkins, Doctor of Letters and Doctor of Laws, died at her home in Newton, Massachusetts. Miss Calkins taught at Wellesley College for more than forty years and for thirty years she held the chair of philosophy and psychology. Her peculiar gifts in teaching, her burning zeal in study, her wide culture and her inimitable humor enabled her to wield an influence over undergraduates which is strength and beneficence can scarcely be surpassed. Her teachings are embodied in four important books,—"An Introduction to Psychology" (1901), "Psychological Problems of Philosophy" (1907), "A First Book in Psychology" (1909), and "The Good Man and the Good" (1918).

Herself the pupil of William James of Sanford and Munsterberg, she will nevertheless be known in years to come as the first elaborator of "personalistic" psychology. She was also the loyal pupil of Josiah Royce and of George Herbert Palmer. Her philosophy is a development of Royce's monistic and personalistic idealism and was combined with strong religious faith. Miss Calkins was the first woman to be president of the American Psychological Association and is the only woman who has ever been president of the American Philosophical Association. In 1928 she was elected an honorary member of the British Psychological Association. Upon her retirement last June, the trustees of Wellesley College awarded her the title of "Research Professor."

She was keenly interested in every aspect of the social problem and supported every effort to carry a Christian idealism into economic, industrial, racial and international relations.

Miss Calkins was the daughter of the late Wolcott Calkins, D.D., for many years pastor of Eliot Church in Newton. Her mother, Charlotte Whiton Calkins, is the daughter of James Morris Whiton, who was prominent not only in the business enterprises of the Boston of his time but also in the service of the Free Soil Party. Through her mother's mother, Miss Calkins was of triple Mayflower descent.

She is survived by her mother, who is now in her ninety-first year, and by three brothers, Leighton Calkins, a New York lawyer, formerly mayor of Plainfield, New Jersey; Raymond Calkins, D.D., pastor of the First Church in Cambridge, Congregational; and Grosvenor Calkins, of this city.

The funeral service will be private, but will be followed by a Memorial service to be announced at a later date.

SUSY A. DICKINSON

Miss Susy A. Dickinson, who died in Newtonville February 24, was the last of a distinguished Massachusetts family. Her father, John W. Dickinson, was for many years a member of the State Board of Education, and was a noted and forward-looking educator. Her mother was a woman of great ability who left her mark upon the community. The Newtonville Woman's Club is one of the results of her energy and initiative. An only brother, John, died many years ago in Hol-

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

Traffic problems are not new. We came across the following editorial in the NEWTON GRAPHIC of November 6, 1886.

"The objection to granting a location for the tracks of the Newton Street Railroad on condition of the use of electricity only as a Newton power appears to be a valid one. Electric railways sometimes meet with accidents, and think what the result would be with a car left halfway between Newtonville and Newton Centre. It could not be propelled by horse power or even by man power, and the car would have to stay where it stopped until the electricity was started up again, which might be in a few hours, or weeks as the case might be."

Electric railways were in the experimental stage back in 1886. What would the good folks of that day have said if they had the automobile traffic problems of today?

YOUNG FOLKS BOWL

At the open house on Washington's Birthday at the Newton Club, Newtonville, bowling matches for children of the members were staged on the alleys. Several prizes were offered. In the boys' 10 to 15 year class S. Crescenzo, distinguished himself by rolling a single string of 100 to win the prize. Other winners were boys' 5 to 10 years—Arthur Henderson; girls' 10 to 15 years—Joan Wyman; girls' 5 to 10 years—Alice LeBaron. Boston pins were rolled.

LASELL SEMINARY

The Senior Class Prom will be held on Saturday evening, March 1, at the Woodland Golf Club. Rev. Charles N. Arbuckle will address the students at the vespers service at Bragdon Hall on Sunday.

On March 4 and 5, the Senior Class will present "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" at the Auburndale Club House. The leading parts will be taken by Sarah Clark, Washington, D. C.; Jean Fosdick, Auburn, Maine; Dorothy Inett, Worcester, Mass.; Virginia Johnson, Scituate, Pa.; Alyce Martin, Summit, N. J.; Betty Jane Davis, Toledo, Ohio.

FIRE DAMAGES NEWTON GARAGE

Fire that was discovered shortly after noon Monday badly damaged the garage of Henry C. Hopewell at 315 Waverley avenue, Newton. The fire apparently started in the room at the rear of the garage and spread through the building.

Yesterday morning Engine 1 went to Watertown to assist in fighting the fire that destroyed the small church structure owned by the Union Church Society on Main street, Watertown.

WEST NEWTON W. C. T. U.

On Monday evening, March 3, the West Newton W. C. T. U. will hold an evangelistic meeting at the home of Mrs. Helen Merriam, 70 Coleman road, Newton Centre. The leader will be Mrs. P. M. Wood.

Also on Tuesday night, March 4, a Shrove party will be held at the home of Mrs. M. Millie Beardsley, 108 Crescent street, Auburndale. All members and friends are cordially invited.

Degree Staff Of Middlesex Ct. Wins

Silk Banner At Competitive Drill At Elks' Hotel

The degree staff of Middlesex Court, M. C. O. F., contesting against sixteen other staffs won first prize at the competitive drill held in the ball room of Elks Hotel on February 22. The competing staffs came from various sections of eastern Massachusetts and the accomplishment of the young women from Newton in defeating so many excellently trained degree teams proves the skill of their instructor, Thomas F. Hickey and their perseverance in drilling under his guidance. The prize received by the team is a beautiful silk banner. Middlesex Court Degree Staff is comprised of the following: Captains, May Mulligan, Helen Shea; Helen Buckley, Mary Coffey, Marion Goode, Kathryn Hannon, Louise Herlihy, Mary Kinchla, Katherine McDermott, Eleanor Mulcahy, Mary Murphy, Gladys Quinan, Lillian Shea, Mazie Shea, Ruth Shea, Margaret Vahey, Ruth Vahey, Louise Vahey, Gertrude Bergin is pianist for the staff.

CONFER ON NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

A conference was held Tuesday in Mayor Weeks' office between the Mayor, Buildings Commissioner Chadwick, Architect Henry, Aldermen Ball, Collins and Gallagher and School Committee men Lockett and Tracy. The subject under discussion was the proposed new junior high school to be erected at Rowena and Cedric roads, on the former Paul estate at Newton Centre. Plans for this building are being prepared by Henry & Richmond, architects. The cost of the school will be $750,000—or more.

TRAIN WRECK ATTEMPTED

Wednesday afternoon about 4.30, shortly before a train was scheduled to pass the place, a railroad tie was found across the tracks of the Boston & Albany circuit branch behind the estate of Edwin S. Webster at Chestnut Hill. A light in the signal nearby had also been damaged. The police are investigating.

State Would Make Newton Stand Expense

Officials Oppose Outlay On New Traffic Artery

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts intends to build a second traffic artery between Boston and Worcester. This artery will follow the line of the old Boston & Worcester turnpike, part of which, Boylston street, extends across the southern part of this city from Brookline to Wellesley. Work on the new artery between Worcester and Framingham will be performed this year. According to the present plans of the State authorities each community through which the new state road will pass must pay one-quarter of the cost of construction within its limits and also the cost of the taking of land. If this plan were carried into effect, Newton would pay at least $500,000. Naturally, Mayor Weeks and Newton's representatives in the Legislature are going to oppose any such unfair burden being saddled on this city.

LENTEN PRAYER SERVICES

Beginning next Thursday evening, March 6th, the regular mid-week prayer service of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton, will be held in the main auditorium at 7:30 o'clock with a special program of organ, violin and vocal music each week. The Rev. John Shade Franklin, pastor, will bring a series of devotional messages in keeping with the season after which there will be public testimony and prayer by those who will participate.

The musical program this Thursday includes the following numbers: Tenor solo, "Before the Cross"—La Forge

Tenor solo, "Ivory Palaces"—Barracough

Violin solo, "Andante Religioso"—Thome

Organ solo, "A Prayer"—Devered

Organ solo, "Elegy"—Lemaigre

Organ solo, "Fugue"—Bach

Luxury is that state of existence when our wants dominate our needs.

RECIPE for adding an Extra Room at Little Expense

Take a perfectly good unfinished attic. Nail insulating board across the rafters. This will immediately make your whole house easier and more economical to heat. The millions of dead air cells in insulating board create a resistance to heat and cold. They keep the heat in and the cold out.

Then paint this insulating board a cheerful color. You can paint it any color you choose, but a light color is recommended.

Next lay an Oak floor (can be Birch or Maple) right over the rough planks or across the joists. You will then have a clean smooth floor without splinters. Then partition off the attic with wall board. You can have an extra bedroom—a den—or a playroom for the children.

An extra room in the attic gives the children a place to play on rainy days. How children love its seclusion. They can "play house," spread their things all over the floor, romp to their hearts' content to the music of pattering rain on the roof, and mother will not be anxious about scratched furniture or torn hangings.

Let us estimate the cost of modernizing your attic. We will be glad to do this without obligating you. Frankly, if we do not see possibilities for modernizing your attic we will tell you so.

K. OF C.

"Big Top" O'Connell of circus fame, one of the most colorful personages in the life under the big top, a two-fisted type in handling the labor gangs putting up the big canvas, a student of human nature, backed by a wonderful background of 25 years with the American circuses will be the headliner at the meeting of Newton Council, K. of C. Tuesday night at Elks' Hall.

In addition Frank Collier of the Boston American staff and his famous Otto Grow will entertain with caricatures and the Boston Traveler film "Getting the News" will complete the program.

"Big Top" O'Connell has a basketful of stories, tragic, humorous, human incidents that will have tremendous interest for Newton Council members who have enjoyed the circuses coming to town for many years. Mr. O'Connell's winter home is in Lynn and he is a member of Valladolid Council. He is about to start for the winter quarters of the circus and his appearance before Newton Council members will be among his last previous to a transcontinental spring and summer tour.

Newton Council will get the thrill and romance of life under the "big top" Tuesday night. The only thing missing will be the wild animals and the pop corn stands.

Tuesday night, March 18, will be Old Timers' Night at Newton Council. One of the most unusual and unique plans will be put into effect when four brothers, Hon. Daniel Gallagher, first Past Grand Knight of Newton Council and former State Deputy, Atty. James P. Gallagher, P.D.D.; John F. Gallagher, Financial Secretary and P.G.K. and Rev. Ambrose Gallagher—all four brothers members of the Knights of Columbus will preside at the various chairs. This arrangement in itself will prompt a large attendance.

Rev. Daniel Creedon, S. J., instructor of moral theology at Weston College will be the guest and speaker. All charter members and Past Grand Knights of Newton Council will be guests. Arrangements may be made for the first degree and if completed the officers of Boston Council will handle the degree work.

Newton Council and Brookline Council will debate within a few weeks upon a subject to be determined by the two teams, as the first debating contest of both Councils in the State Debating League. It is Newton Council's initial appearance in the league, competing for the silver trophy of the State Council.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

The interesting annual report of the Trustees of the Boston Elevated Railway has been distributed. It tells of the many improvements made by this corporation during the past year. A couple of improvements which have not been made and which would add to the comfort of this company's millions of patrons might include—reasonably frequent washing of car windows, proper fastening and weather stripping of windows during the winter season.

In former years before the Elevated went under control of Public Trustees, the car windows were regularly washed. For several years they have been allowed to remain so dirty, that during the months of the year when windows are kept closed, sensitive persons have a tendency to nausea while attempting to gaze through the glass panes of Elevated car windows.

In former years double windows were installed on the cars of the Elevated. These had their drawbacks as well as their advantages. During hot spells the cars became too hot and the ventilation insufficient. Now, the single windows are loosely set in their frames and passengers are subjected to drafts that result in colds.

Another matter that could well engage the attention of the two Newton citizens who are trustees of the Elevated is—a more even distribution of cars on the lines running to Lake street, the Reservoir and Watertown. The latter line appears to have not enough cars during the busy hours of the day.

Tax Commissioner Long rightly urges relief for the small store owners against the unfair advantages enjoyed by huge chain corporations. Owners of small, independent stores help carry the burden of taxation. They assist in paying the expenses of the communities in which they do business.

For example, in Newton owners of independent groceries and markets pay taxes on stock and fixtures averaging about $2000 to a store at the current tax rate. The only direct taxes received by the city from the scores of chain groceries and markets within the Newtons is on the machines and such equipment used in these stores.

The total valuation placed on such property owned by the three largest chain corporations operating stores in this city is $9200. If these stores were taxed as are the independent stores, the valuation they would pay taxes on would be at least $150,000.

Corporations pay a tax to the State at the rate of but $5 per $1000 of valuation; money received for such taxes being divided among the various cities and towns in which such corporations do business. The corporations enjoy deduction privileges which are denied individuals. Many of them have been permitted to practically determine their own valuations.

According to Mr. Long the present exemption from taxation enjoyed by chain stores, not only permits them to pay but a very small fraction of the taxes which must be paid by individual store owners, but causes an unfair proportion of taxes to be saddled onto real estate.

Improved Indian Trail

The Berry trace was the principal path of white travel northward from the Ohio river into the interior and it was merely an improvement on the pre-existing Indian trail extending northward through Ohio to the White river. The Whitel trace was really created by the white men. Whitel and several companions cut down the forest and cleared a roadway for passage of a train. This trail was used by incoming white men from the East until 1820.

THE 1930 BUDGET

True to his campaign promise of conducting an economical administration Mayor Weeks has "hewed to the line" on the 1930 city budget which the finance committee of the aldermen now has under consideration. Beginning in his own "backyard" by refusing to accept the increase in his salary from $3000 to $5000 as voted by the 1929 board of aldermen, he continues to disapprove salary advances on the part of the few department heads that requested them. Other items of operation in the various departments were cut here and there with probably no loss of efficiency. In the Street Department the Mayor recommends smaller amounts than requested on several more important items and we hope that it will not be found necessary to appropriate additional sums in these instances later in the year. The foremost of these is a $10,000 reduction for maintenance of streets. Newton's highways have always been considered clean and well-kept and we trust that this reduction will not result in any lessening of attention in this respect. A $7000 cut in the cost of snow removal will be survived unless the closing months of the year bring an unusual amount of snow as it is seldom there is any snowstorm of great severity during March and the cost to date in 1930 has been below the average of previous years. Twelve thousand dollars has been taken off the department's request for traffic beacons and signs. The city could well afford to expend a portion of this amount in keeping the parking and cross walk lines legible at all times. In past years these lines, especially the latter, have been far inadequate. The entire budget when passed will be less than that of 1929 but what effect it will have on the tax rate is problematical.

THE CHAFFIN BEQUEST

Many have earned the respect and admiration of their fellow citizens, but few are more deserving than the late John C. Chaffin, whose life and acts revealed his great interest in Newton. Mr. Chaffin came to Newton in 1847 and was an influential citizen until his death in 1904. He was one of the founders of the Newton Free Library and active in the carrying out of the plans for building the present Eliot Congregational Church. Now it has been revealed that his interest in Newton was of even far greater extent. Upon his death he made provision for the establishment of an educational fund to assist worthy Newton students in obtaining a higher education. He stipulated that upon the death of his daughter, Mrs. J. P. R. Sherman, who passed away two weeks ago, two thirds of the income of his estate should go to such a fund and the remaining third to his grandchildren. As there are no grandchildren the entire fund, estimated at $307,000 is to be used for educational purposes. The charitable and unselfish spirit of Mr. Chaffin will be forever perpetuated in the minds of Newton people.

STREET RESURFACING

One of the most important items in the city budget is that of $250,000 for resurfacing of streets. The Mayor has recommended that amount as asked by the street department. While Newton could well afford to spend a considerably larger sum on such work to the satisfaction of all, that amount, if wisely apportioned, can improve present conditions immensely. Washington, Centre and Beacon streets in part, are more intolerable after every freeze and thaw. Such portions and other heavily traveled streets should receive prior consideration over those arteries which are used principally by non-resident motorists. We have frequently expressed the opinion that a program of permanent concrete roadway construction should be inaugurated at the earliest possible moment. These thoroughfares will require attention within the next few months and the city could well make a start on such a program. We believe that, in the end, such construction would prove the most economical.

ANTI-BUMMING RIDE CAMPAIGN FACTS

Mr. Driver: Do you realize that if you give a minor a lift, you may be accused by the parents of the bummer of kidnapping their child and you may be held responsible in addition for any injury which may happen to the bummer while in your car?

Do you care for this unnecessary double liability? If not, refuse rides to bummer.

THANK YOU!

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Much surprise was expressed when the Senate killed this week on their final stages two measures for changes in the automobile statutes. One would have given the police authority to arrest without a warrant persons charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. The other provided that a person arrested for driving while under the influence of liquor should have the right to summons a physician to examine him. In each instance the Senate refused to pass the measures to be enacted. It is not often that defeat of bills is accomplished at the last ditch, so to speak. Yet it sometimes happens and here are two shining examples.

Again the State House is to be the scene of an investigation. Two years ago the office of the then Attorney General was the storm centre. Now it has shifted to the police department of Boston. All session long criticism has been hurled at the Boston Police Commissioner. However, it is the pensioning of a former active member of the liquor squad that has caused the excitement this year. The Legislature has directed Atty. Gen. Joseph E. Warner to investigate and he will begin next Monday. It is not expected that there will be a long series of hearings as was the case in the previous investigations. Of course nobody knows what is going to happen but the general belief is that the matter will be concluded shortly.

The bill to provide a penalty for throwing lighted cigars or cigarettes in grass land or brush has had a strong champion in Senator Hollis. Opposition has come from unexpected quarters and the measure has been characterized as "useless legislation." For years the State Department of Conservation has insisted that something should be done to stop forest fires but not until this year has such a measure been advanced as far.

Newton patrons of the Boston Elevated will be elated to learn that this year's Legislature is to try and solve the traffic congestion problem at Governor Square, Boston. The trustees of the Elevated, headed by Henry I. Harriman of this city, Mayor Curley of Boston, and others have conferred with a subcommittee of the Legislative Committee on Metropolitan Affairs to see what may be done towards the construction of an extension of the Boylston-street subway under Governor Square. Senator Hollis is a member of the subcommittee.

On roll call Senator Hollis voted against referring to the next annual session the House bill relative to the amount of wages exempt from attachment of paragraph (2) of section six. The bill was so referred, however, 20 to 14.

The House rejected, by roll call 128 to 86, the bill giving the defendant in criminal proceedings before a jury the right to close the final arguments with an argument in rebuttal. Such a bill would have changed the established practice of Massachusetts criminal courts for many years past.

Representatives Luitwieler, Baker and Thompson voted to reject the bill. Representative Luitwieler is chairman of the Committee on State Administration which has reported a bill to extend to May 1, 1931, the existence of the Commission on the Necessaries of Life. The measure has been referred to the Ways and Means Committee which will give a public hearing on it March 3.

The Committee on Pensions, to whom was referred the petition (accompanied by Bill, House, No. 812) of Mayor Weeks, of Newton, and another for an increase in the retirement allowances payable to certain employees of said city, report the accompanying bill (House, No. 1074). "Chapter three hundred and fifty-five of the acts of nineteen hundred and twenty-eight is hereby amended by striking out in subparagraph (c) of paragraph (2) of section six in the fourth and fourth lines of said subparagraph the words 'under paragraph (b) above' and inserting in said subparagraph (c) in the sixth line in said subparagraph, after the word 'service' and before the word 'had,' the words:—rendered both before and after age sixty,—so that subparagraph (c) of paragraph (2) of section six, as amended, shall read as follows:—(c) If he has a prior service certificate in full force and effect an additional pension which is the actuarial equivalent of twice the pension which would have been payable on account of the accumulated deductions which would have resulted from contributions made during the period of his creditable prior service rendered both before and after age sixty had the system then been in operation.

"The total pension of any member payable under the provision of this section shall not, however, exceed one half of his average annual regular compensation during the five years immediately preceding his retirement, nor shall the total pension of any member who has fifteen or more years of total creditable service be less than an amount which, added to his annuity, shall make his total retirement allowance equal to three hundred dollars per annum."

AT LAST

A man decided he and his son would take a drive in their new car. As they entered the car, the father said to the boy: "Now, if you see a motor cycle cop coming behind us, you tell Papa."

They settled down to driving and the car crept up to 30 miles, 35, 40, 45, 50, 55 and finally to 60 miles an hour. Suddenly the little boy cried: "Papa, the man you were expecting is here."—Pacific Power and Light Bulletin.

The Superpirate

Captain Kidd—What's this I hear about your reforming and quitting the high seas?
Sir Henry Morgan—Reform nothing! True, I have abandoned the seas, but I have invested my money in a number of apartment buildings and a chain of delicatessen stores.

As Advertised

Installment Collector—See here, you're several installments behind on your piano.

Purchaser—Well, the company advertises, "Pay as you play."

Collector—What's that got to do with it?

Purchaser—I play very poorly.

A Success Story

"Busy" was the word from the inner office when Mr. Salesman called.

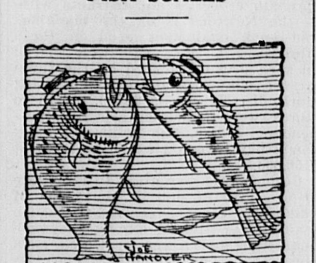

Nothing daunted, he wrote across his card: "That's why I am calling. I haven't any time to waste on loafers," and sent it in again.

This time he got in.

Oh, Well—

Broker—I have bought you 500 shares of common stock, madam.
Mrs. Fitzwater—Well, I don't want them. What on earth would my friends say if they knew I'd got anything common?

FISH SCALES

Sensitive Stout Fish—"Who says I'm too heavy? I've just weighed myself and I'm no heavier than I ought to be. Jocular Thin Fish—Then your scales are wrong!"

Adam Never Heard It

Whatever trouble Adam had, No man in days of yore Could say when Adam told a joke, "I've heard that one before."

Need of Training

"Is that man a trained singer?"
"I shouldn't say so," answered Miss Cayenne. "He is vocally expert, but personally he still needs a lot of training to keep him from being classified as a wild man."—Washington Star.

Promptly Settled

"Now, Albert," said the teacher, "if you had four apples, and your little sister asked for half of them, how many would you have left?"
"Four," responded Albert, without a moment's hesitation.

Some Discrepancy

She—Time separates the best of friends.
He—It sure does. Thirteen years ago we were seventeen. Now you are twenty-one and I am thirty.

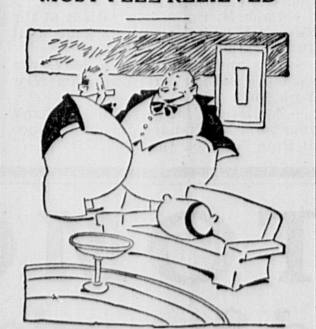

Lots of Worries

Tombs—It's not the cost of the car that worries the average motorist. It's the upkeep.
Banks—And sometimes the turn-over.

Beauty Costs

"How long you been married, Joe?"
"Six months."
"How's things?"
"I've found out that a permanent wave ain't so permanent."

MUST FEEL RELIEVED

"My wife's tongue is never still. She talked her head off this morning."
"How relieved you must feel."

Easier to Handle

"You hit your husband with a chair? Pray tell me why you did it, Mabel."
"I did it," sighed the lady fair, "because I could not lift the table."

Thorough Workers

Voice From Upstairs—Haven't you two finished hanging that mistletoe yet?
Sweet Thing—Yes, mamma, but we're just testing it.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY

Starting Sunday, March 2, the Netoco Embassy Theatre, Waltham, will celebrate its first anniversary. A Gala special Anniversary show has been prepared for that week, and all street cars will have a good time for all. The Embassy pledges itself to a continuance of their good-will shows, for which the Netoco chain is famed, which consist of the presentation of the best entertainment procurable, at Netoco popular prices.

The show for the Anniversary Week has been carefully selected and will feature "Beulah Love and Charles King" who made such a tremendous hit in "The Broadway Melody" in their newest all talking, singing, dancing sensation "Chasing Rainbows."

The associate feature will be an all-talking movie-toned laugh riot, "Hot for Paris" with Victor McLaglen and El Brendel, containing their "cock-eyed" adventures with Fifi D'Orsay, that Ohio French Mam'selle.

There will be many added talking and singing screen novelties, besides a specially arranged organ diversionment.

Embassy patrons are reminded of the marvelous parking facilities, where upwards of 500 cars may be accommodated.

Monday night after the show everybody is invited to come up on the stage and join in the dancing. Music is by Charlie Weck and his Royal Arcadians.

On Monday and Friday nights a valuable radio is to be given to one of our lucky patrons.

Wednesday and Friday nights, the American Legion Band will render a musical performance from the stage.

Scottish Abbey Holds

Relics of Robert Bruce

Subject to the fulfillment of certain conditions, the trustees of Professor Noel Paton handed over the following articles to the kirk-session of Dunfermline abbey: 1. A portion of the skeleton of King Robert the Bruce, namely, the metatarsal or bone of the great toe. 2. A small portion of the outer leaden shroud of King Robert the Bruce. 3. A small portion of the tollie d'or in which the body of King Robert the Bruce was wrapped. 4. The remains of one of the iron nails which were found among the remains of the coffin in which the body reposed. 5. The remains of one of the six iron rings, or rather handles, which had been filled in with lead into the vault of the Bruce when first discovered on February 17, 1818. 6. Twelve fragments—white marble and calm stone—believed to be portions of the magnificent monument of King Robert the Bruce at Dunfermline destroyed by the Lords of the Congregation. The relics are preserved in an oak glass-fronted cabinet placed alongside of the abbey pulpit erected immediately above the vault of the Bruce.—London Mail.

Washington Stirred Up
Over Van Buren's Coach

Van Buren arrived in Washington toward the end of the second week of the session, it being traditional for the Vice President to absent himself until the senate committees had been appointed. On taking the chair on Monday, December 16, he made his first public utterance as the second officer of the land. It was short and one such as others before and after him have made; totally devoid of significance. It provoked no comment; but the coach he had brought over from England did. The adverse journals described it as an English coach of state—"a very splendid carriage, drawn by two beautiful blooded horses, their heads and tails full of a great deal more of intellect, passion, feeling and sublimity than their owner. . . . It is of a dark-olive hue, with ornaments elegantly disposed, shining as bright as burnished gold" and "far more superb than the equipages of royalty."—From "An Epoch and a Man" by Dennis Tilden Lynch.

Wide Use of Amulets

Amulets, writes Frank H. Vizetelly, editor of the New Standard dictionary, were used once not only for the protection of men and women, but also of cattle. The so-called Antonius medallions were very much in demand for this purpose, and were hung upon horses, asses and oxen. For Antony of Padua had been the patron of the horse and the ass in his day. Cowbells, like bells hung upon infants, were intended originally to frighten away evil spirits, and their use in later times to help the herdsmen to trace the cattle or identify their beasts is a much later idea. Charms against charms also were worn.

Nothing New

The young son of an Indianapolis physician is intensely interested in moths. He reads everything that comes to hand concerning them. One day when his father saw him poring over a big volume in the library, he said:

"What are you reading, son?"

The son replied: "Oh, about moths, but they don't tell me anything I don't already know about them."

The interested parent asked: "Well, what is the name of your book?" when son answered:

"What All Moth-ers Should Know."

Apparently a Highway Victim

Bobbie, aged four, had accompanied his mother on a visit to the home of an over-nice maiden great-aunt. Cautioned for days and days beforehand, he was careful about everything he said and did—until dinner time came. Then he became eager, for he was told that chicken was on the menu.

When this delectable fowl was served, and Bobbie observed that there were no "drumsticks," but instead were shredded patties, he exclaimed:

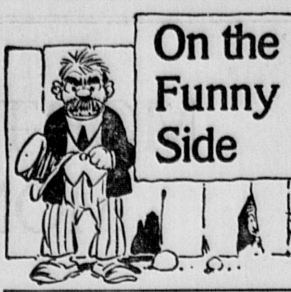

"This chicken must have been run over!"

Growth of Sand Dunes

The sand dunes along the shores of lakes are formed by the wind. A stiff breeze blowing along the beach carries some sand with it. It meets some obstacle, a piece of driftwood or perhaps merely a tuft of grass. Some of the sand is deposited and a tiny dune is formed. More and more sand is added until a large mound is formed, sometimes rising to a height of 300 feet. The wind not only builds up dunes but tears them down, so that the sand dunes are constantly changing in form and position.

Not Through

Billy, age five, was invited as a guest with his mother and father to take dinner at a hotel. He was greatly impressed with the service and was especially appreciative of the finger bowl. He had paused in the process of washing his fingers, and the alert waitress started to remove the bowl. This time, however, her attempt was halted, for Billy remonstrated in an unmistakable tone of command: "Don't take the washpan! I want to wash some more dirt off of my hands."

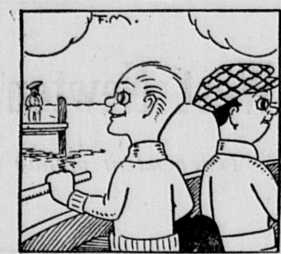

THE DIFFERENCE

"What's the trouble?" asked Jones, when one of his most popular jokes failed to score a chuckle. "Let me see," said the solemn one, thoughtfully. "I've got to buy some flowers, some chocolates, and the theater tickets, and—"

"Doing mental arithmetic?" asked his friend.

"Sentimental arithmetic," sighed the young man sadly.

BAD LUCK AND WORSE

George—"You heard of Jim's rotten luck? He was nearly drowned, but a girl rescued him." Harry—"Yes; but he had even worse luck later—she married him."

Stay Down

"Up like rockets, down like sticks," the timid fellows bawl. They get themselves in such a fix they never rise at all.

Real Worry

Blinks—It says here some scientist predicts a group of stars headed toward the earth at the rate of 200 miles a second will crash into it in about a million years.

Jinks—That doesn't worry me. What scares me stiff is seeing a motor car headed toward me at the rate of forty miles an hour that will arrive in about one second.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Hard on One's Constitution

The Statistician—A man is knocked down in a London street every 20 minutes.

Listener—Sorry, old chap, but I really can't swallow that one. No man's constitution could possibly stand it.

Judge Sought Information

Judge—Your wife says you have her terrorized.

Prisoner—Honestly, your honor, I— Judge—I am not asking this in my official capacity, but as man to man, how do you do it.

A GOOD REASON, TOO

"How did you come to miss your train?"

"Why the derned thing was on time this morning."

The Ostrich

The ostrich may be queer as sin, But do not notice that; For he has put a feather in Full many a lady's hat.

Would Help a Lot

Featherstone—I wish you would come and help me select some trousers, old man.

Ridgeway—I don't believe my taste is any better than yours.

"No, but your credit is."

Successful Business Man

"What constitutes a successful business man?"

"A man who has the horsepower of an optimist, and the emergency brakes of a pessimist."

All Alike

Brown—I shall certainly have some say as to whom my daughter marries. Cynic—It won't make any difference—she'll marry some fool just as her mother did.

Under Pressure

"But surely," cried Jean, "you didn't tell him straight out that you loved him?"

"Goodness, no. Mildred said calmly. "He had to squeeze it out of me."

But He'll Never Have One

Wife—How many closets are there in the new house, Joe?

Hubby—Six, dear.

Wife—That isn't enough. You'll want one for your things, won't you?

Here's Matrimonial Ad

in Newspaper of 1771

The art of matrimonial advertising seems to be of old standing, judging from an insertion in the Swedish provincial newspaper, the Carlskrona Veckoblad, of 1771, recently unearthed and reproduced in a Stockholm daily. It is as follows: "The honorable public will not too adversely note the following well-meant advertisement. As it sometimes happens that a pretty and well-to-do girl long passes unnoticed just because of the fact that honorable suitors do not know her fortune, or how much her parents will bestow on her as a wedding gift, it is herewith announced that, now, an honorable girl, twenty-one years of age, rather pretty, mannerly, a la mode and well bred, who, besides, understands cooking, washing, baking, etc., which, no doubt, will be further improved through her intelligence when she, through marrying, gets more practice in household things, possesses in property, real and movable, about 15,000 Silver Dalers, besides which she expects a legacy from her old grandmother. If some decent bachelor, preferably a noble, clergyman or otherwise somehow well-situated man, should speculate, a somewhat more precise address of the girl's guardian can be had at the printing office of this paper. But it is stipulated as a condition that none but gallant cavaliers, well built and of good carriage, take the trouble of offering their names; in the opposite case no further particulars will be given."

How Term "Thirty" Came to Symbolize an Ending

Charles Payne Smith gave the following information in the Typographical Journal regarding the origin of "30" as used by newspaper men and telegraphers: "The first press association organized in Civil war times was composed largely of morning papers published near the eastern seaboard. Each paper sent into the central office items of local interest, which were there edited and telegraphed to all members. It happened that the first message sent to the association totaled 30 words and this figure, with the words 'Good night' and the signature of the sender, was placed at the bottom of the sheet by the operator. At that time piecework was the rule on all papers. The daily grist was usually set up, corrected and in the forms by 10 o'clock, and the compositors were compelled to wait around at their own expense until the foreman announced that '30' was in. So '30' became a byword among printers, symbolizing the end."

Curly Maple

The forest service says that the cause of curly maple is not entirely known. It appears to be an accidental phenomenon and it is believed that it is not hereditary. Curly maple is secured from occasional white maple (sugar maple) trees among the stands of white maple trees throughout the Lake states. In the curly maple varieties the bark curls inward, forming a notch or depression. Experienced persons can identify curly maple trees by cutting into the bark. In the curly maple varieties little dimples or depressions will show in the wood. Curly maple can also be identified from the ends of the logs.

Waters From Icefield

The stream which ends in the famous Takakkaw falls in Yoho national park, British Columbia, is fed by the melting waters of the Waputik icefield which lies upon the summit of the Great divide. Flowing down the mountain for over half a mile it reaches the precipice that walls the east side of the Yoho valley. Here it takes a leap of 150 feet over the edge, then, gathering itself together, falls in a glorious curtain 1,000 feet down the face of the cliff, and finally tumbles in a magnificent cascade of 500 feet into Yoho river.

Life of a Sponge

Sponges live their own lives and eat their own food as other animals do. The separate existence of a sponge begins when a tiny particle, after being whirled about for a time by ocean tides and currents, eventually attaches itself to a piece of rock, and from that home it seeks its own livelihood. The food of infant sponges consists of yolk cells, which contain a form of nourishment. Later, as the sponge grows, it requires something more solid, and this is brought in by the currents.

"Great Britain"

Britannia Major, meaning Great Britain, was the name formerly given to the whole island to distinguish it from Britannia Minor, which was the name given to Brittany. James I used the title king of Great Britain, but without the sanction of parliament. It was not officially adopted until after the union of England with Scotland in 1707. After the union with Ireland in 1800 the country became known as the Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

Not for Her!

Small Jeanie, who had been used to having her hair cut at home, was taken to the barber shop for the first time. Proudly she was seated in the chair. When the current was turned on so the clippers could be used she became terrified.

"Stop it, stop it!" she sobbed; "I won't have a vacuum sweeper on my head."

Five Simple Rules for Keeping Good Health

Practical inference from the views of an eminent physician are so simple that they are almost trite, and yet they are fundamental. If you want to keep out of the repair shop and make your own body "tick" vigorously and regularly, don't rely on drugs, but co-operate with nature in five ways:

- 1—Drink an abundance of water to keep your cells in condition.
- 2—Sleep at least eight hours out of each 24 to maintain your batteries.
- 3—Regulate your diet carefully so your body will be adequately nourished, and don't "dig your grave with your teeth" by overeating.
- 4—Get plenty of fresh air, especially when you are sleeping.
- 5—Exercise regularly to rebuild worn tissues, increase blood circulation and develop new cells.

If these five simple rules were honestly and thoroughly observed for several generations as vigorously as the Jews have obeyed the laws of hygiene handed down by Moses, druggists and doctors would eventually be obliged to seek other occupations, and the world would be populated by a very much superior race of human beings.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Omission or Usage of

Comma Highly Important

A jury in New Jersey that heard the evidence against two men accused of murder returned a verdict finding one guilty of murder in the first degree, and the other guilty of murder in the second degree with a recommendation of leniency. A comma separated the two findings, and this was held by another court to prevent the recommendation for mercy from applying to the first degree finding, though the attorney for the killer insisted that a semicolon should have been used if that were the jury's intention.

Commas are, therefore, seen to be important whether used or omitted. It is a curious situation when courts are called on to decide the meaning of a contract drawn, or at least revised, by an attorney, especially such a contract as an insurance policy which may control the distribution of thousands of dollars.

Pepper Popular

Black pepper is the most widely used of all spices. There was a queer medieval belief that black pepper came from a forest that had been burned over. When means of transportation were not well developed, and when the monotony of a smaller choice of foods made spices even more desirable than they are now, there must have been a tremendous interest in the caravans from the East that made spices one of their chief commodities. Pepper they brought from the East Indies, although it is now cultivated in other tropical countries. It is the dried fruit of a vine-like tree.

What, Ever?

"Here you are, then," wrote Oliver Wendell Holmes, on the subject of rowing. In the year 1858, "here you are, then, adrift with a body a rod and a half long, with arms, or wings, as you may choose to call them, stretching more than 20 feet from tip to tip, every volition of yours extending as perfectly into them as if your spinal cord ran down the center of your boat, and the nerves of your arms tingled as far as the broad blades of your oars.

"This, in sober earnest, is the nearest approach to flying that man has ever made or perhaps ever will make."—Autocrat of the Breakfast Table.

Operas

Grove's Dictionary of Music gives the following information concerning the difference between certain types of opera: Comic opera—a term used indiscriminately to denote a music-dramatic work of an amusing nature. It is not the English equivalent to the French opera-comique, for that term includes works into which seriousness and even tragedy may enter; the type is rather the opera bouffe. Light opera is a term often employed for works in which sentiment counts for more than high spirit, although the latter is not necessarily absent. Grand opera is an opera with continuous music and of a serious nature.

National Forests Popular

Several million every year take advantage of the recreational facilities offered by the national forests. This phase of the administration of the forests is being developed by the forest service in accord with the policy of making these properties of the people serve them to the best advantage. Through trails and roads the forests are made accessible, says the Forestry Almanac. Within them there are many lakes and brooks, admirable for fishing and camping. Game is found in comparative abundance and streams are stocked with fish.

Only a Dozen Bananas

Robert made his first week-end trip alone to visit his aunt in a nearby town. The aunt was aroused in the night on the day of his arrival by a very sick boy.

Observing symptoms of an over-laden stomach, she said: "Robert, did you buy any trash and eat it on the train coming out?"

"No, auntie. I didn't have a thing except a dozen bananas," replied the distressed lad.

Recent Deaths

voke where he was connected with the Lyman mills.

Miss Dickinson was born in Williamstown but spent her girlhood in Westfield where her father was principal of the Normal School. She had many interesting memories of the distinguished persons whom she met when a young girl.

She was librarian in the State House Library for twenty-five years and many students of old records recall her helpfulness.

For more than forty years Miss Dickinson has lived in or near Newtonville. She was one of the oldest members of Central Church and was interested in all the affairs of the village. She was especially loyal to the Club which her mother founded and has long been an Honorary Vice President attending the meetings of the Board when she was able and following all the policies of the club with great interest. When the club seal was adapted a few years ago she bore the expense so it is a pleasant memorial both of her and her mother.

Miss Dickinson was a person of marked individuality and of great kindness of heart and will be mourned by many friends.

The funeral services were held in the Cemetery Chapel on Monday afternoon conducted by Rev. Raymond Lang. Quantities of beautiful flowers and the presence of many old friends bore gracious tribute to her memory.

MRS. ANNA F. WITHERINGTON

Mrs. Anna F. Witherington, widow of William C. Witherington, died on February 22 at her late home, 2007 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale. She was born in Boston 81 years ago, a descendant of an old Cape Cod family, one of whose members was Commodore Perry. She was a charter member of Rufus Putnam Chapter, D. E. Mrs. Witherington was fond of literature and wrote a number of poems. Her funeral service was held Monday at Forest Hills chapel, Rev. Chester Drummond of Channing Church officiating. She is survived by one daughter, Miss Maud L. Witherington.

MISS SUSAN HOSMER

Miss Susan Hosmer of 16 Williston road, Auburndale, died on February 23rd, in her 98th year. She was a native of Acton and had resided in Auburndale for the past 5 years. Her funeral service was held Wednesday at her late home, Rev. Cornelius Clark and Rev. John Nicholas of Graniteville, Vermont, officiating. The remains were cremated at Mount Auburn.

MRS. EUNICE L. SANBORN

Mrs. Eunice L. Sanborn, widow of Rupert R. Sanborn died on February 21 at the home of her daughter in Acton. She had been a resident of Newton for many years. Her funeral service was held Monday morning at the chapel in Newton Cemetery. Burial was in Mount Hope. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lillian Capelle of South Acton and Mrs. Eva Bowker of South Sudbury, and a son, Captain R. Roy Sanborn of the Newton Fire Department.

MRS. DANIEL S. SHEA

Mrs. Mary A., wife of Daniel S. Shea, of 200 Elliot street, Upper Falls, died at the Newton Hospital on Monday, February 24, after an illness of five days from pneumonia. Mrs. Shea is survived by her husband and one daughter, Mary, wife of Harold Glanch of Hudson, Mass., and four grandchildren. Funeral services were held on Thursday morning at eight o'clock followed by a requiem high mass at nine o'clock at the Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church by Fr. J. D. Lyons. Fr. Thomas Murphy of Malden, nephew of deceased, and Fr. Joseph Merrieth of Watertown, were seated in the sanctuary. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Needham.

Old Household Utensil

An old "coffee mortar," which was used in olden days when coffee had to be ground by hand, is owned in Fluvanna county, Virginia. The mortar, which is made of wood, is about a foot in height and an inch thick. At the top the bowl is about six inches in diameter, and slopes to a rounded bottom. An iron "muller" was used to do the actual grinding. The mortar originally came from Scotland, and is believed to be about 200 years old.

TO PLAY AT CATHOLIC CLUB SHOW

The Rovers dance orchestra managed and directed by Richard Heffron, of West Newton, are arranging a special programme of popular music to be presented at the performances of "Cat of Nine Tails," a mystery play at the Newton Catholic Club hall on Monday and Tuesday nights, March 3 and 4. There will be a children's performance Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Members of the Rovers are Raymond Moore, piano; Norbert Champagne, 1st violin; Richard Heffron, 1st saxophone; John Bachelder, 2nd tenor saxophone; Frederick Haynes, trombone; James Timmons, trumpet; and Jack Kent, drums. All attend the Newton High School with the exception of James Timmons who is a student at Our Lady's High School.

The orchestra was first organized at the club by Richard Heffron, and regular rehearsals are conducted at the club house in West Newton. The Rovers will be heard with the Newton Catholic Club Players for the first time at the children's show on Sunday and at the two evening performances.

MRS. CLARISSA SAYFORD

Mrs. Clarissa Sayford of 52 Hyde avenue, Newton, widow of Samuel M. Sayford, died yesterday, February 27. She was born 84 years ago at Port Royal, Pennsylvania, the daughter of Henry Kepner and Caroline Kloss Kepner. She had been a resident of this city for nearly 50 years. Her funeral service will be held this afternoon at her late home, Rev. R. E. Hudson of Eliot Church officiating. Burial will be at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, where a committal service will be held tomorrow. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. William F. Bacon of Hyde avenue, two brothers, Charles D. Kepner of Newtonville and Shelburn Kepner of Port Royal, and a sister, Mrs. Clementine McLaughlin of California.

LYNN KIRTLAND

Mr. Lynn Kirtland of Charleston, W. Va., who has been for the past month with his sister, Mrs. Jerome N. Carley of Dorset road, Waban, died at the Palmer Memorial Hospital Wednesday. Modern "Weary Willie"

Quite Fussy Individual

One hot day a wandering "laborer" in a fuzzy cap and ragged clothes asked at the Andrews farm near Spender for food without mentioning work. As it was just dinner time, the Andrews invited him in for the meal.

He looked at his chair at the table for some time, and Mr. Andrews, thinking he was diffident, urged him to sit down and make himself at home. He took out a cloth and dusted the chair first.

When night fell the stranger wanted to sleep in the house, but he had acted so peculiarly that Mrs. Andrews told him if he wished to spend the night there he must sleep in the wood bin. He took out all the wood, swept the place and put in a cot bed from the house.

"I want two clean sheets," he demanded belligerently, and then went on to call for a rug to step on in the morning, a chair to place by his bed side, and a mirror.

At dinner he had eaten eleven plates of a meat soup and five dishes of chocolate blanc mange. In the morning he wanted a button to match those on his coat and he obtained it. Then he offered to saw a little wood.

"He sawed about ten little sticks in a lackadaisical manner," related Mrs. Andrews, "and then said he would have to go. I think 50 cents would be about right for what you owe me, he asserted."—New York World.

Buttons in Early Times

Looked on as Luxuries

By the "History of English Dress," the button is traced to 1250. It was commonly worn in the time of Edward I, and figures in a poem that dates from about this time and certainly not later than 1390. This refers to a robe, the sleeves of which were decorated with blue buttons from the elbow to the hand. When points and laces were introduced in the Fifteenth century, buttons fell out of favor, but returned as a luxury in the following century, and were so highly appreciated as to be bequeathed in wills. A testator in a will dated 1573 left to one John Woodzyle, "my doublet of frize-canvas, and my hose with frize breeches. Also, unto Strowde, my frize jerkin with silk buttons. Also, to Symonde Rishoppe the smith, my other frize jerkin with stone buttons." Gascoigne sang of "a bonnet buttoned with gold."—Kansas City Times.

Church's Vast Property

The Trinity church tract, in New York city, contained about 52 acres and was variously known as the King's farm, the Duke's farm and the Queen's farm. Van Twiller, the Dutch governor of New Amsterdam, sold this tract in 1636 to Roeloff Jans and by his will it became the property of his wife, Anneke. She died in 1663, leaving eight children, all of whom but one, Cornelius Bogardus, in March, 1670, executed an instrument known as a "transport" conveying the property to Jol. Francis Lovelace, then governor of New York. Trinity church was incorporated by royal charter on May 1697. In 1703 Queen Anne formally presented the tract to the Trinity church.

The Lapse

A woman of intellectual tastes found it difficult to collect all the facts she wished to remember. She therefore secured the services of a memory system expert.

Scarcely had the expert taken his departure, after a successful first lesson, when a loud double-knock was heard at the front door.

"Who was that, Mary?" the woman inquired of her maid, when the latter returned from answering the knock.

"Oh, if you please, ma'am," said Mary, "it was the memory man; he forgot his umbrella."

Humanity Facing Changes

An eastern doctor is greatly alarmed lest the use of automobiles do away eventually with the legs of the human race. The prospect is quite terrifying. And then, too, there is the vacuum cleaner, that has rendered the beating of rugs and carpets no longer necessary, and this may in time do away with the arms of the human race. It seems more than likely that we shall hardly recognize ourselves 50,000 or 60,000 years from now.—Exchange.

Says Powdered Glass Safe

Exploding the stories that the Bor-glas and other notorious poisoners of history mixed finely powdered glass in food and drinks for their victims, Dr. Roche Lynch recently demonstrated to the Medico-Legal society of London that this supposedly deadly material usually passes through the human digestive system without causing death or even doing serious damage. Danger lurks in larger pieces of glass with sharp edges, he added.

Artificial "Sun" for Horses

Thoroughbreds in a racing stable near Chicago receive ultraviolet-ray treatment every day, as it is believed that they need artificial sunlight when the natural supply is unavailable, as much as do human beings, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. A short exposure to the special lamp is said to give an effect equivalent to that from a whole day in the sun. The treatment is of special benefit in winter, when the animals are confined indoors.

POLICE NEWS

Hannah Hunt, 19, of 55 Playstead road, Newton, was found guilty in the Newton court on Monday of stealing a cigarette case and $23 from Harry Niven of 271 Lowell avenue, Newtonville. She was placed on probation until September 12. Niven told the court that he met the Hunt girl at Newton on Sunday night and invited her to ride with him in his automobile. They went to Niven's home and had supper. After the girl had gone, Niven missed his money and the cigarette case. He reported the matter to Patrolman Elliott who arrested the Hunt girl.

Seven autolists were in the Newton court Tuesday and fined $5 each for failing to STOP before entering Washington street. Two others charged with this offence had their cases placed on file and one woman was found not guilty.

Victor Bianchi of 19 River street, West Newton, was found in a dazed state early Sunday morning in the driveway at that address by police. Bianchi, who is a milkman, states that he was attacked while going home that morning by four men and robbed of $32.

Louis Vergato of 169 Adams street, Nonantum, was arrested Monday night by Patrolman Joseph Kelly. Several months ago Kelly was arresting Vergato for disorderly conduct and the latter is charged with Kelly with having hurled him to the ground and then fleeing. Vergato went to New York at which time Kelly learned he had returned to Newton. The arrest followed. Kelly also arrested Vergato's brother, Diamond Vergato on the charge of stealing a clock from an automobile. The pair will be tried today.

Theodore Pilon, 22, of 95A Dalby street, Nonantum, was arrested Tuesday by Serg. Moran and Patrolman Feeley charged with larceny of $310 from Esther Babin of Cook street, Nonantum, with whom Pilon had been keeping company. The girl had entrusted her bankbook to Pilon and been giving him her savings for some time with the understanding that he was depositing them in the bank for her. Recently the pair had a quarrel and when the Babin girl demanded her bankbook back she found that the $300 she had entrusted to Pilon for deposit was not credited on the book. Pilon was released in $600 bail for trial on March 5.

Because of the theft of a number of bicycles from outside the Levi Warren junior high school, the school committee has requested that the Board of Aldermen make an appropriation to erect a shelter at the school for the parking of bicycles.

Mrs. Donata Leone, 44, of 57 West street, Nonantum, was fined $10 in the Newton court yesterday for maliciously destroying a fence. The fence was between the woman's yard and those of Mrs. Eva Trackman and Mrs. Marie Amendola on Adams street. Mrs. Leone's neighbors had been bothered by the children climbing over the fence and crossing through their yards to reach Adams street. Orders to cease this trespassing being ignored Mrs. Trackman and Mrs. Amendola attached a barbed wire to the top of the fence. As a result of this added discouragement to trespassing over their property, the fence was chopped down on Washington's Birthday and Mrs. Leone was found to be the guilty party.

Two Newton Highland girls, residents of Walnut street, one 14 and the other 16 years of age were given suspended sentences to the State Industrial School in the Newton juvenile court yesterday. They disappeared last Sunday after having been seen in an automobile with two youths. The girls were found Tuesday in Waltham.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE

Frank Bell, C.S.B., Authorized Christian Science Lecturer, Speaks to Large Audience at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Newtonville. Lecture Will Be Repeated This Evening.

Frank Bell, C. S. B. of New York, a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, delivered a lecture of unusual interest, last evening, under the auspices of the Christian Science Church of Newton in the Church edifice corner of Walnut and Otis streets, Newtonville. The attendance was unusually large, completely filling the church and overflowing into the lobbies. The lecture will be repeated in the same place this evening.

The lecturer was introduced by Francis W. Davis, the First Reader of the Newton Church in these words:

The two high spots in this current month are February 12th and February 22nd, the days which are given to rejoicing over the accomplishments of two great figures in the history of the United States, George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

Through the years, the thought of the people has become reverent towards these two great men,—and why shouldn't it? Think of what they have done to free this country and its people from bondage. Their names will ever stand, in spite of all calumny, for what is best in our great nation.

There is one other figure in American history that stands out in like relief to Christian Scientists, for the work which she has done to free mankind from bondage.

Countless thousands in the brief span of fifty years, can testify to the freedom which they have gained from the bondage of sin and disease, through her great discovery.

That the public may know the true facts about her discovery and the true facts about her Christian life and character, the Manual of The Mother Church provides for a Board of Lectureship.

The speaker of the evening is a member of that Board of Lectureship and is eminently qualified to address us on the subject "Christian Science."

It is now my happy privilege to introduce Mr. Frank Bell of New York. Mr. Bell spoke as follows:

Christian Science does not propose that reality shall be either ignored or changed. On the contrary its entire and only effort is to bring to light the actual nature and character of all things.

Christian Science concurs in the Scriptural assurance that "whatsoever God doeth, it shall be for ever," that "nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it." As defined by its Discoverer and Founder, Mary Baker Eddy, on page 585 of her book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Christian Science is that "with which can be discerned the spiritual fact of whatever the material senses behold." The reality which is reflected all about us is misinterpreted by the physical senses.

What is needed is not to disregard or to alter reality but so to correct the sense of things that the fact rather than the error shall be revealed. Christian Science accomplishes this correction through prayer, through spiritualization of thought, through the cultivation of a state of mind that rejects false physical sense testimony and accepts the spiritual truth.

Jesus frequently said that his sense of things was different from that of materially minded persons. This is especially noticeable in connection with his healing work. Being spiritually minded, he saw the ten lepers as clean, ready to show themselves to the priest. He saw the paralytic by Bethesda pool as able to "arise and walk." No question appears to have occurred to him as to whether the two blind men could see; they were questioned only as to their belief. To him Lazarus and the daughter of Jairus were not dead but asleep. His statements on these and other like occasions show that he was conscious of the fact that through his immaculate spiritual understanding the physical sense evidence of evil was reversed and cast out. Such was the purity and strength of his realization that nothing but the good is true, that many earnest persons caught something of the "mind that was in Christ Jesus" and were lifted out of a sense of pain, deformity, sin, or lack. Not a fact was changed.

Jesus knew that the kingdom of heaven was "at hand," that it was a state of mind, and that one could be "instructed into" it, as he said.

The Christian Scientist, a follower of the Master, strives for that purity of heart which sees God, good, where impure material sense, impure because material, believes it sees that which is unlike good. In the degree that he succeeds in spiritualizing his thought he finds that this activity is fruitful of health and other abundances.

When Jesus declared, "She is not dead!" it is reported that "they laughed him to scorn," as doubtless they did also when he uttered other denials of the so-called evidence of evil. The beginner in Christian Science may find something in his heart ridiculing his denial of physical sense testimony. But let him persist in his effort to affirm the truth and refuse to ignore the fact that the mind through which came the stately propositions of Euclid was of a high order of logical nobility. Grapes are not the fruit of brambles.

Jesus verified the prophecy of Isaiah that he should not judge according to "the sight of his eyes" or "the hearing of his ears," according to the material sense verdict. Since the time of Jesus the truth of being in contradistinction to the human belief in evil has not been uttered with anything like the courageous clearness with which Mrs. Eddy has set it forth in her many writings. The purity of her realization of the basic rightness of reality increasingly appears to the earnest student. Christian Scientists therefore rejoice to acknowledge her spiritual leadership. They could no more consistently refrain from so doing than could the student of mathematics ignore the fact that the mind through which came the stately propositions of Euclid was of a high order of logical nobility. Grapes are not the fruit of brambles.

LIFE SPIRITUAL, NOT MATERIAL
The common belief about a man's life is that he lives within a physical body, that his identity is located inside a material structure of flesh and bones. How life got into the body, what keeps it there, how it is to get out, and where it is to go when it gets out, are subjects of much speculation and little assurance.

All human ills are associated with the sense of life in the flesh. Therein man is supposed to live a precarious life and to die an inevitable death; therein are his aches and pains, his fears and disappointments, his sinful habits, devastating appetites, illusive pleasures. The sorrows and sufferings from which mortals pray to be delivered all have to do directly or indirectly with the so-called corporeal fleshly selfhood, including that which is called the mind within the body. Christian Science, concerned with the overcoming of human ills, that the inherent rightness of God's creation may appear, invites men to consider the reasonableness of the proposition that since discord is found only within the realm of physical sense, the way out of trouble lies through the taking on of a better sense. It is possible to do this in a perfectly natural way.

To hold to the belief that man lives inside of a material body one must well-nigh ignore the fact that actual life has not been found in the body. Each of the activities within the body can be truthfully described only as an effect of something else. If that something else were inside of the body it scarcely could have escaped detection by this time.

The situation is illumined by such statements as this from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, page 208: "You embrace your body in your thought, and you should delineate upon it thoughts of health, not of sickness." A moment's consideration makes it plain that we do embrace our material body in our thoughts. Therefore both we and our thoughts must be in fact outside of that body. One could not well be inside of that which he embraces. We contemplate our so-called physical selves from without, not from within.

If we do not really live in the flesh, then clearly he ought not to go on believing that he does. Inspired thought beckons us out of materiality. In Genesis we are assured that true man is the image and likeness of infinite Spirit. A psalm reminds us that we shall be satisfied when we awake in God's likeness, the likeness of Spirit. Isaiah urges, "Cease ye from man, whose breath is in his nostrils; for wherein is he to be accounted of?" Jesus, commanding his followers to take no thought for the body, declares that real life, life eternal, is a state of mind, to know God aright. St. Paul, seeing that "they that are in the flesh cannot please God," advises Christians to cultivate a willingness "to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord." John, the Revelator, explains the possibility of beholding new heaven and new earth, not material but spiritual, through mental purification.

Christian Science teaches and proves that to lift one's sense of identity and reality up out of the flesh into infinite Spirit promotes health and harmony. Thus Christian Science restores that which was lost, Christian healing.

Life was no mystery to Jesus. "It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing," said he. The sick are healed and sinners are reformed through learning to look outside of the flesh for that true spiritual animation which alone is capable of maintaining the universe and all that is therein.

To the Master evidently it was clear that health is primarily a state of thought and only secondarily or incidentally a condition of body or matter. To him the sick were those "whom Satan hath bound," the Satan whom he described as "liar, and the father of lies," a self-constituted lie or false sense, having "no truth" in it. Both the casting out of devils, sick, deluded beliefs, and the spiritual quickening of those who came to be healed were accomplished through the operation of the Mind that was in Christ Jesus, as St. Paul describes it. Those who were healed were those whose hearts were open to the regenerative influence of that mind or sense which perceived and reflected the absolute truth concerning God's creation.

TRUE SENSE VERSUS FALSE
The teachings of Christian Science coincide with the affirmations of the Scriptures that all things were made by God, that without Him was not anything made, that God saw, comprehended and created in its entirety, and it was very good.

The Bible also avers that everything that was made not only was in the beginning perfect and complete, but is now and everlastingly will be perfect and complete. In the words of Ecclesiastes, "Whatsoever God doeth, it shall be for ever; nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it." These declarations are true, not only because they appear in the Bible; they are true because they could not possibly be untrue. Reason and logic affirm the sublime simple proposition that the intelligence and ability to create a universe imply the intelligence and ability to create it aright.

But while revelation and reason agree as to the unanswerable fact, human sense argues through a thousand daily experiences that discord, fear, sin, and disease, in myriad forms and phases of evil, do exist, are a part of actuality; that creation, if ever was good and right, was not sufficiently good and right to remain forever good and right.

There is conflict, in other words, between pure reason and human experience. Neither the unstable theories of material science, the blind hopes of superficial religion, nor the stupid forgetfulness of sensualism will solve this problem.

Fortunately, in all ages there have been prophets and seers who were not wholly deceived by the apparently overwhelming material sense testimony on the wrong side. In the nineteenth century a woman saw the incongruity between the truth of being and experiences of human life. She saw that perfect God and imperfect man could not both be true. Imperfection could not be real unless God, the creator of all, is its author. Imperfect creation could be the product only of imperfect creator. To her the question was clear-cut and unescapable. Her answer was such as would be inevitable from one who loved God wholeheartedly and purely and inspired the confidence necessary to further progress. The rule of addition does not solve the higher mathematical problem, but does assure it. In the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," page 113, she writes: "According to the Scripture, I find that God is true, but every [mortal] man a liar." The sense of this that denies the perfection of God and His creation is false. When Mrs. Eddy learned that it is the physical senses which presume to take issue with God's perfection, she saw that it is the impressions of these senses which constitute what the Bible terms the "carnal mind," that "is enmity against God." If God's man is all right, the mind or sense which says that he is partly wrong is a lying mind, a false sense. Mrs. Eddy calls this false sense of things mortal mind, to distinguish it from immortal Mind, which latter is properly spelled with a capital M, for it is a true synonym for God. When Paul declared that salvation should be found in taking on the Mind that was in Christ Jesus, he knew that Jesus had repudiated the so-called mind or sense of things that accepted any evidence of reality inught unlike the nature of God.

Mortal mind must be put off. Why? Because it is composed of that material sense which is unable to resist the temptation to believe that mindless, inert, nonintelligent matter has the capacity within itself to think, to act, to live; to believe that man, therefore, is not the image and likeness of God, Spirit, but is a physical mechanism. Mortal mind consists of the thoughts it thinks. Therefore, as the Bible declares, "we wrestle not against flesh and blood." We are engaged in a warfare against wrong thinking. The true sense is spiritual and its fruits are the opposite of sin and death.

APPLICATION IS SIMPLE
"Become conscious for a single moment that Life and Intelligence are purely spiritual,—neither in nor of matter,—and the body will then utter no complaints," writes Mrs. Eddy, on page 11 of "Science and Health." How is one to acquire that consciousness?

By diligent right thinking. You are master of your thought. If you so choose, your affairs, of body, mind, surroundings, are the coincident expression of your thought. If you will begin, as a systematic daily mental practice, to reflect the essential nature of God, as best you can conceive of Him, and definitely and in an orderly fashion to affirm in your thought the reality of God's nature; if you will in like manner systematically and persistently deny the essential reality of all that is unlike the nature of infinite Spirit; if you will do this not as a matter of vain repetition, but with an earnest striving to bring into this activity some degree of conscious realization of the actual presence and power of God, operating in and through you to bring into expression the essentials of His nature, you will find that asking bread, you will not be given a stone. You will find, if your experience does not differ from that of countless thousands of your fellow-men, that the setting into operation of these processes of Christianly scientific thinking will begin to make manifest in most practical ways in your experience, in healing of sickness, overcoming of sin, mastery of lack, suppression of discord, elimination of fear. There is rich reward in taking your stand mentally on the side of the good God and His good creation.

There is in reality nothing the matter with God or His creation. The trouble is with our sense of things. We need to take on the Mind that was in Christ Jesus, which enabled him to say with absolute conviction, "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect." We need not merely to believe this theoretically, but to affirm it practically, to hurl it as a spiritual weapon against the arguments of imperfection, as did the Master.

The medicine of the Great Physician was denial of error to affirm truth. Those whose hearts opened to his teaching were mentally purified and stimulated, and the outward effects were manifest. By this purely spiritual process the sick were healed, the lame walked, the dumb spoke, the blind saw, the dead were raised. And the method was always the same—the infinite rule of imperfection denied, perfection affirmed. "He sent his word, and healed them." Here was such clear realization of the fact of perfection that mere belief in the supposition of imperfection faded out of consciousness.

The rediscovery of the Christ method of healing, the setting forth of the simple rule and method by which this healing may be accomplished, and the establishment of a church to protect her discovery for the benefit of mankind, these affirm, and will increasingly affirm, the greatness of Mary Baker Eddy. Through her pure love for God and man millions have been blessed with health, strength, abundance, joy, and peace, such as they had believed impossible.

This Science quickly verifies itself in the experience of the earnest student. It is like mathematics in that respect. A few simple applications of the very first rules will prove the Principle; and all these things necessary to further progress. The rule of addition does not solve the higher mathematical problem, but does assure it. In the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mrs. Eddy, is set forth the method by which the all-inclusive fact of being may be apprehended.

THE OVERCOMING OF LACK

Christian Science heals poverty in the same manner that sickness and sin are healed, through "the renewing of the mind," as St. Paul puts it. Inspired writers repeatedly have asserted that thought adjusted to the divine nature will bear fruit "after its kind." Jesus gave the unfailing rule for success when he said, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." This kingdom, the Master said, is "within you," and "at hand"; therefore the individual Christian has the right to feel that the essential completeness of reality is present, not absent, and only needs to be realized in order to be enjoyed.

A divinely intelligent and loving creator has not made a man to be impoverished any more than to be sick or sinful. Poverty, like disease and sin, involves a mistaken sense of God and His work. The evil quality of poverty is not that it makes men suffer but that it misrepresents God. The Christian aim in overcoming poverty, as in healing sickness and sin, is to the glory of God. Mere getting of money would not glorify God, but the demonstration of power over material things through spiritual understanding does "magnify the Lord." The writer of Genesis affirms dominion over earthly things. Jesus proved this to be true and said his followers should do likewise.

One who for many years had been distressingly limited in income or salary found himself trying vainly to use his only glimpse of Christian Science to enlarge the salary by some mysterious process. Finally he saw that what needed to be enlarged first was his understanding of man as God's image and likeness. It was his narrow, pinched sense of self that was bringing forth after its kind. In his personal experience, cultivating a larger and more spiritual concept of God and man, as he learned to do in a perfectly natural way through the teachings of Christian Science, he soon found this clarified vision reflected in his affairs. Men and things began to manifest an unmistakable tendency to help rather than to hinder. Unexpected opportunities appeared and unsuspected capacities came to light. Human relationships became more fruitful of good, after the manner of true brotherhood.

Christian Science cannot be used for the mere acquisition of money or other material things, but it is successfully employed to the overcoming of that abnormal sense of lack which is the result of ignorance of spiritual substance and which in turn bears fruit in human fear and poverty.

Mastery of materiality is the secret of wealth and health. It is the mastery that comes to light in daily experience through the Christianly scientific cultivation of spiritual-mindedness.

REALITY BROUGHT TO LIGHT

Christian healing is becoming less mysterious to those who see, as men are increasingly seeing, that so-called material objects are objects in sense or thought, not outside of thought or sense, and that this is true of the individual object called a physical person and of the aggregated object called a person's affairs. Modern discovery and invention reveal a distinct trend away from many long-entrenched beliefs in the so-called substantial qualities of materiality. Liberated thought is being prepared to accept Mrs. Eddy's teaching, that "There is no life, truth, intelligence, nor substance in matter. All is infinite Mind and its infinite manifestation, for God is All-in-all" (Science and Health, p. 468).

St. Paul did not require a laboratory in order to be convinced that the flesh, materiality, "cannot inherit the kingdom of God," that is, has no place in reality. He was subconsciously Christian to see that there could be no essential reality in that which does not conform to the simple logic that the creation of a good creator is good. It was this Christian purity of thought which enabled Paul to be a distinguished healer of the sick, after the manner of his great Master. His emphatic reminder to the Athenians that "we live, and move, and have our being" in God, in infinite Spirit, revealed a state of mind through which healing inspiration would naturally radiate to those who were suffering from the discordant effects of the belief that man lives in the unlikeliness of Spirit, namely, in the flesh.

In the nineteenth century lived a woman whose love for God was so pure and true that she gladly accepted the divine commission to declare to this age the omnipresence of God's goodness and the consequent unreality of whatever is unlike the goodness of God. Mary Baker Eddy could not have discovered the Science of Christianity had she not been willing truly to follow him of whom it was prophetically said, "He shall not judge after the sight of his eyes, neither reprove after the hearing of his ears: . . . and he shall smite the earth with the rod of his mouth." A mere theory of Christianity might affirm the goodness of God and seek to ignore appearances to the contrary. The actual Science of Christianity must not only assert the goodness of God, but must "smite the earth" in proof of God's goodness, teaching its adherents how to reverse the suggestions of physical sense, which otherwise would deny that the cause of reality is either wise or good.

THE NATURE OF EVIL

There need be no perplexity in regard to Mrs. Eddy's use of the term "animal magnetism" on the part of those who accept understandingly her statement, on page 193 of Science and Health, that "As named in Christian Science, animal magnetism or hypnotism is the specific term for error, or mortal mind."

Mrs. Eddy has not undertaken to invent a new kind of evil, nor is the student of Christian Science invited to substitute a mental devil for a physical one. He is invited to use the term animal magnetism as "the specific term for error," because to do so will help him to adjust his thought intelligently to the problems of evil as they appear in his human experience.

Christianity teaches, according to St. Paul, that man lives, moves, and has his being in God, in infinite Spirit. Christians presumably accept St. Paul's statement that "they that are in the flesh cannot please God." Spiritual existence alone is in accord with the design of Deity.

Good men and women in all times have yearned for the realization of spiritual existence, but have found it difficult to resist the attraction of a sense of life not in God, Spirit, but in animal flesh, which, according to the Scriptures, "lusteth against the Spirit." Like St. Paul they could say: "With the mind I myself serve the law of God; but with the flesh the law of sin."

The specific term for anything is the term which reveals its exact or particular nature. Christian Scientists find that the use of the term "animal magnetism" as "the specific term for error" helps them to understand that evil is a false and fraudulent attraction of the sense of life from Spirit into the flesh, and that outside of the mesmeric illusions of this false and fraudulent sense there is and can be no field of operation for evil mental influences or tendencies. Thus the student learns that evil is not a mysterious something to be either feared or ignored, but a common impulse of the mortal mind, or fleshly sense, to be overcome. Through meeting and mastering this fraudulent impulse, on the basis of the essential rightness of God and His creation, the scientific Christian makes himself a channel for divine Love, which is the specific term for the only spiritually real impulse, influence, attraction, or law. Thus he becomes a Christian healer.

RESISTING FALSE INFLUENCE

The activity of Christian Science is not of the nature of mental suggestion or hypnotism. Jesus expounded the rule, "Not my will, but thine, be done." The effort of mental suggestion is to impose one human will upon another. Much that is involved in the so-called laws of evil and disease in human experience can be traced to some such wrong mental activity or mental malpractice. Jesus denounced human will and proclaimed the will of God to be the only real will-power. That rule brought healing to the sick nineteen centuries ago, and it brings healing to the sick today.

The rule, "Not my will, but thine, be done," is, of course, the rule of perfection. God's will is perfect. Thought that is open to the fundamental rightness of being catches something of the spiritual import of Jesus' teaching, and this improved state of mind manifests itself, after its kind, in outward conditions and affairs. Jesus must have meant this when he said regarding one of his healings, "Thy faith hath made thee whole." His affirmation of God's will that man is perfect had encountered a measure of acceptance, and that improved state of mind which he named faith, expressed itself in a corresponding state of body, as states of mind never fail to do. The scientific relationship between state of mind and state of health is affirmed and reaffirmed in the Scriptures.

The study and application of Christian Science will stimulate one's natural capacity to reject the mental suggestions of evil and so to counteract their effects. Christian healing will thus be seen to be the result of the adjustment of thought to the nature of God and His good creation. St. James must have been aware of this when he admonished those who were sick to seek healing through the prayer of the righteous. Mrs. Eddy was spiritually minded enough to pray in that manner and to teach others to do likewise. She devoted herself to that loving mission from the time that she discovered Christian Science.

DISPOSING OF A NEGATION

Having accepted the Scriptural assurance that the author of all reality is good, and the creator of that only which is good, the Christian Scientist does not shun the logical conclusion that evil is not an entity. The teaching of Christian Science, that evil is primarily a negation, may be illustrated by the negativeness of the evil called ignorance.

The schools are devoted to the overcoming of ignorance, yet they do not regard it as something. No time is wasted in the schools in trying to instruct any one as to the origin or elements of ignorance. If a pupil were to demand to know who made ignorance, where it came from and what it consists of, he would have to be told that nobody made ignorance, it does not come from anywhere, nor does it consist of anything. The educator knows that ignorance is not the presence of something but the absence of something, in other words a pure negation. Knowledge of the essential negativeness of ignorance does not tempt the educator to ignore the effects of the negation.

One who has gone to school could not consistently say that it is impossible to comprehend the idea of a purely negative evil, a mere nothing, which yet needs to be positively and vigorously handled and overcome. Christian Scientists accept the definition of evil or devil as given by the Master, namely, that it is "a liar, and the father of lies," and has "no truth" in it; in other words, a self-constituted lie, utterly devoid of truth.

Jesus' practice was consistent with his preaching as regards the nature of evil. The essential nothingness of evil need not be accepted as a mere theory; it can be proved in many ways by those who are willing to adjust their daily thinking to this rule, as explained in the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy.

Y. W. C. A.

A large number of Newton women are helping to further the recently announced program of the Boston Young Women's Christian Association and the Metropolitan Student Association, to secure a service continuation fund of $453,980, covering all financial needs of both organizations until 1932.

Mrs. Samuel Braman, of 187 Park street, Newton, and Mrs. B. Alden Thresher of 188 Collins road, Waban, are serving as vice-chairmen of the committee in charge of securing initial gifts to the fund. Mrs. Thresher is particularly interested in the work of the Metropolitan Student Association, of which she is treasurer, and which carries on Y. W. C. A. work among student nurses at Newton Hospital.

Among the Newton women who are members of Mrs. Braman's and Mrs. Thresher's committees are Mrs. Charles E. Benson, Mrs. Hubert L. Carter, Mrs. Harold B. Cranshaw, Mrs. Albert Everts, Mrs. Robert D. Farrington, Mrs. Paul Goddard, Miss Marion Gordon, Mrs. Henry I. Harman, Mrs. H. C. Hopewell, Mrs. Murray P. Horwood, Mrs. Albert S. Hutchinson, Mrs. Clarence C. Smith, Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., Miss Louise Walworth, and Mrs. Stephen E. Wright.

It will be remembered that last fall the Newton Y. W. C. A. was merged with the Boston City Association, so that the latter now covers the whole field of Y. W. C. A. work in this community.

ELECTED HEAD OF CHURCH GROUP

It will be of interest to many Newton people to learn that Mr. Hayden L. Stright, former director of Religious Education of the Newtonville Methodist Episcopal Church and now general secretary of the Minnesota Council of Religious Education, was elected secretary of the state and regional executive professional advisory section of the International Council of Religious Education at the eighth annual conference of that body in Chicago last week. The section which Mr. Stright will head is comprised of executives and state councils of religious education and includes denominational workers in charge of states and groups of states. Mr. Stright resigned his position at Newtonville in May 1929 to accept his position at St. Paul as general secretary in Minnesota.

NEWTON CO-OPERATIVE BANK

The Annual Meeting of the shareholders of the Newton Co-operative Bank will be held at the Banking Rooms of the Corporation, 299 Walnut Street, Newtonville, Tuesday, March 4, 1930, at 8 o'clock, p. m., to elect officers and directors; to ratify and confirm the acts and the actions taken at the meeting of the shareholders of the bank held February 18, 1930; to act upon the proposed amendments to the By-laws as submitted at the meeting of February 18, 1930; and to transact any other business that may legally come before the meeting.

MARGARET SLATTERY TO SPEAK

Next Sunday afternoon at 3:30, there will be a gathering at the Second Congregational Church, West Newton, of all young people from the church clubs in the vicinity. All the churches from Brookline to Framingham, and from Belmont to Needham will be represented.

Miss Margaret Slattery, a woman of unusual ability and no little fame will be the speaker. Her topic will be, "A Trumpeter Stood in the Street."

A special service has been prepared for the occasion. Miss Constance Dorr will read the Scripture, Mr. Lawrence Littlefield will offer prayer, and Mr. Frank Henry Grebe will lead the Responsive Reading. The Chancel Choir of the Church, under the able leadership of Mr. William Lester Bates will sing. A trumpet soloist from Boston will furnish appropriate selections.

All young people between the ages of 15 to 25 are cordially invited.

The Newton Woman's Christian Temperance Union will hold its next meeting at the Central Congregational Church, Walnut Street, Newtonville, on March 6 at 2:30 o'clock p. m. The speakers will be Mrs. S. S. Stevens, State Director, S. T. I. Dept., and Mrs. Maybelle M. Groves, Middlesex County Director, Paper Department.

DEFENDING PUBLIC HEALTH

America has many more public laundries than any other country in the world. And far less infectious and contagious diseases. The public laundry is called a defender of the Public Health by Doctor Samuel C. Prescott, the world's bacteriological authority and professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Our vast system of public laundries unquestionably furnishes a service which contributes in no small measure to America's health, wealth and happiness. Sending the washing to the public laundry is now an almost universal custom, as it has not only the stamp of the scientist's approval, but that of the housewife as well. Washing-at-home is a drudgery at best, and it always lacks the degree of sterilization attained by the facilities with which the public laundry is equipped.

But the public laundry furnishes more than scientific washing. There has developed an art in the finishing of the cloth. Clothes need no longer have that lifeless handle and feel and dull appearance. They can come home now looking like new. Thus this art of restoring the new effect meets the demand for the esthetic. Laundry work must be not only clean but also beautiful.

Linens must be well washed, but they must also be well ironed. If the new effect is to be reproduced. The ironing can not be effective if the linens are not specially prepared. Cloth is as mysterious as life itself. The cloth of so-called linens is organic matter. Its tiny organisms are dependent upon certain particular conditions for lustreful existence and prolongation. Vital principles govern cloth.

Monks Laundry has given this subject much study. Many tests have been made, and after long research work they have succeeded in discovering what it is that is best in the matter of cloth-finishing. Linens so treated are not only lustreful but regain again and again a sturdy resistance to soil which means that linens stay clean longer and last longer because hard scrubbing in the washing is not needed.

COMMONWEALTH COUNTRY CLUB

On Monday afternoon, March 3, at 2 o'clock, a Play-as-You-Please Card Party will be held at the Commonwealth Country Club, Chestnut Hill, for members of the club and their guests. This affair will be under the direction of Mrs. Albion M. Boothby of Newton and Mrs. Estelle E. Workman of Brookline, assisted by Mmes. William C. Benedict and Robert B. Worden of Newton Centre; Henry John Horn, Chester F. Robart of Brookline; J. Stewart Rooney of Jamaica Plain and Frank C. Shepherd of Chestnut Hill.

PARAMOUNT—NEWTON

Gary Cooper in "Seven Days' Leave" brings a new phase of the World War from the English standpoint at the Paramount theatre, Newton, the first half of next week. The story is that of an orphaned British soldier who is adopted by a charwoman. He does not know her but finds her in the London slums. During his leave she shows him off to the neighbors and is proud of her hero "son." Later he is killed in action and his medals of bravery sent to his adopted mother. The story gives Gary Cooper and Beryl Mercer great opportunity to show their talent. On the same program will be the all-talking and singing comedy "The Girl from Woolworth's," starring Alice White.

For Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Ronald Coleman will be seen in "Condemned," a story of life on Devil's Island, the French Government prison. Ann Harding and Louis Wolheim support Coleman in this exciting tale. "The Aviator" with Edward Everett Horton is the companion picture that completes the bill. It is chock full of laughs.

The theatre management announces that children are welcome at the night performances at half price admission.

Open Evenings

Y. M. C. A.

The members of the Fellowship Club enjoyed very much the talk last Monday evening given by Mr. Clyde B. Long of the General X-Ray Company. He told some very interesting things about light rays, referring especially to those which have health-giving properties.

The speaker for Monday evening, March 3rd, will be Mr. E. M. Wood, Superintendent of Production at the Raytheon Company which has recently located in Newton. He will take for his subject, "The Production of Radio Tubes." Accompanying Mr. Wood will be Dr. P. T. Weeks, one of the outstanding authorities in the world on radio tubes who has promised to answer questions about radio tubes and sets. Dr. Weeks will also demonstrate a few of the uses of photo cells and kimo lamps. Men who are especially interested in this subject are invited to come and hear Mr. Wood who speaks at seven o'clock. Dinner will be served at 6:30. Please make reservation if you are planning to come to the dinner by calling Newton North 0592.

The Board of Directors will meet on Tuesday evening, March 4th.

Physical Department Notes

The Senior Basketball team of the Newton Y. M. C. A. defeated Watertown A. A. Saturday night at the "Y" 47-17. Joe Purcell, captain of the "Y" team, was the star of the game scoring 23 points, while his team mates, Marschner scored 15 and Kohler 10. For the A. A. McDonald and Wellman did all the scoring. The lineup for the "Y" was Marschner and Purcell, forwards; Kohler center, and Marshall and Arnold, guards. For the A. A. McDonald and Wellman played forward, Shield center, and Colligan, McCarthy, and Moran, guards. The referee was Featherstone.

The squash racquets team of the Newton Y. M. C. A. resumes play again Saturday in the Massachusetts Squash racquets Association playing the University Club team at the University Club courts. With four matches to play the "Y" stands in fifth place in the D league having won thirty games and lost twenty. The "Y" team is composed of Arthur Roberts, M. W. Halsey, John L. Sullivan, Ray Millard, and Dwight McCracken.

Another team of the Newton Y. M. C. A. resumes play again Saturday with the volleyball team meeting Malden "Y" at Malden. The following men will represent Newton at Malden: C. W. Benedict, Captain, A. C. Barker, R. M. Keeney, R. M. Patterson, C. B. Floyd, and J. B. Rockwell.

Although Newton Y. M. C. A. and Boston Y. M. C. A. Senior Swimming teams finished tie in the number of points won by each in a dual swimming meet Monday evening at Newton "Y" 33 to 33, Newton had the better individual performance, winning the most first places and the relay race. Arthur Kohler and Edgar Davidson each won two first places. The summary:

Relay Race—Won by Newton. Time 1 min. 28 1/2 sec. Boston—Kennedy, E. Murphy, Lehtonen and Hopson. Newton—Davidson, Hazen, Kimball and Kohler.

40 yard Free Style—1st, Kohler, Newton; 2nd, Hopson, Boston; 3rd, Kimball, Newton. Time 27 3/5 sec.

40 yard Breast Stroke—1st, Davidson, Newton; 2nd, E. Murphy, Boston; 3rd, Hopson, Boston. Time 27 1/5 sec.

100 yard free style—1st, Kohler, Newton; 2nd, Kennedy, Boston; 3rd, A. Murphy, Boston. Time 1 min. 5 sec.

400 yard free style—1st, A. Murphy, Boston; 2nd, Gallagher, Newton; 3rd, Lehtonen, Boston. Time 2 min. 45 1/5 sec.

Diving—1st, Snyder, Boston; 2nd, Sheehan, Boston; 3rd, Hazen, Newton. Saturday, Newton "Y" Swimming Team competes in the swimming championship meet at Lawrence Y. M. C. A. between the Y. M. C. A.'s of Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Newton Y. M. C. A. Wrestling Team came through with another win Saturday evening by defeating the Providence Y. M. C. A. team 11 to 6 at Providence. Newton earned its eleven points by earning two decisions and a fall. The feature bout of the evening was the heavyweight bout when Leo Cormier of Newton "Y" threw his man in less than two minutes of wrestling. The next match for Newton will be Saturday evening, March 8th, when the championship wrestling meet of the Y. M. C. A.'s of Massachusetts and Rhode Island will be held at the Newton "Y" gym.

The Newton Y. M. C. A. Junior Basketball team trimmed the Owls from the Boston Y. M. C. A. 67 to 11 in a one-sided game at the Newton "Y" gym Saturday evening. The points for Newton were scored as follows: Patterson center 18, Kasper center and left guard 16, Benson left forward 10, Dunbrack right guard 9, Capt. Earle left forward 8, Bass right forward 2. The individual scoring record does not tell the whole story for it was the splendid passing and fine defense played by all, which made the large score possible.

Swimming in their best form of the season the Newton Y. M. C. A. Junior swimmers took every first place and made remarkable time in all of the events at the Newton Y. M. C. A. last Saturday evening. The relay was won by Newton with Jack, Adams, Guthrie, and McNamara making up the team. The 20 yard free style was won by Guthrie of Newton, with Willard of Boston 2nd and Smith of Boston 3rd. The time was 10 seconds. The 20 yard breast stroke was won by McNamara of Newton with Willard and Bigwood of Boston finishing 2nd and 3rd. The time was 12 4/5 sec. The 20 yard back stroke was won by Batstone of Newton, Guthrie of Newton 2nd and Willard of Boston 3rd. The time 12 4/5 sec. The 100 yard free style was won by Jack of Newton, Adams, Newton 2nd, and Smith, Boston, 3rd. The time 12 1/5 sec. The Dives were won by McNamara of Newton, Chandler of Boston 2nd, and Wittensof Newton "Y" 3rd. The Junior team goes to Lawrence Saturday to compete in the Y. M. C. A. Two-State Championships.

Visitor's Request Left City Manager Guessing

The city manager stepped out of the City hall and started towards his office. A man carrying two heavy grips addressed him.

"Pardon me," he said, "how much do you know about this town?"

"Why, I am fairly familiar with it," the city manager replied. "Why do you ask?"

"Well, I've asked three policemen how to get out to an address in Ingleside, and they told me to take a bus on this street," the stranger said. He was perspiring, somewhat, and it was evident that he was not a little peeved. "I got on a bus and the driver told me he didn't go that way at all. I want to know just where I stand, anyway."

"All right, sir," the city manager replied; "you come with me." And the city manager took one grip and started down the street. He stopped at the health department, called an inspector and told him to get a car. "Take this man where he wants to go," he said.

When the car had gone the city manager confided to bystanders that as a matter of fact he couldn't have told the man how to get to the Ingleside address, either, and that he'd look it up right away.—Norfolk Virginian-Pilot.

Great Writers Worked Under Odd Conditions

A new game for the students of the history of literature, writes the Paris correspondent of the London Observer, is to examine the physical conditions under which famous writers did their work. For some, tobacco was indispensable. Verlaine used to smoke almost incessantly. So did Francois Coppee, and Huysmans was a great cigarette smoker. Both of these men also found the society of cats a stimulant to their inspiration, as did Theophile Gautier and Baudelaire. The story and vigorous Jean Richepin, who reproached Paul Bourget for drinking nothing but water, used to do twenty minutes of gymnastic exercise before sitting down to work, and Mistral could only write poetry after a sharp walk. Ernest Renan used to stare into the palm of his hand as if his ideas came from there. Balzac, who could eat with a gargantuan appetite when he had finished working, needed the help neither of wine nor tobacco, which he detested, although Lamartine falsely accused him of showing teeth blackened by the nicotine of cigars. Chateaubriand, when he dictated to his secretary, used to walk barefoot up and down the cold stone floor of his room.

Origin of "Head Tax"

In days gone by in British history, head tax was really a tax on the head. In the middle of the Eighteenth century the wig ceased to head the poll, and the "Marcaronis" wore hair-powder instead. Then, in 1705, Pitt framed a new tax, and every person sporting the powder was forced to invest in an annual certificate costing a guinea. In 1796 the tax yielded £210,136, but the "guinea pigs" soon refused to face powder. The tax changed the fashion. The powder-puff, the powder knife, and the powder mask disappeared, curled and oiled whiskers, and short cropped heads crept in for the masters, and the powder fell on the heads of the manservants.—Montreal Herald.

Authors Who Despised Books

While it is natural to assume that all authors are devoted readers and advocate reading for others, it is pointed out that de Maupassant said books "made one narrow, they misrepresented life, indulged in deception and gave the mind false direction," and Rousseau declared that he "hated books; they teach people to talk about things they do not understand." Further, Emile Zola compared authors in general to "sausagemakers who prepared their stuff for others while sedulously not eating any themselves."

Napoleon No Scholar

Napoleon did not distinguish himself in school. As one writer puts it: Napoleon's scholastic career was not brilliant and he received his commission in the artillery in 1785 without having given evidence of any marked ability, except, perhaps, that of holding his own counsel and of carrying through to the end any attitude adopted. These traits, which afterward made him feared equally in the council chamber and on the battlefield, he inherited from his mother.

Cleaning Steel Pens

The bureau of standards says the deposit left by the drying of ordinary writing ink on steel pens consists of iron sulphate, gallic and tannic acids, dye, phenol and perhaps some gummy matter. There may also be substances formed by the oxidation and polymerization of the gallic and tannic acids. No one liquid will remove all of these substances. Hydrochloric or sulphuric acid will loosen the deposit, but will corrode the pens and be bad for the skin and clothing.

Guam's Forest Acres

On the island of Guam, the largest and most thickly populated of the Marianas, there are about 6,400 acres of forest. A tree known as lili, hard and heavy at the center, is the most important wood on the island. It makes very sturdy furniture and is beautiful when kept highly polished.

AN EXPENSIVE ITEM

"How is your new hand getting on?" asked Farmer Giles, when he met Farmer Jones during an evening stroll to the village hostelry.

"He broke two spade handles yesterday," replied Farmer Jones.

"What! Is he working as hard as that?" exclaimed Giles in surprise.

But Jones made things clearer as he said bitterly: "No; leaning on them."

His Business

"Then if I buy a house on this estate, can you guarantee that the roads will be properly made up and the footpaths paved?"

"Oh, yes, sir. That is already arranged."

"Good. It is rather important—you see, I'm a pavement artist!"—Ayrshire Advertiser.

Prehistoric Styles

Flintrazor (the barber)—Just trim the ends, I s'pose? I remember you said your bride liked to toy with your crisp curls.

Bonescraper (the bridegroom)—That was before we were married. Clip it close to the scalp so she can't get a grip on it.

Damaged the Bridge Work

Hortense—And they say he is a fellow who makes violent love to a girl. Marjorie—I'll say he does! Why, last evening he kissed me four times right on the bridge.

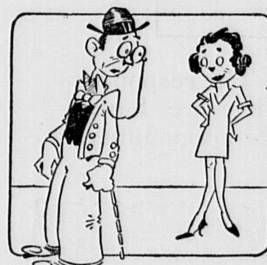

Hortense—Goodness gracious! And now you will have to go to the dentist to have the bridge repaired, of course.

Verification

"Do you take care to verify all you say?"

"Invariably," answered Senator Sorghum. "Even if something I announce isn't yet true, I put it in the form of a prediction and try to make it come true later on."

NOT CONGENIAL

"Why does Tom seem to shun the society of ladies?"

"Well, you see, he doesn't smoke."

Sure Is

When you have got a car That's new and sporty, It's doggone hard to keep It down to "forty."

Would Be Worth It

"I'd give anything if you would kiss me."

"But the scientists says that kisses breed disease."

"Oh, never mind that. Go ahead, and make me an invalid for life."

Fine, Indeed!

Ruskin Bill is in court charged with exceeding the auto speed limit. "What's the matter with you," asked the judge. "Didn't you read the signs along the road?"

"Sure," replied Bill. "They read 'Fine for Speeding.'"

No Head for Business

"I don't know what to do with this mongrel," moaned Jones. "I've done my best to give him away."

"Give him away?" protested his up-and-doing wife. "That's no way to get rid of a dog. Ask $25 for him."

Scared Him Off

Mother—Mabel's young man has taken offense at something. Have you said anything to him?

Father—Not a word. I haven't seen him since I mailed him the last quarter's bill.

PARTLY TRUE

"Why, you don't even know what economy is."

"Sure I do! It's a way of spending money without getting any fun out of it."

All for Efficiency

I eat my peas with honey, I've done it all my life, They do taste kind of funny, But it keeps them on the knife.

No Reason at All

"What caused your husband to leave home?"

"I haven't the least idea. He just packed up and left the morning after my mother and two sisters came to spend the winter with us."

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

The date for the Annual Convention of the Norumbega District Council of Religious Education will be Tuesday, March 25, and the speaker is to be Dr. Theodore G. Soares of the University of Chicago. We are fortunate to secure him, and have to take the date stated because he is here in the East at that time.

This date necessitates a change in the last evening of the training schools in Newtonville and Waltham. After careful consideration of evenings available for the training school, it was decided to insert an extra session of the school on Monday, March 17, so as to have the school finished and credits ready to award at the Annual Convention.

The Newton Centre Young People's Council is the first of the smaller local councils to get under way. Last Monday evening they ran an interesting social, called an Indoor Mock Athletic Meet, attended by a large number of young people from the five churches of the Centre.

All the Y. P. Councils of Norumbega District are assisting in promotion of attendance for the Young People's Vesper Service, to be held at 3:30 p. m. on Sunday, March 2, in the Second Church, West Newton, with Miss Margaret Slattery as speaker. Her subject will be "A Trumpeter Stood in the Street." This service is under the Y. P. Committee of the Greater Boston Federation of Churches. The floor of the church will be reserved for young people; teachers and leaders admitted to the gallery only.

Rev. John W. Spiers was the leader at the Newtonville Training School Assembly last Tuesday evening; Rev. T. R. Burns of Waltham assisted in the Waltham School in this capacity. Last Sunday the Executive Secretary of the District Council visited one of the Waltham churches where a most decided improvement in the work of the church school is to be observed, and where credit for this improvement is most decidedly to be traced to the influence of the District Council over a period of six or seven years. Many instances of similar progress are to be seen in a large number of the churches.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NEWS

The Endeavorers of Weston Baptist Church are planning a social next Monday evening to which the young people of the Newton Centre Baptist, Lexington Baptist and Wayland Congregational Churches have been invited. The social will be under the leadership of Edward Simpson, president of Norumbega Union. Each group is asked to prepare a short stunt or sketch, to be given preceding the social hour.

The C. E. Consecration Meeting next Sunday evening at the Newton North Congregational Church will be under the leadership of Robert Frye who will take as his subject "Faith and What it Does."

The young people of the Newton Upper Falls Baptist Church will hold their first C. E. Meeting Sunday, March 9th, at 6 P. M. Mr. Edward Simpson will speak to the young people, telling them the aims and duties of the organization. All young people are invited to attend this meeting.

Clayton Foster, ex-president of the Lincoln Park Baptist C. E. Society, will be in charge of the meeting at that church next Sunday. Newton Jones, president of the society, was among the group of Endeavorers who attended a week-end party at East Northfield last week, hiking, horseback riding, etc., being enjoyed by the entire party.

Recent Engagements

Reverend and Mrs. John Daboll of Brookline announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Eleanor Daboll, to Lawrence W. Trowbridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Trowbridge of Newton.

Miss Daboll was graduated from Wellesley College in 1925 and from the department of Hygiene and Physical Education in 1926. During the past three years she has been teaching in the North Carolina College for Women in Greensboro. At present she is a member of the faculty of Wellesley College. Mr. Trowbridge is a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Class of 1922.

At a luncheon and bridge given at the Nashua Country Club, Mr. and Mrs. James Tolles of West Newton and Nashua, New Hampshire, announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Betty Tolles, to Frederick Whiting Patch of Framingham Centre, Mass. Miss Tolles is a graduate of Miss Niel's School in Boston and is principal of a kindergarten in Nashua. Mr. Patch is the son of Dr. Frank W. and Mrs. Kate Whiting Patch. He is business manager of the Woodsie Cottages in Framingham Centre.

Mrs. Elizabeth S. Newton of 21 Oak terrace, Newton Highlands, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Elinor Fales Newton, to Randall Webster Weeks, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Weeks of Boston and Reading. Miss Newton attended Miss Sacker's School of Design and also the school of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston. Mr. Weeks is a graduate of Boston University.

Letters To The Editor

QUAKER LANE

To the Editor,
Dear Sir:
Some weeks ago you printed an article in reference to "Quaker Lane" of Boston. Last week, Wednesday, the Street Commissioners of Boston granted a hearing, and since there was no opposition, "Quaker Lane" is again on the map of Boston.

What is now known as Congress Square is to be Quaker Lane. Congress Square runs from Congress street along side of the Monks' Building, which is No. 35. From 1710 to 1825, there stood, where the Monks' Building now is, the Friends Meeting House. They had a plot of land 55 feet front and 160 feet deep, which is practically from Congress street to Devonshire street in that block. Congress Square also enters from State street, just opposite the State House, and from Devonshire street in the rear of the first building on State street, which gives a rear entrance to all those buildings in the block, bounded by State, Water, Congress and Devonshire.

The last surviving member of this Meeting was one Ebenezer Pope, a tailor, and it was his custom in his last days to carry the key of the Meeting House, and faithfully open the door and enter on the first (Sunday) and fourth (Wednesday) days of the week. He left his library, and the residue of his estate to the Boston Monthly Meeting of Friends. This fund has grown and still exists. It is for the purpose of building an Alms House for members of Boston Monthly Meeting. So far, there have not been sufficient Friends in need to construct such a building, and the fund continues to increase.

Very truly yours,
S. PAUL TOWNSEND,
Newton Highlands.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Edited by EMMMA D. COOLIDGE

COMING EVENTSWaban Woman's Club

A most interesting and unusual event is planned for Waban Woman's Club, for Monday, March 3rd. An all-day affair, with various interests, sight-seeing, open house for testible members, a cafeteria lunch to test ingenuity, and exhibits of all manner of home interest, including electrical work-saving devices, home-cooked food, and various articles for sale, not to mention moving pictures, promise a delightful combination of surprises and informing demonstrations on this day that has been appropriately named American Home Day.

Management of the entire affair is in the hands of Mrs. J. Earle Parker. Mrs. Horace W. Shepard is chairman of Transportation; Mrs. W. E. Newbert, chairman of Exhibits and of the Food Sale at the church; Mrs. James R. Chandler, chairman of Demonstration of Household Electrical Appliances; Mrs. Harry N. Matthews, chairman of the Art Department Exhibit; Mrs. John E. Upham, chairman of the Luncheon; and Mrs. Louis W. Arnold is in charge of Moving Pictures.

The morning, from 10 to 12 o'clock, will be devoted to sight-seeing. The oldest church in Newton, St. Mary, on Concord road, Newton Lower Falls; the St. Philip Neri Church, in Waban; and the Lucy Jackson D. A. R. Chapter House, will be open for inspection.

The following members of the Club will have Open House: Mrs. Clarence H. Day, of 142 Neshobe road; Mrs. Chester Churchill, of 20 Holly road; Mrs. George R. Angus, of 230 Windsor road; Mrs. John A. Moir, of 401 Woodward street; Mrs. Harry Armstrong, of 268 Woodward street, and Mrs. Harry N. Matthews, of 60 Carlton road.

From 12 to 1:30 o'clock, a cafeteria luncheon will be served at the Union Church. At this time there will also be an exhibition here of various articles, and food for sale. The Art Department of the Club is featuring an interesting Art Exhibit, and there will be a demonstration of Household Electric Appliances.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon there will be a short business meeting at the Club House, followed by a ten-minute talk by Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, who will tell the Club about Newton's part in the Tercentenary Celebration.

Later there will be a demonstration of Electric Equipment, and Mrs. Margaret Welmer Heywood will talk on Afternoon Tea Suggestions. An informal tea will conclude the program.

Great interest is being shown in Carl Sandburg's lecture on "Abraham Lincoln", which the Literature Department of the Waban Woman's Club is sponsoring on the evening of March first, in the Angier School Hall, in Waban.

The Education committee of the Waban Woman's Club will hold their monthly Open Meeting, on Wednesday, March 5th, at the home of Mrs. Alexander S. MacMillan, chairman of the committee. Miss Sturges, Newton Schools' Psychologist, will speak on "School Adjustment Problems."

Shakespeare Club

Mrs. F. S. Keith opens her home, 20 Hartford street, for the meeting of the Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands, on Saturday afternoon, March 1st, at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Charles H. Keeler is in charge of the Quiz on Acts I and II of the "Merchant of Venice", which is the program for the meeting.

Newton Mothers Club

The Mothers Club and the Mothers Council will meet together at the home of Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson, of 21 Temple street, West Newton, on Monday, March 3rd at 2 o'clock. The speaker of the afternoon will be Madam Marguerite Clement, and her subject will be "A Frenchwoman's View of American and French Women."

The hostesses for the afternoon are: from the Mothers Council, Mrs. W. B. Balan, Mrs. Kenneth E. Downs, and Mrs. Robert A. Whidden, and from the Mothers Club, Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson, Mrs. Natt W. Emerson, and Mrs. William T. Glidden, Jr.

Auburndale Review Club

The Auburndale Review Club will hold its next regular meeting at the home of Mrs. George F. Howland, of 21 Vista street, West Newton, on Tuesday, March 4th, at 10 o'clock, when such timely topics as "Political Accomplishments of the League of Nations", the paper presented by Mrs. George P. Knapp; and "Public Health Accomplishments of the League", given by Mrs. Herbert Longfellow, will instruct the members.

Newtonville Woman's Club

"All the World and Ourselves" is the attractive subject of the discussion which Dr. Frank Bohn will deliver before the Newtonville Woman's Club at its regular meeting, on Tuesday, March 4th at 2:30 p. m. Dr. Bohn is a traveler and journalist of long experience, admirably fitted to interpret current history.

Miss Dorothy Curtis will be the pianist of the afternoon.

The Art committee is already making plans for the annual Arts and Crafts Exhibit to be held on April first. This exhibit is a community project, and the committee is anxious to get in touch with any artist or craftsman not yet known to them.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

On Thursday, March 6th, at 10:30 a. m., the Literature committee of the Newton Centre Woman's Club offers the final lecture in a course of five which have been held in the Club parlor. Single admission of 75 cents may be paid at the door. The speaker is to be Laura Simmons, Author and Poet. Her subject will be "This Poetry Business" with readings, grave and gay, original and otherwise.

Miss Hannah L. Bond, President of the Junior Woman's Club, announces that the Club will give its annual play on March 14th, at 8:00 o'clock, the tickets being 50 cents. As the proceeds always go to charity, there will be a double interest in this event. Miss Martha Wight, as chairman of the Dramatics committee, has chosen the play entitled, "Coney Turb the Trick", a comedy by Erasmus Osgood. The characters in the play will be portrayed by the Misses Mary Elizabeth Greene, Phoebe Coombs, Catherine Hayden, Dorothy Gould, Ruth Brandt, Ruth Bergerson, Kathleen Fuller and Priscilla Widger.

Mrs. Charles Allen Riley, chairman of the American Home committee, suggests that there is still opportunity to make application for the Course of Cooking lessons, to be given by the popular Mrs. Margaret Welmer Hayward, of Fall River, on the first three Wednesdays in March, from 10 to 12 a. m.

Social Science Club

There will be no meeting of the Social Science Club, Ash Wednesday, March 5th.

Auburndale Woman's Club

Dramatics is the delightful entertainment planned for the evening of Thursday, March 6th, for members of the Auburndale Woman's Club, and of the Business and Professional Group of this Club. At 8 o'clock, in the Clubhouse, a cast, composed of Club members, will present two short plays, and there will be further hospitality of music with songs by Mrs. Ritchie, and of refreshments. The evening is for members only, and while many who would like to be guests at this popular program, will be disappointed, this promises amusement that is only possible in the intimacy of the home group.

STATE FEDERATION

STYLE CONFERENCE. A most attractive Conference, arranged by the Art committee, of which Mrs. Elsie Chamberlain is chairman, will be held on Wednesday, March 5th at the Copley Plaza Hotel, with the title "Making Style Worth While".

The work of the committee this year has been directed toward arousing public consciousness in regard to beauty in articles which can be purchased at moderate prices. The Boston Chamber of Commerce is also interested in this work and has arranged an elaborate program covering the entire week which includes displays in all the large stores and many interesting events. The committee arranged the Conference for this week so that Clubwomen could take advantage of as many of these exhibits as possible. While the program can not be given in full, at present, the subjects discussed will be as follows:

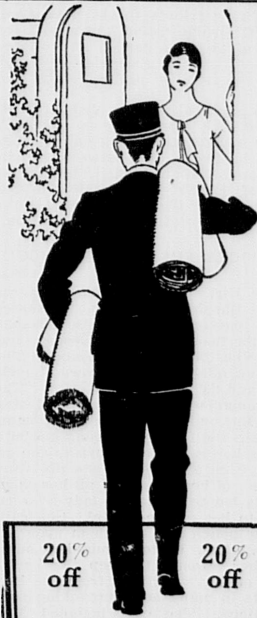

"Style and Fashion in Furniture," by Miss Lillian Beckett, stylist of the R. H. White Company; "Are Pictures in Fashion," by Miss Margery Currey, of the American Art Bureau; "The Fashion Trend in Silk Design," by Mr. Kneeland Green, of the Stehli Silk Company, New York; "The Decorative Possibilities of Cotton," by Miss Clayburger, of the Women's Home Companion; and, finally, the fascinating topic, "What Has the New Mode in Dress to Offer You?"

The Conference will have three sessions, one in the morning from 10:30 to 12:30; a luncheon session from 12:30 to 2:00; and an afternoon session from 2:00 to 4:00 o'clock.

All of these talks will be illustrated in a most practical way. Cards of admission may be obtained, without charge, from Mrs. Chester Aldrich, 207 Newbury street, Boston. Tickets for the luncheon are $1.75. Reservations, with check, should reach Mrs. Aldrich not later than March first. Miss Margery Currey will be available for two or three days before or after the lecture if any Club should desire to have her speak and may be engaged by writing to her at 130 57th street, New York City.

As the Conference is sure to be crowded, on account of the popularity of the subjects discussed and the interesting speakers, each outstanding in his own line, Clubwomen should write for tickets early. Every Art chairman will receive a few tickets for free distribution, but if they wish any more they should not wait too long before writing for them.

RADIO. Senator Gasper G. Bacon, president of the Senate, will broadcast on the subject: "Clubwomen and Good Legislation", from WNAC, next Wednesday morning, March 5th, at 11:30 o'clock. Mrs. Fred L. Pigeon, chairman of Legislation, is to make the introduction. Louis Shaffrin, Tenor, and Jessie Fleming Vose, Pianist, are to entertain at 11:40. Mr. William Roger Greeley, a trustee of State Public Reservations, guest speaker for the Department of Conservation (Continued on Page 17)

Another Graduate Studebaker Service Man in our organization

A Certificate of Attendance has just been issued to George Sumner for satisfactory completion of a course at the Field Service School conducted by The Studebaker Corporation of America at Boston, Mass.

All of this new knowledge which he brings back to this city is going to benefit our service station—make it more up-to-the-minute. But it's going to benefit Studebaker and Erskine owners, too—in better and more economical service.

This award inspires every man in our organization to give every owner the most careful and willing service at all times.

Our stock of genuine parts and our interest in your obtaining maximum satisfaction from your car, are further assurances that you will receive courteous, capable treatment in our service station.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

There is no street in the City of Newton more in need of resurfacing than Washington street. It is used more for local traffic than any main highway in this city. Starting at the Brighton line, it runs through the business sections of Newton Corner, Newtonville, West Newton and Newton Lower Falls. It has been in poor condition for a number of years. It is constantly growing worse. Last year citizens were assured by the City Government that the abandoned tracks of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway would be removed from Washington street without undue delay and the long needed improvement of the street made. Comparatively short stretches of tracks were removed at Newton and West Newton. The remainder of the tracks still remain. The archaic type of tar permeated macadamized surface on this street contains thousands of patches.

Because of the intention of the Metropolitan Commission to lay a 60-inch water main along Washington street from Waltham street, West Newton, to Peabody street, Newton, it is probable that the long needed repairs on Washington street will not be made until the huge main will have been laid. If the laying of this big pipe were to be done within the coming summer it would be the sensible thing for the city to defer improving Washington street until the water project had been finished. But if this work is not to be done in the near future by the Metropolitan Water Commission, Washington street should not be allowed to continue in its present condition.

Over a year ago the Board of Aldermen, deferring to patrons of the Community Theatre, changed the traffic ordinances so that parking in the business section at Newton would be unrestricted from 7 p. m. until 7 a. m. except on Saturday nights and nights before holidays. On such nights the parking was to be limited to 30 minutes so that customers of the stores at Newton Corner would have opportunity for parking facilities while shopping. Police Chief Burke did not favor the change from the 30 minutes limit to unrestricted night parking because he contended that autoists would not obey the restrictions on Saturday nights. He was correct. For a number of Saturday nights the police have been tagging the cars of these autoists who ignore the rights of the Newton Corner merchants and their customers by parking automobiles during the length of the theatre performances. Either the Saturday night parking restriction will be obeyed or it is probable that the former 30 minutes restriction will be put into effect every night. The business men at Newton Corner pay high taxes and are entitled to fair consideration.

A fitting tribute to the memory of John C. Chaffin would be the perpetuation of the rose garden he loved so well. This garden should be fenced in by the city and properly cared for.

One practical way for Newton to observe the twentieth century is to repair and complete the memorial to John Elliot in the valley between Nonantum and Waban hills. This is the site of Elliot's first mission to the Indians and it is commemorated in the official seal of the City of Newton.

SUCCESSFUL PERFORMANCE

The Girl's Club of Church of the Good Shepherd, Waban, presented three one-act plays at the Waban Neighborhood Club, Wednesday evening, Feb. 26th, at eight o'clock, "The Kleptomaniac," "The Borrowed Luncheon" and "The Other Woman." "The Kleptomaniac" tells the story of Mrs. Jack Burton, a young society woman, who has the facility of losing and mislaying her valuables. Just as she returns from a musical she discovers the loss of her purse and all her rings. She is led to suspect a lady who sat next to her at the recital. She calls up the police and sets them upon her track. Mrs. Burton finds her purse and her attempt to keep the knowledge of her suspicions from the lady results in many laugh-provoking complications. The cast included Marjorie Jones, Elizabeth Roe, Suzanne Gifford, Willetta Mosser, Marjorie Cady, Ruth Barry and Elizabeth Young. "The Borrowed Luncheon" hinges on the fact that Mrs. Bancroft a lady in straitened circumstances in order to keep up appearances borrows a friend's house to entertain some folks from home town at a luncheon. Everything goes nicely until the loss of a brooch necessitates the return of the guests to the house later and through the stupidity of the maid the truth about the luncheon is made known with no end of embarrassment to the hostess. The cast included Janet McMullin, Peggy Barry, Jane Cady, Virginia Elmer and Peggy Le Clear. In "The Other Woman," two young women who have been school friends for years discover they are both in love with the same man. Mrs. Graham who is about to give her answer that night gives up the man she loves to the friend she has known so long, and thus makes the supreme sacrifice. Helen and Elizabeth Ellis share honors in this play. An added feature of the evening was the introduction of a number of young people from Caney Creek, Kentucky, who are crusading through the eastern states telling of their mountain school.

The plays were coached by Miss Estelle Marsh of Newtonville, Mrs. Ruthen Ellis, Business Manager, Mrs. Henry Short, Stage Manager, Mrs. Marjorie K. Mason, Prompter, Mrs. R. A. McMullin and Mrs. P. S. Mosser, make up. Mr. Henry Short, Mr. Homer Tilton, Lighting. The music was furnished by Richard Mason's Orchestra and dance folk. The ushers were: Janet and Charlotte Upham, Eleanor and Harriet Brown, Louise and Peggy Burton, Ethel and Mary Richards, Marguerite Brandt, Elizabeth Adams, Julie Stevenson and Katharine Protou.

ROTARY CLUB

The regular weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club of Newton was held on Monday, February 24th, at the Woodland Golf Club at 12:15. President Charles D. Ansley presiding.

Visiting Rotarians from Worcester, Watertown, Boston, and Rumford, Me., were welcomed at this meeting.

Harry H. Hanson, Chairman of the Program Committee, introduced as the speaker Mr. Harold O. Cook, Chief Forester of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

It was surprising what an important factor wood is in our daily life as explained by Mr. Cook, as it enters into practically everything we use each day. It is one of the few resources which is abundant in New England, two-thirds of the land being covered with some kind of forest growth. Nevertheless, a great deal of wood is now coming to New England from the Pacific Northwest and a strenuous effort is being made by the State Forestry Department to maintain our wood supply.

There are between two and three thousand forest fires a year in Massachusetts, principally due to carelessness, and the Commonwealth has established forty-three watch towers and maintains a large crew and fire fighting equipment that work in conjunction with the District Fire Wardens to suppress this needless loss of our forest lands.

There are forty-five State forests in Massachusetts and $350,000.00 per year is spent in this work. An appropriation has just been made of $25,000.00 for the relief of the unemployed in Massachusetts at the present time. This will give work for several months to three hundred men.

Karl W. Switzer, who has been confined to his home for the past two months, was present at the meeting on Monday, and the members of the Club were greatly pleased to have him with them again.

The Mather Class

Doctor George B. Cressey lectured on "Looking at America from Overseas" last Sunday morning at the regular weekly meeting of the Mather Class at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House.

Doctor Cressey has been in China for six years, and now, upon his return to America, he finds many significant changes. Such a long absence gives one a detached viewpoint. When you are a long way off, perched on a camel crossing the Gobi Desert, you have plenty of time for reflection. You are outside of your old familiar environment, and this makes it possible to get a perspective and think back and think through the problems that face America.

Here in America we have had a superabundance of land. Between 26° and 55° North Latitude is located what is geographically one of the most attractive sections of the world for a homeland. There is no place in the world with so many advantages for development. In 1858 Abraham Lincoln said, in a campaign speech, that we were going to free the slaves. A man interrupted and said that he was a free white farmer. What did he get? Lincoln replied that he should have land. In 1862 the Homestead Act was passed, by which anyone who wanted to settle on the land and work it could have 160 acres. We even gave the railroads land as an inducement to extend their lines.

Now the good, free land is gone. There is a lot of land in Nevada and Utah that is useless until expensive irrigation and reclamation projects have been completed.

We are fortunate in possessing vast mineral wealth. We have over half the coal in the world, most of the iron, 2-3 of the petroleum, and the bulk of the world's copper. About all that we lack are tin and nickel. We have pretty much everything else that is necessary for our material development. Other nations lack many things, and so their industrial development is necessarily retarded. Our forests and water power are only partially developed. Soil, climate, mineral wealth, and many other fortunate factors have entered into our development.

A Chinese student, coming to this country for the first time, told Doctor Cressey that she was surprised at our villages and country life, with the simple homes and home life. It was a strange revelation. Universal education was another cause of astonishment. Every library that she visited had its section for children with a collection of children's books. All this interested her because it was so different from what she had known before she came here. These were high lights in her experience.

America has made enormous progress in the development of comfort and the things that make life pleasant. The country has gradually filled up. Free land has been practically exhausted. New railroads are not needed. We have accumulated a surplus of energy and capital. We were a self contained country until the Great War. We were so busy growing up that we were not greatly concerned about the rest of the world. Now we have grown up and begun to spill over. Our exports go everywhere. The electric power and light facilities at Shanghai, China, were recently purchased by Americans for millions of dollars. Our interests are all over the planet. We are concerned in the political, social, and economic development of other countries. There is talk about our indulging in some sort of leadership of other parts of the world. Doctor Cressey did not develop this subject and distinguish between the different kinds of leadership, such as, where we are invited or requested to solve somebody else's transient problems, or where we may crash in with ideas of our own where we are not wanted. This is a large subject and a most delicate one.

Doctor Cressey elaborated upon three major problems of the utmost importance, which must necessarily engage our best attention here at home. Our success in handling these matters will be important factors in determining what sort of influence we may have on the world at large.

All three are problems which involve our methods of handling the following three kinds of surpluses:

1. Surplus of capital.
2. Surplus of leisure.
3. Surplus of energy.

The first surplus relates to money. We have more money than anybody else in the world. That alone is a problem. Absentee ownership is becoming more and more of a menace. When farms are owned by city folks, you have the owner interested in nothing but his income and the tenant caring for nothing but immediate, quick profits. The situation is not good for the farm or the nation. We have great corporations composed of hordes of stockholders, who want their dividends, but who know little and care less about the industry and the details of management. It would do the individual stockholder little good to attempt to do anything about his company because of his small stock interest. This separation of ownership and management is creating a steadily increasing difficulty in modern American life.

Our second surplus is energy or ability. We have plenty. What shall we do with it? Hitherto we have used it to cut down the primeval forests, build railroads, erect bridges, etc. Most of this development is all done now. In New England we have gathered the many stones in our fields and built stone walls with them to get them out of the way. There are not many more stones to move. Nowadays we work hard to make money and then require an excessive reaction from our excessive exertions. We go on a tear for pleasure. Perhaps we might well ponder the habits of those people who take their pleasure in their tasks. Such folks do not have to run off to the movies the moment the whistle blows to quit work. It is perfectly true that there is little thrill in typewriting or in composing letters in which one has no personal interest. It is, however, of great importance to strive, at least, to perform some creative tasks for the well-being of society and thus use our energy, which is going to waste, for something worth while.

Our third surplus is leisure. If the 5-day week is generally adopted, and that in turn becomes a 4-day week, what are we going to do with all that spare time? Can we use the extra time to help do other tasks better? One thing commonly recommended is constructive recreation, whatever that is. Good movies are desirable, but are obtainable only if public opinion demands them.

Prof. Mather will be back next Sunday. He will speak on "The True Story of the Gospels."

The next Sunday Evening Round Table will be held next Sunday, March 2, at 6 p. m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Copeland, 53 Gray Cliff road, Newton Centre. The subject for discussion will be the very interesting one, "Salvation." Each lady is requested to bring sandwiches enough for three.

GEORGE DEXTER FROST.

THE TICKET TAKER

"How would you like to have the job of greeting nearly 10,000 persons a week?" You may say it would be very tiresome and tedious. "No," says one who has done it for years, but rather it is a very fascinating and interesting work to say nothing of the educational possibilities in human nature and crowd psychology. The hero in this story is Mr. James Ferguson, most everyone in Newton knows him not by name but for his welcome smile and courteous treatment of the Paramount Theatre patrons.

From the small boy or girl at the matinee to the staid ladies and gentlemen who enter the portals of the theatre in the evenings, Mr. Ferguson answers hundreds of questions every day from "What time is it?" to "Have you seen a little girl with red hair, blue dress and hazel eyes and twelve years old—?" (they are never twelve years old in Newton especially at the kiddies' matinee) and always greets the question with a smile and a "thank you." Patrons of all ages are friendly toward Mr. Ferguson, the elderly ones usually nod, and the ladies smile.

Mr. Ferguson is a veteran at handling crowds having been at one of the large downtown theatres for a long time before coming to the Paramount. He knows what to do in case of emergency, he has learned the valuable art of quieting the boy who sometimes likes to become just a little too noisy for the enjoyment of the fellow patrons and he has a reassuring manner but if necessary he uses force but always comes back with that Public Service smile. Everyone receives a "thank you" when his ticket is given and occasionally where he knows the patrons' name he uses it. He is a great picture fan and knows just the type of picture most patrons like and he always keeps them posted.

challenges comparison with any radio at any price

VICTOR RADIO R-32
The world's finest radio receiver in a simple, modern, compact cabinet. Anyone can afford it at $155 list price, less Radiotrons.

VICTOR RADIO ELECTROLA RE-75
A sumptuously beautiful instrument; the last word in luxury. Same equipment as RE-45; cabinet of extraordinary richness and classical design. List price, $350, less Radiotrons.

Victor Performance:

We have investigated, tested and compared, and we can find no radio instrument to surpass Victor's all-around performance, in sensitivity, selectivity, fidelity.

Victor Tone:

Tone—which means brilliancy, color, actual realism, utterly convincing reproduction of what the broadcasting microphone receives. Scientific measuring instruments, impartial and infallible, have proven that Victor's tone range extends higher and lower than that of any other commercial radio instrument. EAR-TEST reveals Victor Radio Tone as absolutely beyond comparison. Tone is the soul of music—music is the soul of radio. Listen for tone instead of sales-talk.

Victor Appearance:

Victor has designed almost the only really distinctive radio cabinets; beautiful, dignified, distinguished and backed by Victor's thirty-year experience and reputation in the cabinet-making industry. A Victor instrument is all-Victor built.

Victor Reputation:

Victor's standards of quality are known in every country in the world. Victor experience and Victor achievements in sound reproduction, extend in unbroken sequence through the past thirty years. The Victor trademark is a guarantee of excellence.

Victor Value:

Victor value is a known quantity. Rightly and fairly priced from the beginning, Victor Radio cannot become bargain-counter merchandise. Your satisfaction depends on what you get, not what you spend. Victor gives you more for your money—and new Victor Radio is sold at the lowest prices ever asked for Victor instruments of such quality.

By Special Arrangement

We have made arrangements to place Victor Radio, in any one of the four beautiful models, in your home for demonstration. You can enjoy, test and compare the instrument without disturbance, distraction or high-pressure salesmanship. It will cost nothing, it will not obligate you, to make this home test. Come—while our stock is complete—and select the instrument you wish to hear at home.

The Court of Awards met on February 25th at Headquarters; Mrs. Norman Bingham presided at the meeting, and various problems of the Merit Badge system were discussed, as well as the possibilities of new examinations for some of the new Merit Badges such as Minstrel.

Following the monthly meeting of the Newton Local Council held at Headquarters on February 20th, the girls of Troop 25 who have been working on their Hostess badge served tea. Mrs. Nat Emerson, of West Newton helped the girls with their badge, and was present at the tea.

Troop 25 held a Court of Honor meeting at Miss Freeman's home on Sunday, February 23rd. Plans for the rest of the Scout year were discussed, and Merit Badge work was arranged. The spring course in Red Cross Life Saving and Swimming given at the Walnut Park Pool will begin on Friday, March 7th, under the direction of Miss Ruth Fennessey. The course will consist of 10 lessons and the fee will be $3.50 for the course or 50c per lesson. Registration should be made at Headquarters.

The Waban Brownie Pack is very fortunate to have as its Brown Owl, Miss Margaret LeClerc, of Upland road, Waban. This Pack is full, having 24 Brownies.

Troop 21 is very glad to welcome Miss Betty Skelton, recently returned to her home, back as a First Lieutenant. Miss Skelton is a Golden Eaglet and her assistance will be very valuable.

There will be two more meetings of the Folk Dancing Class under the direction of Miss Molly Longley. Newton expects to have a group of dancers participating in the State Review, as a result of this course.

Through the efforts of Mrs. Norman Bingham a new Troop Committee has been organized in Newton.

Mrs. Frank Schofield has consented to be Chairman of this Committee, and Mrs. Marshall Price, Mrs. Ralph Angier, Mrs. Clark Macomber, Mrs. James B. Melcher, and Mrs. Eusden will help her with the work. With this efficient committee, great things will surely come from Newton Scouts.

RECENT EVENTS

West Newton Community Service Club

On Wednesday afternoon, February 19th, the West Newton Community Service Club held its Legislative meeting, with Mrs. George P. Hatch as chairman. House Bill 181, which calls for a revision of the present law on book censorship, was under discussion.

The stand taken by the Massachusetts Library Club who want a book considered as a whole was ably presented by Mr. Leslie Little, librarian of the Waltham Public Library, while the aim of the Watch and Ward Society to keep the consideration to a specific part, but to substitute civil proceedings for the present criminal proceedings, was well given by Mr. Grosvenor Calkins, of Newton.

The third of a series of food sales to swell the charity fund of the Club was held before the meeting, and tea was served at the close of the discussion.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

The Business Men's Art Exhibit held at the Newton Centre Woman's Club under the auspices of the Art committee, of which Mrs. William C. Noetzel is chairman, proved to be a great success. The opening tea and musicals held on Sunday afternoon were attended by over four hundred people from various parts of Newton and Boston. The exhibit held added interest, because it showed what excellent results have been obtained by men in the business world whose hobby is art. Shakespeare Club

Mrs. Charles H. Keeler, of 36 Oak terrace, entertained the members of the Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands, for a very pleasant afternoon on Saturday, February 15th. The program of the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. H. W. Drew, who conducted the Quiz on "Henry V." She brought out in this review the many elements of human nature, be it in days of Shakespeare or in modern times, that were much appreciated by the members. From the crafty appeal of the heads of the Church to King Henry, stressing his right to the French crown, while in reality thinking of the safety of his church; to the dazzling offers of money; and the higher motive of patriotism, Mrs. Drew led her audience to the time of success, when Henry once more showed the intensely human delight in triumph by his ruthless punishment of his enemies and prisoners.

The afternoon ended with the always enjoyable social hour of these members who have been associated so closely through many years of study of the "master dramatist."

NEWTON HOSPITAL

The number of patients in the hospital is still high. After rising to the record of 190 on the 7th of February, it dropped gradually to 158 on the 16th, and then started climbing again until there were 181 on the 23rd. Of the number in the house on the 22nd 76 paid as much as cost of care, or more, 53 paid less than cost of care, and 49 were treated free of charge. 19 babies were born, 9 girls and 10 boys. 115 visits were made to the out-patient department, and 9 to the eye clinic. 7 accident cases were admitted. 5 calls were made by the social worker, and 4 patients were transported by the social service car.

On Monday evening, February 24th the Newton Hospital Staff met at the Hospital. The program for the evening included the showing of a film by the Davis and Geck Company, "The Surgical Treatment of Peptic Ulcers."

Of the seven accident cases treated during the past week only 1 was an automobile accident; a woman suffering from a fractured leg. Three men were admitted for various injuries: one with lacerations and a severed tendon of the left index finger caused with an electric saw, one with a sliver of wood in the palm of his hand, and the third suffering from cold and hunger, and a question of pneumonia. Two girls were admitted, one with a fractured leg caused when a heavy car fell on it, and the other with a piece of a needle in the palm of her hand. One boy was admitted suffering from first degree burn of his face received when a gas tank exploded in his face.

LYDIA PARTRIDGE WHITING
CHAPTER, D. A. R.

"Guest Day" was observed by Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, D. A. R., in the Women's Club Workshop, Newton Highlands, on the afternoon of February 25th. The regent, Mrs. Chester W. Tudbury, presided, and extended a gracious welcome to all friends and members present.

It was voted by the chapter that Benjamin Franklin's birthplace on Main street, Boston, was the most important spot marked by any D. A. R. chapter in Massachusetts during the year 1929.

Two groups of songs were sung by Miss Avery in very pleasing manner, with violin obligato by Mrs. Dillaway, and Mrs. Simonds at the piano.

It was announced that by invitation of Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., the next meeting will be held on March 25th in the Lucy Jackson Chapter House, Newton Lower Falls.

Following the business meeting, the chapter had the pleasure of listening to Rev. Charles O. Farrar, Rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Newton Highlands, who spoke on "Exalting a Nation." In his inspiring talk, Mr. Farrar stressed the fact that only a nation founded upon righteousness can stand. Class solidarity and the moral integrity of the people promote the general welfare of a country. Righteousness exalteth a nation.

To close a delightful afternoon, an informal reception was held. Tea was served by a committee composed of Miss Marion H. Dorr, chairman, Mrs. H. S. Arnold, Mrs. C. E. Beane, Miss Emily F. Fanning, Mrs. E. O. Kenney, Mrs. F. A. Shute and Mrs. C. W. Tudbury.

STIFF COLLARS RETURNING

An executive of a large mail-order house, who has been making a survey of tendencies in neckwear among smartly dressed young men in larger cities and leading Eastern Universities, notes an increasing number of them are now wearing collar-to-match garments or white neckband shirts with starched or semi-stiff collars.

This executive attributes the changing tendency to the fact that these young style leaders are tiring of the collar attached shirt and are finding new interest in the neater, and more dignified appearance of the starched or semi-stiff collar.—From Laundry Standard—Daily News Record.

Fuss and Feathers.
Worrying the Burglar.
All Drink, Says He.
Gold, Silver, Lead.

AFTER all the fuss and feathers, a London naval limitation conference is not going to limit anything. The nations will go on building, as big fleets as they can afford, except Uncle Sam, who, kind Heaven knows why, will be told how many he may build.

Building costs here much more than in Europe. Our bill for warships will be about one billion dollars, a large sum to spend on targets for air bombs. Half that amount spent on submarines and fighting airships, useful for air mail in peace, would make this country really safe.

The French Government is building secretly a "mystery" plane to fly from Paris to New York, returning Lindbergh's visit, in much shorter time. France spends 1,500,000 francs on the ship, only $60,000.

One thousand such ships would cost sixty million dollars, less than a tenth of our proposed warship bill.

Can you imagine how polite the outside world would be, if we had 1,000 airships able to visit, bomb and gas their capital cities, and an adequate fleet of submarines, to look after hostile shipping?

After a few non-stop flights are made across the Atlantic and Pacific. In our direction, our government may realize that it has duties more important than carrying out the orders of Great Britain.

Mr. Louis Pierson, of New York's Irving Trust Company, delights in annoying burglars. He built, far underground, below his new 50-story building, a safety vault lined with toughest steel, thick as the ancient walls of Jerusalem. It is the biggest vault in the world except those of our Reserve Bank and the Bank of England.

Now he surrounds his steel walls with a thick layer of water, so that the poor bank burglar, even if he were able to break through the heavy steel, would have to do his work in a diving suit, most awkward for handling dynamite and drills.

The dry-wet fight continues. Grayson M. P. Murphy, head of business concerns in New York, says he knows no "leading financier, banker, industrialist or manufacturer who does not break the dry law."

That seems conclusive. Representative Michener, Republican from Michigan, asked "How about Henry Ford?"

"I do not know him," replied Murphy. The statesmen laughed.

Henry Ford is as dry as the inside of Tutankhamen's mummy. It will interest you to know that doctors advised him to drink red wine, favorite beverage of Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin, but Ford wouldn't do it.

Conrad Hubert, who changed his name from Horowitz, made many millions, left $6,000,000 to useful charities, left $1,000,000 to his brother.

The brother, who sticks to his old-fashioned name Horowitz, has been a humble court interpreter and says he will now devote his time to German opera and charity.

Why did the rich brother wait until he was dead to give a million dollars to his mother's other son?

Many of us forget the proverb often quoted by Nathan Straus, "What you give in health is gold, what you give in sickness is silver, what you give after death is lead."

Two $50,000 speed boats, each carrying three Liberty motors, with 38 knots speed, will help hunt rum runners in New York waters.

Other fast boats, costing $250,000, will be put on the Lakes to check rum running there.

Automobile makers will spend 15 millions scrapping old cars to clear the way for new cars and moderate the second hand car nuisance.

R. H. Grant, vice-president of General Motors, one of the best salesmen in America, is chairman of the scrapping committee.

Perhaps Mr. Grant could find a way to ship those old cars, knocked down, to foreign countries, China, Africa, anywhere. Ten million old cars scattered over the earth would soon create an appetite for ten million new cars, just as a little car creates a demand for a bigger car.

Germany continues airplane development, with the government interesting itself in flying in spite of restrictions created by the Versailles Treaty.

Captain Boykow produces an "automatic pilot," enabling the human pilot to leave his seat for half an hour at a time. In foggy or stormy weather when regular air traffic is stopped, the automatic pilot drives its plane in a straight line, or in curves, as desired, with great accuracy.

Postmaster-General Brown, who has done a great deal to encourage American aviation, will be interested in that news.

Fog has been the great danger for our air mail and commercial pilots.

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

How difficult it is to please some people! Seems there's a lot of folks who just won't be satisfied, no matter what may be done for them in the way of service.

Not long ago a detective friend of mine was telling me some of his experiences. He said that there was great excitement in the central office one day when a woman, prominent socially and more than well provided with the goods of this world, reported she had been robbed. Investigation showed that a seamstress had left that morning, taking with her a gold watch that belonged to her employer. The latter told the police of her loss and suspicions. It happened that my friend was assigned to the case. He finally located the missing seamstress and the watch. Promptly he telephoned the woman who had been robbed and asked her to come to headquarters and identify the alleged thief and the watch.

"When must I come?" the woman asked.

"Now, at once," replied the business-like officer.

"Well, I can't," came the response. "I'm going into Boston to do some shopping this morning and I shall have lunch in town. This afternoon is my bridge club and tonight I'm going to the theatre with my husband. No, I'm sorry but I won't have time."

"Then," said the detective, who was exercising all his powers of self-restraint, "I'll bring the prisoner and the watch up to your house."

"You'll do nothing of the kind; I can't be bothered. I've told you I was too busy."

"Don't you want the watch back?"

"No, you keep it for all the trouble you've had, but please don't annoy me with this matter any more, officer. If you must arrest people you shouldn't expect others to help you send them to prison. That's what you're paid for."

Nothing, in my opinion, is quite like the open-air band concert. By the way, there will be a great many more this Summer throughout the State due to the fact that the Legislature has made provision therefor. It seems to have been generally agreed that part of the celebration of the tercentenary of the founding of the Massachusetts Bay Colony should be public concerts of band music. Not only have increased funds been put aside for concerts in the Metropolitan District Commission parks but also authority has been given cities and towns to appropriate money for their own.

I suppose that in the Winter we must be satisfied with indoor band concerts, either those given by Sousa or some other bandmaster in Symphony or Mechanics building or broadcast from the leading radio stations. Still, these cannot arouse as much enthusiasm as an outdoor gathering in the Summer. I can testify that the concerts given on the Watertown side of the Charles river reservation attract many. It is pleasant to listen to the music as it floats across the river. Band music is good anywhere and Sunday concerts, I know from observation, go as big on the shores of the Bay of Biscay as they do at Nantasket. The people of Biarritz seem as delighted as those of Brandon, Vermont when the musicians climb into a bandstand and play through a varied program. It must be a universal joy, "listening to the band."

My mind goes back to the band concerts in the village square in Vermont and New Hampshire and even Massachusetts towns. These I have attended since they offered the principal attraction of a rural community. The concerts are held regularly, usually on Wednesday evening, and folks drive in from their farms to listen. I found a town last Summer where there was one of those familiar bandstands in the center of the village green. Upon inquiry I learned that the commendable custom of band concerts was not only in existence but a most important part of the social life of the place. Naturally, I accepted an invitation to sit on a certain piazza and hear the melodies. It was a treat.

I don't want to show inappreciation of the radio, but I hope that the band concerts held outdoors will also be popular. I think there is little danger of losing their charm in view of the large number of people who urged they be held all over the State this Summer. As my recollection brings up those country town bands they were, pretty good. But maybe that was before I became so discriminating. Nevertheless, good or bad, I am in favor of them and my only regret is that I can't play a trombone or something.

How widely different these points of view I heard expressed recently. The one, "Newton is such a dead place; there's never anything going on." While the other, "Newton is a fine city to live in; no place like it."

I think these illustrate vividly the fact that you really don't value a possession until you have lost it. The person who was mourning about the stupidity of existence in Newton was one of those for whom everything had been provided from a con coat and a roadster to a charge account at the biggest stores in Boston. Any old wild need only to be expressed to be gratified.

The other person, through a change of business, had to give up Newton as a residence and move into an apartment in Boston. It might seem that one could manage to remain in Newton and still do business in Boston, but the circumstances precluded such an arrangement in this man's case. Only the other day I met him and found how loyal he was to the old home town.

Perhaps I would not have been so greatly impressed had not I listened to the criticism of the dissatisfied one a few days before. The lament was so sincere that I began to think that all the nice things I have thought about Newton were all wrong and it was a place from which one should flee at the earliest opportunity. I was told that it was "dead," that "there was never any excitement," that "people went to bed at nine o'clock" and all those terrible offences.

It was refreshing therefore, to hear somebody say he missed Newton and its people; that its attractions were so numerous that one could be perfectly happy if one never left the place. These and other tributes were paid to our city by one who had only fondest memories of his associations and residence here. His one wish that he might come back to Newton for the remainder of his days.

Take these two cases and see if you can tell which of the two you would prefer to meet and visit with for an evening.

Not many readers of this column are familiar with the details of the probation system that goes on in connection with our courts. We may occasionally hear of a case in the neighborhood or read of it in the papers but as we are not called upon to attend trials the matter is only of passing interest. Nevertheless, it is of grave importance to the parties concerned and requires more casual action by the officials concerned.

This State has developed a plan whereby a first offender is given opportunity to mend his ways. The circumstances are investigated and if the prisoner possesses any redeeming qualities he has a chance to prove that he wants to lead a different life and is helped in every way. The public who know only that a man has been found guilty of a criminal offence are not concerned with his surroundings and what may have caused him to wander from the straight and narrow path. If we were we might not be so severe in our condemnation of the convicted one.

Now that we have an active and intelligent system of probation we should look to its preservation. Inasmuch as it is directed by the judges we may be sure that it is the best that can be devised. I said that it was directed by the court but that is not strictly the case. The judges know what is going on for the probation officers and their superiors work in conjunction with the judges. It gives the judge information which should be before him in disposing of the case. The late Judge John C. Kennedy of Newton was one of the pioneers in the probation idea and I know of my own knowledge of the great good he accomplished.

The proposal now before the Legislature to place these probation officers under the control of a board made up of county commissioners of the various Massachusetts counties would upset things immeasurably, in my opinion. A probation officer at present is under pressure. Friends of unworthy criminals are after them all the time to "let up on this good fellow" and "give him another break." When the probation officer knows he is accountable only to the judge he may stand firm and successfully resist unreasonable requests and demands.

I don't say that county commissioners would ask a probation officer to do anything that was improper, but county commissioners are elected by popular vote and when you get, even remotely, a mixture of politics and justice you get something that isn't good for the community. That is one reason that popular election of judges has never been approved by a majority of voters in this State. Politicians have their place and I respect them for what they do. I cannot believe that they should be given any opportunity to control indirectly the operation of our excellent probation system.

What is there about a monocle that makes it seem so un-American? Is it because we associate its use with Englishmen exclusively or just what is it? The other day I met a friend at a club meeting and was a bit surprised to see him draw forth this species of eyeglass from his vest pocket, fix it securely in his eye and proceed to read from a book that had been handed him to look over.

In my astonishment I forgot myself and exclaimed, "You don't use a monocle, do you?"

"Indeed I do," he replied. "You haven't any idea how much good it is for reading."

Then we began to talk about this "one-eyed pair of spectacles" as some joker has called it. I told him that nearly all the monocles I had seen were on the stage. They were almost always worn by comedians playing English parts and were designed to emphasize the humor of the character. In my limited way I had obtained a notion that there was something unusual and impracticable about a monocle. This friend of mine soon put me straight, however.

"You know the reading-glass which you yourself use?" said he. I confessed that I possessed one and he went on, "Well, a monocle is just as handy. The trouble is they are not in common use in this country and for that reason many who know their value as an aid to poor eyesight decline to adopt them. They are afraid they will look odd. I think it is a foolish prejudice. I myself have overcome it and am glad that I have."

After hearing this I began to study the use of monocles and out of it I gathered some interesting information. I found that there was in Boston some years ago a newspaperman who carried a monocle and inevitably placed it in position when conducting an interview. Its effect on the person interviewed was instantaneous and beneficial—from the viewpoint of the interviewer. It seemed to make the man who was questioned feel obliged to respond with the truth. Apparently it was like a penetrating optic that searched one's very soul. The person interviewed seemed eager to disclose everything.

I think I can appreciate the feeling of a person called upon to face a monocle. I know that it would upset me, getting next to my innermost thoughts I don't exactly know.

CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

A group of Kentucky Mountain children who go to school all day long, from 7:30 to 4:30, for 11 months of the year, in an effort to close up the 200-year gap in education which separates them from their fellow countrymen.

arates them from their fellow countrymen. It will be guests of the Children's Museum of Boston this afternoon, Feb. 28, and will hold an open forum at three o'clock. The group of 12 boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 17 were selected from 350 children by reason of their high standing in study, character and behavior, to make the trip to Massachusetts. Their director and guide is Miss June Buchanan, formerly of Newtonville. They are members of the Caney Creek Community Centre, Inc., at Pippa Pass, Kentucky. This is their first glimpse of the rush and roar of city life, and they are somewhat bewildered.

The week-end program of the Museum includes two events of popular interest. On Saturday, at 3:00, Professor Frederick K. Morris, of M. I. T. and member of the Roy Chapman Andrews expedition to Mongolia, will conduct his regular monthly discussion meeting based on the origin and development of man on the earth. Older boys and girls and adults are invited to attend.

"Canoeing Through the Maine Wilderness" is the subject of the Sunday afternoon illustrated talk at 3:30 by Dr. Warren K. Moorehead, of Phillips Academy, Andover. Dr. Moorehead has paddled his canoe hundreds of miles through New England, Canada, and the West and Southwest in search of Indian relics.

What the end of the Christmas rush is to the department store, so the end of vacation week is to the Children's Museum. An average of 1,053 a day, or a total of 7,374 for the week, 2,436 more than last year enjoyed the daily nature talks at eleven given by Miss Sawyer, the special readings by Miss Emily Smith on Thursday, and the patriotic motion pictures given daily at 3:00, and repeated several times to accommodate all those who would see them. Besides these attractions, there were the museum games, which kept 454 young folk busy and happy earning points for membership in the Museum League. And many more attended special club meetings, or just walked about the Museum, reading the story labels which do so much toward clarifying the collections of natural history and ethnology from world-wide sources which the Museum possesses, and in general having a fine time.

Miss Mildred E. Manter announces the following school lecture schedule for March. Grades I to IV may hear about Maple Sugar Trees, or how little boys and girls live in Norway, or what a child's life is like in the mountain pastures of Switzerland. Grades V to VIII may choose "How Old Mother Earth Shaped Boston," or "By Camel Across the Sahara," or "A Pilgrimage Through Historic New England," planned especially for History and "Centenary study classes, or the story of rubber. All lessons are fully illustrated with lantern slides, motion pictures, picture charts, and objects. In addition to these daily lectures, free visual material, lantern slides and pictures are loaned to schools.

In a previous advertisement we told you how we had "looked at ourselves through our customers' eyes." This tells you what we have found. Here we will answer the question, "Why does The Boston Edison Company maintain district offices, or Edison Shops, and can as good service be obtained from these Shops as from the Main Office in Boston?"

Why there is an EDISON SHOP in your community

THERE are thirty-two Edison Shops, or district offices, in community centers throughout the territory we serve. Your local shop has been carefully located in order that it may be most convenient for you and your neighbors. At this Shop you may obtain new fuses and lamps in exchange for those worn out in service, pay bills, purchase or arrange for the repair of appliances—in fact, obtain the same services for which you would ordinarily visit our Boston Office.

If you are moving from one house to another, details of the change may be handled at the local Edison Shop. Our representatives in each Shop are interested, not only in caring promptly for your routine requests, but also in taking a personal interest to see that you obtain every enjoyment from your electric service. They are in your community to help you—to make your dealings with the Company pleasant—to give you as courteous, prompt attention as you expect from your favorite department store.

Of course, if you prefer to visit our Boston Office we are glad to have you do so—but we want you to know that our Shop in your community is placed there for your convenience—to make our service to you more helpful in every way.
